THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, April 22, 1895.

COTTON—Our market opened with a decline of 4 to 5 points, then rallied slightly and eased off a few points, and they fell off to 6.70 for August, which was a decline of 10 points from Saturday's closing, then rallied to 6.84. The first weakness was on a decline of about 5 points in Liverpool futures, that market being influenced by cables from this side for copious rains in Texas and generally favorable weather for planting. At first there was not much cotton for sale here, hence the reaction. The course of the market during the afternoon was toward a lower range on account of free selling for Southern account, which apparently became more active, there was fresh buying by the large bulls, which advanced prices and caused a firm closing. There was, however, a net loss of 2 to 5 points. Total sales were 259,900 bales. The chief buying of the distant months was by German buyers, while May got its support from those who are supposed to be largely long of that month. There is a wide difference of opinion as to the extent of the rain in Texas. The government report mentions a light fall, and this is substantiated by most of the private advices at hand, although two or three dispatches said that a heavy rain was falling. Reports were received chiefly from Northern and Central Texas, the principal points being Fort Worth, Sherman, Dallas, Corsicana, Hillsboro, Grand View, Waco, Lampasas, Austin and Brenham most of these points reporting the beginning of more rain. Considerable cotton was sold for Southern account. Most of the buying was apparently for Wall Street, although local operators took a good deal. The very sharp advance in wheat no doubt had something to do with the later strength in our market, in face of the rains in Texas. In fact, the idea seems to obtain that all commodities are cheap at present prices, and that everything must move up to a higher plane of values. The receipts are running heavy, but very little attention is paid to the movement. The receipts at the ports for the week are estimated at about 60,000 bales, against 78,866 bales last week, and 42,688 bales last year. The receipts at New-Orleans Tuesday are estimated at 4,000 to 5,000 bales, against 4,936 bales last week, 2,181 bales last year. Receipts at Houston were 1,080 bales, against 2,175 bales last week, 1,428 bales last year, and at Galveston, 354 bales, against 741 bales last week, 270 bales last year.

Trade in Brazil ports is very slow, and the range of prices is entirely nominal. The price named for Rio No 7 spot is 15½c, and for Rio No 8 spot, 14½c. Jobbers are complaining of slow trade. There seems to be more inquiry in some quarters, but it has not developed into increased takings. We note sales of 1,650 bags Maracaibo, and 350 bags Central American coffee at private terms. The demand for mild coffee is quite fair, though the market shows up fairly well, considering the weakness displayed in Brazils. The current sales are of small lots.

FLOUR AND MEAL. The rapid rise in wheat to-day tended to check business in flour. On Saturday buyers were very cautious, and to-day they were unwilling to pay better than last week's asking figures, although asking prices were put up 5 to 10 cents. The general disposition seemed to be to wait for a more settled condition of affairs. Toward the close of trade passed in Westend, but only a small volume of trade covering two days were en floor. Sales of city flour were 7,000 bbls, including 700 bbls winter patents, $2 25@$3 50; 1,500 sacks straights at $2 80@$3, latter price Kansas; 2,500 bbls at $3@$3 10, and 2,000 sacks for export, private terms; 8,215 bbls city patents, private terms; $2 75, 1,500 clears, $3 35@$3 45; 750 bbls city extra 2s, $2 75; 1,500 bbls city lines, $2 45; 4,500 bbls spring patents, $3 65@$3 90; 1,250 pkgs clears from $2 50 in sacks to $2 85 in bbls, and 500 sacks extra 2s, $2 25. RYE FLOUR—Market firm; sales, 800 bbls at $2 25@$3 40. CORN MEAL—Market steady; sales, 200 bbls. Quoted: Brandywine, $2 70; Sagamore, $2 70. Western and Southern, $2 40@$2 70. BAG MEAL—Market firm; sales, 2,000 sacks. Quoted: Fine white, $1 90@$1 95; fine yellow, $1 97½@$2 10; coarse, $1 90@$1 95. FEED—Market quiet. Quoted: 40-lb, 85c@90c; 36-lb, 85c@90c; 30-lb, 85@90c; 100-lb, 87½@92½c; hominy chop, 87½@90c; cottonseed meal, 85@90c; oil meal, $1 05; city feed, 90@95c.

