Exhibitors Withdraw Horses from Ring

Refuse to Show While J. R. Townsend Does the Judging.

IRISH HEATHER WINS WITHOUT A CONTEST

Miss Vauclain Adds to String of Blue Ribbons at Long Branch Fixture.

Long Branch, July 24.—If Mahomet will not stay away from the mountain the mountain can at least stay away from Mahomet. This was demonstrated to-day at the Monmouth County Horse Show, at Hollywood Park, where the exhibitors refused to show their horses before John R. Townsend in the open saddle class.

Exhibitors are, as a rule, docile creatures, and will accept whatever the judges have to offer. Once or twice in the history of the shows some exhibitor has refused a ribbon, but these are isolated cases and do not "point a moral nor adorn a tale."

If Mr. Townsend had stepped out of the ring instead of staying in while Irish Heather was being judged all would have been well, for he assured the officials that he would not pass judgment on any horse which he had owned or was likely to own.

His proximity to the centre of activity looked suspicious to the exhibitors, however, and when Irish Heather came into the ring to-day he came alone. His contemporaries, most of which he had beaten in the ladies' class yesterday, deserted in a body and left him the blue ribbon undisputed.

Applause When Ribbon Falls to Ground.

Emile Antony rode Irish Heather and he put him through his paces as though he had heavy competition; the judges looked him over carefully and then the blue ribbon was fastened on his bridle. The only applause was when Irish Heather shook the rosette from his bridle and it fell to the ground.

The trouble started yesterday, when Irish Heather was first choice in the ladies' class with Miss Lida Louise Fleitmann in the saddle. There was no question of the horse's right to the blue; the question was over Mr. Townsend's right to judge the horse. Unfortunately, the censure fell on several of the officials who were in no way to blame and on Miss Fleitmann and on Mr. Antony.

The dissatisfaction which was felt yesterday was strengthened to-day when Mr. Townsend placed Killarney first in the heavyweight class over Iron Trail. Killarney is a good looking horse, but he was not travelling squarely, to say the least, and it seemed to the railbirds as though Iron Trail should have had the blue. He is 16 hands, very much a horse and a weight carrier. Dr. Garner is a good looking, well mannered animal, but did not seem to be up to the weight.

The Irish Heather incident was the only fly in the syrup of content. The entries were numerous and brought out some of the best horses that have been seen in years.

Ladies' Hunters Well Mannered.

The ladies' hunter class was quite free from those accidents which have marred the exhibition in former years. Mrs. John J. O'Donohue rode the Merry Widow and Lion Heart, from the Donnybrook Farm, and won two ribbons, a 2d and an H. C. Miss Lida Fleitmann, on her own gray mare, Cygnet, was 1st choice, the yellow going to Miss Mary Louise Thompson, with good old Fairy Foot, from the Hamilton Farms. The prizes of $75 and $25 were offered by Felix M. Warburg.

Miss Anne Vauclain's horses won several ribbons. The Whip and Pandora were first and second choice in the open class. In the ladies' phaeton class Miss Constance Vauclain piloted Pandora to victory, while Miss Jean Sala Regan took the yellow with The Whip. Miss Warburg's Woodland's Empress and Miss Isabella Wanamaker's Natoma were the red and white ribbon winners. In the tandem class, Sequel and Sequence, the two little roans of Hackney and Welsh origin, were placed second to Count Gregory's Duchess and Princess. Miss Vauclain herself handled the roans.

One of Walter Hanley's horses won the ladies' saddle class, and this was a decidedly popular victory. Miss Rasmussen was in the saddle, and she handled Glittering Glory perfectly, carrying her to victory over Douglas Frank's Sefton Girl, with Miss Jessie van Klein in the saddle.

The programme finished with a half-mile race for gallowases, catch weights. Here E. J. Hogan's The Thief was the winner, with Mizzen Mast, from the Monmouth Stock Farm, not a half length behind. Jack Cade was third, although he did not appear to have sufficient agility to negotiate the short turns easily.

The awards follow:

Class 1, harness horses, over 15 hands and not exceeding 15.3 hands; first prize, $75; second prize, $25.—First, Broadlawn Farm's ch. m. The Whip; second, Broadlawn Farm's ch. m. Pandora; third, Willowbrook Farm's ch. g. Dark Blue; fourth, Oak Hedge's ch. g. Flash.

