GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, July 8, 1904.

COFFEE—The coffee market to-day reflected rather an increased speculative interest, sales amounting to about 62,000 bags, but offerings were slightly freer than on the previous day, and, while the demand from scattering sources was fair, the market, after opening 10@15 points lower in response to lower European markets and predictions for increased Brazilian receipts, was not able to recover the loss, although it ruled generally steady. The close was steady, net 10@15 points lower. Of the European markets, Havre lost about ½ franc, and Hamburg was ⅜@⅝ pfg lower. Neither of the Brazilian markets reported any change, in spite of the reported prospects for a bigger movement, and the day's receipts were not heavy, with the two ports getting only 24,000 bags, against 44,000 bags last year. The interior Santos movement, however, showed an increasing tendency, as it reached 21,500 bags, against 38,657 last year, and the Sunday receipts were 26,000 bags, against 22,000 a year ago. Karle Krische, without reiterating his estimate for Brazilian receipts of 1,050,000 bags during the month of July, cabled that the movement would increase after the middle of the month, and also stated that the weather was favorable to the next crop. The trade here is naturally expecting a large movement as time goes on. Last year, when the crop proved only 10,408,000 bags, the movement early in the season was on the same basis as that of two years ago, when the crop reached 15,000,000 bags. There was no indication of an increased spot demand, and during the trading it looked as though recent buyers were becoming discouraged over the prospects for an immediate advance. The market was quiet, and closed steady, on the basis of 7¾c for Rio No 7.

COTTON—To-day's cotton market was active, judging by recent standards; it was also very nervous, with fluctuations irregular. The feature of the day's news was the remarkable firmness shown by Liverpool, where it is becoming more than ever clear there is bull manipulation of no mean character, and where sentiment is also affected bullishly by the accounts of a better spot demand and decreasing supplies notwithstanding the continued favorable crop advices. Liverpool at the hour of the local opening to-day was 16@17 points higher on the old crop and 6 points higher on the new. Later the advance were increased, notwithstanding the indifferent response of the local opening, and the market there was finally 26@28 points higher on near and 8@13 points on the late months, with sales of spot cotton 8,000 bales at an advance of 20 points. The local market influenced by the cables opened firm at an advance of 15 points on the old crop and of 8@13 points on the new. The initial gains uncovered stop losses and the market was active. There was, however, considerable realizing by parties who bought on last Tuesday and were taking advantage of the ½c advance since that time to take profits, and after some nervous larity the new crop sold off, with shorts in those positions reassured by more favorable weather advices, while the old crop remained under the influence of the continued strength at Liverpool and advanced rapidly, with July selling at 10.87c and August at 10.90c, or net gains of 32@35 points, with the new crop fluctuating around last night's prices. In the late trading the market was very nervous and irregular. Shorts continued covering all the slight dips, while there seemed considerable pressure from local spot people and houses with Southern connections. The market closed steady, with July 10 and August 22 points higher, while the new crop was 1 point higher to 3 points lower. The declines in the late trading were in the face of full exports, which reached 13,089 bales for the day, including 2,704 bales from local stocks, and firmness in the Southern spot markets. The local spot market was 20 points higher, with sales of 116 bales to spinners and about 600 bales delivered on contract. Superintendent King's weekly movement figures follow: Port receipts, 10,325 bales, against 14,819 bales last year; overland to mills and Canada, 664 bales, against 259 bales last year; Southern mill takings (estimated), 21,000 bales, against 10,559 bales last year; loss of stock at interior towns, 9,728 bales, against none last year; brought into sight for the week, 22,466 bales, against 25,569 bales last year. Total crop movement—Port receipts, 7,077,209 bales, against 7,709,229 bales last year; overland to mills and Canada, 817,787 bales, against 1,054,661 bales last year; Southern mill takings (estimated), 1,837,000 bales, against 1,842,000 bales last year; stock at interior towns in excess of September 1, 76,562 bales, against none last year; brought into sight thus far for season, 9,908,528 bales, against 10,605,881 bales last year. The total crop movement is for 312 days this season, against 313 days in 1902-'03.

Manchester—Yarns better, with more business; cloths, more business could be done if sellers would concede something.

