STATE BAR CONDEMNS RECALL OF JUDGES

Special Session of Association Agrees to Investigate Causes Leading to Agitation.

NEW YORK COURTS UPHELD

Leading Members of Bar, Irrespective of Party, Denounce Attacks on the Judiciary.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

Albany, April 13.—While his name was not mentioned, Theodore Roosevelt received no small amount of attention this afternoon at a meeting of the State Bar Association, which unanimously adopted a resolution denouncing the recall of judges and of judicial decisions. The meeting was attended by representative Republican and Democratic lawyers from all over the state, including Alton B. Parker, William B. Hornblower, D. Cady Herrrick and William Nottingham, president of the association.

Amendments were offered by J. Aspinwall Hodge and John Brooks Leavitt, of New York, declaring that the association recognizes evils in the judiciary, and that a committee be appointed to consider remedies for those evils which created the demand for the recall of judges. Both amendments failed, one of them not even being seconded.

During the argument, A. G. Fox, of New York, shouted:

"It is not unrest among the people that is causing the recall agitation. The explanation is that a demagogue is abroad in the land. Three times I have asked Mr. Hodge to point out evils in the judiciary of New York State which he says exist, and three times he has failed to do so."

To Probe Recall Agitation.

Judge Herrick, however, did succeed in having adopted an amendment providing for an investigation of the causes of the sentiment for a recall, and, if there is any real reason for it, to suggest remedies. The original resolution, which was drafted by Mr. Hornblower, provided for a committee of fifteen to co-operate with the American Bar Association and the bar of the several counties of the state, in order that the principle involved in the movement for a recall of judges and judicial decisions might be thoroughly explained to the people. The intention is to have this same committee make the investigation suggested by Judge Herrick, who said:

We must not close our eyes to this sentiment. We must recognize the rapidly growing discontent at the manner that justice is administered. When a certain illustrious citizen made a speech at Columbus, Ohio, a short time ago it was thought that he was eliminated as a Presidential candidate. The answer came in Maine and Illinois and the fact that one-third the voters of New York City upheld him.

I frequently ride upon the railroads and I hear people from all parts of the country discussing this question. I find members of the bar and men of reputable standing in the communities in which they live in favor of some remedy for the prevailing usage. I am voicing no evils of which I have knowledge, but we must recognize the fact that the people believe there are evils. Before we must do something more than pass a resolution disapproving the recall there should be an investigation of the cause of this sentiment among the people.

Judge Herrick and Messrs. Hodge and Leavitt, however, were emphatically opposed to the recall as a solution of the problem.

Judges Honest, Says Parker.

Judge Parker declared that while judges may sometimes err, for the most part they made an honest endeavor to deal out justice to the people as a whole. He called attention to the decision of the United States Supreme Court declaring unconstitutional the bakeshop law of this state, which Colonel Roosevelt has particularly criticised. Judge Parker at that time was chief judge of the Court of Appeals of this state, which held the law constitutional, and which was reversed by the Supreme Court.

Both decisions were by a closely divided court, which, Judge Parker held, showed the division of opinion was honest and free from outside influence. To show the cause for the sentiment for the recall he read from magazine and newspaper clippings criticisms of the judiciary which were, he said, unfair.

"With the recall," said Mr. Hornblower, "no man can administer justice without first stopping to see whether his decision would be popular at the next election. Judges err sometimes, but that their mistakes can be corrected by popular vote we can never admit unless we admit the fallacy of the entire judicial system. Under such a condition government would be impossible."

Ex-Justice A. T. Clearwater, of Kingston, declared that the demand for the recall came from only two classes of people—those who want to dominate legislatures, courts and everything else and those who are always dissatisfied and are always wanting something different.

Among others who spoke were Henry W. Killeen, of Buffalo; Marcus T. Hun, Lewis E. Carr and Thomas F. Wilkinson, of Albany, and George P. Decker, assistant counsel to the State Conservation Commission.

Recall Would Injure Nation.

The resolution says, in part:

Resolved, That it is essential to the welfare of the community, the perpetuation of our free institutions and the protection of the personal liberty and property rights of the individual, that the independence of the judiciary should be preserved as established by the wisdom of the founders of our institutions, state and national.

Resolved, That the recall of judges or the reversal of judicial decisions by popular vote would destroy the independence of the judiciary and the impartial administration of justice and deprive all classes of the community of the protection now afforded to individual rights by substituting for the training, intelligence and conscience of the judiciary and settled rules of law, public clamor and agitation and the constantly varying opinions of voters over ruling the judgments of the courts and punishing the judges for unpopular decisions.
