Boxing Rulers Ponder On the Broadway Club

Weismantle's Home May Be Restored to Good Standing on Monday.

Whether or not the Broadway Sporting Club shall be restored to good standing by the State Athletic Commission will be decided at a meeting of the commission scheduled to take place in Albany on Monday morning. Weismantle's club, it will be remembered, fell under the ban of the supervisorial board because of the fact that two youngsters well below the age limit for boxers were permitted to exchange punches at one of the matinee performances of the club.

Weismantle asserts that he knew nothing of the alleged violations of the boxing laws, and has promised to install new officials in the club and dispense with the matinee boxing shows. Under these conditions he hopes to receive the commission's sanction to reopen the club, commencing next Tuesday evening.

Charlie Harvey, who has officiated at the American debut of almost every foreign boxer of prominence who has ventured this way in the last decade, has another champion in the person of Henri Tyncke, middleweight champion of Belgium, whose name was filed yesterday with the Athletic Commission, in accordance with a request filed regarding incoming mitt-swingers.

Tyncke, according to the veteran Harvey, is about the best man of his weight and inches in the world, and is particularly anxious to show his wares in competition with Mike Gibbons, Al McCoy or any other 158-pounder who imagines that he is entitled to the divisional crown. Should Tyncke survive a few preliminary bouts with middleweight trial horses Mr. Gibbons probably will be glad to oblige.

Danny McKetrick has no patience with this talk of Jack Britton, by virtue of his recent victory over Ted (Kid) Lewis, being welterweight champion of the world.

"What about Soldier Bartfield, the Albert Ba-American champion, and Albert Badoud, the genuine and unadulterated champion of Europe?" McKetrick plaintively inquires. "Bartfield has decisively defeated both Britton and Lewis, and is ready to repeat any time and any where.

"Badoud won his European title under the rules of the National Sporting Club of England and the French Federation. How can Britton be crowned world's champion until he has defeated the European title holder?"

Several good boxing bouts are on the card for to-night. At the Stadium A. C., which uses the Manhattan Opera House as an arena, Jimmy Duffy, of the West Side, will oppose Chick Simler, of Scranton, in the main event of a card which gives promise of much excitement. Joe Lynch and Bobby Uborn, two promising bantams, are booked to exchange buffets in the other ten-round engagement.

At the Pioneer Sporting Club another "welterweight champion," in the person of Fred Dyer, of Australia, will attempt to establish himself in the good graces of the New York disciples of swat by defeating Tommy Maloney, of Greenwich Village. Bill Brennan, who aspires to be a heavyweight headliner, will clash with Al Williams in another ten-round contest.

At the Clermont A. C. (Brooklyn) Al Ross meets Cowboy Charlie Shand in the main event, while Kid Henry, of Newark, will endeavor to best Johnny Murray, of South Brooklyn, in the semi-final.

YOUNG KELLY DROPS PRIDE OF THE BOWERY

The Bowery is receiving hard knocks these days. Following an unsuccessful attempt to have its name changed the old district received another hard knock last night. It happened at the New Polo Athletic Club, in Harlem, when Mike Shaw, the pride of the Bowery, met Young Kelly, of Newark, N. J. Mike went to sleep in the first of what was announced to be a ten-round star bout.

CHICAGO MATMEN LOSE AT NEWARK

Vorres Brothers Beaten by Wrestlers from New York Town.

By CAVIE.

The Vorres brothers, John and Spyros, of the Greek-Olympic Athletic Club, Chicago, both holding Central Association championships, were eliminated in the second round of the preliminary bouts for the national wrestling championships, held at the National Turn Verein, Newark, last night. Both succumbed to the prowess of Manhattan wrestlers at the end of the regulation ten-minute periods, after the most exciting meetings of the evening.

Spyros Vorres, who opposed Nick Chryssovergis, of the Greek-American Athletic Club, New York, made a brave fight to overcome a big advantage gained by the local wrestler during the last minute. For eight minutes Chryssovergis kept the Chicago man on the defensive, endeavoring to down him with a crotch hold.

Vorres finally gained the upper hand and, knowing that he would have to down his opponent to win, went at his work in earnest. During the last minute he had one of his rival's shoulders pinned to the mat and was slowly pressing the other down when the bell rang.