Class 45, ladies' qualified hunters, up to carrying not less than 150 pounds, to be shown over the regular jumps; manners and form to be especially considered; to be ridden by ladies on side saddles; first prize, $75; second prize, $25.—First, Miss Lida Louise Fleitmann's gr. m. Cygnet; second, Donnybrook Farm's b. m. Merry Widow, ridden by Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue; third, Hamilton Farm's ch. g. Fairy Foot, ridden by Miss Mary Louise Thompson; fourth, Donnybrook Farm's br. g. Lion Heart, ridden by Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue.

Doesn't Pay to Change Owners

When little Corinna won the blue ribbon in the class for gig horses at the Monmouth County Horse Show yesterday she earned her second leg on the Patten cup, which has been in competition since 1910.

Unfortunately, the conditions read that the cup must be won three times by the same owner, and when Corinna won her first leg, in 1912, she was owned by Henry W. Leeds.

This means that the beautiful little mare which won so handily must begin all over again if she wishes to claim the trophy as her own. It was a wonderful competition, with F. M. Warburg's Woodland's Emperor reserve winner.

LEONARD SHOWS OLD FORM

Former Harvard Man Beats Strobel on Edgemere Courts.

All the courts of the Edgemere Tennis Club, at Edgemere, Long Island, were busy the greater part of the day yesterday in the annual invitation lawn tennis tournament of the club. The doubles will be started this afternoon, with several pairs of prominence entered, including Lyle E. Mahan and C. M. Bull, jr., Arthur S. Cragin and Walter Merrill Hall and A. M. Lovibond and Paul Meade.

In the first round of the singles, R. J. Leonard, the old Harvard player, made his reappearance on the courts, defeating F. C. Strobel, at 6—0, 6—2. Leonard made his drives with lots of speed, frequently passing his opponent by shots down the side lines and often drawing him out of position.

Abraham Bassford, jr., won two matches, in the second round defeating A. Healy at 6—0, 6—2. Bassford excelled in the steadiness of his play, and forced both his opponents into making many outs and nets.

Benjamin M. Phillips, of the Harlem Tennis Club, defeated Walter Black in straight sets, at 6—3, 6—3. His drives sailed over the net with only inches to spare, and kept Black constantly on the run in his back court. When he came to the net, too, Phillips outclassed his opponent.

L. W. Fisher, the Cornell student who decisively defeated Wylie C. Grant on Thursday, found stiffer opposition yesterday in B. W. Stair, the veteran of the local courts, whose steadiness bothered him considerably. By rare speed in getting about his court, however, Fisher emerged the victor, by a score of 6—3, 6—3.

Men's singles (first round)—F. Hardcastle, jr., defeated H. H. Bassford by default. J. F. West defeated C. Rich, 6—1, 6—1; R. J. Leonard defeated F. C. Strobel, 6—0, 6—2; A. Healy defeated A. J. Cordier by default. A. Bassford, jr., defeated D. McAvoy, 6—2, 6—3.

Second round—Marshal Peabody defeated D. William Rosenbaum by default; R. L. Biggs defeated L. E. Mahan by default; H. A. Stuart defeated F. Hartland, 6—1, 8—6; A. Bassford, jr., defeated A. Healy, 6—0, 6—1; G. A. L. Dionne defeated O. C. A. Cable by default; J. W. Webber defeated F. C. Biggs by default; F. M. Watrous defeated Allan Yohey by default; B. M. Phillips defeated W. Black, 6—3, 6—3; A. M. Lovibond defeated J. S. O'Neale by default; L. W. Fisher defeated B. W. Stair, 6—3, 6—3; A. S. Cragin defeated E. F. Roberts by default.

YACHTING EXPERTS NOT SURPRISED

Withdrawal of the Defiance Expected Because of Her Poor Showing.

Although some yachtsmen were disappointed yesterday when they learned that the Defiance, built as a candidate for the defence of the America's Cup, had been withdrawn from further competition with the Resolute and the Vanitie, they were not surprised, for it became apparent some time ago that the yacht would not be able, from the showing she made, to defeat either of the others in all around sailing.

