Millard appeared as counsel for the taxpayers, and W. H. H. Ely for the village authorities. Justice Keogh took the papers and reserved his decision.

NEW-ROCHELLE.

The Young Republican Club, at special meetings, has examined the city charter prepared for adoption by the Legislature, and made its report yesterday. The club will ask the trustees and citizens who have submitted the charter to change the date of the municipal election to that of the general election in November, and that the official year begin on the January 1 following. It suggests that the Mayor and Aldermen be added to the list of salaried officers—the former to receive $1,000 a year and the latter $5 each for each meeting held. Reductions are also recommended in other salaries in order that the total expense of city government may not exceed $200,000 a year. The club insists that the people shall have an opportunity to vote on the charter after it is adopted by the Legislature and to make changes and if it is defeated, when first submitted, that another election can be held at any time within six months.

LECTURE ON THE CLIFF DWELLINGS.

COSMOS MINDELEFF'S THEORY OF THEIR ORIGIN—NEW MEMBERS ELECTED.

The regular monthly meeting of the American Geographical Society was held last night in Chickering Hall, Fifth-ave. and Eighteenth-st. The floor of the house was filled. In the absence of the president, ex-Judge Charles P. Daly, William H. H. Moore, the vice-president, introduced the speaker of the evening, Cosmos Mindeleff. For fifteen years Mr. Mindeleff has been prominent in the Southwestern expeditions sent out by the Bureau of Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution. His lecture last night was on "The Origin of the Cliff Dwellings," and was illustrated by stereopticon views. He does not regard the cliff dwellings as a "cultural development," but thinks that the inhabitants were creatures of their environment, who built those curious dwellings because it was the natural thing for them to do in that land of soft sandstone. The lecturer believed that the buildings were not difficult of access when they were used, and they were built under lofty ledges for protection from the weather rather than from human foes.

CITIZENS UNION ORGANIZATION.

The Committee of Organization of the Citizens Union will have a meeting in the headquarters, at No. 42 East Twenty-third-st., to-morrow evening to receive the report of the Committee of Seven that has been working about three months on a plan for the permanent organization of the Citizens Union. Each district organization shall be entitled to send one delegate to the City Committee of the Citizens Union for a membership equal to 10 per cent of the vote cast for Seth Low in this district, and an additional delegate for every five hundred of membership. When twenty-four district organizations have been formed the delegates shall organize the City Committee, and the Executive Committee of Twenty-five shall go out of existence.

DR. M'GIFFERT CRITICISED.

HIS VIEWS OF THE LORD'S SUPPER CAUSE DISCUSSION.

Passages from a book recently published by the Rev. Dr. Arthur C. McGiffert, a member of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary, and called "A History of Christianity in the Apostolic Age," are creating considerable discussion and some unfavorable comment in Presbyterian circles. Dr. McGiffert is a member of the New-York Presbytery and Washburn professor of church history in Union Theological Seminary. He was graduated at Adelbert College, and was for some time at Lane Seminary, in Cincinnati. He came to Union Theological Seminary in 1886. The passages in his book that have caused discussion relate to the Lord's Supper, Professor McGiffert contending that the Lord's Supper was intended by Christ to have no paschal meaning, and was merely a social meal. Regarding this point he says:

He was not teaching theology, nor was He giving veiled utterance to any mysterious truth concerning His person and work. He was simply foretelling His death and endeavoring to impart to His disciples something of that divine trust and calmness with which He approached it. But after His death, when His followers ate bread and drank wine together, they could not fail to recall the solemn moment in which Jesus had broken bread in their presence, and, with a reference to His impending death, had pronounced the bread His body and the wine His blood; and, remembering that scene, their eating and drinking together must inevitably, whether with or without a command from Him, take on the character of a memorial feast in which they looked back to His death and He had looked forward to it.

It was reported yesterday that the New-York Presbytery would take some action regarding Professor McGiffert's book at its meeting at the First Presbyterian Church in the afternoon, one member of the Presbytery saying that he had received a hundred letters calling attention to the position taken by Professor McGiffert as to the Lord's Supper. The Presbytery, however, in no way touched upon the matter. Dr. McGiffert himself was not there and his name was not mentioned at the meeting.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, president of Union Theological Seminary, said to a Tribune reporter yesterday afternoon: "There is nothing to say from the point of view of the Seminary. There has been no discussion of the matter, and I have no statement to make about it."

