ARMY AND NAVY NOTES

Plans to Increase Efficiency of New York Navy Yard.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]
Washington, October 16.

TO IMPROVE NEW YORK NAVY YARD.—Because of the restricted area of the New York Navy Yard, the Navy Department is considering means by which the yard can be developed to its greatest capacity. It is considered that the yard's military weakness is its territorial limitation, which precludes its development as a repair or shipbuilding station of the first order, while the contour of the water front prevents the construction of more than three additional piers or the extension of others.

It is proposed to reduce the strength of the detachment of marines, now used for posting sentries, and to establish, instead of sentry posts, a system of patrol which would reduce the number of marines to one company without impairment of efficiency. This would enable the activities of the receiving ship, which now encroaches on space which could otherwise be used for berthing ships of the fleet, to be carried out in the space vacated by the marines. The space vacated by the receiving ship would become available for the construction of a pier capable of berthing two ships.

To increase the floor area for industrial purposes it is proposed to transfer such activities as boat building to the Boston yard. This requires large floor space for both manufacture and storage.

The clothing factories, it is held, should also be transferred elsewhere, as it is not good management to employ for the manufacture of shoes, gloves and socks the space necessary on the most valuable waterfront that the navy possesses. The department is convinced that these changes will promote both economy and efficiency.
