THE WEATHER REPORT.

CLEARING AND COLDER WEATHER PROBABLE.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The trough of low barometer which extended from the St. Lawrence Valley to the west Gulf coast Friday evening has moved eastward, and this evening extends from Virginia and North Carolina northeastward toward Newfoundland. The eastern movement of this low area has been attended by showers from the eastern lake region and New-England over the Atlantic Coast and east Gulf States. A storm has moved from Alberta to the Dakotas. The barometer has risen rapidly from the eastern lake region over the west Gulf States, and an area of high barometer has appeared north of Montana. The cold wave which reached the lower Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys Friday evening has advanced to the Allegheny Mountains. A severe cold wave with temperature below zero has appeared north of Montana.

Clearing and decidedly colder weather is indicated for the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic States, with conditions favorable for frosts Saturday night in the South Atlantic States and Northern Florida. In the central valleys and southern lake region the weather will be warmer and fair. Snow, attended by a cold wave, is indicated for the Northwest.

DETAILED FORECAST FOR TO-DAY.

For Maine and New-Hampshire, fair; colder near the coast; north winds.

For Vermont, fair; variable winds.

For Massachusetts, fair, preceded by showers on the southeast coast in the early morning; cooler in eastern portion; north winds, becoming variable.

For Rhode Island and Connecticut, fair; colder; northwest winds.

For Eastern New-York, fair, colder in extreme southern portion; northwest winds, becoming variable.

For New-Jersey, fair, preceded by rain in the early morning; colder; north winds.

For the District of Columbia, Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, fair; colder; north winds, becoming variable; warmer Monday.

For Virginia, fair, preceded by showers in the early morning; colder; north winds.

For West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, Western New-York, Ohio and Indiana, fair; warmer; winds shifting to south.

TRIBUNE LOCAL OBSERVATIONS.

In this diagram a continuous white line shows the changes in pressure as indicated by The Tribune's self-recording barometer. The broken line represents the temperature as recorded at Perry's Pharmacy.

Tribune Office, Nov. 18, 1 a. m.—The weather yesterday was generally cloudy and rainy. The temperature ranged between 40 and 52 degrees, the average (46¾) being 4¾ lower than on Friday and 1¾ higher than on the corresponding day last year.

The weather to-day probably will be fair and colder.

A NOBLE'S DAUGHTER AND A GOVERNOR'S WIFE

The funeral of Mrs. Magdelina Van Ness was held yesterday in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, in Hancock-ave., Jersey City. Mrs. Van Ness was the widow of Cornelius P. Van Ness, who was twice Governor of Vermont and subsequently Chief Justice of that State. She met him in Madrid when he was United States Minister to Spain, during President Jackson's Administration. Her father was Dionysius Alju, a Hungarian nobleman, who was exiled and went to Spain. Cornelius P. Van Ness died in 1852. Mrs. Van Ness was supposed to be about eighty-five years old. She would not tell her age. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Christina D'Auby, at No. 396 New-York-ave. Mrs. Van Ness boasted of the acquaintance of Henry Clay, Senator Benton, Jessie Benton, who married John C. Fremont, and Presidents Van Buren, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Taylor and Fillmore, of Dickens, Thackeray and Bulwer. She was buried in Floral Hill Cemetery.
