British Fleet Is Crippled by Miners' Strike

Shipping Board Report Says 7,000,000 Tons of Boats Have Been Tied Up in the Ports of United Kingdom

Oil Burners at Advantage

Large Stocks of Coal Held in Europe Keeping Down Exports From America

The British miners' strike has undoubtedly struck one of the worst blows ever experienced by British shipping, says a report to the Shipping Board from its London representatives. It is pointed out, however, that from the British viewpoint it is fortunate that the strike occurred when the majority of European countries were fully stocked with coal, so that foreign nations, particularly the United States, are displacing British coal to a less degree than would otherwise have been the case.

In the mean time, it is stated, British ships continue to be laid up in increasing quantities. The estimate for the United Kingdom is said to be more than 7,000,000 deadweight tons, while other European countries are also materially affected.

Much Tonnage Being Laid Up

In Norway, for instance, there are about 900,000 tons laid up, representing nearly 25 per cent of that country's fleet. In Denmark the situation is still worse, the 320,000 tons idle representing fully 40 per cent of the total Danish tonnage. The depression in Spain is indicated by the fact that at Bilbao alone there are 150,000 tons of Spanish vessels tied up.

"One effect of the coal strike," says the report to the Shipping Board, "has been to bring the value of oil-fired steamers into strong relief, and in this respect both Norwegian and American mercantile fleets are fully armed to meet such an emergency. There is a growing opinion that the motorship is the ship of the future, and during the last twelve months about 500,000 tons of motor shipping have been launched and completed, while it is estimated that there is 50 per cent more on order to-day than a year ago."

No Market for Ships

The British market for cargo tonnage, it is stated, has almost ceased to exist, and it is said to be doubtful if the conditions can become any worse. For the last six or seven months inquiry has been of a very restricted nature, but it is declared that the coal strike has had the effect of eliminating what little demand remained.

"This," it is added, "also applies in the case of ex-enemy tonnage, and although offers are still being solicited there is little possibility of many sales being consummated for some time. The present wages of officers and crews, the cost of insurance and the price of bunkers all remain on too high a level to make ends meet at present rates of freight, and until these factors improve prospective buyers will naturally be very reluctant to purchase."

$111,000,000 Shipping Fund Cut to $61,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Appropriations of $111,000,000 for the Shipping Board in the deficiency appropriation bill were cut to $61,000,000 to-day by Senate and House conferees, the latter refusing to agree to the Senate increase of $50,000,000.

Original House appropriations of 36,000,000 for existing deficiencies of the board and $25,000,000 for next year's operations were retained, but Senate managers, it was announced, were unable to overcome House objections to the $50,000,000 Senate increase.

House conferees refused to accept Senate increases of $425,000 for the interdepartmental social hygiene board, for the Speedway, Chicago, and Dawson Springs, Ky., hospitals and for an under secretary of Treasury and other officials' salaries. All of these amendments were taken back to the House for separate votes.

To Develop Turkish Trade

A. W. Knowles, organizer and manager of the Export Steamship Company, who sold out his interest in that concern last winter, is now establishing the Ottoman-America Line, which has just dispatched the fast passenger, mail and freight steamer Gul Djemal to Constantinople. The line intends to have monthly sailings of this class of vessel to Constantinople and adjacent ports and to follow with a regular freight service.

While manager of the Export Steamship Company, it is stated, Mr. Knowles was active in the Levant and Black Sea trades. The new line intends to branch out into additional services from time to time.
