THE RACETRACK.

GRAVESEND FAVORITES FAILED AGAIN.

SPENCER TOOK CARE OF BEN HOLLADAY IN THE SECOND SPECIAL.

At P. J. Dwyer's track yesterday the principal contests were the Second Special, at a mile and a half, and the Algeria Stakes for two-year-olds, at five furlongs. The list of probable starters in the Second Special, as printed in the official programme, had seven names. Four ran. The official programme for the Algeria Stakes had a list of sixteen names. Seven went to the post. The weather was pleasant and the track was not dangerous. What sort of a change was this? Is it creditable for any racing association to send to the newspapers sixteen names for a list of probable starters, and to suggest no excuse or apology when only seven take part in a contest? No rain had fallen in the mean time, and there had been no alteration of conditions which could soften the wrath of the disappointed visitors to the course. But worst of the calamities of the afternoon, and one of the most grievous turf catastrophes of the year, was the defeat of Ben Holladay in the Second Special. Ben Holladay was at odds on, and he lost the Second Special through no fault of his own, but solely because of the riding of Spencer, the bear leader of the jockeys, now conspicuous in the United States.

What are the bears always working for? To create distrust, to destroy confidence, to ruin prosperity, to repel pleasure and invite sorrow, to chase away happiness and compel tears and sobs and moans. As a bear in the saddle Spencer is a wonder. Had Ben Holladay been ridden by a bull jockey, a rider who was happy himself, and desired that others should be happy, Ben Holladay would have been first in the Second Special. When Spencer's book is balanced at the last accounting he may be asked why he deliberately resolved to do wrong in many races. Trembling, shivering and tittering, Spencer will reply, "I only obeyed orders!"

"Whose orders?" will be the next question. "That is my private business," Spencer will answer. "Go and join Richard Croker among the goats." will be the judicial decree. You ought to have been a witness before the Mazet Committee to-day.

To put it in plain, blunt words, Ben Holladay would have been successful in the Second Special if he had been properly ridden. He was ridden by Spencer, and he was not properly ridden. Therefore, he was second, and not first. The comments on Spencer's riding of Ben Holladay will afford a conclusive test of the judgment of those who utter or write the comments. It is possible, but not probable, that Imp. can outrun Ben Holladay at a mile and a half both well ridden, and neither having an advantage in the weights. Various time servers may chatter about the time. But the summing up of the whole matter is that Spencer ought not to be permitted to ride. He is no better than Martin, Williams, Turner, McCue, O'Connor or L. Hommedieu. But he has a pull. Properly ridden, Ben Holladay, the odds on favorite, would have been first in the Second Special. He was ridden by a bear jockey, in true bear style, and he was not first. This bear jockey, with his bear riding, has done a great deal of harm to the turf since he was first weighed in. The end is not yet. It is reported that Spencer will ride in England next year. If that is true, so much the worse for our British friends. They will encounter troubles of their own in the Transvaal, and they may be afflicted with Spencer at home.

Turfmen could find no fault with yesterday's weather, and those professional gamblers, the bookmakers, who pay tribute to the treasuries of the tracks, in direct violation of the Penal Code, were not inclined to complain because they fleeced a half holiday gathering by means of the failure of five favorites out of six. The railroad service was as slow as Spencer's jockeyship on Ben Holladay, as slow and scamy and sluggish as the starting, the handicapping and the stewardship. Thorough scrutiny of every detail of the incidents of the afternoon convinced the most credulous that the improvement of the breed of horses which turf organizations are formed to promote was not advanced with giant strides.

First in the funerals was a hurdle handicap. No one of the hurdlers which staggered over the jumps is worth $50. It was an insult to common decency to start Marshall, because he was so sore and lame that it was difficult for him to stand upon his pain racked ankles. But most of the jumping nuisances are liable to common decency. Marshall staggered and reeled over the course, and came in third. The favorite, Hardy C., ran second, and the third choice, Mr. Stoffel, came in first.

The favorite, Abuse, was stupidly ridden by Boland in the second affair. Boland made too much use of his mount in the first half mile, ran his head into the ground, and then tumbled to pieces when Belle of Memphis caught him in the homestretch. Therefore the favorite was second, Belle of Memphis was first, Abuse next and Souchon third.

The favorite, Rockton, was first in the Algeria Stakes. Rockton has considerable speed with light weight on his back. The second choice, Modrine, would have been second but that Bullman rode as a Tagalog follower of Aguinaldo might ride a hippopotamus in a sequestered brook. Bullman rode as if he had both eyes turned toward the betting ring. Therefore Modrine was third, not second.

