GARDINER CRIES FOR ROOM

HORROR AT "DIRTY LABORERS" COMING IN CONTACT WITH GENTLEMEN.

BUT SAVE YOUR TEARS FOR THE "DELICATELY NURTURED LADIES" THAT HAVE TO "LOOK UPON THE BARE ARMS OF YOUNG CHILDREN" DURING VACCINATION.

District-Attorney Asa Bird Gardiner is not content with running his office on a plan of extravagance never attempted by any former District-Attorney of New-York County. He had the assurance yesterday to appear before the Sinking Fund Commission and make a demand for more room in the Criminal Courts Building for the use of his highly paid assistants, detectives and messengers, many of whom might better be dismissed than retained, in the view of persons familiar with the working of the District-Attorney's office. To the Mayor and other members of the Commission Major Gardiner said:

It is an outrage that the District-Attorney should be cramped into his present quarters. I have no room to adequately conduct my business. I have, however, conducted the affairs of that office in a businesslike way, and my record is beyond reproach. The Grand Jury recently took it into their heads to investigate my office. I afforded them every facility. They examined everything connected with the management and affairs of the office, and last week they sent me a report to the effect that everything was in excellent condition, but I must have more room.

One day last summer the Civil Service Commissioners had two thousand dirty laborers in those corridors coming in contact with gentlemen having business in my office and in the courts. Then my office is directly above the laboratory of the Board of Health, and the fumes which penetrate into my apartments are noxious.

HERE'S A THING TO SHUDDER AT!

Another source of complaint lies in the fact that the Vaccination Bureau is in an exposed place. Delicately nurtured ladies are compelled to look upon the bare arms of young children during the process of vaccination.

"That's horrible," said Controller Coler under his breath, winking at the Mayor.

"I really think that after what I have stated I am entitled to more quarters," said Major Gardiner.

"What do you want?" asked the Mayor. "Would the rooms now occupied by the Coroners be sufficient?"

Major Gardiner said they would not, and his application was then referred to the Controller for investigation.

Argument on a peremptory writ of mandamus directing and commanding Recorder Goff to admit District-Attorney Gardiner at any time to Part II of the Court of General Sessions, presided over by Recorder Goff, was adjourned yesterday by Justice Beach, in Part I of Special Term of the Supreme Court, until Monday.

The writ was served on the Recorder in his chambers late on Wednesday evening, and made returnable at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The complaint of the District-Attorney was the outcome of his loss of temper on Tuesday, when Court Officer Gibbon refused to allow him to enter Part II at the time Recorder Goff was charging a jury. The District-Attorney became so angry that he immediately caused the arrest of Officer Gibbon by a special officer attached to the District-Attorney's office.

Recorder Goff became incensed over the arrest of Gibbon and released him from custody, threatening at the same time to cause the detention of the District-Attorney's officer for making the arrest without the authority of a warrant. He said that the District-Attorney, under the circumstances, had no more power to order such an arrest than any other citizen, and that Officer Gibbon was simply obeying a rule of the court. He said that at the time the District-Attorney was represented in the courtroom by one of his assistants, and that the District-Attorney had no more right to demand admission to the courtroom than any other citizen.

MORE TIME ASKED.

The District-Attorney was represented yesterday by Assistant District-Attorney Le Barbier. Colonel E. C. James and A. I. Elkus appeared in the interest of Recorder Goff. Mr. Elkus in addressing the Court said that the order to show cause had been served only late Wednesday evening, and that it had been impossible for him to prepare necessary affidavits in so short a time. He therefore asked for more time in which to prepare his affidavits.

Justice Beach postponed the argument until Monday.

Recorder Goff and District-Attorney Gardiner had a short talk together before the time for the hearing.

There was no friction of any kind in the different parts of the Court of General Sessions. The calendar was provided for each court by the representatives of the District-Attorney, and all worked smoothly.

ANOTHER CUT IN STEAMSHIP RATES.

