CORNELL TIES COLUMBIA

Soccer Champions Held Level by Upstate Twelve.

SCORE IS ONE GOAL EACH

Ithacans Get First Blood and Blue and White Players Rally to Avert Defeat.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Ithaca, N. Y., March 25.—On a field that was muddy and with a strong wind blowing, the association football players of Columbia University, twice intercollegiate champions, encountered the Cornell 'varsity team here to-day and met with unlooked for resistance. A tie at one goal for each side was the outcome of one of the fiercest soccer battles ever seen here.

At the end of the first half the Ithacans were leading by 1 goal to 0 and the Blue and White players were forced to their fastest pace to even the score. This was accomplished after a brilliant effort on the part of the New York collegians, their acting captain, G. J. Dwyer, averting defeat for Columbia. The game was nearing its close when the players massed around Cornell's goal, which was repeatedly bombarded by the visitors. Finally Dwyer sent in a sizzling shot which struck Birkham, the Cornell back, and went hurtling into the net, tieing the score amid great excitement.

About the middle of the first half Davis at outside right for Cornell negotiated a fine pass from Dodge and got by the Columbia defence in dashing style. Thereafter it was an uphill game for the intercollegiate champions, who had already laid Haverford and Pennsylvania low. Captain Dwyer and H. A. Zoller were the stars of the Columbia team and Stephenson in goal was a tower of strength for Cornell. Dodge also played a magnificent game. The sun shone brightly throughout the game, the only drawbacks being the mud and the high wind.

The line-up follows:

Columbia (1).	Position.	Cornell (1).
Murphy	Goal	Stephenson
Spencer	Right back	Sonnenfeld
Tait	Left back	Allen
Hagey	Right half	Birkham

YALE LOSES AT SOCCER

Crescent Athletic Club Eleven Wins Hard Fought Game.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

New Haven, March 25.—Yale's Association football players, who will meet Columbia in New York two weeks hence, played a plucky and aggressive game against the eleven sent down here to-day from the Crescent Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, but lost, nevertheless, by a score of 4 goals to 1. The visitors did most of their scoring in the second period, for at the close of the first period they led by 1 to 0. Clegg, the Crescents' outside left, was the first to find Yale's net from a pass by Harland. McClelland and Harland played exceptionally well for the visitors and Armstrong, the centre halfback, broke up many of Yale's best plays.

Soon after the restart, Harland, taking quick advantage of a mistake by one of the Yale backs, shot the second goal for the Crescents. Salter, who played goal for the Crescents in the first half, changed places with Harland in the forward line in the second period, and tallied twice, each time from a mix up in front of the Yale net. A pretty drive by Thompson was the only successful effort of the many made by the Yale forwards.

The line-up follows:

Crescent (4).	Position.	Yale (2).
Salter	Goal	Woodruff
Charlwood	Right back	Mahistead
Andrews	Left back	Foster
Fagan	Right half	Dicker

PROGRAMME FOR GOSHEN

Plans Being Made for Meeting on Old Historic Track.

A programme has already been arranged for the Grand Circuit meeting to be held on the "old historic track" at Goshen, August 21 to August 25. The early closing events are $2,000 purses for trotters in the 2:12, the 2:17, the 2:20 and the 2:24 classes and a two-year-old and a three-year-old race, which will be mile heats, two in three. For the side-wheelers there will be a free-for-all, a 2:10 class and a 2:15 class, all $2,000 purses.

The "Inn Purse" is open to entrance for all 2:20 trotters, but they must be driven to sulky by amateurs who are qualified members of the League of Amateur Driving Clubs. Not more than six horses will be allowed to start in a division in this race, and there will be mile heats, best two in three.

At a meeting of the racing committee at Goshen, yesterday afternoon, J. Howard Ford was elected president of the Goshen track and Rensselaer Weston was re-elected racing secretary and treasurer.

Cleveland, March 25.—President H. K. Devereaux of the Grand Circuit to-day received word that Buffalo has decided to remain with the organization and that Goshen, N. Y., also has announced a programme. He states that this action insures the integrity of the circuit, notwithstanding the action of Columbus in withdrawing.

The year's circuit, consisting of eleven weeks of racing, will start on July 11 at Indianapolis, three weeks earlier than usual.