Further allusions to what is called racing at Gravesend may be reserved for another occasion.

"77"

A Home Remedy for

COLDS

In every home there is usually a remedy upon which the whole family depend—in most households this remedy is Dr. Humphreys' Specific "77" for Colds and Grip—from the old folks to the little tots, they all take "77" and with the same result—the first dose restores the checked circulation (indicated by a chill or shiver), starts the blood coursing through the veins and so "breaks up" the Cold. Always carry a vial of "77," it fits the vest pocket. A handy remedy is the stitch in time.

For sale by all druggists, or sent on receipt of price, 25c. and $1.00. Humphreys' Homeopathic Medicine Co., cor. William and John Sts., New York.

Readville, Mass., Sept. 23.—The fall meeting of the New-England Breeders' Association at Readville was brought to a close to-day. The day's racing opened with the 2:17 pace postponed from Friday after three heats had been paced. Alice Barnes went under the wire first, winning the heat and race.

CREIGHTON DEFEATS GREENE IN A LIVE BIRD MATCH AT LONG BRANCH.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 23 (Special).—A series of interesting live bird matches was decided here this afternoon, the principal event being the contest between Bernard Creighton, of the Highlands, and Charles H. Greene, jr., of this city. The match was for a purse of $200, twenty-five birds at twenty-eight yards rise. Greene won by a single bird, the score being seventeen to sixteen, eight misses and out events and a five bird match followed. Creighton, James Murray, Greene and Arthur Bussman divided honors, each winning two events. The five bird match was captured by Creighton, who killed straight. Greene and Murray each killed four.

Of the thirty-five hundred spectators who saw the game of baseball at Washington Park, Brooklyn, yesterday, none could complain that the contest lacked excitement and interest. On paper the coming champions should have had an easy time of it defeating the team which decorates eleventh place in the race for baseball supremacy, but paper baseball and green diamond feats are not always identical.

The Senators went first to the bat, and the score was kept tied from the start until the last half of the eighth inning, in which the home players made enough runs to win the contest. Each scored two runs in the opening innings, and each made one in the third and duplicated this in the fifth. In the eighth the Senators scored another run, and the onlookers grew nervous. In the last half of the inning, however, the home players rallied, and, assisted by poor fielding by the men from Washington, scored three runs. Then it was too dark to play longer. Home runs by O'Brien and Freeman were features of interest to the onlookers. Freeman's hit was said to be the longest ever made on the grounds. The score:

FIRST FOOTBALL GAMES.

CORNELL FOUND COLGATE EASY AND RAN UP A BIG SCORE.

Richfield Springs, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Cornell to-day won its first game of football this season from the Colgate University eleven, running up a score of 42 to 0 in fifteen-minute halves. Colgate was no match for the Ithacans, being outclassed in weight and science. As a whole, Cornell played a snappy game, though at times the ball was put into play slowly and formations and interference were somewhat loose.

Captain Starbuck, fullback, and Wallbridge and Morrison, halfbacks, found it an easy matter to advance the ball both through the line and around the ends. The first touchdown was made in less than three minutes. Cornell handled punts well and Captain Starbuck made a good showing in kicking work. Colgate's line was unable to hold Cornell's forwards, though her halfbacks made one or two good impressions in hitting Cornell's line. The new guards, Warner and Caldwell, showed up in a satisfactory form, though the real strength of Cornell's team was not tested. The features of the game were the fifty yard run for a touchdown by Wallbridge, and the work of Morrison and of Starbuck in the backfield. Cornell's ends were also fast. The lineup of the two teams follows:

Cornell.	Position.	Colgate.
Duvall	Left end	Bingham
Porter	Left tackle	Miller, W. Waite
Warner	Left guard	Barr
Peterson	Centre	Horton
Caldwell	Right guard	Thompson
Young	Right tackle	R. Jones
Crane	Right end	Moore, Buck
Morrison	Right halfback	A. Moore
G. Young	Quarterback	J. Best (captain)
Starbuck (captain)	Fullback	Best (captain), Moore

Touchdowns—Starbuck, 3; Wallbridge, 2; Morrison, 2. Goals from a touchdown—Young, 7. Referee—G. H. Van Tuyl, Hamilton. Umpire—C. H. Mason, Cornell, '93. Timekeepers—F. K. Carey, Richfield Springs; J. M. Bayles, Colgate. Linesmen—M. Tappan, Cornell, '93; Buck, Colgate. Attendance, 500. Time, halves of 15 minutes.

COACHES SUMMONED TO PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 23.—The Tigers' first week on the gridiron for this season has passed. Captain Edwards has created great enthusiasm among the entering men for the game, and his call for candidates met such a hearty response that the list has swelled to sixty men already.

