EX-SENATOR MILLER TALKS.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL PROJECT—REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller, of Herkimer, looking stronger and younger than at any time in the last eight years, was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday. He talked freely of the Nicaragua Canal project, in which he has borne so important a part.

"There was no particular significance in the fact that some of the promoters of the Nicaragua Canal scheme have gone abroad for funds," said Mr Miller. "It does not mean that the canal would be any less American on account of that. The concession by Nicaragua is to an American company, and the charter granted by Congress makes it an essentially American enterprise, just as truly as the New-York Central and Illinois Central railways, whose securities are largely held abroad, are American railroads. The trouble with the project is that there are no funds to go ahead with. The Congress just adjourned, while it was not exactly hostile to the undertaking, did not advance it. You will notice that a Democratic Congress says a good deal but does very little, especially along the line of common-sense. With a Republican Congress, which no doubt will be elected this fall, it will be different. Republicans believe in doing something. The canal project would receive the support of which it is worthy from a Republican Congress. At the last session the prospect was favorably received by both the House and the Senate, and the Senate and House committees reported the bill favorably by which it was provided that the Government should guarantee the bonds, but the bill was not passed. There is no work going on down there at present. The tools and machinery are being taken care of properly, so that there will be no unnecessary loss from disuse."

Mr. Miller said Japan was much interested in the project, and would doubtless buy some of the bonds.

Speaking of politics, he said the prospects of the Republican party in the State were unusually promising. The people up State, he said, were quite anxious about the differences in the party in the city, but believed that fealty to the party would prevent any advantage accruing to the Democrats. He spoke rather doubtfully of Assemblyman Prescott's chances of being returned to the Legislature, in spite of his fine record last winter. Herkimer County, he said, was a two-term county, and had never been known to elect a candidate more than twice in succession.

FROM SCOTLAND TO CANADA

Strong and organized efforts are being put forth throughout Scotland to induce increased emigration to Canada. The Canadians are alarmed at the number of their people who yearly drift across the line and settle permanently in the United States. They feel that their great want is men to fill up their vast territory, in which the population now averages only one and a half persons per square mile. Several agents are in Scotland now, devoting all their time to the work of exciting interest in Canada. They seek to do this by means of lectures, circulars or personal appeals. They are endeavoring especially to organize farming colonies and to secure more female labor for both the cities and the farm communities. The reports of the business depression in the United States and the accounts of the labor troubles are helping greatly in turning many of the Scotch and English emigrants toward Canada.
