In political parlance, the declaration of principles constitutes "a platform." It is said that women do not understand politics. Yet every woman should grasp the meaning of our statement. Here's the gist of it! Our platform is for the cause of the people. It is in every sense of the word—of, for and by the people. Our principles are, first and foremost, HONESTY of purpose and of dealing. Generosity and justice, equality and mutuality. Pretty solid? Yes, and we live up to them every time. We lead the crusade against big prices and poor values. We have thousands of constituents. Each earnestly advocates our reform measures. Join the ranks! Enroll at headquarters! Adopt one "platform!" A PROTEST AGAINST ADAMS.

DANFORTH CONTENDS THAT HIS NOMINATION IS ILLEGAL.

Albany, Oct. 9.—Elliot Danforth, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, through J. Newton Fiero, of this city, filed objections to-day with the Secretary of State against placing the name of Charles Frederic Adams, of Brooklyn, on the State ticket as the independent nominee of the United Democracy for Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, on the ground that the petition placing him in nomination is defective and illegal. Secretary Palmer has set next Thursday as the day when he will give a hearing on the objections. If his decision is unfavorable to the objectors, an appeal will be taken from it to the courts.

The objections filed by Mr. Danforth contain sixteen specific counts. The first ten are to the effect that the "certificates purporting to be subscribed by the electors" of the counties of Allegany, Columbia, Dutchess, Ontario, Saratoga, Livingston, Ulster, Herkimer and Monroe are void, because signatures on each of them lack the addresses of the signers, and that, therefore, the number of names is insufficient, there being less than fifty in each of these counties. The eleventh count is that the name of the party filing the nomination—United Democracy—includes the name of an organized political party, the Democratic party, and is likely to mislead electors desiring to vote the Democratic ticket.

The twelfth objection says: "The certificates have not been filed in good faith by any person representing a party actually desirous of being named or called the 'United Democracy' or in any wise representing Democratic principles, but, in truth and in fact, such certificates have been obtained through and on behalf of the Republican party, through its State Committee and through the chairman thereof, and that one, at least, of said certificates bears the indorsement, 'Return to C. W. Hackett.'"

The remaining objections are to the effect that electors in many instances did not themselves sign the petitions, but empowered other persons to do so, and that many signatures appear to be in the same handwriting; that a large number of county certificates were not filed on October 7, the date required by law, but on October 8, and that the signatures appended to the certificates are of persons not actually affiliated with the candidates of the Democratic party, but in a majority of cases are names of electors who have heretofore supported and who expect at this election to support the Republican candidate for Chief Judge.

FINE TROTTING AT LEXINGTON.

THE ASHLAND STAKE CAPTURED BY PILOT BOY—HELEN P. AND ZYLPHA THE OTHER WINNERS.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—Weather, track, attendance and the character of the sport combined to make this a gala day in the meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association. Helen P., who had won the first of the three heats yesterday in the 2:17 class for pacers, finished the race in two heats to-day. The unfinished 2:21 class for trotters, in which five heats were trotted yesterday, was taken by Zylpha, after Directina had won the sixth heat and Kenny had been substituted for McIntosh behind Zylpha. The Ashland Stake was the feature of the day. In the first heat Fred B led until the stretch was reached, when Pray Tell came with a rush and won by one length from Derby Princess. The second heat was a contest from start to finish, Que Allen finally winning from Eloree in a hard drive. The gray gelding Pilot Boy then took the next three after spirited finishes with Fred B and Athanie. Baron Rogers was in a pocket all the way down the homestretch, or he would have won the fourth heat. Eloree did not seem to have her speed, and could not get in front at any time. In the 2:09 pacing race Ananias was favorite, but failed to get in front, and the race goes over until Monday, with Gazette, Choral, Sherman Clay and Bessie Bonehill each a winner of a heat in the order named. The 2:14 class for trotters also goes over until Monday. Summary:
