OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

PSYCHO-THERAPEUTICS

Substitution of Normal for Abnormal Ideas, Says Dr. Coriat.

There isn't anything either mysterious or supernatural about psycho-therapeutics, and it isn't explained by the word suggestion, according to Dr. Isador H. Coriat, who was the speaker at St. George's Church yesterday morning in the course of lectures on "The Moral Control of Nervous Diseases."

"Psycho-therapeutics," Dr. Coriat asserted, "is not merely suggestion. It is not telling the patient this or that against his reason. Suggestion is merely a device for educating the patient away from misconceptions, the substitution of a normal mental condition for an abnormal one."

The possibilities of this treatment are strictly limited, Dr. Coriat pointed out, and its availability "for any particular case can only be determined by careful diagnosis." To illustrate, Dr. Coriat told of two cases with somewhat similar symptoms, as described by the patients themselves, but requiring totally different treatment. One was a woman with a vague kind of intestinal trouble. Dr. Coriat expects to cure her by mental treatment. The other was a man with a vague kind of stomach trouble. He was discovered to have the beginning of a cancer and was cured by an operation.

"If he had gone to a mental healer and been treated by suggestion," said Dr. Coriat, "his chances of living would have been thrown away."

"The practice of psycho-therapeutics is a delicate procedure," Dr. Coriat said, "requiring much time and skill. It cannot be learned by attending a few lectures or reading a few books. It requires a knowledge of men as well as of methods. A man from the Bowery cannot be treated in the same way as one from a Fifth avenue club."

To people who fear they may go insane Dr. Coriat gave a word of comfort.

"If you think you are going insane," he said, "you may be sure you are not. People who are really going insane don't know it."

NEWS OF THE MARKETS.

Strict Quarantine of Meat Causes Rise in Prices—Fish Is Plentiful.

A rise in the price of meat is expected. Wholesale lamb is $1 50 and $2 a hundred higher, and this must affect the retail prices as soon as the present supply at the former market rate is exhausted. The rise is due to the strict quarantine which is being observed at Buffalo, both on beef and mutton. Each beast is being examined separately by the doctors, and this, of course, means delay and bigger figures. Saddles of lamb are 15½ to 16 cents a pound, legs of lamb 13 cents, short racks of lamb 10½ cents and long racks 12 cents; shoulders of lamb are 16 cents, fore saddles 12½ cents, and the best quality of English saddles of Canadian lamb 21 cents a pound.

Hind saddles of city dressed veal are 17 and 17½ cents a pound, fore quarters and fore saddles are 13 cents, and shoulders of veal 14 cents a pound. For the present porterhouse steak is 28 cents a pound, sirloin 26 cents, and prime rib roast 20 to 22 cents a pound.

FISH.

The prevailing mild weather is favorable for the fish stall owners, as it means an abundant supply at moderate prices and a quick sale. Flounders, cod, English whiting and halibut are still 8 cents a pound, respectively; California salmon are 35 cents a pound, Spanish mackerel and bluefish are each 25 cents a pound. Sea bass are 18 cents, butterfish 15 cents, and smelts also 15 cents a pound. Whitefish are 18 cents a pound, yellow pike 25 cents, yellow perch 12 cents and carp 10 cents a pound. Scallops are 50 cents a quart and hard shell crabs are 40 cents a dozen.

GAME AND POULTRY.

Maryland geese, Long Island ducklings and Philadelphia broilers are each 22 cents a pound, roasting chickens are 22 and 25 cents a pound, turkeys 25 cents a pound and fowl 16 cents a pound. Sucking pigs are 15 cents a pound. Rabbits are 35 cents a pair, broad bill ducks $2 a pair, wild ducks $1 a pair, guinea hens $2 a pair, grouse $2 50 a pair and partridges $5 a pair. Quail are $6 a dozen, squabs are $3 a dozen and stall fed pigeons are 10 cents each.

