BLUE RIBBONS FOR HOME BRED DOGS

Some Surprises at Opening of Ladies' Kennel Association Show.

BRITISH JUDGES DO WORK OUT OF DOORS

Ridgeway Chocolate Drop Captures Honors in Poms—Mrs. Morse Double Winner.

Western, Eastern and Canadian dogs met in rivalry at the opening of the Ladies' Kennel Association of America show yesterday at the Mineola Fair grounds. The exhibitors were the promoters of many kennels in many states; the appearance of fine new imported specimens, Pomeranians, Chows, English experts, judgments of the judges and excellent judgments of the judges and excellent judgments of the judges, Holland Bailey and L. C. Astley.

The start of the two-day fixture was an social attraction to society, and, aside from the fashionable set who exhibit dogs, the show committee, Miss Anna Sands and Miss Algy, Miss Anna Sands and Miss Algy, welcomed many of the prominent Long Island and Manhattan social leaders. There was no rain, although the sky was dull and gray, and the dogs made their placings in the open air. A bleak wind made heavy wraps necessary, but the sun shone brightly in the late afternoon and gave promise of fair weather to-day.

Judge Springs Surprises.

Pomeranians were judged by L. C. Astley, and in winners dogs he placed the Quintard entry, Ridgeway Chocolate Drop, its first appearance in this country. The placing of a solid colored dog over the orangies and sables was unusual in these days of fancy colors, but the judge explained that these coats are really shaded and in his mind not less "sound" as the chocolates or blacks. Reserve went to the short backed and profusely coated Sunbright of Flare, owned by Mrs. Barclay Warburton, also a first appearance and just before sailing, a big winner at the Kennel Club of England Pomeranian Club show. One of the beaten was Miss Miriam Kennedy's Glorious Apollo, a dog she is said to have paid $2,500 for in England, and also making an American debut. The bitches were not of such merit as the dogs, Miss Miriam Kennedy's black Forester's Delight of Delight taking winners, with W. Quintard's cream coated Ridgeway Butterscup, reserve. Astley said he was not greatly impressed by the quality of the Poms as a whole.

The death of Thomas P. Hunter caused the withdrawal of the Knockrade Kennels' entries from the collie classes. Sarsfield Chieftain, owned by Patrick Tully, president of the newly organized Collie Club, of New York, captured winners dogs.

Canadian Bull Terrier Wins.

A well balanced group of bull terriers and all strong in quality faced William Feversham, a prominent exhibitor in the breed some seasons back. There were no flaws picked in the placing, winners dogs being Glenrose Imperator, sent from Toronto by Frank McFarland, and the well known Ch. Noross Radiant won in winning bitches.

Successful in the "double event" of one in winners for both sexes were, among others, Harry T. Peters, of Islip, Dalmatians, with the champions Windholme's Roadster and Windholme's Market Rose, and Mrs. A. Hargreaves, in dachshunds, with Ch. Rimwald South Shore and Nonna of South Shore. Reserve to the latter was Mrs. C. H. Leister's Blacktoft Erika, one of her own breeding, that went through from puppies. Mrs. Tyler Morse also won both winners in Old English sheepdogs with Ch. Brentwood Here and Ch. Slumber.

Airedales to the Fore.

Western exhibitors made an impressive array in Airedales. Alex H. Stewart's homebred Young King Nobler taking the American-bred and limit and being second to the Hillcote Kennels's Ch. York Rybum Swell in the open and winners' dogs, beating out many noted British and A. K. C. champions for the two distinctions.

Donald Munro won in puppies with a promising Rochester homebred, owned by J. W. Wilson, named Kedak Prince. In winners bitches the Illinois entry, Briergate Bright Light, a wonderfully balanced one, repeated the verdict of the Chicago dog show and gained first place, with the Vickery Kennels's Ch. Vickery Rainbow reserve.

As at Gravesend on Monday, Mrs. Jan Heusen's Greenacre Kennels entries captured both winners' classes in Japanese spaniels, with Ch. Omija and Keedee. Mrs. L. E. Demler tripped and fell shortly before the judging in this breed, cutting her forehead quite badly against an iron support, but she quickly led her dogs in the different classes after the hurt had been treated, and her Jays won a fair share of the prizes.

