Tortured On A Horse.

"For ten years I couldn't ride a horse without being in torture from piles," writes L. S. Napier, of Rutgers, Ky., "when all doctors and other remedies failed. Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me." Infallible for Piles, Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Boils, Fever-sores, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Corns. 25c. Guaranteed by all Druggists.

To Match His Coat.

Robert Walton Goulet, at a meeting of the Astor Trust company's directors, in New York, said of a certain broker:

"The man's nerve is amazing. It shocks me. It reminds me of a money lender to whom a friend of mine, a great rider to hounds, once resorted.

"Yes," said the money lender to my embarrassed friend, "I will renew your note, but only on one condition, sir—namely, that during the next paper chase at Lenox you scatter from your bag these 5,000 pink slips bearing my name and the words, 'Money advanced on easy terms.' Is it a go, sir?"

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century, discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

The regular fifty cent and one dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder. It cures painful, swollen smarting, nervous feet and instantly takes the sting out of corns and bunions and makes walking easy. Try it to-day. Sold every where. Sample FREE. Address, Allen S. Olin step, LeRoy, N. Y.

Things look very much like 1908 is going to be one of those fine crop years that we read about. Diversify so that you will have the cinch on some money and a good living at the same time.

A system of bank deposits is a mighty good thing if it is worked out right, but the farmer who cannot make more by using his money in improving his place than he can by putting it into a bank is a mighty poor sort of material to make a model farmer of. Keep your money at work.

The way to make a man stay in a place is to make the place agreeable. A man is only a large boy, and the farm is a good place when it is run that way. Herein lies the secret of keeping the boys on the farm.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 10,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. To-day the danger is shown by V. W. Brown of Alexander, Mo., is largely from deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe and troublesome and stubborn cough." To cure Sore Throats, Colds, obstinate Coughs, and prevent pneumonia, it is the best medicine on earth. 70c and $1.00. Guaranteed by all Druggists. Trial bottle free.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife, would it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is all pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which the "Favorite Prescription" is recommended. A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

Are Men Neater Than Women?

The proprietor of a city laundry claims that men are neater than women.

"The average man's laundry bill," he said the other day, "is a prodigious, reckless, extravagant thing beside the average woman's. Take collars—to go no deeper. A man will never wear a collar more than one day, and sometimes, if he is going out, he puts on a fresh collar in the evening. But a woman studies her collar very carefully before she throws it in the wash. She watches it turn, from day to day, first dull, then livid, then—but let us avoid details. I will just say, in one word, that a woman's collar must be dirty, positively and unmistakably dirty, before she gives it up.

"Ex pede Herculeum," said the learned laundryman. "From her collar the woman in her entirety may be judged. I claim, and I have statistics to back me up, that woman, with all her vanity and fancy airs, is not nearly so neat an animal as man."

HAVE MANY NARROW ESCAPES.

Vet Cowboys Are Rarely Killed or Injured in Accidents.

Now, after the day's work was practically over, we had our first accident, says a writer in Outing Magazine. The horse ridden by a young fellow from Dos Cabezas slipped, fell and rolled quite over his rider. At once the animal lunged to his feet, only to be immediately seized by the nearest rider. But the Dos Cabezas man lay still, his arms and legs spread abroad, his head doubled sideways in a horribly suggestive manner. We hopped off. Two men straightened him out, while two more looked carefully over the indications on the ground.

"All right," sang out one of these. "The horn didn't catch him."

He pointed to the indentation left by the pommel. Indeed, five minutes brought the man to his senses. He complained of a very twisted back. Homer sent one of the men in after the bed-wagon, by means of which the sufferer was shortly transported to camp. By the end of the week he was again in the saddle. How men escape from this common accident with injuries so slight has always puzzled me. The horse rolls completely over his rider, and yet it seems to be the rarest thing in the world for the latter to be either killed or permanently injured.

HERE'S IDEAL MODEL CITIZEN.

The Coming Man as Seen by Admirers of Socialism.

To describe an ideal modern citizen now is at best to make a guess and a suggestion as to what must be built in reality by the efforts of a thousand minds. But he will be a very different creature from that indifferent, well-behaved business man who passes for a good citizen to-day. He will be neither under the slave tradition nor a rebel, nor a vehement elemental man. Essentially he will be aristocratic; aristocratic not in the sense that he has slaves or class inferiors, because probably he will have nothing of the sort, but aristocratic in the sense that he will feel that the state belongs to him and he to the state. He will probably be a public servant; at any rate he will be a man doing some work in the complicated machinery of the modern community for a salary and not for speculative gain. Typically he will be a professional man. I do not think the ideal modern citizen can be a person living chiefly by buying for as little as he can get and selling for as much as he can get; indeed, most of what we idolize as business enterprise, I think he will regard with very considerable contempt. But then I am a Socialist and look forward to the time when the economic machinery of the community will not be a field for private enrichment but for public service.—Everybody's Magazine.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. And unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; in case out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

A Lithuanian Funeral.

