Mrs. Roy A. Rainey Gets Her Revenge As Champion Conejo Wycollar Boy Wins

Marbald Warsong Meets Defeat in Contest for Coleman Randolph Cup

By J. S. Mitchel

The dog show at Madison Square Garden saw its biggest session so far yesterday, for all day long the Washington's Birthday observers strolled in and out of the building in impressive squads. The early birds who had the courage to brave the chilling atmosphere of the forenoon were rewarded by a glimpse of the awards in the smooth-haired fox terriers and by the wind-up of the bitches classes in the wire-haired class. Incidentally, they saw the contest for the special, which happened to be the Coleman Randolph cup for the best fox terrier in the show.

George S. Thomas had the onerous post of official distributer of the colors, and while he might have aroused the ire of a few, he seemed to please a big majority with the style in which he handled matters. One of the contenders for the big prize was Mrs. Roy A. Rainey's Conejo Wycollar Boy, entered only for specials. He is a wire-haired specimen imported from England some time ago, and doubtless the most remarkable type of this breed now on this side of the Atlantic.

His most notable win was in the Westminster Kennel Club show last year, when he was crowned as the best of all breeds in the show. Wycollar Boy's opponent yesterday was Marbald Warsong, owned by the Marbald Kennels, of this city, also a "wire" and the dog which took the shine out of Mrs. Rainey's Wire Boy of Paignton in the winners' class for dogs on Thursday. On account of the fact that the gallery had it doped that Thomas thought highly of Marbald Warsong, they expected that Mrs. Rainey was in for another setdown, but the dope was at fault, for the cup was awarded to Wycollar Boy.

Army Men Pleased

Some United States army men who happened to be in the Garden during the early hours found a lot of satisfaction in the winners' bitches, which was won by Lieutenant H. Hughes, of the Lafayette Escadrille Flying Corps, now at the front in France. Gallich Nettle, a bitch of rare quality, won the winners class for Lieutenant Hughes, who hails from Grosse Isle, Mich., and has been flying for Uncle Sam and aiming bombs at the Huns for nearly two years. He attended the show in the aviator's uniform and before noon went to the parade.

The amateur critics and connoisseurs who pride themselves at picking the best dog in the show beforehand found plenty of food for reflection while the variety classes were shown. In the terrier division there was a sensation which upset the wisest calculation, for a Canadian bull terrier named Haymaker Faultless secured the victory from F. C. Hood's Elms Primus, an Airedale. In third place came Marbald Warsong, the "wire" fox terrier, who earned winners' first in his sex.

In the variety class of toys there were Poms, Pekingese, Chihuahuas and Italian greyhounds, and here the first went to the newly imported Phanton of Ashcroft, a "Peke" owned by the Yankibourne Kennels, with Afon Squib, the crack Pomeranian, in second place. Mrs. O. E. Lakeland's Pomeranian was made third with General Mite, and Mrs. Grace E. Jackson earned the fourth with Kwe-t 2d.

There was a long string trotted out for the variety class of the non-sporting division, and in the array which piped around on the sawdust were Belgian and German sheepdogs, old English sheepdogs, collies, great danes, bulldogs, chow chows and Boston terriers. After a long and close scrutiny of the markings of the different breeds the first went to Beaver Brook Vanity, the property of the Beaver Brook Kennels, with Alsted Aeroplane, the champion collie, second, and Lady Godiva, an old English sheepdog, third. The reserve fell to Hill View Bob, an old English sheepdog.

In the classes of Irish terriers, which, by the way, has been a recognized breed since 1876 in the Old World, John Bates, benched for the first time in America, the newly imported bitch, Porkton My Lady. She at once attracted the admiration of the gallery, which was a formidable one at the time on account of her "daredevil" swing and appearance around the ring.

Easily Caught Judge's Eye

With a strongly marked head, a splendid front, massive quarters, legs and feet, and a hard, close coat, she easily caught the eye of the judge. She sailed clean through the limit, open, and winners' bitches and also won the trophy for the best of her breed in the show. In the contest she met Wrose Badger, winner in the dog classes, and also the international champion, Double Shear, owned by J. Paul Dübne.

That Scalyham terriers, which commanded a popular swing a few years ago, were light in entries was attributed to the withdrawal of W. Ross Proctor's Brookdale Kennels. The death of Mrs. Proctor's mother was the cause of the fancier's non-appearance. Mrs. Payne Whitney had matters all her own way in the female department, her Greentree Hylands Gamble getting the winners and scoring over Champion Brookholt Inspiration, of the Hemlock Kennels.

