THE WEATHER REPORT

Official Records and Forecasts for Next Twenty-four Hours

Washington, Nov. 18.—Pressure is low along the Northern border and relatively high in Southern and Western districts. This pressure distribution has resulted in generally fair weather, except in New York and New England, where there were local snows, and in the north Pacific states, where there were rains.

Temperatures have risen generally west of the Mississippi, except on the Pacific Coast, and readings are now above the seasonal average over the plains states and the Northwest. There are no indications at the present of any unseasonably cool weather in any section of the United States.

The indications are that the weather will be fair, with temperatures near the seasonal average, Sunday and Monday in the states east of the Mississippi River.

Winds for Sunday and Monday.—North Atlantic: fresh and strong west and fair weather; middle Atlantic, fresh and probably strong southwest and west, fair weather; south Atlantic, moderate northwest and generally fair weather; east and west Gulf, gentle variable and fair weather; upper and lower lakes, fresh and probably strong westerly winds and fair weather.

Forecasts for Special Localities.—Eastern New York, Southern New England, the District of Columbia, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Western New York and Upper and Lower Michigan—Fair to-day and to-morrow; not much change in temperature.

Northern New England—Partly cloudy to-day; to-morrow, fair, not much change in temperature.

Local Official Record.—The following official record from the Weather Bureau shows the changes in the temperature for the last twenty-four hours in comparison with the corresponding date of last year:

	1915.	1916.		1915.	1916.
3 a. m.	32	40	6 p. m.	44	43
6 a. m.	31	39	9 p. m.	43	39

ORPHANS TO GO TO FARMS

Jews Provide for Cottages on Outskirts of City for East Siders

Scores of orphaned East Side children are to be removed from the congested districts to farms on the outskirts of the city, according to arrangements made yesterday at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Institution of the Hebrew National Orphan House, at 57 Seventh Street. These arrangements provide for the introduction of the cottage system.

Leo Lerner, president of the institution, announced that he had received several gifts of $1,000 each. Among those who have contributed are Mr. and Mrs. Morris Berman, Max Blanck, I. Harris, M. Rosen, Max Mandel and Max Tischler. Each cottage will cost about $15,000.

RESORTS

Outdoor Sports
You can plan no more delightful outing than a visit to the Laurel House at Lakewood.
Polo, golf, tennis, trap-shooting, motoring and riding are some of the open-air amusements. On Thanksgiving Day there will be a special handicap clay-bird shoot at the Laurel House Gun Club.
Many make the hotel their permanent winter home just because it is so convenient. This season many improvements add to its comfort and attraction.