REBATE ON ROUND-TRIP TICKETS INCREASED—AGE LIMIT FOR HALF-FARES RAISED.

Another cut in transatlantic passenger rates went into force yesterday. By this cut the rebate on round-trip ticket is now 10 per cent, instead of 5; and half-rate tickets are sold for children under twelve years old, instead of eight years, as formerly. This applies to the American, Cunard, White Star, Red Star and Hamburg-American lines. On the French line it applies to second-cabin passage only, and the North German Lloyd has not met this latest cut at all. The Anchor Line has made the round trip 10 per cent reduction, but has made no change in the age limit for half-rate tickets.

"This state of affairs is not likely to last long," said one steamship agent yesterday. "When the spring passenger business begins to get really lively the companies are likely to get together again and stiffen the rates."

No secret is made of the fact that the lines have resumed paying commissions to agents, just as they did before the conference agreement terminated.

SEARCHING FOR A MISSING PLAINTIFF.

SHE WAS TAKEN AWAY BY TWO MEN ON THE DAY HER SUIT WAS TO BE TRIED, IT IS SAID.

Mrs. Mary McKenna, who lives at No. 446 Seventh-ave., New-York, visited the Essex County Insane Asylum, at Newark, in search of her mother, Mrs. Mary Engelhardt, of No. 1,862 Lexington-ave. She said that her mother was struck by a car in 1897, and so badly injured that she became an invalid for life. Suit for $25,000 damages was begun against the street railroad company, and after many delays the trial was set down for March 9 this year. On the morning of that day two men called at the house and said they had come to escort the woman to the court. Instead, they took her to No. 107 Washington-ave., Newark. She has not been seen since. Mrs. McKenna said she received an anonymous letter telling her to search the Snake Hill Asylum for her mother. She did so, and could not find her. Then she made inquiries in Newark.

Mrs. Anna McNair, who lives at No. 107 Washington-ave., said yesterday that Mrs. Engelhardt came to her house on the day mentioned with two men, and afterward left with them, saying she had to go to New-York to sign some papers.

TO FORM BETHLEHEM STEEL COMPANY.

SYNDICATE IN PHILADELPHIA TO TAKE OVER BUSINESS OF BETHLEHEM IRON COMPANY.

Philadelphia, March 16.—"The Evening Telegraph" to-day says that there is now being formed in this city a syndicate of prominent Philadelphia bankers, who will furnish the capital for a corporation to be known as the Bethlehem Steel Company, the purpose of the corporators being to acquire the property and business of the famous Bethlehem Iron Company, which was founded in 1857 at South Bethlehem, Penn.

The deal is one of the largest of the kind ever attempted in this State, and while those who have the knowledge of the details are not willing to state at present the probable amount of capital involved, it can be said that the new company will be able to enter into competition with the leading concerns of Europe, as well as those of America. The procedure in organizing the syndicate will be similar to that which was followed a few years ago when the Cambria Steel Company, which absorbed the plant of the Cambria Iron Company, was formed.

TRUST COMPANY TO BE INCORPORATED.

It was announced yesterday that a new local trust company was soon to be incorporated, to be known as the Mutual Trust Company of New-York, with a capital of $2,500,000 and a surplus of $2,500,000. The new company, it is said, will establish reciprocal relations with trust companies in many of the large cities of the United States.

A BIG BROADWAY FIRE.

EARLY MORNING FLAMES DESTROY THE STRUCTURE AT NO. 354.

A fire broke out in the big six-story building, No. 354 Broadway, about 1:15 o'clock this morning, and in half an hour the structure was practically destroyed by the flames. The building is one of the old-fashioned ones. The fire ate its way through it quickly and was helped considerably by a strong wind that was blowing and threatened to carry the flames to several large buildings in the rear of the burning one.

