THE COTTON MARKET

More Active, with Prices Showing a Gain at the Close.

Early trading in the cotton market was more active and general than had been recorded for some time, with Wall Street buying of new crop options a prominent feature. There was also some short covering and fresh buying for long account. Reactions occurred during the early afternoon, but the market firmed up again in the late trading on reports of wet weather, closing prices being within a point or two of the best, and at a net gain of 8 to 11 points. Reports from Texas and Southern Georgia were favorable, but the unsettled weather over the greater part of the belt evidently caused fears of a late if not distinctly unfavorable start for the new crop. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged, and the local market was quiet at 12.60c for middling upland; no sales. Local contract prices:

STOKES FAMILY SELL APARTMENT HOUSES

Buyer Gets Structures at Park Avenue and 93d Street for Reimprovement—Fulton Street Corner Property Leased.

WOMAN PURCHASER OF THE WELLSMORE, ON BROADWAY

Anson Phelps Stokes and other members of that family have sold the fine five story apartment houses at the southwest corner of Park avenue and 93d street to Thomas Woodlock, who acquires the property with the view that it will prove a good investment for a reimprovement when the Lexington avenue subway is in operation. The parcel just sold was held by the former owners at a value of $225,000. It has a frontage of 100.8 feet on Park avenue and 105 feet on the street, being known as No. 1172 to 1178 Park avenue, and No. 74 East 93d street.

Samuel K. Jacobs, of Walter Emmerich & Co., has leased the property at the southeast corner of Fulton and Church streets for a term of twenty-one years from L. & M. Goldsticker, who have occupied the premises for about twenty-five years. The lease was negotiated by Nelson & Lee, and is said to involve a total rental of about $350,000. The property fronts 77.9 feet on Church street and 33 feet on Fulton street and is improved with a five story building, excepting a three-sided strip on the immediate corner fronting 8 feet on Fulton street and extending back 77 feet along Church street. On this gore there are one story stores.

Mr. Jacobs reports that negotiations are pending for leasing the entire five story building to one tenant. If they are not consummated the building will be remodelled, the upper floors into lofts and offices and the ground floor divided into stores with a rathskeller. The Messrs. Goldsticker recently planned to improve the site and had plans drawn for a twelve story business building.

Mrs. Louise Livingston is the buyer of the twelve story Wellsmore apartment house at the southeast corner of Broadway and 77th street, the sale of which by Bing & Bing, through the J. Romaine Brown Company, was announced in yesterday's Tribune. In part payment for the Wellsmore, Mrs. Livingston gives the southwest corner of Seventh avenue and 59th street, 41.6x90 feet, a four story building known as Nos. 756 and 758 Seventh avenue, part of which is now occupied by the Garden Restaurant; also the Lenox Court apartment house at Nos. 114 and 116 East 71st street, on plot 50x100 feet, and Nos. 706 and 708 West 179th street, a five story apartment house, on plot 50x92.6 feet.

Twenty lots on the easterly side of Aqueduct avenue, between 172d street and Featherbed Lane, were given in part payment for the Paul Jones, a six story apartment house on the west side of Wadsworth avenue, from 184th to 185th streets, the sale of which by the American Real Estate Company to the Arco Realty Company was reported in yesterday's Tribune.

Other sales announced follow:
