THE DAY'S OPERATIONS IN STOCKS.

While there was considerable realizing in the stock market yesterday, prices were not materially affected. In fact, there were some advances, and the market certainly displayed inherent strength. The stocks that were offered were readily absorbed, and there appeared to be little short selling. London sold a moderate amount of stocks here. The sentiment in Wall Street was as favorable as at any time since the upward movement in values began.

There was no change in the situation in any respect. The practical cessation of hostilities is considered in Wall Street as ending the war between the United States and Spain. While there will be use for troops for a long time to come in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines in preserving order and establishing new forms of government, peace, in the opinion of the financial community, is re-established. There should, therefore, be an almost immediate revival in the foreign trade of America, as it will be no longer subject to interference.

The Government crop report proved to be about as expected. It is clearly shown that there are a bountiful crop of wheat and a fair crop of corn, which latter is supplemented by considerable stores of old corn. The report showed the cotton crop to be fully up to expectations, so that altogether the carrying lines are assured of a heavy tonnage in the great staples. In addition, there is a marked gain in the iron trade, with a generally better order of things in industrial and commercial lines. The approach of the time for moving the crops is not accompanied by any increase in money rates. On the contrary, money, if anything, is easier. The New-York City banks have lowered their rates for call money fractionally, and are reasonably liberal in lending on time. No new engagements of gold for import are announced, but it is likely that the flow of gold from the other side will begin again very soon.

The Granger shares continued as leaders in speculation, and will doubtless occupy their present position for weeks to come. In view of the prospect of heavy earnings for the Granger roads during the fall and winter these stocks still look cheap, and they will, without doubt, sell a good deal higher. The Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and Atchison issues are counted upon to keep them company in their advances.

There was more or less irregularity in the movement of Industrial shares, but it could not be said that they disclosed a downward tendency. The industrial situation is so satisfactory that it seems as if the industrial stocks must, with other stocks, benefit in price. Of course, these stocks are always under manipulation, but in the existing order of things it is easier to lift them than to depress them.

There was the usual activity in bonds, and prices were well maintained. When there is a free hand for bonds it is presumed that the demand will extend to stocks. Accordingly, so long as the bond market remains strong, there will, in all probability, be no development of weakness in the stock market.
