HER EXORCISMS DID NOT AVAIL.

AN OLD WOMAN SNEAK THIEF WHO HAD INTIMIDATED HER VICTIMS WITH THREATS OF EVIL CURSES IN JAIL AT LAST.

Lizzie Fitzgerald, forty-eight years old, shabbily dressed, with iron-gray hair straggling over her parchment-like face, with glittering, beadlike eyes, was a prisoner in Yorkville Court yesterday, charged with larceny. This woman has long been a character on the East Side, and has inspired much fear among the people there. She has been known to the public as a sneak thief, but she has not been prosecuted, because no one dared to complain against her. Early in June she was arrested for stealing clothing from a Mrs. McCarthy, in East Sixteenth-st. Mrs. McCarthy made complaint, but as she was leaving the police station the woman stepped close to her and hissed in her ear: "If you dare push this complaint I'll call the curses of hell upon you; your family will be broken up; your little ones will die, and you will know what it means to go against old Lizzie."

On Friday afternoon Michael Wallace, a retired manufacturer occupying apartments at No. 359 East Twenty-first-st., went upstairs, and found Lizzie Fitzgerald in the act of pinning one of his coats beneath her skirts. Quick as lightning the old woman shot out her bony right hand, and struck Mr. Wallace's left eye. Then she went at him like a cat. She scratched him, and, getting his right hand in her mouth, she left the marks of half a dozen teeth that he will carry for a month.

The woman took her arrest coolly, and seemed confident that her reputation as a witch would avail her as usual. Mr. Wallace had not the superstitions of many of his neighbors, and yesterday appeared in Yorkville Court. But when the case was called he nearly weakened, remarking to Justice McMahon "that the case was hardly worth prosecuting."

"Now, see here, Mr. Wallace," said the Justice, "I am aware of the influence this woman exerts over people she has victimized, and it has got to be stopped."

Then he committed the prisoner in $500. Lizzie glared at the complainant as she was taken down to prison, and muttered something about the curses of Satan.

A WARM WELCOME FOR COL. SEWARD.

HEARTILY RECEIVED BY HIS FELLOW SOLDIERS AT THE ARMORY—THE 9TH REGIMENT STARTS FOR CAMP.

Colonel William Seward, of the 9th Regiment, received a rousing reception when he arrived at the armory in West Twenty-sixth-st. on Friday night, for the first time since his recent court-martial. The men cheered him when he approached the building, and kept it up after he had entered the armory. A speech was called for and he made a few remarks, saying he did not think he was in a worse position than those who had accused and those who had tried him. He also said he had always insisted on strict obedience from inferior officers, and had always observed the same rule in relation to his superiors that he required to be observed by those under him. The men cheered lustily when the speech was finished.

Again, when Colonel Seward went to the armory yesterday morning to proceed with the regiment to the State Camp, he met an enthusiastic reception. The men assembled shortly before 11 o'clock, and soon after that hour they were on their way to the Grand Central Station. The organization never looked better, and an extremely large percentage of the strength of the regiment was in line when the march was begun down Twenty-sixth-st. to Fifth-ave. Colonel Seward received applause all along the line of march to the station, where the regiment arrived at about noon. A few minutes later the men were all in the cars of two special trains and on their way up the river.

The officers of the regiment hope to have a larger percentage of attendance in camp than ever before. Every man under Colonel Seward goes to Peekskill with the firm intention of making a record, and it will be strange if the regiment returns home next Saturday without a good large bunch of laurels.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF EDUCATION.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 7 (Special).—The second day's session of the National Council of Education was largely attended. E. E. White, of Columbus, Ohio; E. C. Hewitt and John W. Cook, of Normal, Ill., and others paid glowing tributes to the memory of those council members who had died in the course of the year.

The paper most interesting to the council to-day was that read by Professor B. A. Hinsdale, of the University of Michigan, on "The Dogma of Formal Mental Discipline." He said in part:

Passing the various facts that bear on the subject in review, we come to the following conclusions: 1. The power generated by any kind of mental activity must be studied under two aspects—one special and one general. 2. The degree to which such power is general depends upon the extent to which it energizes the mind, and particularly the extent to which it overflows into congruent channels. 3. Such power is far more special than general. It is only in a limited sense that we can be said to have a store of mobilized mental power. In a sense, men have perceptions, memories and imaginations, rather than perception, memory and imagination. 4. While liberal study and specialization look to somewhat different ends, they are only parts, and necessary parts, of the same thing. 5. No one kind of mental exercise—no few kinds—can develop the whole mind; that end can be gained only through many and varied activities. 6. No study—no single group of studies—contains within itself the possibilities of a whole education. That balance of development which we should call a liberal education can be gained only through a measurably expanded curriculum.

At the afternoon session the Committee on Psychological Inquiry, of which William T. Harris, of Washington, is chairman, made a report on "The Psychology of the Initiative Functions in Childhood as Related to the Process of Learning." The session will be resumed on Monday morning, when the report of the Committee of Ten will be submitted and discussed.

FIELD SPORTS AT EAST NORTHFIELD.

East Northfield, Mass., July 7.—The meetings of the conference were largely attended this morning. The missionary conference was held at 8 a. m. The general conference of the Young Men's Christian Association was omitted, and the 9 o'clock hour was occupied by the Bible classes. This change was made that more time might be given to the platform meeting. At this meeting the progress of the intercollegiate movement during the last year was noted and its needs for the coming year were presented. Pledge cards were distributed and a large amount is now assured for the work. The speakers of the morning were L. D. Wishard, of New-York, Mr. Beaver and Mr. Brockman, of the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Mr. Sanford. The meeting was closed with a few words from Mr. Moody.

A large and interested crowd of spectators gathered this afternoon to watch the field sports. Although no records were broken, good work was done and the honors were evenly distributed. Obstacle, elephant and three-legged races afforded much amusement to the onlookers.

Mount Hermon, Brown, Springfield Training School, Yale, Princeton and Harvard were the most successful contestants. But the afternoon's enjoyment has in no way lessened the interest in the meetings, as the large attendance proves. The Round Top meeting was addressed by Bishop Thoburn. At the 8 o'clock meeting Dr. Torrey, of the Chicago Training School, spoke. The town is full to overflowing with visitors for Sunday.

MINERS LOOT A COMPANY STORE.

Spring Valley, Ill., July 7.—This mining town last night was threatened by a mob of 2,000 starving miners. The Spring Valley Coal Company has been nervous for the last week on account of threats made by the miners who have been on strike to loot the store, where $20,000 worth of groceries, drygoods, boots and shoes are. From five to ten deputy sheriffs have guarded the store every night, armed with rifles, but some of the miners, desperate from hunger, broke into the store and destroyed all the stock they could not carry away. As soon as night came squads of men gathered in West St. Paul-st., where there are many saloons and dance halls. The crowd numbered 1,000 men in a short time, and the local police were powerless to disperse them.

PROSPECTS OF A RIOT AT COEUR D'ALENE.

Spokane, Wash., July 7.—Three of the men who were marching out of Cannon Creek by a masked mob arrived here last night. They are Brunner, West and Higgins. They were overtaken on their way to Thompson Falls by deputy sheriffs and taken back to Murray. They left there at 2 o'clock this morning. Other blacklisted men came out with them. They were made to swear never to return to Coeur d'Alene. The situation in the mine is critical. Wallace is filling up with union miners from surrounding camps. They are carousing, dripping and threatening violence. Twelve special officers were sworn in last night. Sheriff Cameron is severely criticised for his failure to make arrests.
