U. S. Perfects Good Paper Made From Cotton Linters

Washington Bureau New York Tribune

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield announced today that the Bureau of Standards has succeeded in making an excellent quality of stationery paper from cotton linters. A roll of the new paper was exhibited. It is tough and has a smooth surface that takes ink easily.

It is stated that cotton linters are wasted except as they are used in making explosives, and that the supply is sufficient for the manufacture of an important volume of paper when the process has been commercialized.

Road Salesmen Send In Glowing Reports on Silk Trade Outlook

Robust buying of manufactured silks at higher prices yas reported yesterday by the leading selling agents. Travelling salesmen now visiting all of the leading centres of the United States sent in large orders for the fall weaves, and most of them advised their principals that the outlook could hardly be better than it is. It also was stated that orders for the most popular spring fabrics continued remarkably good, considering the season is nearly over. Many of the leading manufacturers advanced prices 10 to 30 cents a yard on both spring and fall goods, the increases having been forced by the sharp rise that has taken place in raw silks.

While numerous buyers, anticipating the higher prices now in effect, have already provided for their fall requirements, the leading manufacturers do not expect any slump in trade. They asserted that some of the retail merchants have been holding off in the hope of lower quotations, and now that the market has acted contrary to their expectations they will hasten to place orders.

Raw Silk Trade Expands

Japanese Interests in Position to Show Independence

Buying of raw silk, particularly of the Japanese product, expanded yesterday. It was reported that the manufacturers of pure silk weaves had purchased in a fair way, but most of the business was provided by producers of cotton and silk mixtures, the latter having placed orders calling for deliveries up to the end of the year. While prices remained unchanged, some of the importers asserted that stil higher quotations are likely. It was stated that the Japanese interests are in a strong financial position, and that as demand for raw silk promises to be become worldwide they will have little difficulty in forcing buyers to pay their prices.

Tussah, or wild raw silk, has advanced to $3.50 a pound, and it was said yesterday that supplies were light. This material, which is of a yellowish-brown color, is largely used in the manufacture of upholstery fabrics.

Heavy Demand for Silk Ribbons; Prices Advanced

Some manufacturers of silk ribbons have advanced prices 5 to 10 per cent, being influenced to take this step by the long continued advance in the cost of raw silk, increased wages and decreased production due to reducing working hours at the mill from fifty to forty-eight a week.

While the manufacturers expected a lull in the demand for ribbons after Easter, the contrary has occurred, it being stated yesterday that the buying now is exceptionally heavy. Some desirable styles cannot be delivered before next August.

Trade in silk mufflers for fall and winter wear is not expected to be so large as it was last year because dealers on account of the unusually mild winter have been compelled to carry over rather large stocks.

Return to Civies Brings Big Sale of Silk Neckwear

With the return of former soldiers and sailors to civilian pursuits, business in high grade silk neckwear has shown marked improvement. A leading silk manufacturer, who also turns out neckwear for men, reported yesterday that his business since the first of February increased 60 per cent over the corresponding period last year. Buying of high priced goods has been the outstanding feature of the trade.

Japanese Imported Dyestuffs During War, U. S. Official Asserts

Representations made to the Japanese government by American and British officials have not been effective in stopping importations of German dyestuffs into that country during the war, according to the chief of the Far Eastern Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Furthermore, in a letter to the Merchants' Association, the same authority states that "as soon as the armistice was declared the German agents, who have been rather free in China to carry on propaganda even during hostilities, immediately spread rumors to the effect that there were large stocks of dyes in Germany which would soon be available at pre-war prices. This precipitated a small panic in the dye market in both China and Japan, and cancellation of orders with American manufacturers. Fortunately, through the timely assistance of the largest of these, whose representative happened to be in Shanghai at the time, the rumor was successfully refuted and the true situation brought before the Chinese. The result was the stabilizing of the market, and the Chinese now fully realize that there will be no decline in the prices."

The Merchants' Association has asked the Department of Commerce to coöperate with American dyestuff manufacturers in their efforts to retain and, if possible, extend the market for their products in the Far East.

Carnegie Medal Awarded To New York Railroad Man

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—Fifteen acts of heroism were recognized by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission at its meeting here to-day.

In two cases silver medals were awarded; in thirteen cases bronze medals. Six of the heroes lost their lives, and to the dependents of two of these pensions aggregating $1,620 a year were granted. To the dependents of three of the others who lost their lives the sum of $1,500 was granted, to be applied as the commission may sanction. In addition to these money grants, in nine cases awards aggregating $8,500 were made for other worthy purposes. Payments in the one-sum cases will not be made until the beneficiaries' plans for the use of the awards have been approved by the commission.

Among those who received bronze medals was Theodore Miller, of Angola, N. Y., a crossing watchman, who saved Francis J. Anselmo, four years old, from being killed by a train August 12, 1917.