John Vorres was defeated by Charles Liljehult, representing the Bronx Church House and the Metropolitan Association title-holder in the 125-pound class. It was a rough and tumble affair, in which Liljehult received the honors by reason of his aggressiveness in the last few moments.

L. J. Servais, coxswain of the University of Pennsylvania 'varsity crew, made a bold fight before he was downed by Harry Juenge, of the National Turn Verein, with an arm and body hold in 8:25.

The summaries follow:

115-pound class—H. Juenge, National T. V., Newark, threw L. J. Servais, University of Pennsylvania, with arm and body hold; time, 8:25. W. Strobach, Elizabeth Y. M. C. Syracuse Nine Shut Out.

Lansing, Mich., May 5.—Michigan Agricultural College shut out Syracuse here to-day by a score of 3 to 0. Although Brown allowed the visitors ten bases on balls, his support in the field was perfect.

The Giant Refrain.

(As partially arranged by T. Hood.)

I remember—I remember—three years ago to-day
When we were rushing to the front along the winning way;
But now it gives us little joy—in fact, it makes us sour
To know we're getting further from the pennant every hour.

I remember—I remember—our rose-embowered fate
When Marquard in a happy vein was winning Nineteen Straight;
Alas—them were the happy days—alas and then alack—
For now the other seven clubs are roosting on our back.

Where They Go.

"What becomes of the oldtime ball players who drop out of the big leagues?" inquires an esteemed non-combatant.

Well, Mike Donlin is in charge of a strong summer baseball colony at a popular resort. Artie Hofman has a semi-pro team in Chicago. Art Devlin is managing in the Pennsylvania league. Dusty Rhoades is in charge of a moving picture emporium in Kansas. Bill Bernhard is umpiring in the minors. The athlete may earn fabulous salaries, as reported, but we haven't heard of any one yet living on his income.

The Two Kings.

One season to Walter Johnson and Grover Alexander is about the same as another. Both have gotten away to a sprinting start this year and we see no one in sight to wrest the laurels from either in either circuit. Bix Alex is still king of the National moundsmen. Johnston is still the pitching emperor in the American. Alexander was the only National League pitcher to win thirty games last season. He should lead his league again, with a lot to spare. Johnson won twenty-seven games last season, and you can already write him in for thirty this campaign.

Alexander is twenty-nine, and Johnson is only twenty-eight—what should be their prime. Matty had seven big years after he passed twenty-eight, while Cy Young, at twenty-eight, still had sixteen years to serve under the Big Top.

The Value of Matty.

No one knows better than McGraw the value of such men as Johnson and Alexander. In the thirteen years that John J. has run the Giants Matty has won 335 games for him—an average of about twenty-six games a season, including last year's bad slump.

The service of a pitcher who could win twenty-six games a season for thirteen seasons, not counting all the relief work of saved battles, is beyond estimate, for the moral and spiritual aid thus rendered is of great value.

Sportive Types.

There is a guy in our club—
I know him very well—
A perfect marvel who can flub
A shot and not say h—l.

"What is your idea of a Miracle Man?" queries Reggy. "Mine is a manager who can win a pennant without being called a Miracle Man."

"How to prevent slicing," is the title of an attractive article that comes to hand. Another sure way is to develop a decided hook or pull.

About the only A. L. Club not picked to win the pennant, barring the Mackmen, was Washington. Whereupon Washington promptly rushed to the front, such being the ways of the Grandoldedope.

"Why not," writes old Charley Hohmans, "have the Yanks sign Pick of the Athletics? Think of what a stirring double play one could record from Pick to Peck to Pipp!"

Ram a Midiron Down His Throat.

Sir—What would you do or say in a case like this: My opponent topped his drive into a brook; one stroke; he had to lift out; two strokes; he topped his next into a bunker; three strokes; he barely got out on his next; four strokes; attempting to pitch a mashie shot to the green, he topped that and holed out; five strokes, and the par of the hole is 4? NEAR-DUFFER.

But what should our opponent have done in this case? A few days ago our drive caught a bunker; playing out, we caught the ball clean, by mistake, instead of taking sand, and carried into another bunker 180 yards away; the same result happened on the next shot, and the ball dropped within ten feet of the cup on a 450-yard hole. We got a 4 where the par was 5 without touching the fairway or hitting a correct shot, barring the one putt.

