THE DAY'S OPERATIONS IN STOCKS.

The stock market showed little trace of the uneasiness that sent prices lower on Wednesday. The morning news proved Wednesday's reports regarding the outbreak of yellow fever at Santiago grossly exaggerated, while the full report of Admiral Dewey's prompt action in checking German interference at the Philippines reassured timid traders as to the situation, so far as complications with Germany are concerned. The actual position of affairs at Santiago was materially changed, and traders thought it best to cover contracts put out in expectation of grave developments at the front and at Subic Bay. And they found additional reason for covering in the refusal of holders of securities to be frightened into selling. The bond market again reflected the presence of a good investment and speculative demand, while in the stock market certain issues were well absorbed by substantial market interests. Opening prices were slightly under Wednesday's closing, but for the greater part of the day values moved slowly higher, exceptions to the upward movement being confined chiefly to the anthracite list and American Spirits issues.

Conditions in the anthracite coal trade are no worse than they have been for some time, and many careful operators do not favor selling the coalers short. The Reading issues in particular are not as barren of merit as certain bears make out, and as for Delaware and Hudson and Lackawanna holders need not concern themselves over the frightful stories of coal trade demoralization. The coal trade is in need of improvement, but as an industry it has yet to show evidence of being beyond the power of profitable rehabilitation. The earnings of the Reading Company and of the anthracite companies in general do not indicate the conditions that are talked about in Wall Street for the purpose of depressing the market value of the stocks. The anthracite securities are certainly not the most attractive issues on the list, but considerable caution should be exercised in selling them with the idea of recovering at a materially lower price level. Bear traders made an energetic attack upon the coal stocks in the hope of inducing lower prices throughout the list, but the effect was not pronounced, and the losses made in the Reading issues were recovered in great part before the close.

Official announcement of the surrender of Santiago met a prompt response in the last half hour of business. Advances of 1@2 per cent were made in the more active list, with last prices at about the best of the day. Speculation following the news of the surrender was on a broader scale than in the morning, and it is not unlikely that to-day's market will reflect a more genuine demand for stocks on the belief that the fall of Santiago means the beginning of actual preparations for peace. London took little interest in this market, selling more than it bought. Of the active stocks Sugar Refining, Atchison preferred, St. Paul, Manhattan, Reading first preferred and Texas and Pacific furnished the heaviest dealings. Reports that Missouri Pacific had acquired a part of the Central Branch of the Union Pacific imparted strength to the Gould issues, while indicating the adoption of a policy of consolidation among the Gould roads similar to that of the Vanderbilts.