In the winners' dogs first and reserve were taken by the Hemlock Hill Kennels' Hemlock Hill Boy Scout and Hemlock Hill Bride respectively. The Greenwich Kennels brought out a neat homebred dog puppy, Peer Gynt of Greenwich, and he signalled his debut by winning in the puppy and debutante classes.

The classes of Cairn terriers were finished up yesterday morning with Mrs. Payne Whitney sweeping all before her. She won the puppy class with Greentree Kennels' The Spook of Misty Isles and in the limit and open classes with Ardsheil Gillie Cam. This last dog was also first in winners, with Mrs. Julian Harris's Jolly Jock second in open classes and in the reserve.

During the afternoon progress of the show the Westminster Kennel Club had a special meeting and passed resolutions of condolence over the death of H. K. Bloodgood. Steps were immediately taken to perpetuate the memory of Mr. Bloodgood, and in future a special challenge cup will be offered in the classes of cocker spaniels, which were his favorites. The conditions of the cup will be framed later.

Those who fancy the dogs afield had their inning when the Beagles were led into ring No. 1. The Wheatley Kennels, owned by Jay S. Phipps, of Westbury, came in for the cream of the ribbons. In the winners bitches Wheatley Kennels scored first and reserve with Wheatley Tuneful and Wheatley Trinket respectively.

A wonderful exhibition of high jumping was given by the Russian wolfhound team belonging to the Delaware Valley Farm. One huge dog cleared a height of twelve feet, a really wonderful spring, especially as he was unaided by a springboard or other artificial device.

Old Age Gives Youth Sound Ducking in N. Y. A. C. Pool

Veterans Easily Dispose of Yale Water Polo Team—Club Wins Meet

BY FRED HAWTHORNE

Old Age gave Youth a sound and thorough ducking in the "old swimming hole" pool of the New York Athletic Club last night, when the veteran water polo experts of the local club defeated the team from Yale University by 6 goals to 1, or 39 points to 5.

The water polo game was only a part of the programme in the dual swimming meet between the Travers Island organization and the boys from New Haven, and in addition to their triumph in the strenuous sport of "wrestling under water" the New York club won the meet by a total of 38 points to 15. It was decidedly a "blue" night for Yale.

Joe Ruddy, who captained the N. Y. A. C. team, proved to be a human U-boat in the pool, and every time he submerged he sank a Yale swimmer. Joe scored three goals, Lou Handley two, Fred Wenck one and Ogden Reid one. Howard, the Yale goal, was the lone scorer for the collegians. Toward the end of the game the Yale men were wishing they had been born with gills, like regular fish, and they one and all avoided Joe Ruddy as a healthy man would the plague.

Entitled to Whiskers

Some twenty years ago the men who represented the New York Athletic Club last night were young fellows like the Yale boys, but some of them are entitled to wear long gray whiskers (if they fancy that style of hirsute adornment) to-day.

It was announced before the start of the water polo game that the halves would be limited to six minutes each. Some of the college boys were inclined to sniff contemptuously at this announcement, but that was before they had taken a few plunges with Ruddy and his crew of human torpedoes.

The game began with a rush, and in less than half a minute the Winged Foot club had worked the ball down near the Yale goal. Ruddy was lying in wait, but as soon as he laid hands on the globe he was deliberately set upon by three Yale huskies. Joe went down, and those who were not acquainted with the veteran's cute tricks under water gave vent to sighs of sympathy.

After several seconds of furious churning of the water, with now and then a Yale arm, leg or foot appearing above the surface, only to disappear again, the ruddy face of Joe Ruddy suddenly came up "for air" and the old man of the sea slapped the ball against the goal board for the first score.

After the next line-up the "old uns" had a merry time with the youngsters and the surface of the pool looked as though a tropical typhoon had struck it. The going got so lively that Connie Trubenbach, the New York left halfback, suddenly interrupted proceedings by a cry for help. The Yale boys had made a concerted attack on Connie's well fitting suit, and in their anxiety to take home souvenirs took the whole garment with them.

Time Is Called

Time was called while Trubenbach, swimming discreetly, submerged, paddled to the end of the tank. Kind and sympathetic hands salvaged him, lowering a protecting sheet as the wounded man climbed out of the pool and into the dressing room.

A Yale man, whose youthful modesty forbade him giving his name and address, was the next victim, for when he came up to the surface after a tussle with Handley, Ruddy and Russell his one-piece was "strated" straight down the back. Again the friendly sheet and the stricken one were towed to safety and decorum. Just before the half ended Handley broke through the Yale defence and scored New York's second goal.

In the second period Ruddy made several changes in his line-up, to give his "freshmen" a chance to earn their letters. After Howard had the temerity to score for Yale, after two minutes of play, the Winged Foot fish became serious and scored four more goals in less than three minutes.