Last night Captain Edwards found it necessary to telegraph for other coaches to come on at once. "Biffy" Lea, head coach, and "Harry" Brown, who will look after the ends, are expected to arrive Monday morning. "Billy" Bannard arrived yesterday, and at once began coaching the backs. He will have entire charge of these men now, since Kelly leaves on Monday for San Francisco, where he will assist Cochran in coaching the University of California team. Balliett and "Fred" Smith directed the practice this week, and gave particular attention to the candidates trying for the vacant positions. Tyler, '95, was also on hand yesterday, and assisted in coaching the line men. He will be here most of the time this season.

A lively contest will be kept up among the new men for the vacant positions. Under Balliett's coaching, Losey, of Lawrenceville, may prove a surprise at centre. Dana, Coe, Bannard and Baillie are fighting hard for guard. The former two will make it exciting for Mills, Pell, Dyer (seminary), Leroy and Wright are striving hard for left tackle. The race seems to lie between the first two. G. Lathrope, Levick, Robinson and Forney are the leading new candidates for halfback. Quarterback is well supplied with candidates. Hutchings, Eckhardt, Coleman, Burke and Dugro are working hard for the place. Hutchings and Burke will put up a strong race for the position. Charles Young, formerly of Cornell, now in the seminary, was out for practice yesterday, and although he is ineligible for the team will prove a strong addition to the scrub. Mattis and Childress are after the fullback position. The first lineup will take place next Wednesday, but as yet it is uncertain what men will compose the team in its first game against the scrub.

The Faculty Advisory Committee has announced that the training table will continue only eight weeks, so that studies may not be interfered with too much.

GOLF.

H. M. HARRIMAN WINS THE PRINCIPAL CUP AT THE WESTBROOK CLUB TOURNAMENT.

After one of the closest and most exciting matches seen on metropolitan golf links this year, Herbert M. Harriman, of Meadow Brook, the amateur and metropolitan champion, defeated Louis Livingston, jr., of Westbrook, by 1 up in the final round for the chief cup at the Westbrook Golf Club's invitation tournament. After having led all day, the champion grew careless in playing the last nine holes, and Livingston, who plays with a bulldog spirit, caught and passed him before he knew what had happened. Livingston was 2 up with only 2 to go, but Harriman, taking the three holes in succession, won by 1 up.

All the competitions had been completed except the final round for the Westbrook Cup at thirty-six holes and the final round for the Consolation at eighteen, thus leaving only two pairs to divide the attention of the gallery to-day.

Starting out shortly after 10 o'clock, Livingston took the lead at once by winning the first hole in 5 to 6, Harriman "fluffing" his approach. The next three were halved and Harriman squared the match on the fifth through superiority in the long game, he reaching the green in 2 to 3 for Livingston. He also won the sixth, Livingston pulling his brassie into the barnyard to the left and lifting. They divided the seventh and eighth, and Livingston won the ninth, squaring the match once again through Harriman's "fluffing" his approach and getting into the bunker. A drive topped into the first bunker, followed by a brassie shot finding the second one made Harriman lift at the tenth, as Livingston was on the green in 3. A pulled drive into the woods cost the Westbrook boy the eleventh, and a short approach, which landed in the bunker, was responsible for his loss of the twelfth. They divided the thirteenth in a perfect 3, and Harriman won the next two. This made the champion 3 up. The sixteenth was halved in a par 4, and Harriman won the seventeenth in 4 to 5, making him 1 up. Livingston won the eighteenth, Harriman putting carelessly, and they stopped for lunch with the amateur champion 2 up. The cards for the morning round were:

Harriman	6	4	5	4	5	5	4	5	7	45
Livingston	5	4	5	4	6	7	4	5	5	45
Harriman	5	4	4	5	5	6	4	4	6	44 —89
Livingston	5	5	5	5	6	7	4	5	4	46 —91

Harriman began poorly in the afternoon, half-topping his first drive, which consequently went into the bunker. Livingston was on the green in a stroke less, and won in 5 to 6. Harriman pulled his drive from the second tee into the woods, and lost a stroke in getting out. Livingston was on the green in two and down in the orthodox two more, so that, although Harriman tried desperately for a half after reaching the green in three, Livingston took the hole. The champion won the third, however, Livingston won the fourth in a perfect three, Harriman missing a yard put on the like, and they halved the next, a weak four-foot put costing Harriman a win. More poor putting on Harriman's part gave Livingston a half at the fifth, he should have been out of it, for he pulled his second into the