Dr. McGiffert, when seen yesterday about the matter, said that he did not know that he was to be tried for heresy. Other duties kept him away from the meeting of the Presbytery. He thought that there were too many real troubles in life which it was the duty of the Presbytery to discuss for any attention to be paid to such a thing as this.

The Rev. Dr. Walter D. Buchanan, the Moderator of the Presbytery, said that he had not read Dr. McGiffert's books, but his attention had been called to the special passage about the Lord's Supper. "I can only say," added Dr. Buchanan, "that if Dr. McGiffert's book contains the passage to which my attention has been directed, or similar passages, it seems to me clear beyond all dispute that he is out of touch with Presbyterianism as it still exists, despite all latter-day efforts to alter it. He is not in harmony with the standards of our Church, and I cannot see what other course he can properly take except to separate himself from us. But it seems to me also that, if correctly quoted, he is guilty of more than contradicting the Westminster teachings; he is guilty of denying one of the tenets common to all evangelical Christianity—nay, even the Catholics are with us in their belief in the memorial and paschal significance of the Lord's Last Supper. I do not see how there can be any question between conservatives and liberals; how they can do otherwise than unite in a condemnation of a teaching which would destroy one of the most cherished beliefs of Christendom. Of course, I do not wish to be understood as condemning Dr. McGiffert offhand. By all means let it first be proved that he has made such a statement as has been attributed to him, in the language attributed to him, and that it is not susceptible of any explanation putting it in a different light and giving it a different significance from what it seems in this quotation to have."

The Presbytery transferred to the Albany Presbytery the Rev. Dr. Henry T. McEwen, who some time ago severed his relations with the Fourteenth Street Presbyterian Church, and who is to become the pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Amsterdam, N. Y.

MRS. W. D. SLOANE'S PURCHASE.

SHE BUYS MRS. SHEPARD'S PART OF THE VANDERBILT HOUSE AT FIFTH-AVE. AND FIFTY-SECOND-ST.

Mrs. William D. Sloane has purchased from Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, her sister, the latter's part of the Vanderbilt house, at Fifth-ave. and Fifty-second-st. The terms of the sale are private. Mrs. Shepard intends to spend the most of her time in the future at her country home at Scarsborough. The house at Fifth-ave. and Fifty-second-st. is in reality two houses. At Fifty-first-st. stands the old W. H. Vanderbilt house, which is now occupied by George W. Vanderbilt. The upper house is divided into two parts, W. H. Vanderbilt originally occupied the house at Fifty-first-st., and his two daughters, Mrs. Sloane and Mrs. Shepard, had the other house. George W. Vanderbilt now has the one his father lived in, and Mrs. Sloane will have the whole of the other one. The houses were built about 1883 and are exceptionally beautiful houses.

WESTCHESTER TAX PROBLEMS.

THE COMMITTEE ON EQUALIZATION OF ASSESSMENTS, APPOINTED LAST YEAR, MAKES ITS REPORT.

Charles S. Bigelow, John M. Shinn, Franklin Couch, Charles M. Baxter and James P. Stewart, the Committee on Equalization of Assessments, of last year's Board, presented yesterday morning to the Board of Supervisors their report of the result of their examination of the property in the several towns of the county, for the purpose of obtaining a more just equalization of assessments, a work which was given to the committee by resolution of the Board last February.

The committee began its visitations to the different towns in August and ended this portion of its duty on November 26. The considerations named in the conveyances were compared with the assessments of property, and the value of other property not embraced in such conveyances was fixed by the committee, with the aid of the Supervisor and Assessors, and also compared with the assessment for the same on the assessment roll. In this way the committee prepared two percentages of the actual value of property as compared with the assessed valuation, one founded on the price named in the conveyances, the other on the best evidence the committee could procure. In addition to its own judgment. The labors of the committee in this particular are condensed in the following table:

DEVERY A DEPUTY CHIEF.