GROSSCUP FINDS FAULT

Attacks Sherman Law as Encroachment on Judiciary.

SPEAKERS ANSWER HIM

Overlapping of Branches of Government Discussed Before Republican Club.

At the last of the Saturday luncheons and discussions of the season held in the Republican Club yesterday "The Encroachment Upon the Three Co-ordinate Branches of the Government One Upon the Other" was discussed.

Judge Grosscup thought the Sherman anti-trust law was typical of the laws that encroached upon the powers of the judiciary. He said corporations had grown until they rivalled the government itself, both in revenue and business activity. After going over the history of their growth Judge Grosscup said:

"My own theory is that it is not the man but the garment. The business of the country is the man and the law the garment. I think the tailor should cut the garment to fit the man, and not cut the man to fit the garment. But the law took another course.

"There is a better remedy than the Sherman anti-trust law as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court. The interpretation the Supreme Court has put on the Sherman anti-trust law is the Calvinistic doctrine of universal condemnation. Every man who does business is violating the law unless he does business with himself.

"Through the mercy of the Department of Justice you may never be prosecuted. The whole power is transferred to Washington. It is no longer 'What will they say at the court in Buffalo, in New York or elsewhere?' but 'What will they say in Washington?'

"The courts can do nothing except to inflict punishment if the Executive One in Washington does not hear. I say it is not American, it is not right."

President Schurman of Cornell said that all departments of the government should be kept separate.

"What's the use of having a maxim if no one is carrying it out?" he asked. "All good policies have originated with executives. It's a Taft administration or a Roosevelt administration. The great change is that the masses of the people have taken hold of the machinery of government and seized upon the Presidency as its organ. The power has centred in the President.

"This is due to the growth of our national parties. Behind Congress and the President to-day is the political party. When the change was made in the making of a President there came the rise of national parties, and the impossibility of using Congress as a national organ was felt.

"The question to-day is, How long shall it go on? When shall it stop? We have got to recognize the evolution that has taken place and adjust ourselves to it."

Ambassador Hill began by humorously observing that he was not down on the programme.

"We are not living under universal condemnation. We are not living under laws born in the mists of the morning or the miasma of an evening," he said, taking issue with Judge Grosscup. "I would say we are living under laws adopted after deliberation by the American people."

Professor Goodnow, of Columbia, said he agreed with President Schurman in believing that the theory of separation of power was broken down. He said the people are recognizing the inadequacy of the separation of powers. He spoke of the beginning of the courts declaring laws unconstitutional.

Judge Grosscup, being the first speaker, ended the discussion with a summing up.

"I'm not a pessimist," he said. "I'm an optimist. It's the optimist that is the force in the gasolene that drives the machine. It is the blue smoke and the smell that is the optimist."

WHITMAN CALLS BANKERS IN CARNEGIE TRUST CASE

Gives Them Long List of Questions To Be Asked Before the Grand Jury.

REICHMANN IS IN TOWN

Former President of Company Says He Is Here on Business, Sleeps Well and Does Not Worry.

District Attorney Whitman wants to be sure that when the investigation into the closing of the Carnegie Trust Company is completed nothing shall have been left undone that might have shed a ray of light on the political, financial or possibly criminal side of the affair. Therefore a week ago he took the unprecedented step of summoning nineteen bankers to testify before the grand jury, and to make sure that they would appear ready to answer the questions to be asked them, he sent each with his subpœna a list of questions.

These bankers will begin appearing before the grand jury on Monday, it is expected, having had a week in which to familiarize themselves with those specific points on which information is sought. The District Attorney feels that as a result of the pains he has taken in this instance, the witnesses will have no excuse for not supplying, so far as it lies in the power of any individual institution to supply, the facts the grand jury seek.

Here are the local institutions which have been called upon to furnish information by the District Attorney's subpœna:

Central Trust Company — President, James N. Wallace.

Empire Trust Company—President Leroy W. Baldwin.

The comprehensiveness of the inquiry is well illustrated in the following list of questions to be answered by the bankers testifying:

Give complete transcript of any account of Charles H. Hyde from January 1, 1910, to date.

These are only a part of the three dozen or more questions to be asked. The banks mentioned have in the neighborhood of $3,600,000 of Cummins syndicate paper among them, in some instances fully secured by collateral, as in the case of the National Reserve Bank. The Hungarian-American Bank got rid of its Cummins loan before the crash came. As nearly as can be learned a majority of the banks have turned the questions over to their lawyers.