On Sunday morning a strange funeral cortege passed through the Mission streets. The hearse was followed by a procession of women walking in the middle of the street. They wore dark skirts trimmed with bands of lace, embroidery, or colored strips, and all wore aprons, some of black silk or cloth, but more of sheer white embroidered corners, and fringed shawls were over their shoulders. It was not a uniform, but more in the nature of holiday attire such as one sees in Italy and France on carnival occasions or fete days. The men in the procession wore conventional dress, but their bearded faces were not American. Inquiring as to the nationality of these odd figures who made such a strange picture in San Francisco, I found they were Lithuanians, and that there is a large colony of them here, mostly employed at a laundry over toward the Potrero.—San Francisco Call.

Driving a Good Bargain.

The barber's small son was in the habit of playing around his father's shop, and he was always keenly interested in the patrons. Many a stray penny found its way into the little chubby hand, and sticks of gum were dropped in quite as though by accident. Judge Williams drifted into the shop the other afternoon for a hair cut. The lad recognized the fact that the judge was a new patron, and so was more than ordinarily interested in him. He hung at the foot of the chair and looked musingly at the judge's bald head. Then he walked slowly to the back of the chair and surveyed the scanty fringe of hair from that point of vantage. He could contain himself no longer and burst out indignantly: "Father, do you get a quarter for cutting that?"—Lippincott's.

Keep Kettles Dry.

NOT GIVEN TO THE WORLD.

Senator's Mischief Making Confined to His Own Knowledge.

A senator who went to Washington recently was met by a friend, who cordially greeted him, and knowing his predilection for quiet sport, said: "Well, I hope you have been keeping out of mischief."

"That reminds me of a story," was the response. "Out in my state there was a member of the legislature who never had been known to make a speech. He was a farmer and had been elected against his will. In company with me, he attended a cross-roads meeting and the crowd yelled that they wanted to hear from him. He shuffled to the front of the platform, threw back his coat, and rested his hand on his hip.

"I want you people to know at the outset," he declared, "that I am a good man."

"There was a storm of laughter at what was believed to be a humorous sally. The old man, however, was in dead earnest in his protestation of purity. The laughter of the crowd angered him.

"And I want you to know, moreover," he shouted, "that I am a d—bad man, and I've got guns here to prove it. But, I know you are a bunch of coyotes and I'll keep my guns in my pocket."

"So," the senator concluded, "I am a good man and I am a bad man. But I'll keep my evil ways to myself."

NOW IS THE TIME TO ORGANIZE.

Campaign Clubs a Necessity for Victory in Coming Election.

Mr. Bryan in the Commencement address advised Democrats to organize, and thinks the formation of campaign clubs will accomplish the purpose. There is a great need for thorough organization, for the constant defeat of the party in the northern states has seriously checked the party organization. In some states there is nothing but a skeleton in place of an active body of voters working and acting together. Mr. Bryan is, therefore, more than ever with his plan, although it is doubtful if the formation of campaign clubs will fill the void, or that enough responsible Democratic voters can be induced at this time to undertake the work and expense of keeping such clubs alive up to the time when the active campaign begins next September. The much safer and better plan would seem to be to urge the state committees, and through them the county and township committees, to weed out and fill up the non-party organization that already exists in some states. Political organizations, like an army, must have both officers and men, and to have much effect when the real campaign begins the county and town committees must know the precinct leaders who can rely upon to do the work that a real political campaign calls for. It costs money and a great deal of work to properly organize "to go out and get a fair vote" for that it is the ultimate end to be attained. There is a vast difference between organizing to elect a ticket and organizing to nominate some particular candidate. If, for instance, many of the Democrats in the United States had a club organization, with the purpose of nominating Gov. Johnson of Minnesota as the Democratic candidate for president, and when the national convention meets Mr. Bryan is nominated, what help would such a club organization be to the party? In that case the Johnson clubs would be a natural political club. On the other hand party organization knows no candidate until the official nominations are made, and then undertakes to elect them. In theory all members of this Democratic party will work and vote for the party nominee and especially those who have been selected as officials of the party organization. Practically, however, there are often members of the committees who are lukewarm, because their particular choice is not nominated for some office. A minority party always suffers from such a cause, unless the party organization is strong enough to punish those who desert in the face of the enemy, or who are discovered giving aid and comfort to the opposition. Party organization has two ends: To perpetuate the principles of the party and to elect those to office who will enact those principles into law, or will carry out those principles through the executive powers to which they may be elected. Individual voters can do but little, but united with others they can do much. The Democratic state committees should at once complete their organization and not wait until the state conventions elect a new committee, but prepare the ground for their successors. The time is all too short, after nominations are made, to perfect a thorough organization. Now is the time for county chairmen to investigate the condition in the voting precincts, and if the precinct chairman is lacking in energy, to set some other to work. Mr. Bryan is right in his call for organization, but a beginning must be made with the regular party machinery and leave the organization of clubs until the nominations are made.

Loss of Fertility by Leaching.

