BAD DAY FOR RACQUET MEN OF CALIFORNIA

HAREM VEILS APPEAR IN MIXED DOUBLES

Washburn Surprises Experts by Defeating Johnston—Brookes and Larned Winners.

By FRED HAWTHORNE.

Southampton, Long Island, Aug. 20.—Upsets in the annual lawn tennis tournament of the Meadow Club continued to-day, with the men of the East playing strongly and eliminating all but one of the California entries.

Watson M. Washburn, of Harvard, put all previous calculations to nought by defeating William M. Johnston, of California, a former New York State champion, in three fast sets, at 7—9, 6—1, 7—5. Washburn's victory puts him in the lower half of the semi-final round, where he is scheduled to face Alfred S. Dabney, a fellow student, to-morrow morning.

G. P. Garner, jr., gained his place in the semi-finals by defeating Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, a member of last year's Davis Cup team, at 2—6, 6—3, 6—4.

Harte to Meet Murray.

The bracket at the top half will be filled to-morrow, when Richard Harte meets R. Lindley Murray, the lone Californian remaining in the tourney.

It had previously been announced that Murray had defaulted, but he arrived at the clubhouse late in the afternoon from Bay Ridge, and the committee arranged for him to play Harte about 11 o'clock to-morrow morning and Gardner in the afternoon.

Although the weather was threatening all day and a heavy shower set in about 1 o'clock this afternoon, a full day of playing was put in, and as a result all the events have approached the semi-finals.

The work of Norman E. Brookes and William A. Larned and young Sidney Thayer, jr., and "Jerry" Weber was the outstanding feature in the men's doubles.

In the mixed doubles about a dozen pairs took part, and here an innovation was sprung by some of the fair racquet wielders, who played their matches with the lower half of their faces hidden by harem veils.

The silken coverings did not seem to interfere with the dash and abandon with which the veiled beauties brought off their strokes, and it prevented the sun ruining several perfectly good complexions.

Silken Sweaters in Vogue.

Two special stands had been erected on the far side of the "championship" court, and this was filled by women in gaudily colored silken sweaters.

Before Washburn and Johnston lined up for play the Californian was strongly favored as the logical winner of the tournament. He had shown steady improvement in each match and seemed to have regained the use of his hard driving stroke.

Washburn essayed to make his fight from the base line, and this suited Johnston exactly. Both men were unusually accurate in their control of the ball, and neither could gain a decided advantage until the games had gone to 7—all. The youth from the Coast then broke through Washburn's service by a sizzling session at the net and captured the next game and the set at 9—7.

Many figured that Johnston would take the match in straight sets then, for the Californian was playing with remarkable speed and was as quick as a cat to take advantage of his openings.

But the nonchalant Harvard student, putting a cut on every stroke, began to drive fiercely and accurately to his opponent's base line. Johnston traded drive for drive and put even greater speed on the ball, but he lacked control, whereas Washburn was a wizard at hitting the lines.

The Westerner could get only one game in this set, and Washburn, covering his strokes in a most deceptive manner, rarely played as he did at this period. Although Johnston was beginning to feel the ardor of the pace he stuck to his opponent tenaciously and held him even up to 5—all.

Washburn decided to try the net in the last few games, and found this an effective method of taking the sting out of the Californian's vicious drives. The last two games went to Washburn through Johnston's fast growing wildness, and with them the match at 7—5.

Gardner Springs Surprise.

The defeat of Wallace F. Johnson by George Peabody Gardner, jr., came as a surprise to the gallery, but here again the man who played the better game won.

The Boston player experienced trouble in the first set in handling Johnson's shots, as the balls bounded only a few inches in the soft turf. The opening set went to the Philadelphian at 6—2.

In the second set Gardner changed his tactics, and instead of the careful "feeling out" method he had started with began forcing the attack. He literally had to dig Johnson's returns from the ground, but he accomplished the feat and brought a sterling overhead game into play, taking the last two sets and the match at 6—3, 6—4.

Late in the afternoon Brookes and Larned came out on the court and took on H. R. Buffum and F. G. North. The veterans were the crowning attraction of the day, and the entire gallery shifted their seats so as to watch the two men who have helped to make lawn tennis history.