James Elliott & Co., linen manufacturers, were the principal occupants of the building. They had the whole of the ground floor, and it is said the second story. Among the other tenants were R. E. Hague & Co., laces, and the Velvetine Binding Company. All these firms lost everything. The building, No. 352, which adjoins the burned one, is occupied by Rogers, Peet & Co., the well-known clothiers, who recently suffered a severe loss by fire. On the southeast corner of Leonard-st. and Broadway is the magnificent building of the New-York Life Insurance Company.

At 1:45 the firemen were working like beavers to get the blaze under control but they seemed to be gaining headway very slowly. They had to fight the flames under difficulties as the wind was carrying the sparks toward Benson-st., which is about twenty feet wide. In this narrow street the firemen experienced much trouble in handling the hose.

The loss is estimated to be more than $100,000.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Bishop Potter gave notice to the clergy of the diocese yesterday of the recent deposition from the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Rev. Robert Thomas Nichol. He was until lately, when he renounced the Episcopal faith for the communion of the Roman Catholic Church, sub-warden of the Sisterhood of St. John the Baptist, a community of religious women, with their mother-house in East Seventeenth-st.

In Cooper Union to-night the People's Institute will celebrate the anniversary of its first meeting; speakers, Harry Lloyd, William S. Rainsford and Charles Sprague Smith.

THE KNAUS MURDER.

WETHERFORD HELD ON RECOMMENDATION OF THE CORONER'S JURY.

An inquest touching the death of Henry Knaus, who was murdered in his undertaker's shop, at No. 2328 Old Broadway, on the morning of February 25, was held yesterday by Coroner Hart and a jury. None of the witnesses called threw any additional light on the mystery. Thomas Wetherford, colored, who was with Knaus on the night before the murder and who was arrested on suspicion, made a good impression on the stand. The jury was unable to place the crime on any one, but recommended, however, that Wetherford be held for the action of the Grand Jury.

Knaus spent the evening of February 24 in a saloon kept by Patrick Walsh, which is opposite his shop. He left the saloon about the same time as Wetherford did. The next morning when Mrs. Knaus went to the shop to call her husband to breakfast she found him dead on the floor of the front basement. There were two big cuts in his head, which told how he had met his death. Knaus kept several good watchdogs. No one heard the dogs bark or any unusual noises about the house on the morning of the murder. The police were at first of the opinion that the crime was committed by a friend of Knaus, as the dogs were not heard to bark. Policeman Frank B. Schlamp, in whose post the murder was committed, admitted soon after the case was reported to the police that he was off his post on the night of the murder, and was suspended from duty.

Among the witnesses called yesterday were Mrs. Kate Walsh, wife of Patrick Walsh, the saloonkeeper, and Mrs. Knaus. Mrs. Walsh testified that Knaus was sober when he left the saloon, and that just before he started for his home he drew from his pocket a two-dollar bill, which was all the money she saw him have in the saloon. Mrs. Knaus swore that her husband collected $50 the day before he was murdered from a man named French. She did not see him with the money, she said, but she learned from her brother that he had received it. She further testified that her husband bought a rug for $3 on the same day, and that he gave $5 to the man from whom he bought it. He got back $2 in change, which he said was all the money he had in the world. His pocketbook was found on the stairs in his home the next day, and it was empty. All the witnesses swore that Wetherford and Knaus were on friendly terms, but one person testified that Schlamp and Knaus had quarrelled. Many questions were asked about a knife found in the possession of Wetherford. One man testified that the knife was similar to one that he had given to Knaus. Mrs. Knaus received a letter some time ago from H. L. Everhart, a private in a volunteer regiment, in which he said that Knaus wrote to him about some trouble he had had with a "coon."

Detective William J. Deery submitted as testimony a letter from Everhart to Captain McClusky. Everhart said that Knaus had written to him about having had trouble with "a colored man named Wetherford. The man in whose house Wetherford lived swore that he saw some man sleeping in Wetherford's bed at 3 o'clock on the morning of the murder. He thought the man was Wetherford.