Eggs are still 40 cents a dozen; butter is 34 cents a pound.

FRUITS.

In the more delicate table fruits the demand during the last week has been exceptionally brisk, much more so than for many seasons. Strawberries are $1 a pint, but there is a large demand for raspberries at the same figure. West Indian mangoes are 10 cents each; persimmons are 5 cents; pomegranates are two for 25 cents. Fresh figs are three for 25 cents. The alligator pears, at 30 cents apiece, are in fine condition. Grapefruit are 25 cents for two, and pineapples are 30 cents each. Tangerines are 50 cents a dozen, kumquats 40 cents a basket, Rochester pears $1 25 a basket, and Kunis pears $1 50 a basket. Quinces are $1 a large basket, and 75 cents a small basket. California oranges are 85 cents a dozen, the Florida variety being 60 cents a dozen. Colorado apples are 35 cents a basket, Jonathans 60 cents a dozen, Spitzenbergs 75 cents a dozen, Kings the same price, and Oregon Beauties 60 cents a dozen. Malaga grapes are $1 a basket, Niagaras are 40 cents a basket, and Catawbas are 25 cents a basket. Walnuts are 25 cents a pound; chestnuts are 25 cents for three pounds; Brazil nuts are 15 cents a pound, hickory nuts 10 cents, Washington filberts 15 cents, and California soft shell almonds 20 cents a pound.

VEGETABLES.

The crop of French artichokes is short this week because of a whole shipment having been frozen. Lettuce is high, being 25 cents a head; eggplants are 10 to 15 cents each; chicory is 10 cents a head, and cabbage is also 10 cents a head. Mushrooms are 75 cents a pound, pumpkins 20 to 30 cents apiece, cauliflowers 15 to 20 cents each, and cucumbers 15 cents each. Oyster plants are 10 cents a bunch, and horseradish is 5 cents a stalk. Okra sells at 12 cents the dozen. Celery is 20 to 65 cents a bunch, and carrots are 10 cents for three bunches. Tomatoes are 30 cents a quart; field salad is 40 cents a quart; brussels sprouts are 20 cents; cranberries are 15 cents, and sweet potatoes 10 cents a quart. Peas are 25 cents a quart, string beans 20 cents, and shelled beans 60 cents a quart.

"BACKBONE" SUPERFLUOUS.

"The worst thing about having no backbone," said the woman who had been born without that supposedly indispensable member, "is trying to get one. It is a perfectly useless agony, too, because if nature hasn't given you a backbone, you can't get it by any other means. If you once recognize this fact and submit to your limitations you'll find that you can get on fairly well without a backbone; and when you realize how often the thing that passes for determination is a mere disregard for or inability to comprehend other people's rights and feelings, you can bear up under the contempt commonly meted out to the 'spineless.'

"A backbone is not nearly so necessary as people imagine, and very often one gets on a great deal better without it. If you haven't any backbone, you won't be tempted to butt your head against irresistible forces. We are most of us helpless victims in the hands of fate, and ordinarily we might as well let ourselves drift as try to mould circumstances to our will. The drifting may be a mistake, to be sure, but pulling against the current may be a mistake equally, and the first is easier.

"If I can't decide, I do nothing, when that is possible, and let events shape themselves as they will, and if I must do something I do what I like best or dislike least, as the case may be. My own inclinations are the most reliable guides I have ever found, and I wish that I had earlier learned to rate them at their proper value. The powers that presided over my early education contrived to inoculate me with the idea that inclinations exist, as Herbert Spencer says, 'not for our guidance, but solely to mislead us,' and it took me a long time to learn that when I went against them I was certain to be wrong, and sometimes disastrously and fatally wrong.

"Another thing I do is to lean shamelessly on any one that I have found capable of supporting my weight. That, of course, has to be done with discretion, because it is painful to lean on the wrong person, but when once you have found a staff that you can rely on it is foolish not to use it. The strong like to exercise their strength, and it must be pleasanter for your friends to give you the benefit of their superior wisdom than to see you come to grief.