Two long sequences of successes at recent shows were continued in the French bulldog classes, when Pourquoi Pas Rival won winners dogs and The Doll Girl winners bitches, respectively, a fifth and fourth successive victory. The Haworth Kennels' Haworth Mirville, a homebred, went with triumph from puppies to reserve winners in the latter sex. In the absence of Mrs. Mary Winthrop Turner, Thomas Grisso judged the French bulldogs.

E. T. Meade, the Boston terrier judge, did not wholly support the placings of C. N. Gray, of Danvers, Mass., at the Long Island Kennel Club's fixture on Monday. Clifton Star continued his unbeaten career since the downfall at the Westminster show, and gained his championship by taking winners dogs, and in bitches Meade picked Sparkling Jewel, a blocky and nicely marked one, with Heilborn's Queen reserve.

Among the beagles the New Jersey dog Somerset Watchman took winners and Raymond Belmont's Belray Cora that honor in bitches, but the feature was the progress of a beautifully turned out puppy, Wheatly Vagabond, to reserve winners over Belray Cromwell and other noted little hounds. A newcomer in Sealyhams, Effingham Lawrence, was prominent in the old Welsh breed, which is a new hobby in Yankeeland. His Temperance was reserve in winners dogs to Ch. Ivo Caradoc, and the Lawrence importation, Walpole Peeress, beat out W. Ross Proctor's Birkdale Bess in the premier class for the females.

Young blood marked the prominence of American kennels in Pekingese, as in the breeds previously mentioned. Winners dogs was Mrs. M. E. Harby's Ch. Chu Jen of Toddington and Mrs. A. L. Holland's Cairnwhin Tinto of Hydegree, with Mrs. A. McClue Halley's Gum Ci of Llenrud reserve. Both are red-coated specimens, the latter a homebred that went through for Mrs. Halley from the novice class and made a brilliant dog show debut.

DAVE ORR, HOME RUN HITTER, DEAD

Once Played with Brooklyn Team—Batted Over .300 Eight Years in Row.

Dave Orr, home run hitter, is dead. He covered first base for the Columbus team of the American Association in 1889, and later for the Brooklyn National League club. For eight consecutive years he hit above .300, and many of his drives were good for extra bases. He retired from the game before the pitchers had succeeded in subduing him.

When Ebbets Field was being built Orr was employed as a watchman. Later he became the gatekeeper of the press box at the Federal League Park. He died late on Wednesday night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Harry Britton, 1211 Suthoff Avenue, Richmond Hill. His death was due to heart disease.

The funeral will be held at Mrs. Britton's home this afternoon. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

BINGHAM MADE CATPAIN

Big Point Winner to Lead Harvard Trackmen.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Cambridge, Mass., June 3.—The members of the Harvard 'varsity track team to-day elected William J. Bingham, '16, of Methuen, Mass., captain. Bingham was captain of the freshman team two seasons ago and for two years has won many points for the 'varsity. He captured the 880-yard race against the Yale and Cornell runners in the dual games this spring, but owing to poor condition did not enter the intercollegiate championships.

Bingham is one of the most prominent of the Harvard undergraduates, having been president of his class, leader of the college glee club and a member of most of the important college clubs and of the student council. He prepared for Harvard at Phillips Exeter Academy.

WATT COLUMBIA BASEBALL CAPTAIN

Star Second Baseman First Senior to Lead Team in Seven Years.

Bobby Watt, nicknamed Bobby Swatt, was elected captain of the Columbia baseball team for 1916 yesterday. Watt is a member of the class of '16 and is the first senior to captain the baseball team since 1909, as every captain since then has either led the nine the year before or the year after his class was graduated.

Watt is the most consistent and best all around player Columbia has had since Eddie Collins was on Morningside Heights ten years ago. He played an errorless game in the field in every one of the nineteen games in which he took part this year and led the team at the bat with an average of .385.
