HARD COAL INVESTIGATION

Pennsylvania Plans a Sweeping Two-Year Inquiry.

TO LOWER COST OF LIVING

Committee Empowered to Go Into Relations with Railroads, Banks and Labor.

Harrisburg, Penn., March 28.—A sweeping legislative investigation of the anthracite coal industry in Pennsylvania is proposed in a concurrent resolution introduced to-day in the General Assembly, which has in view the enactment of laws for the protection of the public and the reduction of the cost of coal.

As an indication that the proposed investigation will be thorough, the committee is empowered to inquire into the relations between mining and transportation companies and the great banking houses which are said to be closely affiliated with them, and which usually conduct their financial operations.

The resolution, which is understood to have the approval of the Republican leaders, gives the committee power to investigate the matter of freight rates, it being alleged in the resolution that the rates for anthracite are much higher than those for bituminous coal.

The resolution which called for a committee of seven was presented in the Senate by Samuel Salus (Republican), of Philadelphia. The preamble recites that:

Whereas, The high cost of living in the cities and in those portions of the commonwealth removed from the anthracite coal mines is in a large degree due to the high price of fuel used for domestic and other purposes; and,

Whereas, It is a matter of common knowledge that a large part of the exorbitant cost of anthracite coal to the public is due to the excessive freight and other transportation charges, which are much higher than rates charged for the transportation of other coal and entirely out of proportion to the length of the haul and the service rendered by the carriers of said anthracite coal; and,

Whereas, It is reported that further advances in the price to be charged the people for anthracite coal are contemplated; and,

Whereas, It is further reported that the excessive freight and other charges made for the transportation and handling of anthracite coal are in part at least due to large fees and commissions paid by the transportation companies to private and other bankers for the negotiation of the sale of the securities of said transportation companies and for loans of money thereto, and are also due to excessive fees, commissions and other charges paid to brokers, commission agents, sales agents, factors and middlemen, all of which are added to and go to increase the cost of the transportation and delivery to the public of anthracite coal for domestic fuel and other purposes;

In view of this alleged condition the committee of investigation is directed particularly to "inquire into the actual cost of the mining and transportation of anthracite coal throughout the commonwealth and the proportions of which costs are paid to labor in the mining and transportation of said anthracite coal, with a view of determining whether the rates charged for the transportation of said anthracite coal are excessive as compared with the rates charged for the transportation of other coal and commodities of a similar nature for equal distances, and, in connection with this investigation, to inquire into the costs of operation and management of common carriers engaged in the transportation of anthracite coal and of the cost of the mining thereof, with a view of determining whether the cost of anthracite coal to the consumer is in any measure due to usurious fees and commissions paid by transportation companies to private and other bankers who are in the directorate of or are closely affiliated with such transportation companies for the negotiation of the securities of the said companies and for loans of money thereto, and to excessive fees, commissions and other charges paid by transportation and mining companies to brokers, commission agents, sales agents, factors and middlemen."

The committee is also directed to inquire into the relation of the private and other bankers, brokers, factors and agents who are in the directorate of the anthracite coal carrying transportation companies to the mining and sale of anthracite coal, the commissions exacted and paid for the negotiation of securities and for loans of money and upon the sales of coal, the cost of mining, the wages paid labor and all other charges entering into the price paid for anthracite coal by the consumer, with a view of determining whether or not the cost to the public of anthracite coal for domestic and other purposes is reasonable and justified by existing conditions."

The committee is directed to sit during the recess and to report to the 1913 Legislature. $15,000 being appropriated for expenses.

MISSING BANK CASHIER DIES

Kills Himself on Train in the Face of Alleged Irregularities.

Muskogee, Okla., March 28.—L. R. Teubner, cashier of the Bank of Tulsa, at Tulsa, Okla., who had been missing for ten days, shot himself on a train on the way to Jacksonville, Fla., to-day, according to word received at the office of the South Surety Company, owner of the bank. Officials of the surety company said an examination of the bank's books had disclosed irregularities.

SAY LAMB FLEECED HOTEL

Young Man in Cell Has $36 90 St. Regis Dinner to Ruminate.