The Defiance was the second of the trio of yachts built for the purpose of defending the cup. She was designed by George Owen, of Boston, and was launched from the yard of her builders, the Bath Iron Works, on May 11. She is the only wooden boat of the three yachts. In all her races except one the Defiance was third.

Speaking of the withdrawal of the yacht last night William Gardner, the designer of the Vanitie, said:

"It is a pity that the boat had to be withdrawn. It is hard on all hands, especially the designer, but it was the only thing to do. I am sure the regatta committee is glad, because it is now a two-boat proposition, and it will be easier at the starts with only two boats to watch. A third boat always interferes more or less. Unless the Defiance could make a much better showing than she has it would have been folly to keep her in."

AMERICAN YACHT WINS

The Alloha Defeats Canadian Challenger at Kenora, Ont.

Kenora, Ontario, July 24.—The American yacht Alloha, property of the White Bear Yachting Club of St. Paul, defending the D. C. Cameron Cup in the international regatta, defeated the Canadian challenger, of Winnipeg, the Beaver, by 2 minutes 40 seconds in the first race here to-day. The Alloha's time was 1 hour and 35 minutes.

The junior eights, principal event of the day, was won by Duluth. St. Paul was second and Winnipeg third. The time was 8:16 1-4.

Kennedy Wins in Fifth Round.

Paris, July 24.—Tom Kennedy, the American heavyweight pugilist, gained a decision over Max Robert, a Frenchman, here to-night, when the referee stopped the bout in the fifth round to save the local man from being knocked out. Kennedy was Robert's master throughout.

PACES FASTEST MILE OF YEAR

Frank Bogosh Shows Keen Speed Over Slow Track at Cleveland.

Cleveland, July 24.—Over a slow track on the last day of the Grand Circuit meeting at North Randall to-day Thomas Murphy's Frank Bogosh, jr., paced a mile in 2:01¼, three-quarters of a second under Williams's fast mile of Tuesday. This again broke the North Randall track record, and was the fastest mile paced this year.

The time was made in the first heat of the pacing sweepstakes, which Frank Bogosh, jr., won in straight heats.

It took seven heats to find a winner for the 2:14 class pace, carried over from Thursday. Ella Mackay finally captured first money by winning the fourth and last two heats. R. H. Brest, winner of two of the three heats run on Thursday, was the favorite, but had to be content with second money.

Guy Nello took the 2:21 class trot in three straight heats, while the 2:12 class trot went to Lucy Patchen, which won the first, third and fifth heats.

SOMETHING NEW FOR A SWIMMER

To Cover Long Course with a Heavy Man Strapped on His Back.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

New London, Conn., July 24.—Harry Elionsky, of this city, known in aquatics as "Buster," who was compelled to abandon his thirty-three mile swim last Sunday in New York waters while shackled owing to unfavorable weather conditions after covering fifteen miles, will try something new next Sunday.

In the morning at 7:30 o'clock he will attempt to swim through Hell Gate shackled hand and foot, starting from 90th st., East River. In the afternoon he will start from the Battery unshackled and attempt to swim to Fort Wadsworth with a man weighing 225 pounds strapped to his back. The following Sunday Elionsky will start again on his thirty-three mile swim with hands and feet bound, going from the Battery to Swinborne Island, back to the Battery and then to Bay Ridge.

Water Carnival at Ostend on To-day

The annual water carnival of the Far Rockaway Swimming Association will be held at Ostend this afternoon. Alfred Brown, the first man to swim to Sandy Hook from the Battery, will try to lower the world professional record for five miles. Among the other features will be a race for the newspaper representatives. A large field is expected to enter this race. There will be special races for girls and boys of from eight to ten years of age.

Brookes and Wilding Defeat the Canadians

Win Right to Meet German Lawn Tennis Team in Second Round.

PLAYING OF WINNERS THRILLS HUGE CROWD

Their Strong Attack and Forcing Tactics Set at Naught Desperate Play of Rivals.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

Lake Forest, Ill., July 24.—Norman E. Brookes and Anthony F. Wilding, the Australians, won the right to meet the German lawn tennis team at Pittsburgh next week in the second round of the Davis Cup elimination trials by decisively defeating R. P. Schwengers and R. B. Powell, the Canadians, at doubles this afternoon in straight sets. The score was 6—4, 6—3, 6—4.