CAPTAIN DONALD GRANT PROMOTED TO THE RANK OF INSPECTOR.

The Police Board yesterday made the following promotions:

Inspector WILLIAM S. DEVERY, to be a deputy-chief.
Captain DONALD GRANT, to be an inspector.

The appointment of Deputy-Chief Devery fills that rank in the Department, the number provided by the charter being five. Moses W. Cortright, John Mackellar, Elias P. Clayton and P. H. McLaughlin are the others.

The Tammany Board has been determined that Devery should have this place, and his appointment as Inspector was made to pave the way for the further promotion. A good many people thought that Devery was ineligible, owing to the provision of the charter which says that the two deputy-chiefships remaining after three have been filled by the appointment of the men left among the chief and deputy-chiefs of the old city of New-York, and the superintendent and deputy-superintendent of Brooklyn, after the chief of the enlarged city is chosen, shall be filled from among the inspectors in the Police Departments transferred to the Department of the enlarged city. The Corporation Counsel, however, holds that the Department of the old city of New-York is in this category.

Devery was in command of the West One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st. station when he was made an inspector, and has since been in command of one of the Brooklyn inspection districts. As Deputy-Chief, he will co-operate with Deputy Chief Cortright in the boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx. Inspector Donald Grant will take Devery's place in Brooklyn.

Deputy-Chief Devery has been on the force since January 19, 1878. He was made a roundsman on September 16, 1881, a sergeant on May 27, 1884; a captain on December 30, 1891, and an inspector on January 7 of this year. Devery has always been a stanch supporter of Tammany Hall. He has had a good deal of trouble with the Parkhurst Society, and was prosecuted both before the Commissioners and criminally. He was once dismissed from the Department and afterward reinstated.

Inspector Donald Grant has been on the force since 1876. He was appointed a roundsman February 10, 1877; a sergeant on May 25, 1880; a captain on September 10, 1887. He is a brother of Inspector John H. Grant.

WANTS PART OF THE STEWART ESTATE.

THE SUIT OF MISS EUPHEMIA DEANS BEGUN IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Ex-Judge Henry Hilton is being sued in the Supreme Court by Euphemia Deans for the recovery of a one-sixth interest in the old Stewart property in Thirty-fourth-st. The suit was begun before Justice Scott yesterday. Miss Deans is represented by ex-Judge Curtis. He contends that Mary Bailey Deans, mother of the plaintiff, was an heir-at-law and next of kin to A. T. Stewart. Included in the property left by Mr. Stewart was the house in Thirty-fourth-st. In this property Mrs. Mary Bailey Deans, it is said, became possessed of a one-third interest.

In May, 1892, Mrs. Deans died, leaving three children—Jane, Mary and Euphemia. Jane Deans died in October, 1893. Miss Deans, the present plaintiff, sues for one-half of her mother's share of the estate.

It is charged that the property is in the hands of Mr. Hilton, who, it is alleged, is holding it, to the damage of the Misses Deans. The plaintiff says that her share is valued at $50,000. The work of securing jurymen was a tedious task, and by the time that recess was announced only four jurors were in the box. Among the questions put to every talesman by ex-Judge Curtis was whether he thought he could be "hypnotized by Joseph H. Choate or mesmerized by Elihu Root." These two lawyers appear for Mr. Hilton in defending the action.

When asked if the case on trial was a test, and would affect a number of heirs or alleged heirs of A. T. Stewart, ex-Judge Curtis replied: "No; it is one of a series of suits." He said that while one piece of property was the subject in the present action, any other parcels that might be in the estate would be sued upon.

Mr. Root, of counsel for the defence, said that the defence would be a general denial of the alleged relationship between Mrs. Deans and A. T. Stewart, a denial that he died intestate; that Mrs. Deans signed a release for any claims that she might have had against the estate, and, finally, the will of Mr. Stewart.

Miss Deans, the plaintiff in the action, was, it is said, a teacher in the public schools in this city.

The jury was completed late in the afternoon, and after ex-Judge Curtis had made his opening address the case was adjourned until this morning.