The luckiest one shot we ever heard of was the one Al McCoy landed on Chip's jawbone. It made Al champion for over a year when every one in his class had him beaten all seven ways.

Hal Chase was another athlete whose career was ended. According to the pitchers who have faced him this season, he is all through, just as Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker are.

"Fielder Jones can't drive the Browns as he did the White Sox of 1908." Not forgetting that in 1908 a pitcher by the name of Ed Walsh worked in over sixty games for Mr. Jones.

YALE TOO MUCH FOR GEORGETOWN

Garfield Pitches Strongly, Allowing Southerners Only Five Hits.

New Haven, Conn., May 5.—In a cleanly played game, marked by fielding of high calibre, Georgetown went down to defeat at the hands of Yale to-day. The score was 4 to 1.

Garfield pitched strongly for Yale, allowing only five hits and keeping them well scattered in every inning except the fourth. Cantwell, for the visitors, also pitched a good game, but two hit batsmen and bunched hits were directly responsible for his downfall.

Georgetown made a strong bid for a score in the first inning. With two out, McCarthy drove a long fly over Earley's head in deep left, netting three bases. Gilroy hit one of Garfield's drops squarely, with all the earmarks of a safety. Holden, however, running at full speed, caught the ball at his shoe tops, and the inning was over for Georgetown.

In its half of the first Yale took an early lead. Johnson's single, followed by Snell's sacrifice and a long hit by Shepley, gave the home team its first tally.

The Blue scored two more in the third inning. Munson was hit by one of Cantwell's fast ones and took second when Bush singled over shortstop. Holden advanced the runners on his out to Sullivan, unassisted. Shaffer, who played his first game for Yale on Wednesday, put the game on ice with a long double over McCarthy, scoring Munson and Bush.

Yale's final run was made in the sixth, when Earley, after being hit by a pitched ball, was advanced to third by two infield taps and scored on Snell's single to right.

VIRGINIA NINE BEATS WILLIAMS

Williamstown, Mass., May 5.—Virginia defeated Williams by a score of 12 to 6 in the first home game of the Purple's season on Western Field this afternoon. Virginia started scoring in the first inning and held a comfortable lead throughout, although Williams rallied desperately in the last two frames, getting four runs in the eighth and two in the ninth.

The visitors hit all three of the home team's pitchers freely.

MAROON TENNIS TEAM WINS FROM VERMONT

The Fordham tennis team triumphed over the University of Vermont on the Fordham courts yesterday afternoon by a score of 5 to 0. The locals made a clean sweep of the matches, capturing the three singles and both doubles events.

Play was started early in the afternoon to allow the visitors to catch a train, and Elliott Binzen, the Fordham star, who was to have played in the singles and doubles, was unable to get out on the courts because of class.

The visitors won but one set during the afternoon. The Bronxmen have not been defeated so far this year.

Singles—Taylor, Fordham, defeated Taggert, Vermont, 6—4, 2—6, 6—2; Doelin, Fordham, defeated Burrall, Vermont, 6—4, 10—8; Kerney, Fordham, defeated Ellis, Vermont, 6—1, 6—3.

Doubles—Taylor and Doelin, Fordham, defeated Taggert and Burrall, Vermont, 6—4, 6—2; Kerney and Mclaughlin, Fordham, defeated Grisner and Ellis, Vermont, 9—7, 6—3.

TIGER TENNIS TEAM WINS FROM WILLIAMS

Princeton, N. J., May 5.—Princeton defeated the Williams tennis team by taking every match but one this afternoon. The play was considerably slowed down by the wet courts, which prevented any fast tennis. Maynard and Rockwood, of Williams, beat Captain Coffey and Beekman in the fastest match of the afternoon, 0—6, 6—4, 7—5.

Singles—Beekman, Princeton, defeated Maynard, Williams, 6—0, 6—3; Coffey, Princeton, defeated Rockwood, Williams, 6—4, 6—4; Knox, of Princeton, defeated Cook, Williams, 6—0, 6—1; Riker, Princeton, defeated White, Williams, 6—2, 6—3.

