TOPICS OF DAY IN WALL STREET

United States Must Bear Part of the Foreign Exchange Burden.

Bankers said definitely yesterday that nothing had been arranged in connection with the British loan. The situation between Great Britain and this country had reduced itself to two plain propositions. American bankers must keep exchange rates from falling too far or British commercial purchases here would come to an end; as for purchases of munitions, they would be paid for in gold. If American bankers were unwilling to see any more gold brought into the United States they must give Great Britain a loan. The loan, it was said in some quarters yesterday, would not need to exceed $250,000,000, and the amount might easily be under that figure. It would not probably be a direct British loan, secured only by British credit, but it would have behind it American bonds and stocks—collateral whose worth was known to the people throughout the country, whose subscriptions would be sought.

Sales of "Americans."

If the loan is based upon American collateral, as has been suggested, it is probable that some of the securities which have been sent here in the course of the last month or so (with the gold that came through Canada) will be part of its foundation and that others will be added to them from time to time. Whether these securities are coming over with an option of sale at fixed prices is not generally known, but such is believed to be the case. There have been free offerings of many kinds of bonds over the counter lately, and in many cases the prices have shown a considerable reduction on the prices quoted on the Stock Exchange. It has, in fact, become risky to bid for some bonds, because they turn up with a disconcerting promptness that is all too suggestive of how much cheaper they might have been bought by waiting.

London Buys Sterling Here.

London buying of sterling bills in this market yesterday was taken to reflect a conviction abroad that the arrangement between the British and American bankers was as good as concluded. Demand rose to 4.68 in the final dealings and cables to 4.69. Exchange dealers here, however, said that some time must elapse before the plan to protect exchange could be consummated, and they were inclined to attribute the rapidity of the rise in rates to a comparative scarcity of cotton and other bills. Predictions were made that at the end of the month, when a great accumulation of cotton bills came to hand, there would be a sharp break in sterling. One of the reasons why the international negotiations are expected to occupy some time is the wide difference of opinion between British and American bankers as to what should be considered a proper rate on a British bond offering here. "The British bankers," ran one comment, "don't know yet that Great Britain is at war, and we do. So do the people we shall have to sell the bonds to."

Dollar Exchange Growing.

The plan of the Braden and Chile Copper companies to establish financial agencies in Valparaiso is expected to help greatly in the work of giving American dollar exchange a strong foundation in Chili. In the last two months, thanks to Leopold Frederick, who is a director in the Braden and treasurer of the Chile company, an excellent market has been created in Valparaiso for dollar bills. To an important degree they have supplanted sterling. To keep a firm footing for dollar exchange in Chili, so that after the war there will not be a reversion to sterling, many American houses doing business in that country are making their contracts payable in American dollars. German banks and commercial houses, which are important in Chili, have recently established numerous accounts in the United States and the large banks and trust companies in this city have, by every mail, been receiving for discount considerable amounts of ninety-day sight bills drawn in dollars.

May Not Assess M., K. & T.

There is a plan afoot to reorganize the Missouri, Kansas & Texas without an assessment on the stock. Hallgarten & Co. and J. & W. Seligman & Co. have sent experts out over the property, and if their report on its physical condition is favorable the bankers will underwrite the plan. It is contemplated, of course, to have a scaling down of the capitalization, but even at that the outlook for the security holders seems bright.

Bethlehem and Motors Spurt.

On its advance to new high ground, at 826, yesterday, Bethlehem Steel showed considerable activity. Needless to say, however, it is no longer a speculative favorite, for all its ability to put on 26 points in a day. It's not what it costs that speculators think about so much as what it is likely to cost. The same is true of General Motors, which ran blithely up to 265, a price it had never seen before. There are others likewise in the category of insomnia-producers, but they are less conspicuous.

Preparedness for Peace.

Preparedness for war in this country has gone only a short way; preparedness for peace almost less. France, though at war, has the foresight to send trade scouts into South America. Even Spain, a snail for commercial progress, has done the same. But in the United States the great battle ground for commerce in the future is almost unknown territory. The National City Bank and a few other pioneers have led the way, but the trail from this country has yet to be worn plain. And every day the war abroad continues the task of meeting European competition in South America after the war grows in difficulty, for the danger increases of that inflation here which the influx of gold makes almost inevitable. In certain industries, in fact, inflation has already begun. Not only does America's task in South America after the war grow more formidable, but Europe's need to compete there increases as well. All the belligerents, when peace comes, must stimulate production within their borders and consumption outside of them, if the work of rehabilitation is to proceed apace.

A Lost Chance.

In the bulletins that the National City Bank issues from time to time concerning matters of trade and industry in the Latin-American countries, there are many indications of opportunities that have yet to be grasped by North Americans. For instance: In the first seven months of 1913, Brazil imported 61,379,000 yards of cotton goods from the United Kingdom; in the corresponding period of 1914, it took from that source 25,139,000 yards, and in 1915, only 19,925,000 yards. In the single month of July, 1915, the United Kingdom, at war, sent Brazil 4,250,000 yards—ten times as much as the United States, at peace, sent there, not in one month or two, but in the whole twelve months of the 1914-1915 fiscal year.

