LAWYERS IN SCRAMBLE TO REPRESENT BECKER

Both Shay and Grant Assert They Have Been Retained to Argue Appeal.

HART NOT YET WITHDRAWN

McIntyre to Remain, Anyway—Civic Organization Offers Aid in Cleansing City of Crime.

As a matter of official record, apparently, the question is still open as to who is or will be the counsel of record for Charles Becker on the appeal from his conviction of the murder of Herman Rosenthal. The situation, with several different lawyers contending that they have been retained in that capacity, while there has been no formal withdrawal from the case of John W. Hart, counsel of record at Becker's trial, has some peculiar elements.

All of the lawyers concerned seem anxious to declare unreservedly that John F. McIntyre, who defended Becker, will remain in the case. Mr. McIntyre is just as positive in saying so himself. The impression remains that some of the lawyers who appeared for Becker originally are making a strong effort to retain their standing in the case. Relatives and friends of Becker appear to have been conferring with prospective counsel for the appeal without informing the original counsel in the case.

Joseph A. Shay, who occupies the same suite of offices and employs the same office force as Mr. McIntyre, at No. 25 Broad street, took pains last night to explain his connection with the case, in view of his former declaration that he had been retained as counsel of record in place of Mr. Hart. He declared that he had been retained by Mrs. Becker, but he was bound to admit that he had no written agreement or formal retainer. He suggested, however, that he could get one. He emphasized, as part of the agreement with Mrs. Becker, that Mr. McIntyre was to remain in the case as chief counsel.

Palm His, Grant Contends.

Louis J. Grant, of No. 99 Nassau street, who has appeared as counsel for many policemen, said last night that it had been settled that he was to appear as counsel of record for Becker on his appeal. He said he had talked the matter over with Becker in the Tombs the night before he was sentenced, and that the agreement he made with him then was consummated last night by Mrs. Becker and her brother-in-law, John Becker. Mr. Grant and John Becker met Mrs. Becker at the Grand Central Station upon her return from Sing Sing, where she had visited her husband, at 7 p. m. Grant said afterward:

"Shay is a butter-in. Speaking for Mrs. Becker, as well as her husband, I can say that Mr. McIntyre and myself will be the only ones in the case on appeal, and that I have been paid a fee. Mrs. Becker said she never retained Shay. She saw him in Mr. McIntyre's office during the latter's absence and thought he was connected with the firm. He will not be retained. I am going to confer with Mr. McIntyre Wednesday, and Thursday or Friday I will go to Sing Sing and have a long conference with Becker."

Shay's announcement that he had entered the case came when Mr. McIntyre was out of the city recuperating from the severe strain of the trial. When Mr. McIntyre returned to his office yesterday—Shay being in an adjoining office at the time—he declared he knew nothing definitely about Shay's connection with the case, and that he would not recognize any new counsel of record until he had formally been informed of the change from Mrs. Becker or Becker himself. He said he expected to see Becker at Sing Sing the latter part of the week.

McIntyre and Hart had a long conference yesterday afternoon. Mr. McIntyre said afterward that it was Mr. Hart's inclination to withdraw from the case, as he wished to go away for a long rest. He would be sorry if he withdrew, he said. Mr. Hart declined to commit himself as to his own status in the case further than to say that he understood the services of counsel of record terminated, unless specifically retained afterward, when the judgment of the court was pronounced on the defendant.

It's He, Shay Tells Whitman.

District Attorney Whitman received a letter from Mr. Shay yesterday, in which the writer stated that he had been retained as counsel of record and Mr. McIntyre would remain as chief counsel. He informed the District Attorney that he would file a notice of appeal of the case within a month.

Commenting on the letter, Mr. Whitman said:

"It may be an interesting piece of correspondence, but it doesn't change the status of things, so far as this office is concerned. Mr. Shay's letter does not serve as a notice of appearance in the case or as a notice of substitution of counsel, as is necessary in such matters. So far as this office is concerned, Mr. Hart is still the counsel of record, and any papers that we may have to serve in the case on counsel for the defence will be served on him."

When Mr. Shay was told of the District Attorney's attitude in the matter he said he considered that his letter was sufficient notice to the District Attorney, as it was his understanding that the services of counsel of record in a criminal case terminated when sentence was pronounced. He did not expect any friction with Mr. Hart, he said, and thought he could get his written consent to the change if the District Attorney insisted upon it.