Doubles—Maynard and Rockwood, Williams, defeated Beekman and Coffey, Princeton, 0—6, 6—4, 7—5; Knox and Riker, Princeton, defeated Cook and White, Williams, 6—0, 6—0.

A TENNIS TREAT ON WEST SIDE COURTS TO-DAY

Agutter and McNeal Will Match Skill for Sweet Charity's Sake.

Two innovations in American tennis will be seen at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, this afternoon. Tennis exhibitions will be given for charity, the American Red Cross, and the other iconoclastic urge will be the mighty combat to be waged between two of the best tennis professionals in the country, George Agutter and Harry McNeal.

The best fight we ever saw was between a couple o' newsies. Each carried the most determined expression imaginable, each packed a wallop and each felt that his professional reputation was at stake. Such, we venture, will be the state of affairs when Agutter and McNeal meet.

The first match will be a mixed doubles, the popular form of match at the seaside. Mrs. Frederick Schmitz, ex-national indoor champion, will team with Watson M. Washburn, who never gets excited. The pair will oppose Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the Christiana crysanthemum, and Alrick H. Man, the old Yale star. This match will start at 2 o'clock.

An hour later Agutter and McNeal will have it out for the glory of the West Side and the Rockaway Hunting clubs, respectively. At 4 o'clock the internationalists Karl H. Behr and Frederick B. Alexander meet the Princeton long and short pair, George M. Church and Dean Mathey.

The admission fee is $1. Tickets are on sale at the Spalding stores and at the gate at Forest Hills.

"Only a scrap of paper" figured largely in the recent tournament of the Masterton Lawn Tennis Club, of New Zealand, which fixture the late Anthony F. Wilding won in 1909. Celebrating its twenty-first year, the club held a tournament which had several distinctive features. Chief among these was the substitution of certificates for prizes. The text was printed in purple and gold. It read:

"Only 'A Scrap of Paper, But Honor It.' This is to certify that —— was the —— in the —— of 1916, at the twenty-first annual Wairapara Open Championship Meeting and Handicap Tournament, held under the auspices of the Masterton Lawn Tennis Club. The meeting being a patriotic lawn tennis tournament, in aid of the Wairapara Wounded Soldiers' Fund, the whole of the profits were donated to that good cause, and this scrap of paper was issued and accepted in lieu of a trophy."

A tribute to Wilding's memory came when £526 was bid for his enlarged photograph, the money to go to the fund.

Columbia's annual interscholastic tennis tournament will start to-day on the South and East Field courts. The tournament will in all probability go to the semi-finals at least, with a possibility of its being completely finished.

CHEVY CHASE TENNIS WON BY THROCKMORTON

Washington, May 5.—H. A. Throckmorton, national interscholastic champion, won from H. C. Breck, of this city, to-day in the final round of the men's singles of the Chevy Chase Club tennis tourney, 6—2, 6—3. This carried the title, as C. B. Doyle, the playing-through champion, was beaten in the semi-finals by Throckmorton.

Miss Marguerite Taylor and Miss Adele Bull, of New York, won the women's doubles honors, defeating Miss Florence Ballin, of New York, and Miss Boyd, of Richmond, in the finals, 7—5, 4—6, 6—3.

In the finals of the women's singles Miss Greeley, of this city, defeated Miss Taylor, of New York, 6—4, 6—3. Miss Greeley meets Miss Eva Baker, of this city, for the championship to-morrow.

Westney a Big Surprise On Atlantic City Links

Defeats T. B. Wootton, Who Figured as a Likely Winner of Tourney.

VICTORY DUE TO STEADINESS

Schuyler Van Vechten Sole Representative from New York to Survive Test.

By FRED HAWTHORNE.

Atlantic City, May 5.—Thomas B. Wootton, of the Country Club, who defeated T. W. Case, the strong player from Owasco, in the morning round to-day, and was therefore figured as a likely winner of the annual spring golf tournament of the Country Club of Atlantic City, was himself forced back to the beaten division in the afternoon, when he succumbed to the unfailing steadiness of A. W. Westney, a club mate, the match finishing on the home green with Westney a winner by 1 up.

Schuyler Van Vechten, better known as a hockey player of quality than as a tournament golfer, is the sole representative of the metropolitan district remaining in the fight for the president's cup.

