TOPICS OF THE DAY IN WALL STREET

Motor Stocks Take Centre of the Stage in an Irregular Day.

Motor stocks had very much the right of way in yesterday's market, and they improved their chance most notably; at least Maxwell Motors and Willys-Overland did, all the securities of the former company showing large gains and the latter's stock scoring an advance that put it in a class by itself. Of the motor company stocks practically the same thing is said in all cases. The companies are piling up big earnings, and their best months of the year are still ahead of them, or are just beginning. It is not that fact which has caused surprise in Wall Street, but the sudden market discovery of it, as remarkable in its way as the discovery that not so long ago sent Mexican Petroleum sky-hooting up to 77 from 51 before it met with any real setback.

Cinderella Appears.

Maxwell Motors second preferred came in yesterday for a recognition that was as tardy as the discovery of Cinderella in another chapter of history. But for all the fact that it was among the five leaders of the day in point of activity it could not seem to overcome the lead the common stock had gained in the recent trading. The common both sold higher during the day and closed higher, though by the end of the fiscal year 17½ per cent will have accumulated in back dividends on the first preferred, and there will still remain 6 per cent to be met on the second preferred before any disbursement can be made on the ordinary shares.

Exports Keep Gaining.

How far the German war zone decree and the English retaliatory measures have failed of their anticipated effect in discouraging exports from the United States is evidenced by such items as the exports from the port of New York and the credit balance for the United States piling up therefrom. Taking only New York and the figures for only the last seven days of business, the balance of trade in favor of this country is $26,653,846. Exports yesterday alone showed an excess over imports of $6,724,411, and marked, besides, an increase over the exports of a week ago of $2,931,294.

New York Pre-eminent.

"New York may yet lack some of London's qualifications as the world's financial centre," said a broker yesterday, after reading the latest news of the international situation, "but at least she has achieved one distinction. She has probably the only market in the world that can advance on the news that one of her country's merchant vessels was deliberately sunk by a warship of another power."

Looking for Action.

One of the most active stocks on the Stock Exchange—no less than J. J. Manning—has lately gone to Chicago, where, since January, he has owned a membership on the Board of Trade. It was rumored yesterday that he had taken a house in the Windy City and was preparing to settle there permanently, but his friends say it is not as bad as that. Possibly there was in stock markets such as yesterday's a reason for his change that in the wheat market there is trading worth a trader's while. A list of, say, ten of the most active stocks in the order of their activity makes curious reading. Here they are: Erie, Steel common, Reading, Maxwell Motors second preferred, Third Avenue, Maxwell Motors first preferred, Corn Products, Alaska Gold, Union Pacific and New Haven.

Suffrage in Wall Street.

Interludes of trading are so frequent in Wall Street these days that many other topics besides the war and the market get their place in the sun. One of them—a veritable floating mine in conversation—is woman suffrage. A large part of the Wall Street population is made up of commuters, and most of these seem to come from New Jersey. In New Jersey they will vote this fall on the question of giving the women of the state the vote. If the discussions of woman suffrage that have lately been going on in the Street are any indication, the men of New Jersey will not go to the polls with the indifference so often shown. Far from it! In fact, if the peace officers are well advised, they will put into effect the oldtime Western regulation requiring the checking of lethal weapons at the door.

National Banks and Savings.

Bankers here were puzzled yesterday to know why the Federal Reserve Board should have instructed the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia that national banks, members of the system, might lawfully solicit savings bank accounts and pay interest upon them. The national banks have always done this when they saw fit, with or without warrant of law. But why they should think that there is room for their competition in Philadelphia, of all cities, passes understanding. The savings banks there stand as high as any in the country, and pre-eminently have the confidence of their depositors. Runs on them are impossible, if only for the reason that there is permanently in effect in Philadelphia a two-weeks' notice clause, actively enforced. In that city if any one wants money inside the two weeks' period he has to show good and particular reasons why, or he won't get it.

COTTON CLOSES FIRM AND HIGHER

Early Weakness and Declines Overcome in Late Trading by Bullish Features.

There was heavy realizing in the cotton market yesterday, which caused irregularity, but offerings were well taken on comparatively moderate reactions and the close was firm, net unchanged to 4 points higher.

Liverpool did not fully meet Wednesday's advance here, but after opening 6 points lower to 1 point higher prices here went about 6 to 7 points net higher on overnight buying orders and covering, part of which was supposed to be against the small failure announced in the local trade. The buying for the latter account was estimated at not over 3,000 bales, however, and the early advance of 9.47c for October, or within 3 points of the season's high record, attracted more or less general realizing. Prices eased off in consequence, and active months sold about 2 to 3 points net lower, but offerings were well absorbed on the decline, and the market later rallied on firmness of the Southern spot situation, continued large exports and reports indicating prospects of a reduced crop next season. Last prices were within 2 or 3 points of the best.

The feature of the Southern news regarding crop prospects was the report of small mule sales at Atlanta and other markets. One of the railroads which during a normal season, carries a large number of mules from St. Louis to Atlanta for sale to Eastern belt planters is said to have handled only 300 carloads this season, and these were for the export trade.

Exports for the day were 62,455 bales, making 5,884,344 for the season so far. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 13 points higher, but the local market held quiet at 8.85c for middling upland; no sales; delivered on contract, 500 bales. Local contract prices:

GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New York, March 11, 1915.

GRAIN.

WHEAT—Only moderately active, and price changes were irregular. Early in the day there was a substantial decline as a result of commission house selling. The cash position was easier, and this had a stimulating influence on May, which advanced 6c from the low of the morning. Later positions are coming under the influence of the new crop outlook, and while they showed a good rally with May, the strength in the nearby was given attention to the prospects of the next crop as market factors. At the close May was ¾c net higher, while the late months were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, compared with the previous close. Cash wheat was scarce, premiums were well maintained, and the fact that foreign bids were generally out of line indicated that importing countries were likely to limit their purchases as long as there is a probability of Russian wheat being liberated. In the local cash market No 2 red winter wheat was quoted at $1.63½ and No 2 hard at $1.63, all rail, c i f track; No 1 Northern Duluth, $1.60, and No 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.61¼, c i f Buffalo, opening navigation. CORN—The market was heavy early, as a result of commission house selling, but prices rallied on reports of a better cash demand, especially in the Southwest, closing unchanged to ¼c higher. Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 2,500,000 bushels, compared with 1,242,000 last week and 403,000 last year. In the local cash market No 2 yellow corn was quoted at 83¾c. OATS—The market was stimulated by reports that a large cash house was buying for export 1,000,000 bushels for May against sales of that amount for export, and closing quotations were ⅛@⅜c net higher. Local cash market firm; standard quoted at 63c; No 2 white, 62½c; No 3, 61½@62c; fancy clipped, 64@65½c; ordinary clipped, 63½@64½c, all elevator. RYE—Easy; No 2 Western, $1.23, c i f New York. BARLEY—Dull; feeding, 77c, nominal, c i f New York; malting, 76@82c, c i f Buffalo. BUCKWHEAT—Easy; Japanese, $2.10; mixed, $2; prime state, $2; silver hull, $2.

FLOUR AND MEA'

FLOUR was inactive, and while stocks in the hands of consumers are believed to be small, buyers are inclined to be conservative. Spring patents, $7.15@$7.50; spring clears, $6.75@$7.15; winter patents, $6.75@$7; winter straights, $6.50@$6.65; extra No 1 winter, $5.50@$5.75; No 2, $5.25@$5.40; Kansas straights, $6.75@$6.90; fancy spring patents, jobbing lots, $8.20@$8.35. BUCKWHEAT FLOUR dull, $3.10@$3.25 per 100 lb. RYE FLOUR quiet; fair to good, $6.25@$6.85; choice to fancy, $6.90@$7. CORNMEAL steady; kiln dried, $4.05. BAG MEAL steady; fine white and yellow, $1.75@$1.85; coarse, $1.70@$1.75. FEED—Wheat feed steady; fine, 100-lb sacks, $26.25; standard middling, do, $26.75; flour, do, $33; red dog flour, 140-lb sacks, $35; city steady; bran, bulk, $24.50; 100-lb sacks, $26.50; heavy, do, $27; flour, do, $34; red dog flour, 140-lb sacks, $35. OILMEAL, $39@$39.50.

COFFEE.

A show of firmness in the Brazilian cost and freight position had a stimulating influence here, and closing quotations were 7 to 12 points net higher. Business was not large, sales consisting of 8,500 bags, but there seemed to be less disposition to sell, especially in the near positions, which suggested that holders of high grades of coffee were less inclined to deliver them on contract. Receipts at Rio were large, amounting to 23,000 bags, compared with 6,000 last year, and the Rio market showed a decline of 75 reis; Santos, however, was 100 reis higher, and receipts there were only 12,000, compared with the same amount last year. In the cost and freight market offers were comparatively scarce, and prices were firm. Santos 2s and 3s being quoted at 9.75@10.10c, 4s at 9.25@9.50c, 5s at 8.85c and Rio 7s at 6.75@6.85c. Local spot prices remained on the basis of 7¾c for Rio 7s. Range of prices:

SUGAR FUTURES.—Market only moderately active, sales amounting to 1,450 tons, but after showing some hesitation early, prices developed firmness, and at the close were 3 to 6 points net higher. Prospects of larger offers from Cuba and of comparatively quiet consuming trade were against values, but the market was stimulated by prospects of Great Britain removing its embargo against American sugar and reports that there were foreign buying orders in the market at slightly under prevailing quotations. SUGAR.

No change in refined prices, which were listed on the basis of 5.75c for fine granulated by all refiners. A firmer tone prevailed in raw and prices for Cubas were higher, although Porto Ricos remained unchanged. Interest were again in the market, as well as operators, and trading was quite active. Business included 20,000 to 25,000 bags of Porto Ricos in port, afloat and loading to American at 4.04c for centrifugal; 10,000 or 15,000 bags of Cubas to operators, afloat, at 3 11-16c, cost and freight, equal to 4.70c for centrifugal; 10,000 bags of Cubas, afloat, to local refiner, at 3 23-32c, cost and freight, equal to 4.74c for centrifugal, and sales of about 80,000 or 100,000 bags of Cubas to local refiners for April shipment at 3¾c, cost and freight, equal to 4.77c, delivered. The market closed firm at 4.04@4.74c for centrifugal, 3.87@3.97c for molasses and 3 11-16@3 23-32c for Cubas, cost and freight.

COUNTRY PRODUCE MARKETS.

New York, March 11, 1915.

BUTTER.

Receipts, 4,390 pkgs. Business is unsatisfactory, with further reductions in values. For very fancy, fresh creamery, the quotation became an outside rate. WHEAT IN CHICAGO GAINS AND LOSES

Chicago, March 11.—Wheat swayed in price to-day largely according to the varying character of cable reports, especially the course of quotations at Liverpool. The close here was weak at ⅛c decline to ¾c advance, compared with last night. Other leading staples all showed net gains—corn a shade to ¼c; oats, ⅛c to ¾c, and provisions, 2½c to 12½c.

Weakness at the start in wheat was followed by a decided bulge, and then a quick reaction. The veering was wide, covering a range of 6c, with May swinging the furthest both down and up. On the bulge from the extreme low point of the session, there seemed to be plenty of evidence that foreigners and domestic cash grain handlers were absorbing futures, because of inability to meet requirements in the spot delivery. At the same time, advices were at hand that early weakness at Liverpool, which had been reflected here, had been succeeded by an improvement, due to reduced estimates of the surplus in Russia and Rumania to the sinking of two Pacific grain vessels and to storms in Argentina. Realizing sales to collect profits for speculators seemed to have much bearing on the downward tendency of the market approaching the close. Range of prices:
