AMALGAMATED LIQUIDATION PLAN

It Provides for $4,616,637 Cash Distribution to Stockholders.

SALE OF ANACONDA TO FURNISH FUNDS

Shareholders Can Buy This at $25 a Share—Heinze Suit Recalled.

John D. Ryan, president of the Amalgamated Copper Company, which was organized in 1899 by the Rockefeller interests to acquire stocks of mining and affiliated companies in Montana, is sending to stockholders to-day the directors' plan for dissolving the company which Wall Street has been expecting with great interest for several weeks. The announcement that the company would soon liquidate recalled the suit brought by Otto Heinze under the Sherman law, dismissed by Judge Lacombe in December, 1914, in which Heinze contended that the defendant corporation was exercising a monopoly in the copper industry.

Mr. Ryan attributes the decision to wind up the company's affairs to the repeal by the New Jersey Legislature in 1913 of its right to add to investments by the acquisition of stocks other than those already held.

The plan of dissolution provides for the sale of enough Anaconda stock by the Amalgamated to reduce its holdings in the former company so that the distribution on the basis of the present issue of Anaconda shares may be made at the rate of two shares of Anaconda for one of Amalgamated. To accomplish this the Amalgamated directors will offer to the company's shareholders of record May 17 the privilege of buying one share of Anaconda stock at $25 par for each six shares of Amalgamated stock held by them.

"The proceeds of sale of the shares last mentioned (Anaconda)," says Mr. Ryan, "will provide a sufficient amount of money to insure the discharge of all outstanding obligations of the company and to leave approximately $3 a share in cash for distribution among the stockholders on completion of the liquidation of the company."

As the owner of about 3,286,266 shares out of a total of 4,662,500 shares of Anaconda stock, the Amalgamated should, therefore, distribute to its shareholders, in the ratio of two to one, 3,029,786 shares of Anaconda, as one-sixth of the 1,538,879 Amalgamated shares outstanding amounts to 256,480 shares, which are to be sold to stockholders at $25 a share.

In addition to a possible profit from the sale of such Anaconda shares in the open market, the Amalgamated stockholders will also get a total cash distribution of $4,616,637, the equivalent of $3 a share on the 1,538,879 shares outstanding.

"Fractional shares of Anaconda stock will not be sold under this privilege," says the announcement, "but rights for at least one full share of Anaconda stock must be presented at the time of subscription and payment. Consequently, rights to fractional shares must be combined, so as to make up at least a full share, in order to be available; and, except in the case of the European shareholders, fractional warrants must be converted into full warrants on or before June 2, 1915, and will be of no value whatever after that date."

The right to purchase Anaconda stock must be exercised by the Amalgamated company's stockholders on or before June 5 and by registered stockholders in Europe on or before June 15.

Shareholders of the Anaconda, at the annual meeting on May 19, will act on a proposal to change the par value of the shares from $25 to $50, without changing the total capitalization of the company. When this change is made the distribution of Anaconda stock of the new par value of $50 to Amalgamated shareholders will be at the ratio of one share for each share of Amalgamated. At yesterday's closing price on the Stock Exchange two shares of Anaconda were worth 70½, compared with 74⅛ for one share of Amalgamated.

Mr. Ryan states that the dissolution of the Amalgamated will be of benefit to the shareholders, as with the company holding only Anaconda stock and merely receiving and distributing the dividends therefrom, the double taxes will amount, on the basis of the average earnings for the last three years, to over $100,000 a year, which amount, in addition to the cost of organization, can be saved to the shareholders by liquidation.

CAPABLANCA ADDS ANOTHER VICTORY

Cuban Chess Expert Defeats Hodges in Thirteenth Round.

MARSHALL EASILY DEFEATS LASKER

But American Champion Has Slim Chance for Lead—Chajes Beats Michelsen.

José R. Capablanca, of Havana, added another to his long string of victories in the chessmasters' tournament by winning his scheduled game in the thirteenth round, contested at the New York Athletic Club, yesterday afternoon and evening.

It was the semi-final round and gave the Cuban a total of 11 points, which Marshall, who also won yesterday, cannot reach except he defeat Michelsen in the last round, while, at the same time, Capablanca loses to Kupchik. At the worst the Cuban will be able to share the first and second prizes, but the strong probability is that he will finish in the lead.

A. B. Hodges, of Staten Island, was Capablanca's opponent yesterday. The latter opened with the Ruy Lopez, and in the course of development obtained a weak queen's pawn. He abandoned this pawn, and in doing so was able to get a fair attack, at the end of which he had his pawn back. Capablanca, however, had much the superior position, although queens were exchanged. He won in thirty-one moves.

Marshall defeated Eduard Lasker, of Berlin, in a queen's pawn game after twenty-three moves. A lively game between Chajes and Michelsen, a two knights defence, resulted in favor of Chajes in thirty-one moves. A long game, with a difficult ending favorable to Bernstein, was played by him and Kupchik. It was adjourned after sixty moves.

It was decided yesterday to play the final round of the tournament at the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club on Sunday, play beginning at 2 p. m.

The scores to date follow:

Players.	Won.	Lost.	Players.	Won.	Lost.
Capablanca	12	1	Lasker	6	2
Marshall	11	2	Bernstein	5	3
Kupchik	7	2	Hodges	2	11
Chajes	9	2	Michelsen	2	11

ASK PERFECT NAVY, NOT A BETTER ONE

League Speakers Demand Real Fleet and Auxiliaries Able to Defend Nation.

"What we want is not a better navy, but a perfect navy. Our Congress does not seem to have the 'sand' to do it, so we of the Navy League must do it, and we can do it, by increasing our numbers and forcing the legislation that will accomplish our purpose."

So said Dr. Edward Breck, field secretary of the Navy League, in his address yesterday before the members of the Marine Section of the Navy League, at its luncheon at Kuchlin's, 76 Broad Street. He was one of the members introduced by Chairman C. B. Parsons.

Continuing Dr. Breck said: "Mr. Daniels tells us that we have a good enough navy. We don't want a navy that is only good in spots. We have no right to stop, for a moment, demanding ships. No fast cruisers have been laid down for ten years, and we ought to have the fastest of that class in the world. We also need torpedoes—plenty of them."

George Sidney Webster, secretary of the American Seamen's Friend Society, told of the care taken to preserve and protect the manhood of the sailors. Reginald Fay spoke of the splendid material for officers among the young men serving on board the State Nautical Schoolship Newport. He was a graduate from the St. Mary's.

"If the navy was as loyal to the merchant marine," said Alexander R. Smith, "as the merchant marine has always been to the navy, we should have more merchant ships flying the American flag, manned by American crews. Many an American would go into the forecastle to-day if he thought he had a chance to 'work his way aft,' which he cannot do when a ship is officered and manned by foreigners."

The Navy League stands for a fleet of forty-eight battleships, with necessary auxiliaries; for a counsel of national defence; for a general staff; for an improved and just personnel law; for a naval reserve of 50,000 men and for a strong merchant marine. An effort will be made to obtain at least 2,000 additional members in New York during the visit of the Atlantic fleet.

The officers elected for 1915 were: C. B. Parsons, chairman; John Dowd, Secretary, and John V. Barnes, treasurer. Navy League headquarters was opened yesterday in Room 116, Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. "Our Navy and What It Means" will be the subject of a lecture this afternoon in the Myrtle Room at the Waldorf-Astoria by Edward Breck, field secretary of the Navy League, and on May 14, through the courtesy of Rear Admiral Fletcher, U. S. N., the members of the league will visit the three battleships (flagships) Wyoming, New York and Utah.

Sing Sing Lures No. 61,510; Warden's Joke Made Good

No Three and a Half Year Stretch This Time, but Just Friendly Call on "Tom" and the Boys as Escort to Roast Pig.

There was unconscious irony in the message which Warden Thomas Mott Osborne sent over the wires to Convict No. 61,510 upon the latter's arrival in New York, fresh from his three and one-half years' term for highway robbery.

"I wish you luck," said the telegram. "Hope to see you soon."

Even these words, which might have been taken as a cynical quip, did not lessen the joy of No. 61,510, who has made himself a walking delegate of Sing Sing prison. He has already told in The Tribune how the humanitarian system of Warden Osborne had made a man of him and was making men of all the inmates of the prison.

Last night No. 61,510 walked jauntily down Lenox Avenue, meeting his friends and receiving their congratulations upon his return from up the river.

He smiled with others when he read the telegram from Warden Osborne. "It's all right, what it says," he told them.

"I can get the joke, all right, but I do intend to see the warden again. It will be a short visit, though, you bet. I am going back Saturday to see the warden and the boys. I'm going to take a roasted suckling pig with me for a treat to a true friend I made up there. He's a gang leader, who came from Harlem, and he's doing twenty years for second degree murder. Before he went up he was notorious for his badness. Now he is one of the best loved men in Sing Sing."

No matter what its lead, every conversation with No. 61,510 twists itself into praise of the humanitarian regime of Warden Osborne. No booster from a Western town could be more persistent or more certain of its advantages than No. 61,510 is of the benefits to himself, to the other prisoners, to the whole penal system and the best interests of the state which Warden Osborne is obtaining.

Certainly the appearance of No. 61,510 as he went about the city yesterday defied all the traditions of the released prisoner's return home. In a natty suit of latest cut, his cane and horseshoe diamond stickpin and threestone diamond ring conspicuous, with a secretarial friend, notebook in hand, accompanying him, he has paid more than a hundred visits to families and friends of prisoners still in Sing Sing. To these persons he has taken messages, and in the friend's notebook return messages have been inscribed. His tale of conditions up the river has been the same to all.

"Well, well, but it's good to get back," he would say, as his eyes rested covetously on every familiar feature of street and building and friend's face. "It's good to meet old pals again and see the glowing lights. There surely has been a change in the old town since I went away. Moving pictures, Sunday baseball and these so-called pink teas are mighty good in prison. Outside here I suppose it sounds almost like freedom. But you who haven't been there don't know what those little privileges and recreations mean to the boys. It isn't freedom; it's the making of new men. It's made a new man out of me—or else I wouldn't feel so great to be free to walk all over this great big old town. See, I can hold up my head and look any one in the eye. I went wrong, but I know my debt to society for the wrong is paid.

"I don't try to conceal that I'm one of Tom's boys. It would be foolish. Anyway, I'm not ashamed of it. I intend to go to work Monday. My employers know me for what I am. I couldn't go there and keep secret my stay in Sing Sing. The truth would come out and then it would hurt me. But by being upright and truthful about it from the start I have nothing to fear."

CLIENT LIKE RIPPER IS LAWYER'S PLEA

Counsel Asks to Have Man Charged with Arso.. Put in Insane Asylum.

Citing as an example the case of his client, Anthony Plump, who was brought before Judge Nott, in General Sessions, yesterday, charged with arson, Abraham Levy, counsel for the defendant, told the court that many men were roaming the streets of New York medically but not legally insane, and liable to suicidal and homicidal outbreaks.

"This man," continued Levy, referring to his client, "is of degenerate mind, of the same type as the lunatic that is now slaughtering children on the East Side."

Plump, continued Mr. Levy, had been sent to Matteawan after setting fire to a hayloft at 221 Cherry Street, into which he had crawled to die. He remained at Matteawan for six months, till a commission before Judge Crain pronounced him sane.

"Four hundred and fifty certificates from Matteawan and other institutions would not make me think him sane," he said. "He never could have become sane in six months; he was a lunatic then and is so now. It may be cunning on his part to try to regain his liberty, but his wife and children are in mortal terror and plead that he be returned to the asylum.

"He has declared that he wants to die. He is a menace to his family and the public, and has announced that he will kill somebody as soon as he goes free, in order that he may be brought to the electric chair."

The case was postponed till Tuesday, when a medical commission will probably be appointed to examine Plump, who is now in the Tombs. According to the police the man has tried to commit suicide three times.

WOODEN CARS MUST GO BY DECEMBER 1

P. S. C. Orders All Co posites Out of Subway, Without Any Conditions.

All the composite cars in the subway must be removed by December 1 and steel cars substituted. That was the unconditional order issued yesterday by the Public Service Commission to the Interborough company. The matter has been hanging fire since March, when the commission issued its first order relative to the removal of the old cars.

Yesterday the commission approved the plans submitted by the Interborough for 478 steel car bodies, which will take the place of the composites now in use in the subway. The type of the bodies is the same as that used in the latest steel cars purchased for the subway. Each car will be 51 feet 5 inches long, will have two end doors and one centre side door and will seat forty-four persons in rush hours and forty-six in the non-rush hours.

The Interborough sparred for time after the original order was issued by the commission in March. April 21 the railroad company wrote to the commission informing that body that it objected to the removal of the composite cars from the subway unless it was permitted to use them on the elevated lines. The commission refused to consider the objection, and its letter to the company yesterday was couched in the most emphatic language yet used in the "wooden car" controversy.

U. S. MAKES REPLY IN ODENWALD CASE

Answer to Germany Said To Be Confined to the Reports of San Juan Officials.

Washington, May 6.—The State Department has replied to the German Ambassador's complaint that the German steamer Odenwald was "attacked" when she attempted to leave San Juan, Porto Rico, without clearance papers.

The reply was not made public, but it is understood to be confined almost entirely to reports of the military and port authorities, telling how the Odenwald was warned not to leave port and when she did start out was brought to by two blank shots and finally a solid shot across her bow.

$273,000 Nassau St. Lease.

The Riker-Hegeman Drug Company has subleased one of the stores and part of the basement and sub-basement in the building to be erected on the site now occupied by "The Sun," at Nassau and Frankfort sts.

The store will occupy part of the Nassau st. side of the proposed building. The leasing company will pay an aggregate rental of $273,000 for twenty-one years, or a yearly rental of $13,000. The space is sub-leased from the Schultz Realty Company, which leased the ground floor and basement of the proposed building a few months ago for twenty-one years.
