NOVELTIES PLANNED FOR GRAND CIRCUIT

Programme at Empire City Track Will Be Augmented by Saddle and Team Races.

PARADES TO BE FEATURE

Horses Will Pass Before Stand Prior to Each Race, as Is Customary at All Running Contests.

Enough already appears upon the surface to warrant the prediction that the Grand Circuit meeting, to be held at the Empire City track in August, will be one of the most successful ever held in this country.

This result is foreshadowed from the entries made in the various events. The novelties and improvements scheduled are so numerous as to transform this meeting from an ordinary American trotting affair into something like the perfectly appointed meeting place of refined sportsmen about which every horseman has dreamed but never expected to see realized.

A few of the innovations are: No driver will be allowed to appear on the track in his shirt sleeves or clad in garments fit only for the stable, as has too often been the case at trotting meetings in years gone by. The association will furnish attractive silk colors to all drivers who are not provided with them, and such colors must be worn.

The horses starting will be paraded before the grandstand prior to each race, so as to give the spectators an opportunity to see the horses.

At every race meeting in the country, before as well as after the advent of the megaphone, a large percentage of the people in the grandstand and at different places around the track have been unable to hear and understand the announcement of the time of the heats or the placing of the horses by the judges. This objectionable feature is to be remedied by electric megaphone announcements.

When harness racing was at the flood tide of its popularity on Long Island, some fifty years ago, the events that brought the greatest crowds to the tracks were those for team racing and racing under saddle.

It is a coincidence worthy of consideration that as soon as these popular methods of racing were dropped from the programmes interest in harness racing began to wane, and the decadence continued until light harness racing became practically only a memory in the vicinity of New York.

Now that the sport is about to be revived through the instrumentality of the Empire City meeting, the management is determined to foster and preserve it by giving the followers of the sport what they want, viz: Racing by teams and under saddle, as well as in harness.

As interesting and attractive as these novelties doubtless will prove to be, the scheme of having the same horses in the same race perform upon a mile track and a half-mile track far surpasses any novelty that has ever been attempted in the country since harness racing was established. This instructive departure from the ordinary methods of conducting races has been made possible by the fact that the half-mile track is constructed on the inside of the mile course. The homestretch of the half-mile track joins the homestretch of the mile track at or near the last quarter pole, so that the finish on each track is directly in front of the grandstand.

By reason of the two tracks joining the quarter stretch is made 100 feet in width, thus affording ample room for the horses on both tracks to finish together. Say, for example, there are ten horses starting in a race; five will be assigned to each of the tracks and alternate by heats.

FIRST PRIZE TO RIFLEMAN

Sergeant Long Has Best Score in New England Shoot.

Wakefield, Mass., July 26.—A total score of 372 by Sergeant C. B. Long, M. V. M., won first prize as the best general aggregate made during the week in the ninth annual shoot of the New England Military Riflemen's Association, which closed here to-day. The aggregate included scores made in seven matches.

Corporal H. E. Leland, U. S. M. C., had the highest aggregate in five New England individual matches, his total being 241. The first prize for officers' aggregates in five individual matches was won by Captain S. W. Wise, M. V. M., with a total of 193.

In the 1st Corps Cadets match at 200 and 600 yards, for five man teams, the winner was Company A, 6th Massachusetts, with a score of 449. Second prize went to Company C, 1st Corps Cadets, with a score of 441. Company E, 5th Massachusetts, was third, with a score of 434.

The intermediate match, in which sixteen teams were entered, was won by a team from Company A, 6th Massachusetts, with a total of 470. Company K's first team, 6th Massachusetts, was second, with a score of 469, and the team from Company C, of the 8th Massachusetts, was third, with 464. The teams were all made up of five men each, shooting at 200 and 50 yard ranges.

DURAS WINNER AT CHESS

Beats Chajes After Sixty Moves in Rice Tournament.

O. S. Duras, of Prague, who is scheduled to encounter Jose R. Capablanca, of Havana, in the chess tournament at the Rice Chess Club to-day, scored his fourth victory yesterday by defeating Oscar Chajes, after sixty moves.

Chajes had the white pieces, and essayed the Queen's Pawn opening, which the Bohemian champion developed quite in accordance with his own notions, bringing out his queen's knight, instead of advancing the queen's bishop's pawn, which is usually done.

At the twenty-first turn Duras permitted his queen's bishop's pawns to be doubled. This opened the knight's file on the queen's wing of the board, a file the Bohemian later on occupied. Massing three pieces against Chajes's king's knight pawn, Duras won it on the thirty-fourth move, but had to submit to an exchange of queens.

The Bohemian, however, established two "flying" passed pawns, by means of which he attained his goal after sixty moves had been recorded.

Following is the standing of the players in the tournament:

Player.	Won.	Lost.	Player.	Won.	Lost.
Capablanca	19	0	Bernstein	4	3
Kupchik	6	1	Chajes	4	4
Tenenwurzel	6	2	Beynon	3	4
Black	5½	1½	Phillips	3	5
Marder	5½	2½	Grommer	2	6
Duras	4	0	Belhoff	0	12
Adalr	4	3	Stapfer	0	12

Batting and Fielding Averages in National and American Leagues

George Burns, Pounding the Ball Vigorously, Makes a Decided Advance Into Ranks of the More Potent Hitters.

The mighty hitting which George Burns did against Pittsburgh and St. Louis last week has borne fruit in an 18-point rise in his average. The New York left fielder, who meandered along around .250 during the early part of the season, began to show improvement two weeks ago, pulling up to .265 on his first jump and turning in a .283 on his second leap. It has taken better than .330 batting in recent games to cause this advance, and he is now tied with Herzog and Murray. Fletcher leads the team in hitting at .319, while Snodgrass is second, at .307, Shafer being third, at .303. Meyers fell out of the honor division last week, slumping to .295, while Fred Merkle is listed away below par, having a record of .278 to set against .300 a few weeks ago. Doyle has yet to recover his batting eye and is placed at .272.

Jake Daubert is keeping up the pace which makes him the practical leader of the National League in batting. He lost 10 points last week, but still has a .346 rank. Cravath is doing yeoman work for Philadelphia at .340.

The following figures are compiled from official scores as published in the different cities of this league by the Moreland News Bureau up to and including Thursday, July 24:

Ty Cobb and Joe Jackson Neck and Neck in Race for the American League Batting Honors and Murphy Is Third.

Ty Cobb and Joe Jackson are again neck and neck in the race for the American League batting honors. The Cleveland player took a slight slump last week and fell off to .400, where he met his Detroit rival. This pair still maintain an air of exclusiveness and refuse to admit any other players into their select circle. Danny Murphy is knocking for admission with a mark of .390, while Tris Speaker doesn't seem to be able to roam much further than .380, a standard which he has maintained with wonderful steadiness right through the campaign. Eddie Collins is peaceably inclined to a .347, insuring potency without undue publicity. Baker and McInnis are trailing along in the procession, only making enough hits to win a game now and then.

Roger Peckinpaugh appears to be the best hitter on the New York team at present. He is rated at .284. Zelder, whose foot is too much with him, is second at .279, while Sweeney and the newly reformed Jack Knight, are tied at .276. Cree and Hartzell are