"Mrs. Becker conferred with me for four hours on October 29, the day before her husband was sentenced," said Mr. Shay. "She went to Sing Sing with her husband the following day and talked with him, and upon returning that night offered me a retainer as counsel of record in place of Mr. Hart. She informed me that Mr. Hart had withdrawn.

"I did not give a final answer that night, but agreed to accept the retainer the following day. It was the desire of both Mr. and Mrs. Becker at that time that Mr. McIntyre should remain in the case as chief counsel, she said, and that is the situation now. I have no written agreement, and have accepted no fee as yet from Mrs. Becker, but I deem my several interviews with her as sufficient to settle the matter in that respect."

Mr. Shay said he had gone over a good deal of the record of the trial with Mrs. Becker, and with Becker on his first visit to him at Sing Sing Saturday. Mrs. Becker visited her husband in the death house yesterday and he expected to see her last night, Shay said. He expected to go to Sing Sing to-day and spend most of the day with Becker in conference about the appeal, he said.

Aid in Cleansing City.

The New York Society for the Enforcement of the Criminal Law, with offices at No. 45 John street, through its treasurer, William Howard, sent a letter to The Tribune yesterday offering to any man or woman who "loved New York" and was interested in cleansing the city of the shameful conditions of crime that existed, despite the Rosenthal murder and the various investigations growing out of it, the services of the officers and directors of the society free of charge.

The present shameful conditions can be clearly proved by facts accumulated by the society, and its officers and directors, because of their many years' experience in the work of the society, have the machine to do the work of cleansing if any one desires to use it, the letter states.

The letter reads in part:

"In spite of the Rosenthal murder and the disclosures attending the Becker trial, gambling is going on in this city. In spite of the aldermanic inquiry and the John Doe proceedings, bookmaking (a system of betting on horse races) is carried on. In spite of the Mayor's assurances of a closed Sunday, intoxicating liquor is sold in thousands of saloons on Sunday and after closing hours on week days. This society is willing to show how these conditions can be bettered until the city is redeemed from its shame. Our message is to the men and women who love New York."

PROF. KIRCHWEY WILL PAY

Had Been Ordered to Appear in Supplementary Proceedings.

Professor George W. Kirchwey, of Columbia University, candidate for judge of the Court of Appeals on the Bull Moose and Independence League tickets, saved himself by one day from the necessity of appearing in the City Court to be examined in supplementary proceedings as to his ability to pay an old judgment outstanding against him.

The judgment was in favor of Simeon M. Barber, who obtained it in 1906. The amount was $382. Mr. Barber got the order to examine Professor Kirchwey in court yesterday, but he saved himself this trouble by paying $50 Saturday on account, promising to pay the remainder later.

The judgment against Professor Kirchwey was on a note which he made in 1897 for $300, payable in two months.

STEAL $10,000 PLUMES

Thieves Select Finest Ostrich Feathers of Dealer's Stock.

M. R. Black, who is in the ostrich feather business at No. 176 East 106th street, told the police yesterday that he had been robbed of $10,000 worth of plumes some time between Saturday night and yesterday morning.

The thieves, who knew their business, because they took only the finer feathers, entered the shop by cutting a hole in the floor of the room overhead and letting themselves down by a rope.

It is believed they carried the stolen goods out of the rear of the building, as there is a policeman on fixed post immediately in front of the shop.

BUCKLE DEFLECTS BULLET

Wounded Boxer Tells Police He'll "Attend to" Assailants.

John Martini, known also as Joe West, a boxer, was found in Sullivan street at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in a dazed condition. He had been hit by a bullet that struck a suspender buckle, glanced upward and made a gash over his left eye.

Martini told the police of the Mercer street station he had been shot while in the saloon run by "Chick" Tucker at No. 103 West 3d street, but refused to say who had shot him. The police searched the place and found three negro entertainers in a room over the saloon. The negroes said three men had come into the place, fired at Martini and run away.

Three revolvers were found behind a door in the hallway on the ground floor. One of them had been discharged twice. Martini told the police he would "attend to" the men who shot him.

HARVESTER AGENT HELD

Pacific Representative Charged with Embezzlement.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—News of the arrest for embezzlement of Wallace J. Polland, Pacific Coast agent for the International Harvester Company of America, caused a sensation throughout the business district to-day.

The complaint was sworn to by Aubrey E. Ambrose, travelling auditor for the Harvester Company, who has just completed auditing Polland's books. The amount named in the complaint is $1,500. It is understood, however, that the total amount will approximate $84,000.

PAYS $6.84 FOR ONE KISS.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Reading, Penn., Nov. 4.—Miss Helen L. Karpinska, twenty-two years old, complained to-day to Magistrate Breen that John Andris, thirty-three years her senior, had kissed her against her will. She charged him with assault. When Andris promised the court not to annoy her again the girl withdrew the complaint. Andris, however, had to pay the costs, which amounted to $6.84.

While you mark we'll remark—

VERBECK TO RETIRE WITH GOVERNOR DIX

Adjutant General of the State National Guard Will Quit Office on January 1.

NOT TO BE MAJOR GENERAL

Not Seeking to Succeed O'Ryan, He Declares—General Samuel M. Welch Mentioned for Adjutant General.

Albany, Nov. 4.—Adjutant General William Verbeck announced to-night that he would retire from office with Governor Dix at the close of the present year.

In a statement the adjutant general says he is not a candidate to succeed himself or for the major generalship of the national guard to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement from active duty of Major General John F. O'Ryan.

"I am not candidate for major general, as has been reported," says the statement, "or for reappointment as adjutant general. I expect to retire from office with Governor Dix on January 1 next."

The name of General Samuel M. Welch, of Buffalo, commander of the 4th Brigade, has been mentioned for appointment as the new adjutant general. General Welch assisted materially in drafting the new military law and regulations governing the national guard. He was among the candidates considered at the time Governor Dix reappointed General Verbeck.

Adjutant General Verbeck has been especially prominent since his appointment by Governor Dix on October 4 as chief of staff, a newly created office. When on October 25 Governor Dix ordered Major General O'Ryan, commanding the national guard forces of the state, relieved from active duty the order gave Adjutant General Verbeck control of the entire state guard. The validity of this order is to be tested in the courts by General O'Ryan.

The relieving of Major General O'Ryan from active duty and the vesting of entire control of the guard in the adjutant general gave rise to numerous reports, among them one that Adjutant General Verbeck might be appointed Major General O'Ryan's successor.

General Verbeck has been actively identified with the national guard almost continuously since 1880, when he enlisted in the 5th California Infantry. His connection with the militia of this state dates from 1895. During his early years of service he filled several minor positions and was brevetted colonel in 1908. He was a member of the military staffs of Governors Black, Morton and Hughes, and was also a member of the militia council.

General Verbeck was appointed adjutant general of the State of New York, to complete the unexpired term of General Nelson H. Henry, resigned, by Governor Charles E. Hughes, on June 1, 1910. He was reappointed by Governor Horace White on October 6, 1910, and, although a Republican, by Governor Dix on January 1, 1911.

After the retirement of Major General Roe under legislative act, General Verbeck, while in New York last January, unexpectedly announced his intention to resign his office. It was said at that time that this was due to differences of opinion between himself and General Roe. After the appointment by Governor Dix of General O'Ryan as General Roe's successor there were marked differences of opinion between Generals Verbeck and O'Ryan regarding their respective duties. This controversy, it is asserted, resulted in the retirement of General O'Ryan.

Governor Dix had no comment to make to-day on the action to be instituted by Major General O'Ryan to secure his reinstatement as active military head of the national guard forces of this state.

DIVORCE FOR MRS. CHARTERS

Christian Science Teacher Rid of Husband, Also Eddyite.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 4.—Chancellor Walker to-day granted a decree nisi to Mrs. Lillian Young Charters in the suit for a divorce brought by her against her husband, Charles Charters, of Palisades, on the ground of desertion. The decree means that a final decree of divorce will be granted after six months if nothing intervenes to prevent it. Charters and his wife are Christian Scientists. They have no children.

On the stand to-day Mrs. Charters said that her husband had constantly abused her, although she never quarrelled with him nor resisted him. She said she had supported him by her earnings. Charters, his wife said, had paid considerable attention to Mrs. Mabel Wheeler, a Christian Science pupil of Mrs. Charters. Mrs. Wheeler, as a witness for Mrs. Charters, testified to alleged attentions paid to her by Charters, but said that there had been no illicit relations between them.