SHIPWRECKED SAILORS BROUGHT IN.

RESCUED BY THE BRAVERY OF A CREW FROM A BRITISH SHIP.

Three shipwrecked American seamen arrived here yesterday on the Portuguese bark Oevenum. They had been rescued from sure death on a Russian ship, the Barunga, by the bravery of the crew of the British steamer Cape Corrientes, as they were bound for France, having shipped at a South African port. Their names are Louis Borini, James Brown and Julius Bower. Borini and Bower say they would never have gone to sea if they had not been "shanghaied," the former in San Francisco and the latter in Mobile. Brown admits that he brought his troubles upon himself.

They all shipped on the Russian boat at Cape Town, and reached Ship Island safely. Thence they set sail for Dieppe with lumber on December 16. A terrific storm struck them when about seventy miles from the Azores, carrying away much of the rigging, smashing the lifeboats, sweeping away the rudder and careening the ship. For three days they drifted helpless, soaked to the skin, and expecting every minute that the ship would "turn turtle." Then the Cape Corrientes hove in sight, and a volunteer crew of Britishers made two trips to the waterlogged Barunga, at the imminent risk of their lives, taking off the twenty-one souls on board in safety. The wife of Captain Sundmann, of the Barunga, Borini says, leaped into the lifeboat like a wildcat, and her husband threw her three little children after her, one of whom had been born on the voyage. They were safely caught by those in the lifeboat and were sent up the side of the Corrientes in a sling.

The Britisher was bound from Shields to Philadelphia, but, her machinery breaking down, she put into the Azores for repairs, where the American Consul engaged passage to New-York on the Oevenum for Bower, Brown and Borini. The Oevenum also brought from the Azores one of the gunners of the Charleston, who was wounded by a portion of a shell at Manila. His name is Shepard. He went to the receiving-ship Vermont.

QUARANTINED STEAMER RELEASED.

The steamer Bohemia, which arrived on Wednesday from Hamburg with a case of smallpox on board, was thoroughly disinfected and cleansed and permitted to go to her pier yesterday. The patient was removed to the Reception Hospital, and the steerage passengers were transferred to Hoffman Island, where they were vaccinated and all their clothing and effects disinfected. They were landed at the Barge Office in the afternoon.

YONKERS.

Dr. John Henry Seabury died yesterday at his home, No. 21 Hudson-st., after a long illness. He was fifty-one years old, and was born in Jamaica, Long Island. He was graduated with high honors from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1872, and came to Yonkers in 1883. He was for a time medical inspector for the Board of Health, and had been medical examiner for a number of insurance companies. He was a descendant of John Alden and a great-grandson of Adam Seabury, who was a brother of Bishop Seabury. He leaves two sons and a daughter. The burial will be at Jamaica.

The Yonkers Bowling Club's team won two of its three games with the team of the Young Men's Christian Association on Wednesday evening at the latter's alleys, the first by a score of 770–962, the second 776–690, and lost, 757–655. Benjamin F. Barnes won the high-score medal at the Palisade alleys, rolling 148 1-3 average in three games.

The meeting of the Men's Association of the First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday night in the lecture-room was well attended. James Abbott presided. An exhibition of magic was given by Professor Krieger, which was followed by light refreshments.

The March free entertainment for members of the Hollywood Inn Club will be given this evening in the assembly hall. Miss Mary Metlowan, of this city, will sing, and there will be a musical team and other entertainers.

William P. Constable, Commissioner of Charities, has received a letter inquiring as to the whereabouts of Charles F. Simmonds, of this city, and would like to get information about him.

SING SING.

Nightly rehearsals are being held of the minstrel entertainment which will be given for the benefit of the Mount Pleasant Field Club at Olive Opera House on April 18. The musical programme will be under the direction of Professor William Henry Rowe, with a large orchestra from New-York City, and all the old local amateur favorites as end men and in special features will take part.