Joseph B. Reichmann, former president of the Carnegie Trust Company, and a member of the Cummins syndicate, arrived in New York yesterday morning at 9.45 o'clock from Dayton, Ohio, where he has been attending to the affairs of the Platt Iron Works. Mr. Reichmann, who has suffered two strokes of paralysis in his short life, uses a cane in walking, but otherwise looks strong and young. He is of medium height, with brown hair and blue eyes, and a boyish, clean shaven face.

"You're looking fine," a friend remarked, as the banker entered the office of his counsel, John B. Stanchfield, at No. 5 Nassau street.

"I feel fine," he replied. "Not dead, you see, as reported."

He was asked if the District Attorney had asked for his presence in town, and said he had had no intimation from the District Attorney's office that he was wanted here, and that he had come to attend a directors' meeting, purely on business.

"I am attending to my business affairs every day," said he. "They are my most important concern and a labor of love. When anything else comes up I will attend to that as occasion requires.

"There is one thing you newspaper men seem to forget, and that is that I haven't been president of the Carnegie Trust Company since October 10. My friends know how I got into it, and they have faith in me. My conscience is clear; I sleep well, have a good appetite, and I am as happy as can be."

This plant will be designed to keep the headquarters of the navy in close touch with war vessels in the Atlantic ocean.

"MRS. EDDY DECEIVED"

Glover Files Additional Bill in Equity Against Church Trustees.

DIRECTORS ALSO ACCUSED

Son Says He Was Estranged from Mother Through Their Machinations.

Concord, N. H., March 25.—An additional bill in equity, filed to-day in the Superior Court for Merrimack County, in behalf of George W. Glover, of Lead, S. D., against the trustees of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, makes the direct allegation that Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, was "systematically deceived and led to bequeath nearly the whole of her property to said church, in ignorance of the fact that so great a bequest was forbidden by the laws of both New Hampshire and Massachusetts."

It is further alleged that the plaintiff in the case now before the courts, George W. Glover, "was also deceived, and entered into an agreement not to contest the will of his mother, the Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, without suspecting that an illegal disposition of the property was in contemplation." It is stated that he agreed not to question any lawful bequests that his mother might make, but it is further declared that he would never have agreed to an illegal distribution of the property, and did not so agree. Further, the bill declares that the defendants well knew that Mr. Glover would not have entered into an agreement which would bind him to acquiesce in an evasion of the law, and he was, therefore, carefully kept from any knowledge of the purposes of the defendants.

Another allegation is that the plaintiff was estranged from his mother through the "machinations of the directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, her mind having been poisoned against him by false statements." It is also charged that he was under the influence of "malicious animal magnetism" which has so many times been mentioned in the Eddy suits. The fundamentals of the belief in "malicious animal magnetism" are set forth, and it is declared that Christian science practitioners are allowed to use the same methods in combating those who are addicted to this "evil practice."

"Not a Charitable Body."

The bill sets forth the method of the government of the First Church of Christ, Scientist; sketches its history and also the history of the famous "next friends" suit of 1907, and attacks the denomination as not being a charitable body. The bill in equity is signed for George W. Glover by his attorney, William E. Chandler.

All the averments of the original petition as to the incompetency of Mrs. Eddy to exercise unbiassed judgment in the management of her affairs are reaffirmed in the amended petition. In regard to the discontinuance of the "next friend" suit the bill says:

The plaintiff further says that the planned family arrangement was utterly null and void against him because it was procured from him by the defendants, or those who were at that time directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston and their representatives, through wilful concealment and deceit, by means of which they kept the plaintiff in complete ignorance of their intended violation of law by trying to procure for said Church a donation of $2,000,000, with full knowledge on their part that under the laws of Massachusetts that Church could only take property which would produce $2,000 a year, and under the laws of New Hampshire could only take property which would produce $5,000 a year.

When the arrangement was approaching completion they refused to allow the plaintiff's counsel to see his mother, fearing that upon an interview the situation might be changed and the laws obeyed.

