TRYING TO STEAL FIFTH-AVE.

THE OUTRAGEOUS ATTEMPT OF THE METROPOLITAN TRACTION COMPANY.

AN INSIDIOUS BILL QUIETLY INTRODUCED AT ALBANY TO RUIN THE BEAUTIFUL THOROUGHFARE BELOW TWENTY-THIRD-ST.—PUBLIC SENTIMENT UNDOUBTEDLY AGAINST THE "STEAL."

When the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, in his eloquent exposition on Tuesday evening of the wrongs which citizens suffer at the hands of Tammany, exclaimed: "Are we freemen or are we serfs?" the mute response of the 3,000 persons who were listening to him sounded, to use a paradox, like a negative response. When the contemplated grabbing of Fifth-ave. by the Metropolitan Street Railway Company is taken into account it looks as though its methods were on the same line as those of the political organization named, and that the same question might be asked in regard to the monopoly—already sufficiently great—sought to be imposed by the men who compose that company. At the present time this company, which is also known as the Metropolitan Traction Company, is trying to capture Fifth-ave. How far they shall succeed depends on the exposure of the scheme and the arousal of a public sentiment that will put an end once for all to these designs for the permanent disfigurement of one of the few remaining things of beauty in a city which is at the present time almost wholly given over to "sharks."

The manner in which this beautiful thoroughfare is to be stolen is characteristic of the way in which public right is always invaded. It is proposed to do it by piecemeal, and to take at first only a strip, so to speak, beginning at the Washington Memorial Arch and ending at Twenty-third-st., and Patrick H. Roche, the Tammany representative from the 17th Assembly District in this city, is the chosen agent that has been used to begin the "steal." To this end "Pat" introduced a bill in the Assembly on Wednesday "by unanimous consent." It is a short and spicy measure, and if just five little words could be approved by the two houses and signed by the Governor, Mr. Roche would, no doubt, feel happy, and could say, as that other patriot, "Tim" Campbell, said about a subject of larger concern, "What's a little matter like Fifth-ave. between friends?"

THE MOMENTOUS LITTLE WORDS.

The bill provides for amending Section 4 of Chapter 277 of the laws of 1886, and this is how that reads: "Except for the necessary crossing of railroads laid or to be laid on Fifth-ave., at the intersection of other streets, no railroad shall be laid upon, above or along any part of Fifth-ave. in the city of New-York." If the amendment which the statesman from the 17th District has offered be adopted, the words "north of Twenty-third-st." would be added after the words "any part of Fifth-ave." It is a nice little game begun at the closing days of the session, but a long-suffering people, already around on other matters, will hardly allow the men whom they have sent to the Legislature to let this bill pass.

John D. Crimmins is anxious for this "improvement," but then Mr. Crimmins, it is well known, would call the absolute ownership by himself and his company of all the streets of New-York by that much-abused word.

"When you get that you will grab the rest of the avenue in time," suggested the reporter.

"Oh, no," said the secretary of H. H. Vreeland, the president of the company, who refused to be interviewed himself, "for we have Lexington-ave., you know."

THE COMPANY'S GRIP ON THE CITY.

The map which Colonel Harvey held in his hand showed in deep black lines how much of the city's streets the Metropolitan Traction Company has already grabbed. In the midst of this network of iron rails the long white strip representing Fifth-ave. stands out glaringly. The company operates now lines in Broadway, Sixth, Seventh and Ninth aves., Forty-second-st., Twenty-third-st., and the Grand-st. ferry lines, the belt line, Houston, West-st. and Pavonia ferry line, Chambers-st., Fourteenth-st. to Union Square, and probably to the Hudson River, if it is allowed to complete another grab which it has in contemplation; and the Spring, Prince and Houston-st. line. The company began work in January on the Lexington-ave. line, which will run from Twenty-third-st. to Harlem; the One-hundred-and-sixteenth-st. line, from Harlem to Morningside Park; the Lenox-ave. line and the extension of the Ninth-ave. line through Columbus-ave. to One-hundred-and-sixth-st., and through Manhattan-ave. to One-hundred-and-sixteenth-st.

The company practically owns the surface of the vast network of streets through which all the cars of the various lines go every day, and now it wants to "claim everything," and to add Fifth-ave. to its long list. The enormous traffic to the Park on Sundays, for which there are already ample facilities, is not lost on this grasping company, which cares little if it can only carry out its design to have the finest street, perhaps, in the world defaced beyond recognition.

THE PLAN MUST BE KILLED.

Mr Crimmins told the reporter yesterday that "almost a majority" of the property-owners in the avenue south of Twenty-third-st. favored the "improvement," but declined to say whether there was any chance of obtaining the consent of two-thirds of the property-owners, the number required by law.

"Do you expect the bill to pass?" Secretary Harvey was asked.

"Well," he replied, after a season of quiet introspection, "it is hard, you know, to be certain what legislatures will do," an item which shows that the company is not yet certain of its ground.

When Mr. Crimmins himself was asked if this were not the thin end of the wedge, and whether permission to build in the avenue south of Twenty-third-st. would not be quickly followed by a demand for the same privilege throughout its entire length northward, he was emphatic in his denial.

"There is already," said he, "a Fifth-ave. railway company fully organized and ready to act should the unconstitutionality of the law forbidding the construction of a railroad on Fifth-ave. be declared."

Those who have an interest in preserving whatever is refreshing and delightful to look upon in a city which is not overburdened with such attractions—and they are all the people except the intriguing politicians—will be reminded of the attempt to steal Central Park during recent years, once for a parade ground and another time for a fair, and of how ignominiously these attempts failed. There can be little doubt that as swift and signal a defeat awaits this attempt of a powerful railroad syndicate to steal Fifth-ave.

ANOTHER STRIKE IN PATERSON.

MEN IN THE SILK-DYEING SHOPS GO OUT BECAUSE THEIR EMPLOYERS WILL NOT RECOGNIZE THE UNION.

The men in the silk-dyeing shops of Paterson, who had been working since the strike and riots of four weeks ago, all went out again yesterday. This time the demand is not a matter of wages, but the men insist that the union shall be recognized and preferred by their employers. The rules insisted upon by the men would practically exclude non-union men from the shops. The employers all refused to accede to this, and the men left their tubs. There was no disorder. It is expected that, beginning with this morning, the employers will begin a strict lockout, and will make no attempt to employ anybody until the mass of the strikers decide to come back on the present terms. There are about 2,000 men out. The trouble does not affect the so-called "mill-shops," or dye-houses attached to the silk mills. It is said that the boss dyers had expected yesterday's movement and were prepared for the strike and lockout.

The strike of about 1,800 ribbon weavers from sixteen silk mills for the union schedule shows signs of weakening, as several delegations reported to a general meeting that they had voted at their shop meetings in favor of approaching the mill-owners with a view to arbitration. The strike has now lasted about six weeks, and many of the strikers are complaining of destitution, as the small bakers, grocers and butchers, who have been feeding them on credit, are beginning to refuse it, being compelled to do so because the wholesalers in turn are pressing them.