Charged with being a hotel "beat," a young man who said he was Walter C. Lamb was arrested at the Hotel St. Regis last night and taken to the East 51st street station, where he was locked up.

Gustav R. Schmidt, manager of the hotel, said Lamb appeared there on Monday evening and asked that dinner be set for forty friends in the main dining room. Later he withdrew the order for forty and made it twenty-seven.

Covers were laid for twenty-seven, and a few friends straggled in, but there were only nine who sat down to the dinner. When the check, amounting to $36 90 was presented to Lamb, he said he would get the money in the morning. If allowed to stay at the hotel over night. This was agreed to, and yesterday Lamb spent the greater part of the day calling up friends on the telephone, and asking for help. The telephone bill amounted to $2. He could not get the money, and the arrest followed.

Lamb was taken to night court, but the complaint clerk decided the case was one for the day court, and sent him back to the East 51st street station.

ALDERMAN JOHNSON QUITS

H. H. Curran Succeeds Him—F. C. Tanner New District Leader.

Tristam B. Johnson, having been appointed solicitor in the Navy Department at Washington, has resigned the Republican leadership of the 25th Assembly District and his membership in the Board of Aldermen, where he had been minority leader two years.

Frederick C. Tanner has been chosen district leader, in place of Mr. Johnson, and Henry H. Curran was elected yesterday to succeed him as representative of the 26th Aldermanic District in the Board of Aldermen.

Mr. Tanner is a member of the law firm of Woodford, Bovee & Butcher, in the Metropolitan Building. He is a nephew of General Stewart L. Woodford, senior member of the firm, and lives with him at No. 13 West 12th street.

Mr. Tanner was graduated from Illinois College, at Jacksonville, in 1898. His law degree was obtained at the New York University Law School in this city.

Last fall, when Ezra P. Prentice resigned as Deputy Attorney General, in charge of the New York City office, to become chairman of the Republican State Committee, Mr. Tanner succeeded him. Strangely enough, Mr. Johnson had resigned the leadership of the 25th District, to become Deputy Attorney General, and was succeeded as leader by Mr. Johnson, who is now succeeded by Mr. Tanner.

Mr. Curran, who takes Mr. Johnson's seat in the Board of Aldermen, is a graduate of Yale. He is a member of the firm of Curran & Mead, press representatives. In the last campaign he attracted considerable attention through the red hot campaign he made for Congress against Congressman Charles V. Fornes in the 11th Congress District. His home is at No. 33 West 12th street. He was sworn in and took his seat at the meeting yesterday.

In handing in his resignation Mr. Johnson said: "Matters have come up in my personal affairs that make it necessary for me to withdraw as a member of the board." He expressed his regard for all the members of the board, and, turning to Alderman Frank Dowling, Tammany leader of the board, with whom he has had many a legislative tussle, he added: "And my appreciation of the man whom I shall always know as my friend, the leader of the other side."

Alderman Dowling briefly expressed the regret of himself and the other members of the board at the resignation of Mr. Johnson.

The Republican members of the board have not decided whom they will choose as minority leader. Alderman Courtlandt Nicoll, of the 28th District, and Alderman O. Grant Esterbrook, of the 38th District, Brooklyn, are the names being most prominently spoken of in that connection.

PINK EYE CAUSED BY DUST

Many Cases in City Ascribed to Winds and Rug Beating.

There are many cases of pink eye in town, according to physicians. At the Health Department it was said yesterday that it was a form of the disease that was due to dry sweeping and blowing dust. So far there has been no indication of the other variety, which is caused by infection.

Every year at this time, it is said, the March winds, in whirling dust through the streets, cause an irritation of the eyes which is popularly designated as pink eye. It is also the result of careless sweeping and rug beating.

"I have not heard of any infectious pink-eye epidemic," said one of the department physicians, "but at this time of the year a great many persons are suffering with sore eyes from the dust that is blown about the streets. As this has been an unusually windy March, it would not surprise me if there were a great many more cases in the city than in other years. Besides being uncomfortable and rather a detraction from the general appearance, there is nothing in it which need cause alarm. Even President Taft has had pink eye in the last week, which shows that dust blows about in Washington as well as in New York."