Charters was non-suited recently in the Hudson County court in an action to recover $10,000 damages from a rich Texan for the alleged alienation of Mrs. Charters's affections.

SECOND AUTO BANDIT HELD

Man Who Escaped When Companion Was Killed Confesses.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The survivor of the two automobile bandits who tried to hold up and rob Rutherford B. Cooke, assistant secrtary of the Chicago National League baseball club, was arrested today after having confessed to detectives.

Edward Meyers was killed early Sunday morning by Cooke, who shot him when Meyers leaped from an automobile and ordered Cooke to give up his valuables. The young man arrested to-day, Clifford Fall, remained in the car and escaped, though Cooke fired several shots at him.

GUARD PANAMA FROM PLAGUE

Commission to Investigate Sanitary Condition of Guayaquil.

Washington, Nov. 4.—By direction of Secretary Stimson of the War Department the Panama Canal Commission probably will investigate the sanitary condition of Guayaquil, Ecuador—long a subject of concern to the United States—to guard against the introduction of yellow fever and bubonic plague into the Canal Zone.

The Controller of the Treasury advised Secretary Stimson to-day that it was within the power of the commission to send any of its officers or employes to Guayaquil to make the study.

WAGON FALLS ON CHILDREN

Two Youngsters May Die from Runaway Accident.

Goldie Scripz, two and a half years old, and Samuel Shapiro, two years old, were walking on Third avenue, hand in hand, yesterday afternoon. A horse attached to a delivery wagon became frightened in front of No. 2098 and bolted. Morris Meyer, the driver, trying to rein the animal in, turned him toward the sidewalk.

The wheels of the wagon struck the curb with such force that the wagon fell upon the children. They were dragged some distance, and when men ran to them were unconscious.

They were taken to the Harlem Hospital, where it was found they had been injured internally, and the doctors said their chances for recovery were small. The horse was stopped by the driver, though he was thrown to the street when the wagon overturned.

WOMEN TO STREW CANDY

Suffragette Paraders Scorn the Use of Bricks.

Sweets to the sweet. American men are so much nicer than Englishmen that the American suffragists, in token of their high esteem, are going to throw candy instead of bricks and hatchets.

This saccharine scheme came from the fertile brain of Dr. Mary Halton, and will be put into effect in the suffrage parade on Saturday evening. She is planning to have a huge float, adorned with 150 electric lanterns and the flower of the suffrage maidens in her district. These will shower candies into the upturned admiring faces of those "sweet American men." Around each candy, however—alas that it be so!—will be wrapped a suffrage lesson, writ on a bit of paper, just the way the English women wrap "we demand our rights" around the stones they throw through windows.

Dr. Halton's brain has produced another scheme, too. The unfortunate thing about that was that it was against the law. She wanted to go chalking the sidewalks to advertise the parade, and was stopped by the Board of Aldermen. She tackled Borough President McAneny and John Purroy Mitchel. Both professed themselves helpless. She is now lying in wait for Mayor Gaynor to get him to write a letter, such as he wrote to the baseball playing small boys, saying that the police don't need to notice every little thing they see, and suffragists must have some place to play.

Meantime parade plans are taking shape without the Mayor's consent on this matter.

Mrs. Jean Nelson Penfield is arranging for a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices, men and women, to lead the procession, chanting suffrage pieces. Each male voice will be flanked by two female voices. The males will wear black robes, with yellow stoles, and the females white and yellow. Each time the procession halts the chorus will intone suffrage slogans.

The six golden chariots are on their way from Philadelphia, and the suffragists don't know whether to be glad or sorry. They are afraid they won't reach here in time, and they are equally afraid they'll reach here too soon and have to be stored at great expense.

CALLS REPORT USELESS

Research Bureau Head Criticises Prof. Moore's Work.

The action of the committee on school inquiry of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, of which John Purroy Mitchel is chairman, in refusing to print the report of Professor Ernest C. Moore, of Yale, on "The Organization and Methods of the Board of Education and of the Functions of the Local Boards," was defended yesterday by Henry Bruere, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research.

Not only did the report deal almost entirely in generalities, Mr. Bruere said, but it contained statements in reference to the Board of Education which would be extremely damaging coming from the Board of Estimate.

"Professor Moore said that the county system of education was not right," Mr. Bruere said, "when, as a matter of fact, he never interviewed any one connected with it. The people working to correct things were not conferred with. Professor Moore was asked for the facts of a diagnosis, and he took the patient's own description of the symptoms and submitted them as a prescription.

