FILIBUSTER MAY TIE UP SUPPLIES

Mann Likely to Begin Move Today in House to Delay Extension of Appropriations.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]

Washington, July 13.—With the object of directing attention to the tardiness of the Democrats in control of both branches of Congress, Republican members of the House contemplate a filibuster when Representative Fitzgerald calls up to-morrow another resolution to extend the appropriations of the last fiscal year for an additional two weeks.

Representative Mann, the minority leader, will conduct the filibuster, according to a report in minority circles. The Republicans probably will continue their dilatory tactics only for a sufficient time to impress the Democrats wiht their slowness as legislators. If the filibuster should prevent the immediate adoption of the emergency "continuing appropriation resolution," the several departments affected would be forced to operate in technical violation of the law until the necessary funds are allowed.

Four annual appropriation bills are still tied up in conference, despite the assumption that all the supply budgets must be passed before July 1, which marks the beginning of each new fiscal year. Two weeks ago, without opposition, a resolution was adopted in both houses continuing the old appropriations, in proportion, for the first two weeks of the new fiscal year. It is now necessary to adopt a second resolution of this character, the supply bills having made little progress in the last fifteen days.

The measures tied up are the sundry civil bill, carrying more than $100,000,000; the Indian bill, carrying about $10,000,000; the legislative, executive and judicial budgets, with a total of $37,000,000, and the District of Columbia bill, $11,500,000.

Differences between the Senate and House over the mileage allowance of members have brought about a deadlock on the legislative bill. The House economists wrote into the bill a provision that Senators and Representatives should receive only their actual travelling expenses going to and from the sessions of Congress, with an additional actual expense allowance for dependent members of the legislator's family. The Senate is standing for the time-honored allowance of 20 cents a mile each way, and voted overwhelmingly to-day against the House limitation, again sending the bill to conference.

A $4,150 claim of a Senate employe has blocked an agreement on the District of Columbia budget, the House declining to accept the claim.

$90,000 TO HONOR LEGION

Police Commissioner Woods yesterday turned over $90,000 to the treasurer of the Honor Legion fund, the amount realized at the two-day carnival of the police at Brighton Beach.

The Commissioner to-morrow will present medals to the winners of events. The presentation will take place in the police trial room, and will be attended by Mayor Mitchel. Moving pictures of the carnival will be shown.