"It is also possible to avoid circumstances that call for decision. If you can't make up your mind quickly you don't need to drive a motor car or steer a boat. Leave that to other people, and let who will sneer at your incompetence and lack of courage."

CURRANT CAKE.

Currant cake is a good cake for cold weather. It takes only a half cup of butter and one and a half cups of sugar, which must be rubbed to a cream. Beat two eggs into the mixture, and then add three-quarters of a cup of milk, one small nutmeg, grated; one cup of currants which have been washed and dried, one and a half cups of flour and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. The flour and baking powder must be sifted together before adding them, and the currants should be stirred in with the flour.

GINGERBREAD.

This is the real old-fashioned gingerbread, and, rightly baked, the crust is deliciously crisp. Mix one cup of good leaf lard with a cup of dark brown sugar. Stir in, one after the other, one cup of New Orleans molasses, two eggs, a cup of sour milk, a tablespoonful of ginger, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a teaspoonful of allspice, about two cups of flour and one teaspoonful of baking soda mixed in a little hot water.

THE TRIBUNE PATTERN.

The tailored blouse is being shown in a number of variations this season, and this one is plain and smart, yet distinctly different from the regulation shirtwaist. It is closed by means of large buttons and buttonholes at the front, and it can be made with either long or three-quarter sleeves, but in either case they are tucked to form cuffs. There are pleats over the shoulders that give breadth to the figure, and there is the patch pocket that is always smart for the blouse of this sort, but which can be used or omitted as liked. In the illustration striped viyella is the material and the buttons are of pearl, but all waisting materials are appropriate, the cotton and linen ones quite as well as those of silk and wool. Cashmere is much used, satin as well as taffeta is to be noted and washable waistings include embroidered piqué as well as plain materials.

NO. 6,178—TISSUE PAPER PATTERN OF BLOUSE SHIRTWAIST FOR 10 CENTS.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 4¾ yards 21 or 24, 3¼ yards 32, or 2½ yards 44 inches wide. The pattern No. 6,178 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measure and will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents.

Please give number of pattern and bust measure distinctly. Address Pattern Department, New-York Tribune. If in a hurry for pattern send an extra 2-cent stamp, and we will mail by letter postage in sealed envelope.

Seen in the Shops

Some gorgeous Japanese kimonos of heavy soft silk are shown in a 23d street window. One is of royal purple, embroidered with lilies, and with a wide sash brought up in front, girdlewise, and tied in a great knot at the breast. A tender pink one is embroidered with almond blossoms, and a kimono in dull blue is a battleground for some weird and very Oriental looking dragons. Against a background of Japanese screens these kimonos make a strong appeal to women with luxurious tastes.

Almost too dainty to put upon the floor are some white satin slippers with rosettes of white lace and tuberoses. By the way, why are these fancy slippers always so small? In these athletic days there must be some debutantes whose feet are not exactly fairylike.

At $300 in a Fifth avenue shop is a blue silk opera cloak, fitting smoothly around the shoulders, but falling in full folds to the bottom of the skirt. A little gold braid around the shoulders forms the trimming.

A window in a Japanese novelty shop near Madison Square drew many childish eyes yesterday. It was full of fascinating, prancing toy horses, each caparisoned for war, and looking as if intended as a mount for the Mikado at the very least.

Two beautiful turbans, very large, are of white lynx. One is trimmed with white roses, the other with a curious botanical article—black oranges made of satin. They are oranges, for they are accompanied by orange leaves. Though queer, they are effective.

A dreadfully inhuman looking muff is composed of eight little animals of the mink variety. They lie quite flat along the muff, with their heads resting where one hand goes in, and their tails hanging down where the other hand goes in.

A black and bronze hat has a wide brim faced with black velvet. The upper part of the brim is of bronze satin, the crown of the hat of black fox. Immense rosettes of bronze satin form the trimming.