If Brookes and his partner hoped for keen competition they were disappointed, for Buffum and North were utterly unable to cope with their famous opponents, and took only one game in thirteen, being defeated at 6—1, 6—0.

Larned's work overhead was far better than on yesterday, and he got about the court with greater speed. Brookes, although he found it hard to get worked up to a wild pitch of enthusiasm at any time during the match, was as crafty and as masterly as ever in tricking the opposing pair.

The real test of the veterans will come to-day, when they are called upon to face Johnston and Griffin.

The last named pair played brilliantly in defeating William J. Clothier and G. P. Gardner, jr., at 6—4, 2—6, 6—4, and although Griffin was slow to start he finished strongly and helped his side to victory. Gardner was the better player on his side.

Meadow Club men's invitation singles after yesterday's play Gardner, jr., defeated Wallace F. Johnson, 2—6, 6—3, 6—4. Watson M. Washburn defeated William M. Johnston, 7—9, 6—1, 7—5.

Meadow Club invitation men's doubles (second round)—Wainwright and Carter defeated Coward and Geary, 6—0, 6—2. Wainwright, jr., and F. M. Watson defeated F. W. Paul, jr., and Dr. Downey, 6—3, 6—2. Mahan and Washburn beat Garner Mansfield and Cutler, 6—1, 6—2. Thayer and Weber defeated Johnson and Pollard, 4—6, 10—8, 6—1.

Third round—McLoughlin and Handy won from Grant and Motz by default. Niles and Dabney defeated Watson and Wrenn, 4—6, 6—4, from-deuce and Brockman defeated Sullivan and Irving, 6—2, 6—3. Johnson and Griffin defeated Clothier and Gardner, 6—4, 6—2, 6—4. Mahan and Washburn won from Wainwright and Carter by default. Brookes and Larned defeated Buffum and North, 6—1, 6—0. Thayer and Weber defeated Sheldon and Hobart, 6—2, 6—1, 6—4.

Meadow Club invitation mixed doubles (first round)—Miss Fleming Coward and solo Player, jr., defeated Miss Hughes-Hallett and Dr. Alfred Schmeer, 2—6, 6—2, 6—2. Mr. and Mrs. William G. Schaffer defeated Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Spaulding, 6—4, 6—2. Miss Marshall McLean and Howard Hamman won from Mr. and Mrs. G. Chauncey Ireland, 6—2, 6—3. Miss Green and William Rand, 2, won from Miss Lee and H. Coward by default.

Second round—Miss Fiske and C. F. Watson, jr., defeated Miss Mortimer and Georgia Arnold, 6—2, 6—1. Miss Lee and M. Grant won from Mrs. T. M. Cleveland and G. P. Gardner, jr., by default. Miss Elizabeth C. Dunce and W. M. Washburn won from Miss Blacke and F. R. Magoun by default.

Not Much Gate to Divide Here

New Britain, Conn., Aug. 20.—Just four persons paid admittance to the baseball grounds here to-day to see a game scheduled between the New Britain and Waterbury teams of the Eastern Association. The management paid back the money to the faithful four and called the game off.

BRAVES MAKE HAY AS GIANTS REST

Score Easy Victory Over Pirates and Draw Nearer to Top.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20.—The Boston Braves continued their march to the top to-day, defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates by a score of 6 to 3. Rudolph won his eleventh straight game. He aided his team in other ways than by his excellent pitching, his fielding being brisk and his hitting timely.

Twice he covered first base and received throws from Schmidt, catching the runners in the nick of time. His first play of the sort was in the second inning on Collins, who rapped a grounder back of first base. There was a race between Collins and Rudolph, which the latter won by a step. In the seventh inning Coleman hit a savage bounder straight at Schmidt. It was too hot for the first baseman to hold, but when he quickly gathered up the ball Rudolph was on the bag, ready for the catch.

Rudolph in the eighth inning tallied the winning run. He lined out a two-bagger, went to third on Whitted's sacrifice, and scored on a single by Connolly.

Conzelman began on the rubber for Pittsburgh. He struck out Whitted and Evers in succession, and caused Connolly to line the ball directly into the hands of Viox.

