THE WEATHER REPORT.

Forecasts and Records of the Last Twenty-four Hours.

Official Record and Forecast.—Washington, June 20.—The weather is cooler throughout the region of the Great Lakes, New England and the middle Atlantic states, while over the lower Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and the Southwestern States high temperatures are general, the highest readings being 100 degrees at Concordia, Kan., and Fort Smith, Ark. There were frosts Saturday morning in the region of the upper lakes. Within the last twenty-four hours there were local showers and thunderstorms in the upper lake region, the extreme upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, the Rocky Mountain region and Florida, and on Friday night there were local rains in New England and on the middle Atlantic coast. The indications are that the weather will be unsettled, with local showers and thunderstorms, along the northern border from Northern New England to Montana, while in other parts of the country the weather will be generally fair Sunday and Monday. The temperature will rise Sunday in the region of the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley, the middle Atlantic states and New England. High temperature will continue during the next forty-eight hours in the Gulf states, the lower Mississippi Valley and the Southern plains states, while moderate temperature will continue over the Northwest States and the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions.

Winds for Sunday and Monday—North Atlantic, moderate variable, mostly southwest; middle Atlantic, light to moderate variable; south Atlantic, moderate southeast and south; east Gulf, moderate southeast and east; west Gulf, moderate to fresh south; Great Lakes, moderate to fresh variable, mostly east to south.

Forecast for Special Localities.—Eastern New York, partly cloudy and warmer to-day, probably showers in north portion; to-morrow, probably fair and warmer; light to moderate variable winds.

Western New York, cloudy and somewhat warmer, with probably local showers, to-day and to-morrow; moderate variable winds.

Southern New England, generally fair and warmer to-day and to-morrow; moderate variable winds.

Northern New England, partly cloudy and somewhat warmer to-day; to-morrow, showers and warmer; moderate variable winds.

New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Eastern Pennsylvania, The District of Columbia and Virginia, probably fair to-day and to-morrow, rising temperature; light variable winds, mostly south.

Western Pennsylvania, generally fair to-day and to-morrow; rising temperature; moderate variable winds.

West Virginia, generally fair to-day and to-morrow; rising temperature.

Local Official Record.—The following official record from the Weather Bureau shows the changes in the temperature for the last twenty-four hours, in comparison with the corresponding date last year:

WOMEN FIGHT FIRE TO SAVE VILLAGE

Flames, Driven by Wind, Destroy Block at Lindenhurst, Long Island—Many in Peril.

Fire, driven by a forty-mile wind, wiped out an entire business block at Lindenhurst, Long Island, yesterday. A fireproof building checked the spread of the flames, which threatened to destroy the town.

Women and children helped fight the fire by covering roofs with wet blankets. In this way many homes were saved.

The fire started in the Keinle drygoods store, on Wellwood av., and quickly spread to the restaurant next door. The family of Frederick Keinle were sleeping over the store. Mr. and Mrs. Keinle, with their two children, Mr. Keinle's aged father and ten others escaped in their night clothes.

After devouring the store and restaurant the blaze destroyed three large barns, used as storehouses and garages. When the volunteer firemen of Lindenhurst started their gasolene engine it broke down. Hurry calls for aid were responded to from Babylon and Amityville.

In one of the barns the Irmisch Drug Company had stored a large quantity of fireworks. They exploded with a terrific roar when the flames reached them. Several firemen had narrow escapes beneath a falling wall and Fireman Charles Wilde was overcome by smoke.

Finally the fire reached the First National Bank Building, the big blank wall of which held the flames in check. A horse and some valuable hunting dogs were burned to death.

AD MEN OFF FOR TORONTO

Two Trainloads Leave To-day for Annual Convention.

Two trainloads of advertising men from this city will leave to-day on special cars for Toronto for the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs.