GRAIN—WHEAT—The market ran beyond the expectations of the bulls this morning and soared in the outstanding shorts. The opening was very irregular at a big advance from the final of Saturday night. For a few minutes the buyers were difficult to satisfy, even at the extreme advance, but there was a steady flood of long wheat poured on the market, and soon the enthusiasm began to slacken, prices breaking 1½c from the highest, although even at that decline the market showed quite an advance over Saturday. The early advance was stimulated by reports of 1½d advance at Liverpool and an active market. There were also rumors in the air concerning some of the big shorts West, and it was alleged that some of them were eager to cover at any price. Aside from this there was little news in the market. The export clearances for the week from this port were heavy and local supplies showed a liberal decrease. The visible was rather disappointing, the decrease being less than expected. The claim was made by the bulls that practically all the available supplies of wheat in the country are in the visible, and that winter wheat millers are steadily cutting down for lack of supplies. Although possibly the bulk of the supplies are in sight, the interior movement of wheat is fair for the season, and for the last week primary arrivals were upward of 1,000,000 bush. Crop reports were favorable, and good progress is being made in the growth of the crop and the advancement of spring work in the Northwest. Interior receipts of wheat at spring wheat markets to-day were 296,352 bush (including 11,223 bush, mostly all winter), against 168,537 bush; winter, 19,344 bush, against 35,112 bush; seaboard receipts, 15,000 bush, against 171,481 bush; total, 300,696 bush, against 375,830 bush. Exports, 184,429 bush, against 179,662 bush. During the last hours of the session there was a tremendous speculative trade, transactions for the day totalling the biggest figures in years, but the aggregate was 53,000,000 bush. There was a wide commission trade, with the orders coming from widely distributed sources. Foreign houses were at times good buyers, and the late strength in Liverpool and improvement on the Continent accompanied as it was by reports of damage in Germany, had a very stimulating effect late in the session. There appeared to be a good deal of pyramiding, but the offerings were absorbed and prices worked up toward the highest figures of the day, just before the close, leaving off at a slight recession at 2@2¼c net gain. Cash wheat was higher with futures. Sales were 60,000 bush No 2 red at 1½c over May f o b afloat; May closed at 65⅝c, and 4,000 bush at ⅛c over May in store. There were a great many unsettling reports current all day, and in the nervous state of the market helped materially to advance prices. The reports were industriously circulated that Mr. Pardridge and other big shorts at Chicago had covered all their wheat, and that Mr. Armour was predicting further advances. The buying of futures by foreign houses stimulated trade to some extent, and the response of the Liverpool market was looked upon as very encouraging. The English visible decreased 1,324,000 bush, although the amount on passage increased 1,920,000 bush. CORN—Trade in corn was more active this morning than it has been at any time for weeks, and prices showed a big advance over the final of Saturday. The opening was with a rush, partly due to the excitement in wheat and the awakening of new speculative interest in the market. After the first enthusiasm had subsided trade became less active and prices gradually worked off. The local stocks showed moderate changes, and the visible exhibited a fair decrease. The reports regarding the progress of spring work were satisfactory, and the weather through the West and Southwest was reported favorable. The demand for cash corn continued unsatisfactory notwithstanding the rise, the advance being based on the strength in futures. With May at 55c, there was little doing, and for spot corn or the advices regarding the young crop. The trade toward the close became quite active, the market advancing easily on a renewal of speculative buying helped by the late improvement in wheat. The volume of business was not heavy, however. The close was at 15@2c net advance. Cash corn was quiet, but, of course, relative to futures, nominal. 12,000 bush steamer sold
