"Pigeon Aero" Carries Greetings Of Poultry Show to Mrs. Harding

48 Birds Freed at Madison Square Garden and Dart Away for Washington; Day's Attendance 9,000

The second day of the 32d Annual Poultry Show opened at Madison Square Garden yesterday with a good sized attendance. The poultry exhibition is attracting more attention this year than previously. The box office reported more than 9,000 paid admissions.

A feature of the show yesterday was the releasing of forty-eight carrier pigeons on a test flight to Washington. Secretary D. Lincoln Orr, in the absence of President T. A. Havemeyer, released fifteen birds, which carried messages to prominent officials at the capital.

One message was sent to Mrs. Harding. Beltsville Wonder, the world's record holder for carrier pigeons, was entrusted with the delivery of this message. Beltsville Wonder has made the journey from Chicago to Washington in 17 hours and 25 minutes.

The message carried to Mrs. Harding from President Havemeyer read:

"Mrs. Warren G. Harding, the White House, Washington:

"On the opening of our greatest of all poultry exhibitions, the Madison Square Garden Poultry Show, the poultrymen of the country wish to extend greetings to you and your illustrious husband. T. A. HAVEMEYER."

Upon being released by representatives from the government experiment station of the Department of Agriculture, Beltsville, Md., the first birds circled about the park, apparently unable to get their bearings. Soon they rose above the buildings and lost no time straightening out southward for their flight of more than 226 miles. Two minutes after the pathfinder had been released Secretary Orr freed the carrier with the message to Mrs. Harding. Then followed fourteen birds carrying messages to President Harding, Vice-President and Mrs. Coolidge and other notables.

The second flock got their bearings even more quickly than the first and in less than four minutes they were over the skyscrapers and headed south.

All of the pigeons will head straight for the government lofts at Beltsville, where they will be met by motorcycle messengers from the United States Army, who will carry the messages to Washington and deliver them. It was expected that the birds would take about six hours on the flight and the messages were due in Washington shortly after dusk.

The Rosdel Poultry Farm, of Cos Cob, Conn., carried off the most valuable trophy offered at the show. This was the first prize for young hens in the class for single comb White Orpingtons. This victory carried with it the Crawford Memorial Trophy, a massive silver loving cup on Grecian lines. The trophy was presented to the Poultry Show in memory of the late Henry V. Crawford, former Mayor of Montclair, N. J., who was secretary of the Garden Poultry Show for twenty-five years and known to poultry fanciers in all parts of the country.

Rosdel Farm is one of the largest exhibitors, having a splendid display of Buff, Black and White Orpingtons. The cup will be presented formally on Friday morning by President Havemeyer.

H. Cecil Sheppard, of Rorea, Ohio, scored a sweeping victory with his Anconas, carrying off ten firsts and ten seconds out of a possible twelve. The Sheppard exhibit consists of eighty-three birds. Mr. Sheppard has shown Anconas at the Garden for the last fifteen years, and during that time has captured 80 per cent of the first and second prizes in that particular breed.

Lord Dewar, British sportsman and poultry breeder, met defeat in his first class, in which he could do no better than third. This was in the classes for the Single Comb Black Orpingtons. Lord Dewar had four entries. His birds finished third in the cock, hen and cockerel classes and fourth for pullets.

Ducks there are almost without number and in a dozen varieties. There is a large number of pheasants.

In the basement is an excellent display of goats. They are always the center of interest for the youngsters visiting the show and are mostly of the registered Toggenburg variety, famous for its milk. There are a couple of Nubian Welsh goats shown.

The educational program for the second day of the show included an address by Miss Eleanor Wilson, of Louisiana State University. Miss Wilson spoke on "Women's Opportunity in Poultry Work."

The fifth annual Intercollegiate Poultry Judging Contest will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock, under the direction of Professor O. B. Kent, of the New York State Agricultural College of Cornell University. The prize is a silver challenge trophy, which is held one year by the college of the winning team. Teams consist of three men, all of whom must be undergraduates of the institution which they represent.

Contestants include the North Carolina Agricultural College, Pennsylvania State Agricultural College, New Jersey Agricultural College, West Virginia University, New York State College of Agriculture, Massachusetts Agricultural College and Connecticut Agricultural College. Massachusetts and Connecticut each have won the cup once.

Why You Don't Get Eggs in Winter

The one great mistake most poultry raisers make is in the idea that scratch feeds make eggs, and this accounts for their failure to get eggs in the winter time.

Scratch feeds do not make hens lay. Just so long as you make scratch feed the bulk of your hens' ration, you will fail to get eggs. Scratch feed is for the hen's bodily maintenance—to make her exercise, scratch—to satisfy her while on the roost, and not to make eggs. The feed that will make hens lay abundantly must be a soft feed, finely ground and correctly balanced—a feed composed of materials like hens pick up in the Spring, when their egg production is highest.

FUL-O-PEP DRY MASH

is that kind of a feed—compounded along natures's lines—made solely to make hens lay. It is a combination of green foods, animal foods and several other valuable ingredients which come as near nature's egg-making materials as it is possible for expert food knowledge, science and experience to produce.

To get more eggs, feed FUL-O-PEP DRY MASH—all your hens will eat. Keep it where they can get it all the time, and feed FUL-O-PEP SCRATCH FEED about an hour before they go to roost—then you'll get eggs, and lots of them. We guarantee it. Sold by leading dealers. If yours can't supply you, write us. N2

From Chicks to Grown-Ups Conkey Keeps Them Thriving

Every poultryman should keep a Conkey Corner in his poultry house. He will then be ready for anything that requires immediate treatment. Conkey Remedies and Tonics are guaranteed to do everything claimed for them. They save you much needless worry and expense.

Conkeys

Poultry Remedies and Feeds

Conkey's Roup Remedy kills the roup germs and saves the fowl. Just put it in the drinking water—chickens doctor themselves. Equally important as a preventive, for it keeps roup from getting a start. Sold by dealers everywhere. 25c, 50c, $1.00; 5-lb. can, $5.75.

Conkey's Poultry Tonic keeps hens healthy and gets winter eggs. It is a Regulator, Laying Tonic, Moulting Powder and Chick Conditioner of the highest type. No cayenne pepper—no filler. 25c and 50c. It pays to buy it by the pail, 12-lb., $1.60; 25-lb., $3.00.

Conkey's Buttermilk Starting Feed

It carries your chicks safely through the critical first 8 weeks. It is an appetizing combination of pure sweet grain and concentrated sanitary Buttermilk scientifically proportioned and combined by a special Conkey process.

It prevents the big losses due to weakness and disease; it gives your chicks the quick, snappy getaway that produces early broilers and layers. The buttermilk is a an edge to the appetite, while the lactic acid strengthens and tones up the sensitive digestive organs of the little chicks and helps to prevent White Diarrhoea.

The Conkey Line will be on display at our booth at the Madison Square Garden Show and every one interested is invited to call. Circulars free.