But the aspect of affairs changed in the second inning. Maranville began by sending a single into left field. Schmidt followed with a two-bagger into centre, scoring Maranville. Smith pushed the ball to Konetchy for a sacrifice, putting Schmidt on third. Mann hit into centre field for three bases. Of course Schmidt scored, and a few moments later Mann ran home on a high fly by Gowdy to Carey.

In the third inning Marty O'Toole went to the box. He was greeted with a mixture of cheers and groans.

In the last half of the fifth Carey singled to left, and Connolly fumbled. Carey running to second. Collins sent a short fly to left, too far in for Connolly, and it went for a two-bagger, on which Carey scored. Coleman hit a single to left, Collins scoring. O'Toole forced Coleman at second and was himself forced at the same bag by Viox, but Konetchy doubled, scoring Viox.

The Braves won in the eighth inning, when, as told, Rudolph started the chapter by hitting for two bases and scoring on two outs.

Athletics Get Three, Tigers One—Lapp's Hand Hurt.

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—All of the runs in to-day's game were scored on homers, Philadelphia defeating Detroit by a score of 3 to 1.

Moriarty's hit to deep centre in the first inning bounced into the bleachers for a four-bagger. In the third inning Collins's drive over Veach's head hopped into the bleachers for a home run, Wyckoff and Murphy also scoring.

Lapp had his right hand badly hurt by a foul tip off Moriarty's bat in the fifth inning, and was forced to leave the game.