CLEARING HOUSE GOT CASH

Broker's Creditors Will Try to Get It Back for Distribution.

The examination in bankruptcy of Frederick Simmonds, of the brokerage firm of Frederick Simmonds & Co., with offices at No. 26 Beaver street, was resumed before Commissioner Alexander yesterday. About half a dozen witnesses, mostly stock brokers, were examined by Thomas D. Hewitt, the receiver.

Walter J. Barrows, of the Standard Safe Deposit Company, said Simmonds and his supposed partner, Henry Anchester, had a box in the company's vault. He added that last Friday Anchester drew out the contents, two envelopes—one was empty and the other contained $45, he said.

Charles H. Jacobs, another witness, said that Simmonds had a balance on his margin account of $625, on the day before the filing of the petition, which he paid over to the Clearing House when it became known that Simmonds was insolvent. B. W. Birnbaum testified that Simmonds had a $325 credit with him on March 25, which he disposed of in like manner.

The greater part of Simmonds's indebtedness was said to be to customers obtained through correspondents in nine different cities and towns in this state and in Philadelphia. An effort will be made to get the Clearing House to turn over the money due Simmonds for the benefit of creditors. The hearing will be continued to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

HAIRE SUMMING UP OWN CASE.

Colonel Robert J. Haire, the lawyer, who is being tried in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court on an indictment charging attempted subornation of perjury, will continue to-day, summing up for the defence. He began on Monday at 3 o'clock, talked for an hour before court adjourned and had added six more hours when adjournment was taken last night.

TURNS LIGHT ON CRIME

Grand Jury Investigation Will Be Complete, G. G. Battle Says.

YEGGMEN STILL KEEP BUSY

"Rip" Fortieth Safe in Nine Months—Four "Wild West" Hold-Up Men Admit Guilt.

The grand jury investigation of police conditions precipitated by Magistrate Corrigan's criticism of the present administration of the police department will begin to-morrow.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss and George Gordon Battle, the special assistant delegated by District Attorney Whitman to co-operate with Mr. Moss in presenting evidence to the grand jury, had a long conference yesterday afternoon. Both of them then saw the District Attorney, who shortly before had a talk with Magistrate Corrigan.

It was afterward announced that they would begin work on Thursday, and the grand jury will be continued during April, and longer, if necessary to complete the inquiry.

"This is to be a complete investigation of police conditions," said Mr. Battle. "It will be our effort to obtain all the information available that will throw light upon the matter."

District Attorney Whitman said it was not likely Magistrate Corrigan would be called as a witness right away. The Magistrate said he had no reason to believe he would be called at all.

"I have no list of places where the law is being violated or anything like that," said Magistrate Corrigan, "but I am prepared to go before the grand jury if that body desires to hear me. I am satisfied that I will be able to make some suggestions that will aid the investigation. Still, I can make these suggestions to the District Attorney just as well as I can to the grand jury, so that I have no reason to expect to testify."

Defying William J. Flynn and his men a gang of expert yeggmen, who began operations in Manhattan and Brooklyn nine months ago, were still having things their own way yesterday. It was believed more than forty safes had been cracked and that the burglars got more than $15,000 in cash and jewelry, all told.

In almost every instance the safes were opened in the same identical way. Out of the forty jobs only one safe was opened by the use of explosives. The tools used were a bit and augur and a piece of steel twenty-five inches long, known to the experts as a "can opener." With this, after a hole was made, the yeggmen pried open the safe and completed a "rip" job.

In the grocery store of Benjamin Derman, of No. 199 Bleecker street, they got $1,000 in cash yesterday morning. Entrance was gained to the store by the rear. The safe breakers forced open a wooden door, broke two locks on an iron barred door, and finally got into the store by breaking open a metal door leading to it.

On December 26 a safe at No. 279 Bowery was opened and $2,100 taken. About two months ago a hardware store in Broome street, near Essex street, was entered, the safe "ripped" and $1,500 taken. Six weeks ago the yeggmen entered a candy store in Avenue A, near 18th street, and helped themselves to $500 in cash and jewelry valued at $900. About the same time $1,200 was stolen from a wholesale shoe shop in Ninth avenue, near 31st street.