FLOUR AND MEAL—Business in flour was on a little better scale to-day, there being several fair lots of spring patents and Kansas straights reported at good prices. About all the business doing is in the line of filling current needs, buyers not entering the market freely. Spring patents, $4 90@$5 35; winter straights, $4 60@$4 75; winter patents, $4 85@$5 10; spring clears, $3 65@$3 85; extra No 1 winter, $3 50@$3 80; extra No 2 winter, $3 35@$3 50. OIL MEAL, $23 50.

GRAIN—WHEAT—The expected reaction took place in wheat yesterday, and was quite sharp, although not influenced by any noticeable change in weather conditions, which at the close of the market remained rather bullish from all parts of the West. After showing a cent advance over Thursday's close at one time during the day, the market left off partly ⅝c net lower. The selling movement, which came principally after midday, was influenced primarily by Snow's report indicating that wheat condition had gained 2 points during the month, and that the prospect for spring and winter crops was 675,000,000 bushels on July 1. The significance of this is apparent when contrasted with the government estimate of 655,000,000 bushels last month, and a total last year of 638,000,000 bushels for the final crop. The high point was made, however, that the figures did not take into account any damage inflicted since July 1. The weather map was as gloomy as ever, showing further showers in the Southwest, and some in the Northwest also. July wheat in St. Louis jumped 4c a bushel in the early trading on a bad scare of shorts. Estimates as to the amount of damage in Kansas varied from 10 to 50 per cent. The best figures, however, pointed toward a reduction in the crop to about 70,000,000 bushels. The Iowa State report made spring wheat condition 91, against 88 last year. Cables were firmer, but without particular incident, except that Broomhall gave an estimate of the French crop, coming from responsible private sources, in which the yield was said to be 15 per cent less than last year, or 310,761,000 bushels, against 365,601,000 in 1903. Other cables spoke of the Russian crop expected to be short and spring reports growing worse. The Indian crop was also said to be yielding less than expected. The interior movement continued to reflect the bad weather, and for the day was only 168,000 bushels, compared with 320,000 bushels last year. The absence of any export demand was one of the bear factors in the late afternoon. The "Modern Miller" report was bullish, showing the growing worst in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska and the Territories. At the close No 2 red was quoted $1 11½ f o b afloat; No 1 Northern Duluth, $1 04½ f o b afloat.

CORN—Except near the opening, when influenced by the strong wheat market, corn ruled rather weak all day, showing ⅝@¾c net decline at the close. The local cash reports from Western sections indicated that corn had been very little injured by rains in the leading States. In fact, the Iowa report made corn condition 90, against 77 last year. Snow made the corn condition 89, against 77 last year. There was selling of considerable volume throughout the day, but especially in the last hour, when lowest prices were recorded. Interior receipts were checked by wet weather, and for the day reached only 237,000 bushels, compared with 493,000 bushels last year. No 2 corn closed at 54½c net, 54½c f o b afloat; No 2 white, 55c, and No 2 yellow, 56c f o b afloat. OATS—The oats market eased off a little with other grains, although not so weak as corn. Snow estimated condition 90.7, against 90.1 last month. The Iowa State report reduced condition 1 point, to 91. Cash quotations here follow: Mixed oats 26 to 32 lb, 43½@45½c; natural white, 30 to 32 lb, 46½@47½c, and clipped white, 36 to 40 lb, 48½@52½c. RYE—Nominal. BARLEY—Market dull; feeding was quoted 46½c c i f, New-York, and malting nominal. Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ended July 7, according to "Bradstreet's," aggregated 878,910 bushels, against 1,127,885 bushels last week, and 2,380,410 bushels for the same week last year. Since July 1, this year, the aggregate 878,910 bushels, against 2,380,410 bushels for the same time last year. Corn exports for the week are 613,124 bushels, compared with 536,067 last week, and 1,525,084 bushels last year. Since July 1, corn exports are 613,124 bushels, against 1,525,084 bushels last year.

The business continues of moderate proportion, but the most desirable grades have cleaned up fairly well, a good many of them going into store, and buyers have thus far been unable to gain any advantage. There is beginning to be some accumulation of seconds and firsts, and it is possible that some concessions would be made in order to move more of them. There is no great pressure to sell. The Western packings are firm for factory and imitation creamery, but renovated is no more than steady. EGGS—Receipts to-day, 9,263 cases. There are scarcely enough high grade fresh eggs arriving to meet the requirements of the trade, and the market in consequence is quite firm. Receivers do not think it advisable to advance prices further at present, however, some egg-buyers continue good in this State, California and Washington, but Oregon still complains of dry weather.