Hylan Sends Disapproval of Bill for New City Justice

Special Correspondence

ALBANY, April 25.—Mayor Hylan today sent the bill of Senator Bernard Downing adding another municipal court justice to the Second Manhattan Judicial District with his disapproval. Had this bill became law the new justice would have been elected next fall for a term of ten years.

Mass Meeting On April 30 to Discuss Rents

Dodge Bill Permiting Conversion of 4-story Buildings Favored for Relief

A mass meeting to discuss the advisability of requesting Governor Smith to reconvene the Legislature to consider housing legislation will be held at 1:30 p. m. April 30, in the rooms of the Board of Estimate. Mayor Hylan will preside.

Discussion, it was announced by Chairman Hirsch, of the Mayor's committee on rent profiteering, will centre about the so-called Dodge bill, which died in committee at the last legislative session. The purpose of the measure is to amend the tenement house law to permit conversion of old style four story dwellings, sixty feet long, into four apartments. A similar measure, known as the Burlingame bill, affecting three story dwellings not over forty-seven feet long, became a law.

Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann, in a statement yesterday, said: "If advantage is taken by house owners of the Burlingame act it will mean at most only 5,000 additional apartments. If the Dodge bill had been enacted, with such amendments as were suggested at the Senate committee hearing by this department, it would have given more substantial relief in the present crisis by adding possibly 50,000 apartments.

He Would Recommend It

"The alteration permitted by the Dodge bill could have been made without detriment to housing conditions. I would recommend as a method of solving the problem of immediate relief that if a special session of the Legislature is called the advantages of enacting the Dodge measure be called to the Governor's attention."

Lawson Purdy, general director of the Charity Organization Society, in a statement to The Tribune said the Dodge bill would not afford the relief desired, and its enactment might be dangerous to public health and welfare.

"It is impossible to alter the old four story dwellings 20 by 60 feet into apartments under the provisions of the Dodge bill and still assure tenants the light and air necessary for their well being," he said. "With the three-story 47-foot buildings provided for in the Burlingame act, most of which are in Brooklyn, it could be done. With that length the danger that dark, unventilated spaces in the middle of the apartment might be used as sleeping and living rooms is reduced.

"Under the Dodge law the longer apartments with one dark room (it is a dark room, although called an alcove) might be safe in good neighborhoods for small families who have a proper knowledge of sanitation and hygiene.

Neighborhoods Change

"However, those neighborhoods may not remain good, and to open such apartments to ignorant and crowded families would be sowing germs the tenement house law was made to exterminate.

"Such apartments would be valuable to builders only in neighborhoods like Washington Square and Gramercy Park, where large rents could be obtained. They are extravagant, and to provide heat and janitor service for them would be costly in comparison to the returns in the poorer neighborhoods.

"Most of the old dwellings now are being used as lodging and boarding houses. As such they house many times more people than they would if converted into apartments.

"The fire protection provisions of the Dodge bill did not satisfy Mr. Mann, as he admitted at Albany. So far as I know, only three dwellings have been modelled under permission given by the Burlingame law, and it is very doubtful if the Dodge bill would induce landlords to spend money on remodelling dwellings which in course of events and land values will eventually have to come down anyway."

Tammany Hall Forces Mobilize for Fight On Rent Profiteers

Tammany Hall forces have been mobilized to investigate complaints of rent profiteering in the sixty-two Assembly districts of greater New York. Robert L. Luce, of the law committee of the Democratic County Committee, mapped out the plan yesterday with Chairman Nathan Hirsch of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering.

Mr. Hirsch announced that a volunteer Tammany attorney would be selected in each of the Assembly districts in Manhattan, Kings, Queens, The Bronx and Richmond. Each attorney will have under him a corps of trained Tammany investigators. "There is no question in my mind but what you are making 25 per cent on your investment," said Commissioner of Taxation Hirschfield yesterday to Isaac Lowenfeld.

"What is there to stop me from making 30 per cent?" asked Lowenfeld, who is president of the Monmouth Holding Company, owning apartments at 106 East Sixty-fourth Street.

"Nothing," replied Mr. Hirschfield, "but you will have to pay the city a proportionate rate on your taxes. Isn't it true by increasing rents and showing higher income that you can sell the property at a higher figure?"

"Sure," said Lowenfeld, "and I can make the tenants get out if I want to. Nobody can stop me."

Mr. Hirschfield said he would see that Lowenfeld's property was assessed in proportion to the income.

First Flight of Police Reserve Aviators To-day

The first flight of the New York police reserve aviation corps will be made to-day. The flight will be made from Motor Park, Sheepshead Bay, to Pine Valley, Philadelphia. Two Curtis biplanes will start at 1 p. m., piloted by Lieut. J. Lincingston Allen and Lieut. Joseph Bennett, of the police reserves.

A message from Mayor Hylan and Special Deputy Commissioner Rodman Wanamaker to Mayor Smith of Philadelphia will be carried by Major Lindsah F. Gladiff, who will be a passenger on one of the machines.