Van Vechten, who hails from Baltusrol, won two matches by comfortable margins, and advanced to the semi-finals. To-morrow morning he will play E. C. Clarey, of Woodbury, for a place in the final bracket. In the lower half Westney and Floyd H. McCall, of this city, will fight to determine the right to occupy the other bracket.

The cards in the two second round matches mentioned are as follows:

Westney, out	4	5	5	2	6	4	7	4	4	—41
Wootton, out	4	4	6	3	7	4	5	3	5	—41
Westney, in	4	5	5	4	5	4	4	5	5	—41	—82

Far and Straight.

In his morning match with Case Wootton drove far and straight from almost every tee. When he did foozle with the wood on the drive he almost invariably made up for his sins by getting off low, space-eating brassies, even when going against the wind. Case in the latter stages of the match developed a wild streak with the wood and was topping his tee shots constantly. In spite of this, the two played evenly throughout the entire journey.

By the time they had set foot upon the ninth tee Case, who had been laying up his short approaches with uncanny accuracy, held a lead of 4 up.

Things looked dark for the Atlantic City favorite, but right there Wootton proved his fighting strain and proceeded to cut down his opponent's lead by flashes of brilliancy. At the tenth, a 210-yard stretch, he drove to within eight feet of the pin and then sank his ball for a 2, Case being content with a par 3.

From then on Wootton slowly cut down Case's advantage, the Owasco man taking extra putts on the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth. By getting a par 3 on this last hole Wootton forged into the lead by 1 up. The seventeenth was halved in 5s, after Case had got around a difficult stymie, and on the long home hole the local player stopped the agony by getting a par 4 to Case's 5, winning by 2 up.

The news of Wootton's victory was hailed with delight at the clubhouse.

Westney Springs Surprise.

"It looks made to order for Tommy, now, there's nobody left to beat him," was the general comment, for nobody imagined that Westney would turn the trick of upsetting Wootton. The two have played hundreds of rounds here on the links, Wootton almost invariably having the better of the exchanges, but this very fact contributed largely to the latter's defeat, for he never could settle down to work against Westney until it was too late.

Going to the fourth, Westney became 1 up by gobbling the 120-yard mashie pitch to the green in a sizzling 2, one below par. His tee shot left the ball only two feet from the pin. On the 585-yard fifth hole Wootton got into trouble when he sliced his drive to the road on the right. Two more shots were necessary before he was out of trouble again, while Westney, keeping straight, scored a 6 to Wootton's 7, and was 2 up.

Tommy cut this down by taking the seventh and eighth in 5 and 3, but Westney finished 1 up on the outward journey by recording a par 4 on the ninth. On the tenth, after sending his tee shot over the green, Wootton got his 3, and the match was once more all square. The next hole also was his in another par 3, and he stood 1 up.

Thereafter, for a time, Wootton regained control of his driver and sent the ball tearing down the fairways for well over 240 yards; but, having mastered the wood, he began to find trouble with his irons, and became a victim of the aggravating habit of looking up in trying to play short approach shots.

Deadly Putting.

Westney, in the mean time, was wasting few strokes, and although Wootton held an advantage of from ten to fifty yards off the tee, his opponent was more than atoning for this by the deadliness with which he putted and used his jigger.

Sixes on the twelfth and fourteenth lost Wootten his lead, and the best he could do was to hold Westney even on the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth. Standing on the last tee, Westney stood dormie one, and a five on the home hole gave him the match by two up.

Van Vechten, in winning from Scammell, probably showed the best golf of the day. Out in 41, he came home at a fast clip, taking 39 for the inward journey. The quality of his work may be better understood when it is said that Scammell laid him less than four difficult stymies. On each of these Van Vechten was forced to take an extra stroke.

He outplayed Scammell in all departments of the game, but particularly with his wooden clubs and in running up his approach shots. The match ended on the fifteenth green, with each man registering a par 4. On the last three holes, which were played out in spite of the match having already been chalked up for Van Vechten, the Baltusrol man reeled off three 4s, two strokes under par.

The semi-finals will be played tomorrow morning and the finals in the afternoon in all divisions. An eighteen-hole medal play handicap also will be played, with all except the finalists contending for the prizes.