Land kept constantly as a garden loses much of its fertility by leaching. A clover rotation is the best preventive of this. There should be at least two or three garden spots on each farm kept rich enough so that one year's extra manuring will bring it into the finest possible condition for garden truck. If farmers could always plant gardens on two-year clover sod they would raise better crops and with less stable manure and other fertilizers than they now require. The clover does much more than furnish green manure to ferment in the soil. Its roots reach down into the subsoil, thus not only saving and bringing to the surface plant food that would otherwise be wasted, but also by enlivening the subsoil, allowing the roots of crops to go deeper. Clover sod to begin with, if well enriched, is best for such crops as cucumbers and melons, that are always most liable to suffer from drought. It is quite impossible to make a good garden crop, unless the land has previously been enriched by a series of heavy manurings. The fertility lost by leaching must be constantly renewed.

70 Bales on 60 Acres

IS WHAT WADE DRAKE RAISED LAST YEAR.

Editor Daily Mail:

Dear Sir—The following correspondence will explain itself. Kindly publish it and very much oblige us.

Yours truly,
Anderson Phos. & Oil Co.,

Mr. J. Wade Drake, Anderson, S. C.

Dear Sir—We have heard that by a liberal use of fertilizer, principally in side dressing, you made 70 bales of cotton on sixty acres of land last year. We will appreciate if you will give us your method of preparation, fertilization and cultivation which resulted in this crop. We wish to give the public the benefit of your experience as we think it will be an inducement to farmers to side dress their crops.

Thanking you in advance for the favor of an early reply, we are,
Yours truly,
Anderson Phos. & Oil Co.,

Anderson Phosphate & Oil Co., Anderson, S. C.

Gentlemen—Answering your favor of the 7th will say that after preparing the land with that two hundred pounds of fertilizer to the acre before planting. At the second plowing I applied four hundred and fifty pounds more of fertilizer to the acre and when the cotton blooms appeared I applied seventy pounds of nitrate of soda to the acre. I did this on sixty acres of land which I planted in cotton and on the sixty acres I gathered sixty-eight eight bales of cotton, averaging 511 pounds to the bale. And then, when I thought I had gathered a crop after Christmas, I picked enough cotton to make 72 pounds of lint cotton so it will be seen that altogether I made more than seventy 500-pound bales of cotton on the sixty acres. I cultivated this cotton as I usually cultivate my cotton except that it was fertilized better than usual. A good part of this fertilizer was Anderson Phosphate and Oil company fertilizer, the balance was other standard brands. I was never able to see any difference in the cotton fertilized by Anderson profits and the other goods.

Yours truly,
J. Wade Drake.

Statue of Marble or Bronze?

There is a division of opinion in the Indiana commission which has been named to make arrangement for the placing of a statue of Gen. Lew Wallace in the statutory hall of the capitol in Washington. Some of the members want the memorial to be of marble, while the others want it to be of bronze. It is said that there is no agreement on the matter in sight.

There are only a few statues of bronze in Memorial Hall, and those that are there, to some eyes at least, have not the beauty of the statues in marble. It may be that this is altogether a matter of workmanship rather than of material, but the marble memorials have a holding beauty that the others seem to lack.

An officer of Wallace's old command, Capt. McGrew, who is a member of the commission, declares that he never will consent to a bronze statue of the soldier-writer. It may be that the matter will have to be settled by the legislature of Indiana, but if the legislators were to go to Washington and look over the memorials already there the chances are whether they know anything of art or not they will decide in favor of marble.

It may be that the matter will have to be settled by the legislature of Indiana, but if the legislators were to go to Washington and look over the memorials already there the chances are whether they know anything of art or not they will decide in favor of marble.

A Servants' Paradise.

"Every kitchen has a window with one pane out in the Brazilian town of Rio Grande do Sul," said a cook. "That town is a servants' paradise.

"Servants live in their own homes there, as they should everywhere. They come to work at seven in the morning and they quit at seven at night. A 12-hour day. Quite long enough.

"The paneless window is for the millman, the baker, the butcher, so that these traders can leave their supplies—they usually come early—in a safe place. The Rio Grande servant is, of course, not there to receive them. She is in bed at her own home."

Statue of Marble or Bronze?

There is a division of opinion in the Indiana commission which has been named to make arrangement for the placing of a statue of Gen. Lew Wallace in the statutory hall of the capitol in Washington. Some of the members want the memorial to be of marble, while the others want it to be of bronze. It is said that there is no agreement on the matter in sight.

There are only a few statues of bronze in Memorial Hall, and those that are there, to some eyes at least, have not the beauty of the statues in marble. It may be that this is altogether a matter of workmanship rather than of material, but the marble memorials have a holding beauty that the others seem to lack.

An officer of Wallace's old command, Capt. McGrew, who is a member of the commission, declares that he never will consent to a bronze statue of the soldier-writer. It may be that the matter will have to be settled by the legislature of Indiana, but if the legislators were to go to Washington and look over the memorials already there the chances are whether they know anything of art or not they will decide in favor of marble.
