ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Wednesday, November 7—p. m.

The market as a whole to-day was such as was anticipated, in view of Republican success. Stocks opened active and higher, but on realizing sales prices fell back, and business was dull until the last hour, when, under a general covering movement, the whole market became strong and remained so until the close. The sales were 275,103 shares, a larger number than usual of late. The Republican victories were generally hailed as a promise that the country is now to have rest from so-called tariff-reform legislation, and to enjoy a chance to attend to business. Much importance is also justly attached to the defeat of the Populists in the West. The overthrow of such men as Governor Waite of Colorado gives assurance that honest men will be in control, and will conduct public affairs honestly; that contracts will not be repudiated; that all obligations of private citizens and the State will be met; and last, but highly important, that the crazy notions of finance and political economy which have so long prevailed in certain quarters must presently be dismissed from public influence. The effect upon foreign capital and our own investors can hardly be overestimated. Indeed, the whole situation which confronts us is one of superb, wonderful, dazzling and supreme triumph for honesty and intelligence in public affairs. Inevitably in due time it must bring about a genuine revival of prosperity for this Nation. To take anything less than a sanguine, buoyant, confident view of our future under these circumstances would be blind folly. The country can't be pulled out of Democratic misery in a day; but great prosperity in the near future is assured. Before noon to-day bankers in this city had received cable dispatches asking if, in view of the Republican victories, American securities were not now good investments. The reply was yes. Enthusiasm will not, of course, pay railway dividends; but the condition of confidence which produces it will go far toward making such dividends possible. Are the Grangers, for instance, worse or better because the danger of Populist legislation against them is reduced by Tuesday's work at the polls? Yet it is conceded that no sudden outbreak of prosperity will occur; that business will not be entirely revived this week or next; and that the limitation upon present promising conditions should have due weight with every careful investor and sentimental speculator.

While the market, as a whole, reflected the Republican victory—as in the rise of the Grangers and in the activity of the general list—some of its features were without significance of this kind. American Sugar Refining, for instance, furnished 65,654 shares to the trading, but was manipulated from the start. The opening price was 89½@90. This was the highest of the day, and it dropped then to 87⅞. Subsequently it rallied, and closed at 88¼—a net gain of ⅝ only. Chicago Gas was active and firm, but showed no final advance. Profit-taking sent General Electric to 37½, and it closed at 37⅜. Western Union rose to 88½, but its last price was 88, an advance of ¼ only. Central of New-Jersey was weak, although active. It opened higher at 92, but declined to 89¾, closing at 91½—a net loss of ¼. Lackawanna, on the contrary, gained 2½ points, and Delaware and Hudson ¾. At the opening the Grangers were strong, but they declined slightly after realizing sales. Subsequently, when it was learned that not only was alleged tariff reform ended for the present, but without doubt that Populism had received an overwhelming defeat, they rallied, and closed at the highest prices of the day. Rock Island showed a net gain of 1⅞ to 63¼. St. Paul 1⅝ to 63¾. Northwestern ½ to 101¾, and Burlington ⅞ to 74⅝. Trading in the group was brisk. The general list was moderately active, and higher in response to these favorable conditions. New-York Central gained 2 points at 100⅝. Louisville and Nashville ⅞ at 55¾. Missouri Pacific ½ at 29, Denver and Rio Grande preferred ⅞ at 36⅞, and so on, all in touch with the sanguine spirit which prevailed. Yet Manhattan, despite the result of the vote for a municipal rapid transit scheme, closed ¼ higher, at 108, after opening at 107¾ and selling down subsequently to 105¾. The market closed at the best prices of the day.
