THE WEATHER REPORT

Forecasts and Records of the Last Twenty-four Hours.

Washington, July 20.—The area of high barometer from the Northwest has gradually extended its influence eastward and southward and has broken the warm wave in the Eastern and Southern states. The temperature is now below the normal in practically all districts east of the Rocky Mountains. Warm weather prevails in the Pacific states and over the western plateau region. There have been scattered showers within the last twenty-four hours over much of the country east of the Mississippi River and in the south Rocky Mountain region. The weather elsewhere remains fair. We expect cooler weather and probable showers in the south Atlantic states, and overcast weather, probably without showers, in the middle Atlantic states and southern New England, the weather to clear up Wednesday and Thursday over the eastern half of the country. Moderate temperatures will prevail during the next several days in the Eastern and Southern states.

Winds for the Western and Thursday: North Atlantic and middle Atlantic, light to moderate variable, mostly north; south Atlantic and east Gulf, light to moderate variable; west Gulf, moderate north to northeast; upper lakes and lower lakes, light to moderate variable.

Forecast for Special Localities.—Eastern New York, fair north, cloudy south. Wednesday; Thursday, fair; moderate temperature.

Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and southern New England, cloudy Wednesday, Thursday, fair; moderate temperature.

Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia, threatening Wednesday, Thursday, fair; moderate temperature.

West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, Western New York and northern New England, generally fair Wednesday and Thursday.

Local Official Record.—The following official record from the Weather Bureau shows the changes in the temperature for the last twenty-four hours, in comparison with the corresponding date of last year:

	1914	1915		1914	1915