TO BUILD ON PALISADES

Buyer of Tract Near Alpine Plans Dwelling House for Himself.

S. Osgood Pell & Co. have sold to a client for the Dike estate, through Payson McL. Merrill as agent, their property of fifteen acres on the Palisades near Alpine, N. J. The buyer will build a house there for himself.

The property has a large frontage on the cliff and the Hudson Boulevard. It is thickly wooded with a variety of trees and shrubs. It has an extensive view of the Hudson River and Long Island Sound.

PRODUCE AND GRAIN PRICES

Government Report Bearish, but Wheat and Corn Advance.

New York, September 9, 1915.

WHEAT.

The wheat trade has suddenly come to a realization that, while heavy short selling was going on on the evidences of record yields in America, the domestic cash demand was quietly absorbing the movement, and while theoretically the market is in a bearish position, actually there is comparatively little wheat available for immediate requirements, and cash premiums are being maintained, and even advanced.

The government report figures were considered bearish, especially the fact that the bureau had failed to revise its estimate on the winter wheat crop, and early in the day values for the late positions were lower under selling by commission houses. Offerings were very well absorbed, however, with several prominent operators on the buying side, and prices gradually hardened and closed firm, with net gains of ¼c to 1¼c.

James Patten, of Chicago, was quoted as saying that he is beginning to think there are two sides to the wheat market, as he believes the loss in winter wheat from excessive rains is larger than had been thought.

The export demand for American wheat is very poor, but there was some inquiry for Manitoba and it was thought that a moderate business had been done. In the local cash market No 2 red and No 2 hard wheat were quoted at $1.04½ c i f New York; No 1 Nor Duluth, 96½c, and No 1 Nor Manitoba, 91½c, c i f Buffalo.

CORN.

The corn market was firmer, in sympathy with wheat and on continued light stocks, closing at ½c to 1¼c net higher. The government report figures were considered bearish, but were offset by the comparatively small movement of old corn and firmness in the spot position. The Liverpool market was only about steady, owing to liberal offerings from Argentina, and estimates of shipments of 3,950,000 bushels from that country this week, compared with 3,120,000 last year. The local cash market was dull, with No 2 yellow corn quoted at 80½c, prompt shipment.

OATS.

The oats market felt the influence of the firmness in wheat and corn, and prices at the close of the day were net unchanged to ⅛c higher. There were rumors of export sales, although no actual business was confirmed. The local cash market was easy, old oats quoted at 50@55c, new No 3 white at 40c and new No 4 white at 39c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

Trading in the market for hog products was moderately active, but after showing a slight advance early in the day prices again eased off under selling pressure in the face of firmer hog markets and some indications of improvement in the city demand. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 14,000, estimated for Friday 13,000; Kansas City received 6,000 and Omaha 6,500. PORK—Steady; mess, $15.50@$16; family, $18@$22; short clear, 18½@$19.50. COFFEE.

An advance of ⅛d in Rio exchange on London, as well as a gain of 75 to 100 reis in the milreis price of coffee in the Rio and Santos market, had a stiffening influence on the local market, and the outlook for coffee market was 5 to 7 points higher. There appeared to be some fairly good buying orders in the market, and early in the day the undertone was very steady, with comparatively little coffee for sale. The demand proved rather smaller than expected, however, and when some selling pressure appeared in the form of hedging operations against some local interchange of spot coffee, values lost part of the gain, closing at 1 to 4 pts net higher. Total sales for the day were 75,000 bags. Latest Rio and Santos offers from Brazil were about unchanged, but some late advices were received indicating a firmer tone. Santos 2s and 3s in the cost and freight market were quoted at 9.20@9.60c, Rio 7s and 8s, 9@9½c, all English credits, while Rio 7s were offered at 8.55c, American credits. There was a little better local cash demand, and trading in the spot market was more active than during the recent dullness, while prices were steady, with Rio 7s quoted at 6¾c. Range of prices:

SUGAR FUTURES.

There was a better feeling in sugar futures today, and on the call prices were 3 points higher to 2 points lower, with first sales 250 tons. The market later improved on reports of expert business, and at midday trade buying sent prices 3 to 6 points net higher. Just before the close there was a little selling by Wall Street and the market closed unchanged to 4 points net higher, with sales for the day 3,450 tons. Range of prices:

COTTONSEED OIL.

The cottonseed oil market was again firm, with continued buying by Cotton Exchange interests and shorts, and prices at the close of the day were 11 to 14 points net higher. The better demand was thought to be based on somewhat less favorable crop prospects and evidences of a firmer technical position, although local commission houses said that the actual demand for oil was still small.