Other places robbed lately were a United Cigar Stores shop at Houston and Clinton streets, $800; an ice cream parlor at Second avenue and 102d street, $1,500, and a soda water store in Mangin street, near Delancey street, $500. The only instance of an explosive being used was when the safe at the Savoy Theatre, 34th street, near Broadway, was opened. Here the yeggmen got away with $750.

More than $8,000 in cash was taken from the safe of a pawnshop in Broadway, near Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, about seven months ago. Last Thursday a house in Macon street, Brooklyn, was entered. While the family was asleep upstairs a safe in the dining room was forced open and $2,000 in jewelry and money taken.

In the arrest of four young men who were in the line-up at the detective bureau yesterday morning the police believed they had specimens of the "wild west" thieves who have been masking their faces with white handkerchiefs and holding up West Side merchants at the point of revolvers. The prisoners said they were Joseph Markham, nineteen; Frank Finnin, nineteen; Edward Cheney, nineteen, and Edward Dwyer, sixteen years old. Markham and Finnin carried loaded revolvers.

The prisoners were arraigned before Magistrate Barlow, in the West Side court, yesterday, charged with robbery. They pleaded guilty, and were remanded without bail for trial.

FEWER ARRESTS LAST YEAR

Reports Shows Big Falling Off as Compared with 1909.

Some interesting statistics, when compared with similar statistics of the previous year, were contained in the report of the Police Department for 1910, which was published by Commissioner Cropsey yesterday. It shows the effect of Mayor Gaynor's ideas on the way the department should be run and should do its work. Following are some comparative figures:

	Year. 1909.	1910.
Arrests by uniformed force	207,759	155,015
Arrests by Detective Bureau	16,396	15,606
Arrests for felony	24,192	20,377
Convictions for felony	5,321	5,678
Arrests for misdemeanor	192,402	137,539
Convictions for misdemeanor	123,157	88,918
Arrests as common gambler	1,529	464
Arrests for running gambling houses	183	20
Arrests for burglary	1,658	1,081
Arrests for disorderly conduct	48,589	32,773
Arrests for violation of the liquor tax law	6,263	2,810
Arrests for homicide	447	443

Of the above arrests for running a gambling house twelve convictions were secured in 1909, and only one last year.

Of the arrests on charges of being a common gambler there were 163 convictions in 1909, and seventy last year. There were sixteen convictions for homicide in 1909, and twenty-three last year on a much smaller number of arrests, which may be considered a compliment to the District Attorney's office.

The convictions for violation of the liquor tax law in 1909 were 982, as opposed to 323 last year.

The following comparisons on the discipline of the department are also interesting:

	1909.	1910.
Charges preferred against members of the department	7,271	6,308
Charges dismissed after trial	1,868	1,304
Charges on which men were disclosed from the department	184	107
Fines	1,814	2,915
Reprimands	2,614	1,153
Aggregate number of days' pay inflicted as fines	4,410	5,937

The report states that at the end of 1910 there were 438 males and 287 females missing from their homes, as compared with 414 and 188, respectively, at the end of 1909.

W. ROCKEFELLER BACK AT WORK.

William Rockefeller was at his office in the Standard Oil Building for the first time in several weeks yesterday, having recovered from the attack of grip and lumbago which has kept him confined to his home since the middle of February. When his illness first became known it created some uneasiness in Wall Street, as he was reported to be suffering from pneumonia and his condition was said to be serious.

GRESSER GETS LAST WORD

Flushing Men Fear Aldermen May Name His Successor.

The public hearings on the charges asking for the removal of Borough President Gresser, which have been under way before Commissioner Samuel H. Ordway in Long Island City since October 8 of last year, ended yesterday. President Gresser had the last word. He was on the witness stand from the opening of the hearing in the morning until an adjournment was taken in the afternoon, when Commissioner Ordway gave both sides until April 18 to submit briefs.

In some parts of Queens there appeared to be a feeling that the Commissioner's recommendations might not be favorable to Mr. Gresser. At present the aldermen from that borough have the power, in the event of the office of Borough President becoming vacant, to elect a man to serve the unexpired term.

