ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Monday, September 30—p. m.

Transactions in stocks to-day resembled the dealings in the dull and lifeless days of midsummer. There was absolutely nothing but professional trading, and little of this; and only the small board room traders developed any appearance of a desire to take risks on a very narrow market. When the present African mining craze has passed into history, the Stock Exchange here may, and undoubtedly will, see a revival of foreign interest in Americans. When the cotton market ceases to be so unusually attractive, and when the gold export fear has been removed, traders and investors may hope to see some life and buoyancy in Stock Exchange transactions. Just at present speculation in cotton overshadows that in all other markets, and a further advance on the Cotton Exchange was recorded to-day. The condition of the foreign exchange market indicated that the present high prices were stimulating purchasers for the foreign account, and, despite the great advance in the price, the export trade of cotton will be far more satisfactory than has generally been expected. There were reports to-day that more gold would go out on special orders from Germany, but there were no gold bills in the market, and one of the leading foreign banking houses in the city received a dispatch from its Berlin correspondent to this effect: "Do not believe in further special demand for gold."

Speculation was narrow enough to prevent any important change in prices, but the majority of shares were weak and closed at net declines. Total transactions amounted to only 193,017 shares, of which Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company furnished over one-quarter. This stock was feverish all day and broke 2 per cent at one time, but recovered a part of the loss, closing fractionally under its best price. The agreement between the reorganization committee of Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company and the Greenhut-Morris interests now apparently waits for the ratification of the court, although some of the men connected with the Distilling Company denied to-day that there was any agreement. Their deductions, however, do not appear wise in view of the fact that interests closely connected with the reorganization committee are authority for the statement that an agreement has been concluded. The coalers were weak on the failure of the Reading reorganization plan to appear, but traders probably lost sight of the fact that there was one development of interest in the coal situation—an arrangement for another advance in the price of anthracite. The general railway list was extremely dull and, outside of St. Paul and Reading, dealings were small. Of the chief active stocks the only advances were scored by Pacific Mail and United States Rubber common. The closing was weak and lifeless.

The following table shows final prices of the principal active stocks, compared with last quotations Saturday:

In State issues there were sales of $5,000 Alabama Class A at 109½. Railroad bonds were quiet, and, while prices were inclined to droop, there was no movement worthy of note aside from the decline of 2 per cent in the Oregon Improvement consol 5s to 36. The business done reached only $1,278,000.

The United States Treasury received to-day $228,029 National bank notes for redemption.