The several companies of the village Fire Department have made the following nominations for officers to be voted for at the annual election on April 4: Chief engineer, John Doyle; first assistant, James T. Crane; second assistant, Ralph Hiler and Glenden H. Baker. This indicates that the only contest will be over the office of second assistant engineer.

MOUNT VERNON.

It is announced that the marriage of Miss Annie Maher, daughter of Mrs. John Maher, No. 219 South Fourth-ave., to Arthur Granger, son of the Rev. W. A. Granger, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of this city, will take place on Wednesday afternoon, March 22. Mr. Granger and his fiancée are among the best-known young people of the city.

TARRYTOWN.

The village budget, as estimated by the trustees, for the maintenance of the corporation for the current fiscal year amounts to $81,768 86, divided as follows: General fund, $42,268 86; lighting fund, $8,500; police fund, $8,000; highway fund, $25,000. In the general fund is contained the sum of $19,867 06, the amount required by the Board of Water Commissioners to meet its deficiency for the fiscal year. It is said this sum will cover appropriations needed for the present year and the payment of interest on bonded indebtedness and bonds to fall due, amounting to $14,027, and that the deficiency is only $5,840 06, which was caused by an accident at the reservoir last year.

A sacred concert will be given in the new Church of the Transfiguration, in South Broadway, on Sunday afternoon, under the direction of the Carmel Choral Society of New-York.

NORTH TARRYTOWN.

The town clerks of Mount Pleasant and Greenburg will be obliged to submit the local option question to the voters at the town meetings on March 28, the necessary petitions with the requisite number of signatures having been served on them. The temperance people have organized for the battle and are making strong efforts to win. Anti-saloon leagues have been formed and temperance committees appointed from each church. Clergymen and many prominent citizens support the movement, and several mass-meetings will be held. On the other hand, it is said, the saloonkeepers have banded together to protect their interests, and a hot fight is promised. The question was voted on in the spring of 1897, and after a close contest the "license" people won, with one exception. In Mount Pleasant Township the vote went against license for saloons, but it is said that they have continued the business under storekeepers' licenses.

PLEASANTVILLE.

The Rev. Dr. Elias S. Osborn, presiding elder of the New-York District, will preach in the West Pleasantville Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday.

George S. Mackay, the well-known New-York banker, gave a lecture, illustrated by stereopticon views, in Library Hall last evening on "The Holy Land."

IMMIGRANTS BRING IN SHAMROCKS.

There were passed through the Barge Office yesterday 2,020 immigrants. Of the 358 who came in on the Teutonic there were few who had not brought shamrocks for their friends to wear to-day, in honor of St. Patrick.

NO HEARING ON BRIDGE BILLS.

Alexander E. Orr, president of the Rapid Transit Commission; L. L. Delafield, the secretary; E. M. Shepard and A. B. Boardman, counsel; L. J. Callanan and several others appeared at the City Hall to-day to attend a hearing before the Legislative Committee on the Brennan bridges and proposed rapid transit between Manhattan and Brooklyn. The members of the committee were in Albany considering the Astoria Gas bill, and no hearing took place.

The Opening Display of Trimmed Bonnets and Hats

Will continue for the balance of the week. Those who have seen it say there is none in New York to equal it. Don't miss it. The collection includes a superb variety of beautiful Carriage Hats by the best milliners of Paris; also a large number of exclusive designs in London Walking Hats. Our own designers have also contributed many pretty styles that we believe are fully equal to the imported kind, but, of course, much cheaper in price.

Our Stock of Untrimmed Hats

is the largest and best in town and embraces all the best novelties in shape, braid and color. None but the lowest prices prevail.

Misses' and Children's Spring Garments.

The Girls' and Misses' Ready-to-Wear Departments are filled with the products of the foremost makers of New York. Everything that is correct in style, fit, finish and material is here, and with price tickets marked unusually low. A few hints:
