ACCUSES DOCTOR OF HYPNOTIC KISS

Wife's Admissions in $50,000 Alienation Suit Stir Morristown Society.

Morristown, N. J., June 3. After her manner toward her husband had led him to sue Dr. George Stuart Willis, of this town, for the alienation of her affections, Mrs. George D. Wilder appeared upon the stand to-day and testified against the physician, who, she insisted, hypnotized her into doing his will.

Enough scandal to keep the gossips of Morristown chattering for a month was released in court to-day.

Mr. Wilder is suing the physician for $50,000, which, he says, he will turn over to the Red Cross should he recover. He alleges Dr. Willis poisoned his wife's mind against him and was for a time ever-intimate with her. He pictures the doctor as a person dangerous to all the women of Morristown and asserts it is his sacred duty to oust him from the community.

Other persons, well known in Morristown society, will probably be drawn into the limelight before the trial is over. During her testimony to-day, when asked if she were sane, Mrs. Wilder answered, "Ask Dr. Evans!"

Dr. Britton D. Evans is director of the New Jersey State Hospital and was Harry Thaw's chief alienist in his two trials for the murder of Stanford White.

Mrs. Wilder told to-day that Dr. Wilder kissed her once on leaving her house. She felt insulted and cried, she asserted, but he told her her husband probably was having an affair with some one else, and that half of Morristown was doing the same thing. Later, when he kissed her again, she did not protest. Neither did she tell her husband, she announced, because the physician told her not to, and she felt obliged to obey him.

The witness then related her story of the ensuing intimacy between her and Dr. Willis. She did not feel sorry for his wife, she said, because the doctor had told her that his spouse was "a nut."

Mr. Wilder testified to his wife's confession to him of her relations with the physician. He went to see Dr. Willis, who had been an intimate friend, he said, and forced him to confess. Later he permitted the doctor to continue calling at his house on condition that he did not see Mrs. Wilder alone. Mrs. Wilder would not consent to this, however, her husband testified.

An agreement signed by Dr. Willis was admitted as evidence. This read: "I will not say anything in a detrimental way about Mrs. George H. Wilder." Under cross-examination the witness said that he was not inspired by any desire for financial gain in bringing suit. "I knew every woman in town was the doctor's prey," he remarked.

The trial will be resumed to-morrow.

BEACHWOOD OPENS TO RECORD CROWD

Memorial Day Auto Parties Visit Lodge—Dancing at Clubhouse.

Beachwood, The Toms River, N. J., summer resort near Toms River, N. J., is open for the season. Indications yesterday were that from now until late in the fall a large number of property owners and visitors will make the attractive spot their rendezvous for week-ends and vacations.

The record-breaking crowd that attended the formal opening of the resort over Memorial Day was still being talked about last night. Every available room in The Lodge was occupied and the Toms River hotels were taxed to capacity by the overflow.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey stopped its first train at the Beachwood station last Friday. Hereafter trains leaving New York at 10 a. m. daily, except Sundays; 1 p. m. on Saturdays and 8:45 a. m. on Sundays only will stop at the new station. A representative of The Tribune will always be found there to serve the interests of lot owners.

Wide of expanse, the newly completed Beachwood Boulevard greeted the eyes of visitors last week when they alighted from the train. The highway, which leads from the railroad to the Atlantic City Boulevard and around the bay shore to the clubhouse, has been transformed into a hard surface road, flanked by red gravel walks.

The Beachwood bathhouses, the clubhouse and the Lodge were sources of delight to the visitors. The bathhouse accommodates a large number of bathers at one time and the rooms are exceptionally large and well equipped. Bathing suits have been provided, and when the season for surf dipping opens the latter part of this month, it is expected that members of the club will be eager to take advantage of this one delightful feature of the resort.

Dancing for the first time this season occurred at the Yacht Clubhouse Saturday night. It was the formal dedication of the building. Interest throughout the three-day holiday centred in the clubhouse. The building is constructed on a sloping bank, which gives a wonderful view of the water from the veranda. Oaks and pines shade the porches, which are decorated with hanging ferns and lots of comfortable chairs.

An open fireplace, situated at one end of the main room of the club building, is said to be capable of holding a cord of wood.

Back of the clubhouse, across the main roadway, is the Beachwood Club Cafe. The sides of the building can be removed on warm days and screens substituted. The kitchen is open to inspection and is said to represent the final word in hotel service. Meals at attractive prices, including some fish dinners for fifty cents a plate, were served last week and will continue to be featured throughout the summer months.

The Beachwood Lodge, built in Spanish mission style, made an attractive picture on the club grounds. Visitors were agreeably surprised at the accommodations, the charge for a room overnight being only seventy-five cents for a person.

The almost constant stream of automobiles that circled about the Beachwood roads on Sunday and Monday caused considerable comment among visitors. The condition of the roads from New York, as well as the scenic beauties along the way, make it an assured fact that many Beachwood lot owners will employ the automobile in commuting.