The match took place on the championship court of the Onwentsia Club here, and was witnessed by a huge crowd, the enthusiasm being shown by the frequent bursts of applause that greeted every rally by the contending players. By winning the doubles match Australia has so far made a clean sweep. To-morrow afternoon Wilding will play against Schwengers and Brookes will take on Powell in exhibition matches.

Although again outclassed, as in the singles matches yesterday, the Canadians never gave up trying, and their showing to-day was a great improvement over their work in the singles.

In the frequent rallies from close to the net the Canadians won the sympathy of the crowd by their desperate battling for the points, and scored almost as frequently by shots for placement as their opponents. It was the Australians' strong attack and their smashing, forcing game, however, that won for them. No matter how fast the going was the great pair from the Antipodes always seemed to hold something in reserve.

Both Brookes and his partner sent thrills through the crowd by the magnificent power and speed they put into their services, and at volleying they proved masters. The ball would pass back and forth over the net a dozen times without coming in contact with the ground, but gradually Schwengers and Powell were forced, foot by foot, back of their base line by the terrific smashing attack of the Australians, who advanced steadily toward the net as their opponents retreated, and from that point brought off the winning shots.

Facing that continuous and deadly battering the Canadians resorted to beautifully calculated lobs in the effort to gain a respite, but this was in vain, as Brookes and Wilding handled these high balls with a certainty and a swiftness that were wonderful to behold.

Brookes started the service in the first set, the ball shooting over the net with the speed of a bullet. To the surprise of the spectators, however, both the Canadians handled the ball without trouble, and in the first five games fairly outplayed their opponents.

With the score 4 to 1 against them, Brookes and his partner then put on an added burst of speed and ran six games straight, taking the first set. The placing of both the Australians at this period was remarkable in its accuracy.

Wilding toed the service line in the first game of the second set and won it, but Powell came right back and won his own service at love. Brookes then retaliated, and the game seesawed up to 5—all, when Brookes won another game at love on his service. The Australians ran out the set by superior volleying, winning at 6—3.

The last set brought out some of the most spirited playing of the match, with Schwengers and Powell fighting bravely to the last.

After the Australians had run into a lead of 5 games to 3 and needed a single point to win the match in the ninth game, the Canadian pair brought the people on the stands to their feet by the brilliancy of their defence. Three times they brought the game to deuce, and then ran it out by remarkable placement shots while the spectators applauded loudly.

Brookes and Wilding started working their machine-like attack again and took the last game and the match with the loss of only one point, by a score of 6—4.

All's Well on Shamrock IV.

Cape Finisterre, Spain, July 24.—A wireless dispatch received here to-day from the steam yacht Erin, convoying the Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's Cup, says: "All well. The challenger made a run of 272 miles in the last twenty-four hours. The weather is beautiful."

Marshall Wins in Chess Tournament

Mannheim, July 24.—In the fifth round of the International Chess Tournament, played here to-day, Reti, Marshall, Duras, Tarrasch, Post, Bogojubow, Alechine and Janowski won respectively from John, Fahrni, Mieses, Krueger, Flamberg, Breyer, Carls and Tartakower. Spielmann and Vidmar drew.

The leading scores to date are Spielmann, 4½ games won, Reti, 3½, Duras, Vidmar and Bogojubow each 3 and Alechine, Janowski and Marshall each 2½.

Boxing Bouts To-Night.

The bouts of the night will be as follows: Tommy Houck vs. Walter Brooks, at the Fairmont A. C.; "Knockout" Eggers vs. "Kid" Sullivan, at the Irving A. # McLoughlin Trounces Bundy in the Singles

California Lawn Tennis Players Dominate Courts in Longwood Tournament.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

Boston, July 24.—Maurice E. McLoughlin and his fellow Californians dominated the turf courts of the Longwood Cricket Club here to-day in the annual lawn tennis tournament for the Longwood singles and Eastern doubles championships. With the exception of Thomas C. Bundy, who was put out by McLoughlin, his doubles partner, all the Western players came through to the round before the semi-finals.

R. Norris Williams, 2d, and Karl H. Behr, the other members of the Davis Cup team, also were seen in action. Williams appeared in the fourth round of the singles, where he faced Watson M. Washburn, of Harvard, and won, only after being forced to his limit, at 8—6, 8—10, 10—8, 6—0.

The red-haired McLoughlin fairly romped through his match with Bundy, showing no mercy to his partner and bombarding the opposing court with an incessant fire of smashes, drives and cross-court shots that rarely failed to score clean aces. Bundy took his only game in the final set through McLoughlin's errors, and the entire match took only forty minutes to play.

Williams did not show to advantage against Washburn, and the battle was almost even in the first three sets, with Washburn putting up a defence that his opponent found it difficult to break through. In the last set, however, Washburn perceptibly weakened and Williams ran it out without the loss of a game.

R. Lindley Murray, the Leland Stanford youth, found a cool and crafty opponent in Frederick C. Inman, a former metropolitan champion, and although the California won in straight sets, at 6—4, 6—3, 6—2, Inman kept him always on the move. Murray's service was going at top speed and all his strokes were played with a world of power.

Ellis Fottrell, the other boy from the Coast, after winning with Murray in his doubles match, took on E. H. Whitney, of Harvard, in the fourth round of the singles, and experienced a lot of trouble in winning a victory. Whitney forced his opponent to go four sets before admitting defeat, by a score of 10—8, 7—9, 6—3, 6—4.

The crowd divided its attention between the doubles match that found Pell and Karl Behr opposed to F. C. Baggs and S. H. Voshell in the fourth round, and Fottrell and Murray facing Dr. William Rosenbaum and Whitney in the same round.

In the second set Behr disappointed the crowd by his inability to get going at full speed, but in the final set he and Pell showed the same brand of lawn tennis they displayed at the recent tournament at Seabright. They won the match, at 6—1, 8—6, 7—5, and will meet Niles and Dabney in the semi-finals on Monday. The finals will be played on Tuesday.

Murray and Fottrell formed a picturesque pair, hitting the ball with great force and outspeeding their opponents, who relied upon steadiness to win. The score was 11—9, 7—5, 6—3, in favor of the Californians.

The summaries follow:

Longwood singles (fourth round)—G. T. Putnam, Boston, defeated H. Nickerson, Boston, 8—6, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1. M. E. McLoughlin, San Francisco, defeated T. C. Bundy, Los Angeles, 6—0, 6—0, 6—1. R. N. Williams, 2d, Philadelphia, defeated W. M. Washburn, New York, 8—6, 8—10, 10—8, 6—0. E. Fottrell, San Francisco, defeated E. H. Whitney, Boston, 10—8, 7—9, 6—3, 6—4. R. L. Murray, San Francisco, defeated F. C. Inman, New York, 6—4, 6—3, 6—2.

Eastern doubles (third round)—A. S. Dabney and N. W. Niles defeated R. C. Palmer and G. T. Putnam, 6—3, 6—1, 8—6, 9—7.

Fourth round—Dabney and Niles won from R. Dana and H. Mackintosh by default. E. Fottrell and R. L. Murray defeated William Rosenbaum and E. H. Whitney, 11—9, 7—5, 6—3. H. H. Hackett and P. B. Alexander defeated Hugh Tallant and W. F. Johnson, 6—3, 6—2, 6—3. T. R. Pell and K. H. Behr defeated F. C. Baggs and S. H. Voshell, 6—4, 8—6, 7—5.

FIRE MARS BOAT RACE

Eugenia, Disabled, Limps Into Penn's Neck Harbor.

Baltimore, July 24.—Fire interfered with the race of power boats from Camden, N. J., to Baltimore, a distance of 440 statute miles, which began on Wednesday. The Eugenia, of the Flat Rock Motor Yacht Club, was so badly disabled that she was barely able to limp into Penn's Neck harbor.

A blaze also broke out on the Mirna, of the Ocean City Motor Yacht Club, and gave the crew a hard fight before it finally was extinguished.

The Mirna was second, with corrected time of 28 hours and 47 minutes, and Blue Peter V, of New York, third, with corrected time of 32 hours and 38 minutes.

The Caliph, of Philadelphia, beat the Marguerite II, of Philadelphia, in Class A by 20 minutes and 47 seconds.

The two boats were the only starters in this class. The Caliph's corrected time was 37 hours and 45 minutes.

It was announced unofficially that Flyaway III, of Port Chester, N. Y., the scratch boat which reached here yesterday after a fast run of 23 hours and 50 minutes, was the winner in Class B.

RESOLUTE GETS CLEANING

Cup Defence Candidate Preparing for Another Cruise.

Bristol, R. I., July 24.—The America's Cup defence candidate Resolute was hauled out at the yards of her builders to-day to have her underbody cleaned of the effects of corrosion by salt water. While the sloop is out of the water measurements will be made for the New York Yacht Club's cruise races.

The eighth mainsail made for the Resolute was tried out during a run in Narragansett Bay to-day, but was found ill fitting and will have to be recut.

After a New Record in Freak Swimming

Samuel Finkleman, a member of the American Life Saving Society, one of the strongest swimmers in this section of the country, will attempt to swim from the 23d st. ferry, East River, to College Point, towing a row boat with seven passengers. The distance is about eight and a half miles, and the course will be through Hell Gate and across Flushing Bay to College Point.

LIEUT. PORTE WARNED BY DEMON WEATHER SCENTER

Andrew Jackson De Voe, Hackensack Prophet, Says Air Currents Will Be Fickle in August and Counsels Delay in Aero Sea Trip.

Lieutenant John Cyril Porte, of the British Navy, has been warned. Andrew Jackson De Voe, the Hackensack weather prophet, is not sure the flight across the Atlantic will be successful. Through Glenn H. Curtiss he has given Lieutenant Porte a few tips on air currents and things. This is what he had to say in a letter to Mr. Curtiss yesterday:

"I noticed an interesting article stating that you were preparing a flying boat in which you expected to attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean about August 1. I do not pretend to know anything about flying machines, but I do know something about the weather and the laws which control it.

"Some fifty years ago I used to send tissue paper balloons, with cords attached, into the air. Some days they would not ascend, although the wind was blowing just as briskly as it did when the balloons did go up. At that time I didn't know what made the difference, but to-day I know there is a difference in the lifting capacity of the atmosphere. All currents of air either move upward or downward on a slant; there are hills and valleys in the atmosphere as well as on the earth. Air currents ascend under a high barometer and then descend toward that point where a storm is forming.

"It is, therefore, much easier to float in the atmosphere on a bright, clear day than on a sultry day. You never see a chicken hawk sailing when a storm is approaching. There are always two great storm belts hanging over the earth, extending in the northeast and southwest direction. From now up to August 6 there will be a succession of violent storms extending from Boston to Paris, France. The lowest barometer will be over the middle Atlantic Ocean. So, if you start on August 1, you will encounter easterly gales and a downward pressure, while later on it will be much easier. You can cross much easier in winter time than in the summer.

"I am looking for heavy rains and dangerous gales during the next two weeks. Please let me know when you are ready to start and I will give you careful calculation of the different air currents you are likely to encounter."

Mr. De Voe has made the boast that he rarely makes mistakes in his weather prognostications and takes issue with the government bureau. He can spot a frost or a cyclone two months away. He gets $2 a year from some persons for his forecasts and looks with contempt upon the efforts of the government in this line.

OSTENDORF WINS IN THREE MATCHES

Beats Behr in Singles, Then Captures Mixed and Men's Doubles.

TEAM WORK AND SPEED COUNT IN TILTS

Play in Siwanoy Club's Lawn Tennis Tourney Nears the Final Rounds.

The matches in the annual open lawn tennis tournament of the Siwanoy Country Club, at Mount Vernon, were brought close to the final stages yesterday on the new clay courts of the club, with most of the final round matches to be played to-day.

Albert J. Ostendorf won his way into the final round by defeating Allan Behr in the semi-final round, at 6—3, 3—6, 6—3. The victory of Ostendorf was due to his superior overhead and his skill in drawing his opponent out of position. Behr forced the issue in the second set, winning it at 6—3, but the winner thereafter began to reel off his points at lightning speed, taking the last two and the match, at 6—3.