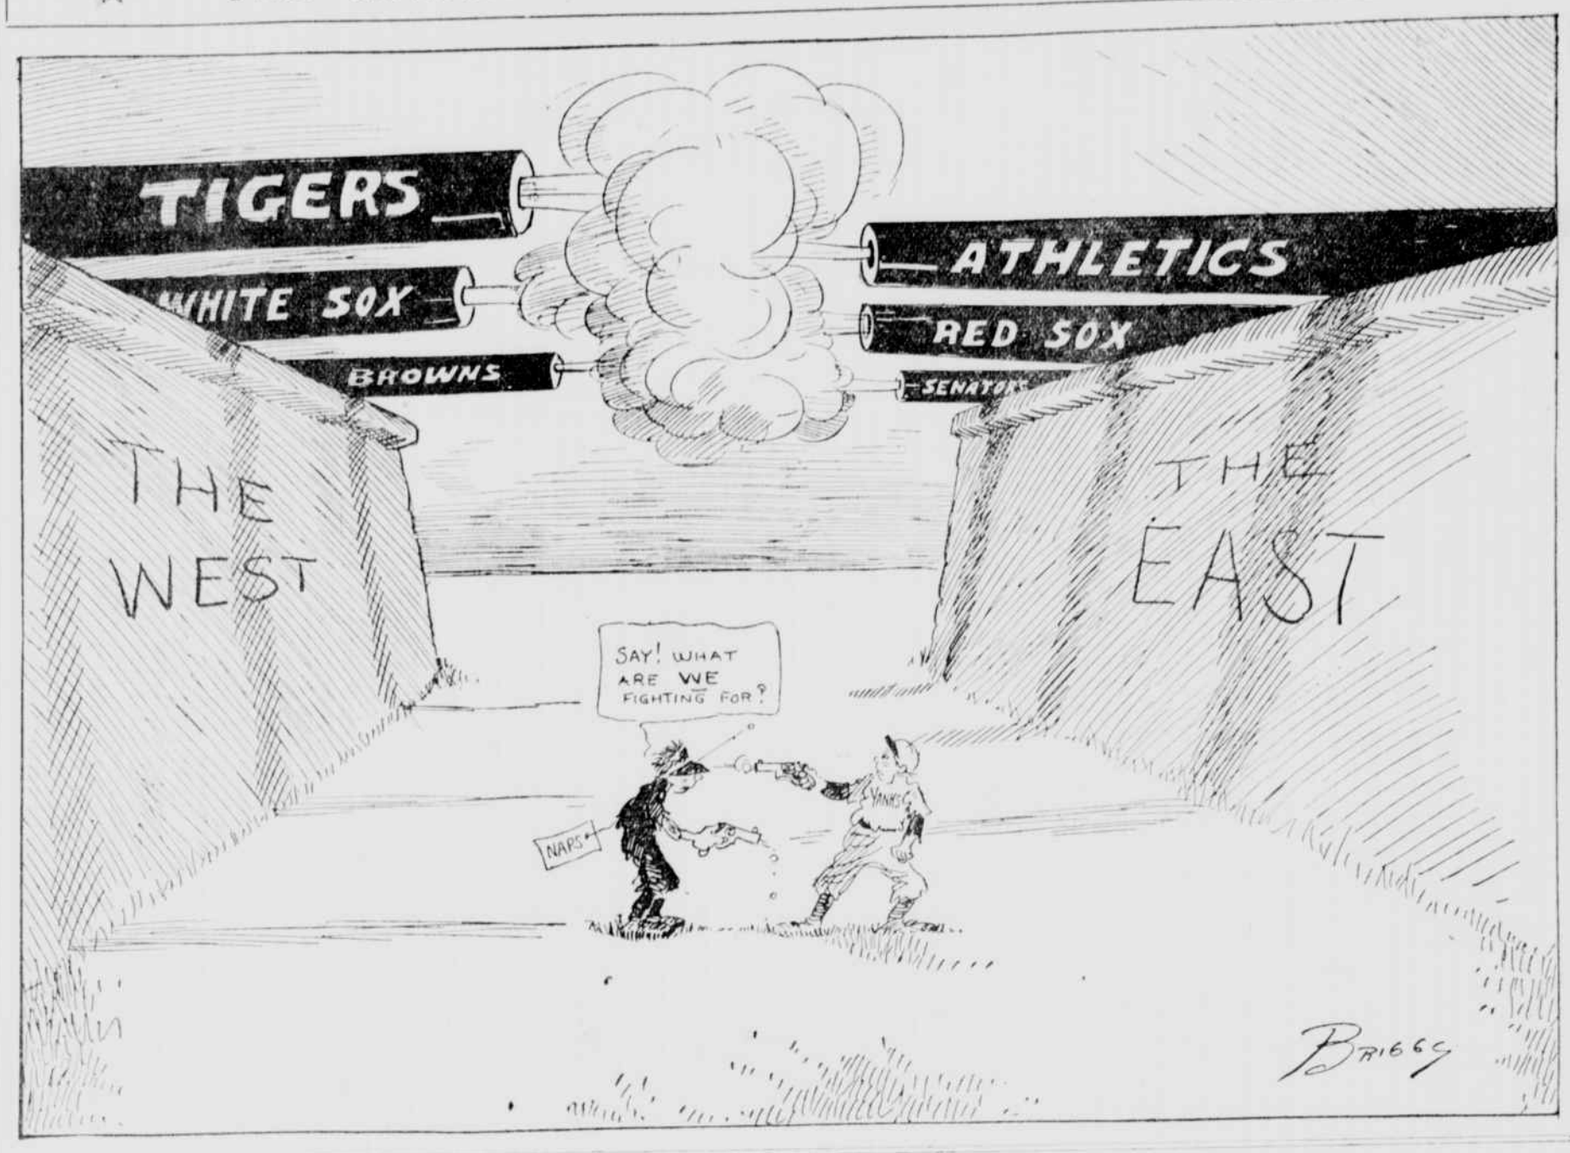
THE STANDING OF THE AMERICAN LEAGUE



Cubs Get Jump on Allen and Beat Superbas

Bunched Hits in the Early Innings Turn Trick—Rally of Visitors in Third Fails.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The fortunes of baseball frowned and smiled on the Brooklyn Superbas at once this afternoon. The Cubs downed Robinson's men in the final game of the series, but since the onrushing Boston Braves crushed the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Superbas are still tied for fifth place. There was no alibi for the defeat this afternoon. Chicago hit the ball when hits stood for something worth while and won by a score of 3 to 2.

Brooklyn broke through the defence of the Cubs in the third inning and scored all its runs by bunching hits around a couple of errors which had to creep in at this interesting point. Gus Getz started with a double. Zimmerman, however, made a clever catch of McCarty's line smash down the third base line.

On occasion Frank Allen hits the ball, and hits it hard. He chose this particular time to strike and sent the ball hurtling far afield for a single. Getz scored easily. Cheney intercepted Leach's throw to the plate, but his throw to Saier was wild, and Allen took second. He moved to third on Stengel's hit and scored on Sweeney's boot of Cutshaw's drive.

Frank Allen just can't beat the Cubs, to save his soul. He allowed only half a dozen hits, but these were pretty well bunched in two prosperous innings. The Bruins started after him quickly, getting two runs in the first. They put over the winning run in the fifth frame.

Larry Cheney was on the rubber for the Cubs, and might have let his opponents down with only one run had he received perfect support. Stengel and Getz got four of the seven bingles made off his delivery.

INDIANS WIN IN EIGHTH

Johnson, Toronto Pitcher, Fails as a Relief Man.

Wildness on the part of Johnson at Toronto, who relieved Wagner on the mound in the eighth inning at Newark yesterday, gave the Indians a victory by a score of 4 to 3.

Three men were on the sacks, two were out and the score tied when Johnson went in to pitch. He handed out a pass to Wheat, forcing Kraft over the plate, with what proved to be the winning tally.

Toronto scored three in the third inning, while Newark tallied in the first, sixth and seventh. Errors made by the Maple Leafs were costly.

Feature Facts of Day in Baseball

No game was scheduled for the Giants yesterday, and the Braves defeated the Pirates. Boston is now one and a half full games behind New York.

In defeating the Pirates Dick Rudolph won his eleventh straight game.

Indian Johnson, of Kansas City, defeated Bluejacket, the Redskin of the Tip Tops.

Shore, the crack recruit pitcher of the Red Sox, held the White Sox to two hits.

Home runs were responsible for all the runs scored in the game between the Athletics and the Tigers.

Mike Mitchell, the Washington outfielder, was knocked unconscious in the game between the Senators and the Browns.

Naps Finally Win in a Long Drawn Out Game

Yankees Hit Hard in Early Innings, Then Wabble—Chance Tries Out Two Recruits.

By HEYWOOD BROUN.

"The Surrey vs. Notts match was a curiosity in that it went on without interruption until lunch time was near on the third day, and yet not even a first innings' result was obtained," says "The Field" describing a cricket match.

"The main cause of this was the long time occupied by the Notts in making their runs. The crowd grew restive during the Notts innings and created such a disturbance that some of its members had to be ejected after several police constables had paid a visit to the Vauxhall end. It was a regrettable occurrence."

There was a regrettable occurrence at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The Naps met the Yankees. The Naps and the Yankees are the Surrey and Notts of the American League. When the wickets were drawn the score was 11 to 8 in favor of Cleveland.

Yet there was reason to be proud of American sportsmanship. It is true that the crowd was restive, but it was unnecessary to call constables to eject any spectators. They retired with perfect decorum long before the final put out. Those who left prior to the seventh inning were home in good time for breakfast easily enough.

The game was so long that Chance was compelled to violate the neutrality of two reservists who sat upon the bench of the Yankees. Angel Aragon, the new Cuban third baseman, went in as a pinch hitter, and Pius Schwert, who had drawn a salary up to date simply for watching the Yankees play, had to go behind the bat. Schwert was called into the game when Nunamaker tried to argue down Bill Dineen and failed.

Keating was put out at the same time. He threw his glove at the umpire but missed him. It was only a sample of his bad control, for in the inning when he made his exit the Naps scored six runs.

Aragon made a good impression, although the fans had a short time in which to inspect him. He marched in and hit the first ball for a perfect McLoughlin smash of a single.

Both the Naps and the Yankees hit hard in the first two innings, but their efforts did little to decide the issue of the game, for at the beginning of the third the score stood 4 to 4.

Fisher, who began in the box for New York, was removed in favor of Pieh. The Yankees scored once in the fourth, when Maisel tripled and stole home, upsetting O'Neill by his slide to the plate. In the fifth they scored two more. A base on balls to Cree, a double by Mullen and a single by Peck did it.

In the seventh the Naps batted all the way around. When Keating and Nunamaker were put out of the game Warhop and Schwert took their places. Morton finished the game for the Naps, as Willie Mitchell retired in favor of a pinch hitter in the seventh.

A pass to Cook, a single by Cree and a hit by Peckinpaugh gave the Yankees a run in the latter half of the seventh.