"The report was written from the old-fashioned standpoint, but was submitted to men used to getting at facts."

BANK PRESIDENT INSANE

Receivers Find Only $852 in Savings Institution.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Vaults of the Kirby Savings Bank, which was taken charge of by receivers yesterday on the discovery that William T. Kirby, president of the institution, had been insane for some time, were found to-day to contain only $852.

A mob of several hundred persons, representing about $50,000 in deposits, it is said, waited outside the bank doors and shouted in rage when the amount of funds was announced. Police were summoned to disperse the crowd.

The total liabilities of the bank are unknown. The $852 was made up partly of small change and stamps.

The trial of Daniel J. Kirby, jr., nephew of W. T. Kirby and cashier of the bank, charged in the municipal court with operating a confidence scheme, was put over by Judge Newcomer to November 15.

MAN STABBED BY GANG

One Alleged Assailant Caught After Having Been Shot.

Philip Lewis, of No. 254 East 3d street, was set upon by a gang of men while walking through Prince street, near Elizabeth street, early yesterday morning and seriously stabbed. While shouting for help he fought off his assailants until Patrolman Henne, of the Elizabeth street station, arrived. Henne chased the men and caught one, who said he was Carlo Zeno.

Lewis was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, and later in the day Zeno was brought in for the wounded man to identify. It was noticed that Zeno was limping, and when one of the doctors examined him it was found that he had a bullet wound in his right leg. He refused to say who shot him, but the police say that while the men were running after attacking Lewis some one fired from a window. Lewis said he heard a shot, and the policeman who made the arrest declares that he did not know the man.

NEW WATERFRONT BODY

Organization to Deal Only with Commercial Side.

TO HELP IN IMPROVEMENTS

McDougall Hawkes Chosen as Executive Head—Two Vice-Chairmen Named.

As a result of a meeting held last month, an organization has been formed known as the "Joint Water Front Board of the Port of New York," which will deal with matters on the waterfront as viewed from a commercial point of view. Various commercial organizations are represented in the membership, as follows:

Maritime Association—C. H. Callahan, of N. A. Benner & Co., No. 62 Beaver street, and C. R. Norman, No. 11 Broadway. Merchants' Association—McDougall Hawkes, No. 32 Nassau street, and E. E. Olcott, No. 38 West 39th street. City Club—Russell Bleecker, No. 97 Water street, and Burcham Harding, No. 200 West 57th street. Allied Real Estate Interests—Bradish Johnson, No. 39 Cortlandt street, and Allan Robinson, 165 Broadway. Chamber of Commerce—Eugene H. Outerbridge, No. 11 Broadway, and Chester B. Lawrence, No. 221 South street. Produce Exchange — Welding Ring, of Mailer & Quereau, No. 31 Stone street, and Henry B. Hebert, No. 64 West 92d street. Board of Trade and Transportation—William E. Gleary, No. 17 Battery Place, and S. V. Huntington, No. 203 Broadway. North Side Board of Trade—Olin J. Stephens, 116th street and Govan avenue, and Joseph A. Golden, No. 160 Broadway. Manufacturers' Association of New York—Francis M. Sutton, No. 17 Battery Place, and George T. Moon, No. 2 Fulton Market.

The board will co-operate with the city officials regarding the improvement and alteration of the waterfront, and will make an independent investigation of conditions along the docks.

Commercial organizations represented on the board shall be from this city, as only that part of the port that is within New York State limits will be considered in the deliberations and activities.

No compensation attaches to a position on the board. The bylaws say:

"Services of all members of the board, rendered in connection with its action or for its benefit, are gratis; the board and its members, jointly and severally, are not responsible to any person for any services rendered in connection with their action in matters connected with the board, unless the board by its action shall specifically fix some compensation—in that case only the specified compensation shall be a charge—and in that case shall be a charge only against the funds of the board, and shall in no case be a charge against any member or members of the board, jointly or severally."

The executive officers of the board are a chairman and two vice-chairmen, and Mr. Hawkes was elected as first chairman. Chester B. Lawrence, of No. 221 South street, and Mr. Norman were elected vice-chairmen, and Frederick S. Debere, of No. 54 Lafayette street, secretary.

PRISON FOR OPIUM SELLER.