In the mixed doubles, Miss Marie Wagner and Ostendorf attained their semi-final rounds by defeating Mrs. Baumeister and Mr. Grenz, at 6—1, 6—1. F. T. Hunter and Mrs. Humphries reached the final round by defeating Miss Claire Cassel and Edgar F. Leo.

Both the winning pairs showed vast superiority in team work and sterling play overhead, and always held the controlling hand.

Ostendorf and Hunter then faced Black and Rogers in the third round of the men's doubles and won without effort, at 6—0, 6—3, striking the ball hard and forcing their openings cleverly.

The final round in the women's singles will be played this morning at 11:30 o'clock between Miss Wagner and Mrs. T. Hitchin, and the semi-final match of the men's singles, in the upper half, will be played this morning, with the final set for this afternoon.

The summaries follow:

Men's singles (semi-final round)—A. J. Ostendorf defeated Allan Behr, 6—3, 3—6, 6—3.

Men's doubles (second round)—O'Neale and Greenebaum defeated Guggenheim and Guggenheim, 3—6, 6—2, 6—4.

Third round—Ostendorf and Hunter defeated Black and Rogers, 6—0, 6—3.

Mixed doubles (third round)—Miss Wagner and Mr. Ostendorf defeated Mrs. Mandelbaum and Mr. Grenz, 6—1, 6—1. Miss Bloomfield and Mr. Goodman defeated Miss Cossard and Mr. Morris, 6—3, 3—6, 7—5.

COLUMBIA ROWING FACING A CRISIS

Bangs Gives Warning That Future of Sport Is by No Means Assured.

Despite the brilliant victory at Poughkeepsie rowing at Columbia is by no means assured of a permanent tenure unless there is a vast change in the spirit of the undergraduates. This in brief is the warning which Francis S. Bangs, '78, long a power in rowing at Columbia and for years chairman of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association, has issued to those interested in the Columbia crew and its affairs.

"The victory at Poughkeepsie was needed," begins Mr. Bangs. "It has proved that a winning crew may be produced from not more than a score of candidates, and for another year, at least, has saved rowing from an imminent abandonment. Whether it shall stand as a glorious ending of rowing at Columbia or as an incentive to better undergraduate participation in the sport remains to be seen.

"Our crews have always evoked plenty of enthusiasm, and their support has been full hearted and earnest. Enthusiasm and backing, however, go for nothing without an adequate supply of candidates for the boat. Rice has never failed to do his part, but too often our crews have gone to the starting line with the prospect of success staked not upon the ordinary hazard of the race but upon unknown weaknesses, which could not have been remedied because the undergraduate university, rich in competent material, has been poverty stricken in willing men.

"When the fate of football was in the balance it was easy to organize processions to shout, 'We want football!' The shouters did not want themselves to play the game, and football departed. It was easy last winter to fill the Commons with a mass meeting cheering for the crews, but not a new candidate came in response to a call, and the withdrawal of our freshman entry was at one time under serious consideration. The beginnings of the season were full of discouragement, not only for this year, but for the future. Rowing came near abolishing itself. It was saved by the courage and sound racing judgment of the '14 'varsity and its captain, after Rice had done his work.

"Out of the Poughkeepsie squad and out of the Hadsell mentality come a promise for 1915, but squads sometimes vanish like a dream. We have won with scanty numbers. That does not prove that scanty material will win again. It is neither fair nor loyal to Columbia that so few men shall try for our crews when so many are at hand. If we come again to the early happenings of the past season there is grave danger that the trophy of 1914 will mark, not the first of a new series of victories reasonably within our grasp, but the passage of Columbia down and out from rowing. We have had a narrow escape."

Bloom Outpoints Gradwell.

Phil Bloom, the East Side bantam weight, cleverly outpointed Young Gradwell, of Hoboken, in the main bout of ten rounds at Brown's Far Rockaway Club last night. A snappy left hand jab was used effectively by Bloom, who boxed strongly up to the eighth round. Gradwell rallied in the remaining rounds, endeavoring for a knockout, and although he gained much advantage he could not overcome the early points of Bloom.