In pursuance of their plan of concealment and deception they instructed their counsel to obtain acknowledgments, agreements, releases, quit claims and covenants for further assurance in every possible form. The plaintiff knew that he had no then existing title or estate in his mother's property, that he could only agree that she might make a lawful deed or will of such as she might possess after an arrangement with her sons, and he could not imagine any possible reason why such varied stipulations should be required, but, knowing the legal effect of his agreement could only be that she might make a lawful disposition away from him of the rest of her property, he saw no harm therein and ignorantly but readily signed the papers. He now sees their purpose and charges that they were intended as part of a plan of concealment and deception.

The closing paragraph of the petition says:

The plaintiff further complaining against said defendants says that he is advised by his counsel that the devises and bequests contained in the fourth, sixth and eighth items of the will of said Mary Baker G. Eddy are for purposes which are contrary to the public policy of this state, as established by its laws, in that said purposes if effectuated are destructive of the policy of said state as to hygiene, sanitation, medicine and surgery, and are also destructive of said policy as to the care required and the negligence forbidden in the case of every person in his conduct toward and relations with other persons, and particularly as to such care and negligence toward his children and other dependants; and that said devises and bequests are null and void and of no efficacy to pass the title to the property mentioned in said items to the devisee and legatee therein named, and that as to such property said testatrix died intestate and the same descended by the statute of descent and distribution to her heirs at law, namely, the sons of the testatrix, and that such result is wholly unaffected by the aforesaid agreement made by the plaintiff with said testatrix on November 10, 1909, as to which result said agreement is immaterial.

The directors of the Mother Church of Christian Science are Archibald McClellan, chairman; John V. Dittemore, clerk; Stephen A. Chase, treasurer; Allison V. Stewart and Adam H. Dickey. The personal trustees designated by Mrs. Eddy are Archibald McClellan, Adam H. Dickey and Joseph Furnall.

TO LEASE LAND FOR SPORTS

Well Known Men May Acquire "Woodlea" and Form Club.

In order to meet the increasing demands of lawn tennis players, golfers, polo enthusiasts and the followers of out of door pastimes, it is planned to lease "Woodlea," the former country estate of Mrs. Elliot F. Shepard, at Scarborough-on-the-Hudson, and form the Sleepy Hollow Country Club. Colonel John Jacob Astor, George W. Perkins, Elisha Dyer, Oliver Harriman, Frank A. Vanderlip, Cornelius Vanderbilt and others are leaders of the project. It is expected to have the club open and in operation during the coming season.

The estate comprises thirty acres, which may easily be adapted to the needs of the country club. The place for the lawn tennis courts has been surveyed, and also the ground for an eighteen-hole golf course. The house and stables are in readiness for occupancy. The latter is fireproof and will accommodate two hundred automobiles.

It is estimated by the committee on organization that $75,000 will be needed annually to defray the expenses of the club. Organization will be effected as soon as the membership list fills to proportions which will assure the success of the venture.

The advisory committee in charge of the undertaking includes John Jacob Astor, Edward I. Berwind, Stephen H. Brown, Arthur O. Choate, James C. Colgate, Elisha Dyer, Stuyvesant Fish, jr., Edward W. Harden, Oliver Harriman, George G. Haven, jr., Paul N. Hayes, William M. V. Hoffman, V. Everit Macy, George W. Perkins, Franklin A. Plummer, Percy A. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, George R. Sheldon, Samuel Sloan, Lispenard Stewart, James A. Stillman, Moses Taylor, Oakleigh Thorne, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Frank A. Vanderlip, Frederick W. Whitridge, Harrison Williams, Frank S. Witherbee and Benjamin F. Yoakum.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 25.—After being pulled up and then down wheat to-day closed steady at middle figures, the same as last night, to ⅛c below. Varying news about the weather had a good deal to do with the action of prices. Corn finished unchanged to ⅛c off, oats not altered at all, and provisions running from 10@12½c decline to 2½c advance. Evening up on the part of shorts formed the influence which finally steadied wheat. There was no continuance of yesterday's improved demand for the cash grain. Flour trade also was poor. Absence of rain both Northwest and Southwest had a bullish effect early, however, speculators showing a nervous feeling as to a renewal of fear concerning drouth. An equally sensitive response, though, followed announcement of a bearish forecast that the weather would become generally unsettled and that rain might be expected in the spring wheat territory.