This provision has been considered a menace in Queens, and by way of taking this power from the aldermen a resolution was introduced at a meeting of the Flushing Association last night calling upon the local Assemblymen and the Senator from Queens to introduce a bill in the Legislature giving the appointing power to the Governor.

YEREANCE QUITS STATE JOB

Transfer Tax Appraiser Resents Harburger's Policy.

James Yereance, for eight years state transfer tax appraiser and for the last two years chairman of the board, sent his resignation yesterday to State Controller Sohmer, at Albany, to take effect Friday. Although Mr. Yereance said that he had had no controversy with Julius Harburger, Deputy State Controller, in charge of the New York office, which includes the transfer tax appraisers, of whom there are six, the retiring official mentioned in his resignation that Mr. Harburger had assumed the direction of the staff of the office and that he did not wish to be held responsible for the decreased efficiency of the office force.

Mr. Yereance explained further that "the chairman and the other appraisers have carefully avoided suggesting any particular expert on real estate or personal property values, but recently the card of a certain real estate broker and appraiser's firm had been given out by the office clerk when the request was made for affidavit blanks, with the assurance that a real estate appraisal by such broker would go through."

Mr. Yereance added that two years ago, to meet the demands of the public for greater convenience of access, the office was removed from No. 165 Broadway to its present quarters at No. 128 Broadway, at a saving of 20 percent in rental, and that on April 1 the office will be moved back to No. 165 Broadway at an increase in rental of 25 per cent. Under the existing conditions, said Mr. Yereance, he preferred to give his undivided time and attention to his own business as manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, from which he derived a larger income than from his salary as transfer tax appraiser.

Mr. Harburger confirmed the statement of Mr. Yereance that there was no controversy between them, but that since he was appointed as Deputy State Controller he meant to have full control, as he would be required to bear the responsibility for the good conduct of the office. The fact that he was of different political affiliations than Mr. Yereance, he said, might have prompted the latter's action.

Mr. Yereance's successor will be appointed from the Civil Service lists, but he will not have the office of chairman of the board, as that designation has practically passed away since the Deputy Controller has had charge of the department.

FOUND ASLEEP IN GAS MAIN

Owen Clonan, Original Mayor of Avenue A, Up on Charges.

Because he was said to have been sleeping in a section of gas main in Seward Park, Owen Clonan, the only and original "Mayor of Avenue A," has been brought up on charges before Commissioner Stover. Mr. Clonan is an employe of the Park Department, and was discovered in the unusual retreat by Superintendent Beatty. The "Mayor" is looking for the "guy" that gave the tip to the superintendent that he was asleep in a gas main.

In answer to a summons from Commissioner Stover the "Mayor of Avenue A" arrived at the Park Department on Monday at 9 o'clock. The Commissioner was detained downtown, however, and so Clonan cooled his heels in the Arsenal building for two or three hours, and in the mean time enjoyed two or three naps.

While he was asleep the department clerks were so bothered by his snoring that he was waked up a number of times. Then he went away.

Yesterday the "Mayor" came in the afternoon, and it was while he was waiting for Commissioner Stover that he fell asleep again, and once more had to be aroused.

"The Commissioner has sent for you three times," said one of the clerks when he waked up the sleeper.

"Get out," said the "Mayor"; "you're kidding."

"No," said the clerk; "he has asked for you three times."

"Tell him I'll be right in," said the "Mayor," who took the clerk seriously. But he had an opportunity to get another nap before he was called, as the Commissioner was busy with department officials about specifications.

GEORGE C. TYLER READY TO SAIL.

George C. Tyler, managing director of Liebler & Co., who have leased the New Theatre for next season, will sail to-day on the Oceanic. With him will go Hugh Ford, general stage director for the firm, and Edward Morange, scenic artist. They will go to Giskra, where they will meet Robert Hichens, author of "The Garden of Allah," which will open the new season in the New Theatre. They will go also far into the Sahara Desert, where the scenes of "The Garden of Allah" are laid. This long journey to get the correct local color for a stage production is in marked contrast to the methods of earlier managers, who had to rely on guide books, geographies and other literature for their information.