Ogden Reid "sunk" three collegians who tried to head him off, and dove under the wreckage, coming up right against the goal and scoring. Wenck was the next to do the trick, and by this time the Yale boys were so hard up for wind that Ruddy scored two more and Handley the sixth and last of the evening.

The summary follows:

50-yard swim—Won by Giebel, New York; Mayer, Yale, second; R. McAleenan, New York, third. Time, 0:26 4-5.

Fancy dive—Won by Sasche, New York, with 91.45 points; Benjamin, Yale, second, with 87.18 points; Kane, New York, third, with 76.2 points.

440-yard swim—Won by Giebel, New York; Hincks, Yale, second; Chase, New York, third. Time, 5:59.

Plunge for distance—Won by Carroll, New York, with 75 feet in 1 minute; Giebel, New York, second, with 60 feet; Loeb, Yale, third, with 55 feet 8 inches.

100-yard swim—Won by Mayer, Yale; Jellife, New York, second; Gentner, New York, third. Time, 0:59 3-5.

200-yard relay race—Won by New York (H. McAleenan, Jellif, Gentner and Giebel); Yale (Archibald, Prestman, Hincks and Mayer), second. Time, 1:43.

Final points—New York A. C., 38; Yale University, 15.

Benny Valger Beats Shea

BOSTON, Feb. 22.—Benny Valger, of New York, defeated Tommy Shea, of New Haven, in a fast twelve-round bout here to-day. Valger forced the fighting.

Weeghman Says Holdouts Won't Bother Cubs

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Charles H. Weeghman, president of the Chicago Nationals, tonight served notice on players regarded as hold-outs that unless they came to terms before the departure of the club for the spring training camp at Pasadena, Cal., early next month, they would be obliged to seek other employment.

"I shall not be bothered with hold-outs this season," Weeghman said. "We did not make any big cuts in salaries, despite the war. The majors cannot afford to pay enormous salaries, and the players should be made to understand the situation confronting the club owners."

Mayo Proves Speedy in Run Of Clark A. A.

Eddie Mayo and Louis Kaufman, the young runners of the Brooklyn Athletic Association, engaged in one of the most sensational duels seen this season in fighting it out for the fast time prize in the five-mile handicap open road run of the Clark House Athletic Association yesterday.

Although Kaufman finished tenth and Mayo twenty positions further back, the prize went to Mayo by a margin of two seconds in actual time for covering the trail.

Mayo started from the 15-second mark and was virtually the scratch man through the absence of Charles Pores and Villar Kyronen, the scratch man. Kaufman went from the 1:15 mark, thereby having a start of one minute on Mayo. At the finish Mayo was timed in 25:11 and Kaufman 25:13.

The individual honors went to Joseph Daley, who is now running unattached, and who had a handicap of 3:30. The team prize was won by the Mohawk Athletic Club after an interesting fight with the Clark House and the Paulist Athletic Club harriers. A total of 67 points was credited to the Mohawk clan, while the Clark boys, with 73 points, were only four points in advance of the Paulist members.

The summary follows:

Pittsburgh Wins at Hockey

BOSTON, Feb. 22.—The Pittsburgh A. A. Hockey Team defeated the Boston Arena Team 2 to 0, in a game here to-night, Drury starring for the visitors. The Arena players were handicapped in using borrowed sticks, their own having been delayed in transit between here and Pittsburgh, where they played last Saturday.

The Weather Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A barometric depression has developed off the Carolina coast in the last twenty-four hours. This depression, in connection with an area of high pressure over New England, has caused a fall of snow in the Virginias, the eastern portion of the Middle Atlantic States and in Southern New England. In all other parts of the country except the Pacific States and the Southern plateau region the weather has been generally fair.

The temperature has risen decidedly in the plains states and the Rocky Mountain region and in a less degree in New England, the lake region and the Ohio Valley.

The weather Saturday and Sunday in the Washington forecast district will be fair. The temperature will rise Saturday in the Ohio Valley and the lake region, and it will be warmer Sunday in Atlantic Coast districts.

A material increase in the temperature by Sunday night in Atlantic Coast district is probable.

Forecasts for Special Localities.—Northern New England, snow Saturday; Sunday fair and warmer.

Eastern New York, fair Saturday; not much change in temperature; Sunday fair and warmer.

New Jersey, Delaware, Eastern Pennsylvania, fair Saturday; not much change in temperature; Sunday fair and warmer.

Southern New England, fair Saturday and Sunday; warmer Sunday.

Western Pennsylvania, Western New York, fair Saturday and Sunday; slowly rising temperature.
