Curb Prices Hold Generally Steady In Quiet Trading

Oils in Increased Demand, but Changes Are Relatively Small; Industrials Move in Narrow Limits

Prices held within a narrow range in quiet trading on the curb market yesterday. Oils were in increased demand as a rule, but net changes were small. Interborough 6s scored an advance and Freeport Texas 7s worked higher. Industrials were quiet.

Cities Service and Standard Oil of Indiana sagged and Fensland Oil turned easier after touching a new high for the movement. Marine Oil worked higher on the report that it was to be absorbed by Fensland, but this was denied. The report was attributed to the fact that field forces of the two companies have working arrangements.

Tobacco Products, Radio common and Dubilier Condenser scored gains. Hudson Motors fell back, but Daniels Motors continued in good demand, working to a new high level. American Drug "A" held steady at its new high. Retail Candy rallied. New interests are said to have become identified with Southern Coal and Iron.

Mother Lode scored another gain when it became known that directors expected to put the stock on a $1 dividend basis at the next meeting, to be held soon. Independence Lead held steady after its advance of last week.

Investment Information

Questions of general interest to investors will be answered in this column, in which case only initials will be used. Others will be answered by mail. Address all inquiries, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope, to Financial Editor, The Tribune, 154 Nassau Street, New York City.

Investment With Good Return

Question—I am taking the liberty of writing you to ask your opinion of the following stocks as an investment: Allied Chemical, International Nickel, Sinclair Consolidated. I have about $1,200 that I would like to put into some good stock that would yield a good rate of interest and the above three have been recommended to me by different friends. Thanking you in anticipation for any information you may choose to give me and apologizing for intruding upon your time and good nature.—A. B. H.

Answer—The Allied Chemical stock comes nearest to deserving an investment rating, but even this stock has its speculative aspects. It is now paying a 4 per cent dividend, which was earned by only a narrow margin in 1921. The other two stocks are not paying dividends at present. If you buy either you are indulging rather in a speculation on dividend prospects than in an investment.

Looking for Speculations

Question—For some time I have followed with interest the various answers and questions that have been given in your information column. I notice that you continually advise most investors to diversify if buying stock or to keep away from bonds advertised at 8 per cent, or better, if they desire absolute safety of principal. Of course, as far as anything being absolutely safe, I suppose that there is really nothing. I would like you to answer as nearly as possible what you think of the following, realizing myself that stock is speculative in nature and not an investment, but I would like to know whether the speculation is fair, good or poor. The list is as follows: Sweets Company of America, Libby, McNeill & Libby and Sinclair Oil. Also what do you think of the recent Grand Beach first mortgage gold bonds offering 10 per cent? I realize that the yield is high, making the bond less safe, but are the chances anywhere near good for this bond holding up? Could you suggest any stock that is a fair or good speculation, also any good bond that would pay 7 to 7½ per cent with reasonable safety? I have about $2,500 to start off with and wish to place it away and let it drag.—A. F. D.

Answer—Your mind and ours do not run along together on the subject of investment and speculation. We do not say that all stocks are speculative, but could, as a matter of fact, jot down without hesitation twoscore of issues that are rated more highly as investments than the 10 per cent bond you mention. Sweets Company of America stock is highly speculative. Libby, McNeill & Libby stock has dropped a rung or two on the investment ladder owing to recent difficulties, but it has speculative possibilities. Sinclair Oil, although speculative, has good properties, real production and a good organization. We do not recommend the Grand Beach first mortgage bonds for investment, and it is outside the scope of this column to suggest stocks for speculation. Reasonable safety at a return of 7 to 7½ per cent is possible if you are willing to go into the field of foreign investments. There are, for example, Sao Paulo 8s, 1936, yielding 7.57 per cent, or the 8 per cent bonds, 1952, yielding 7.35 per cent; City of Marseilles 6s, 1934, yielding 7.38 per cent; Rio Grande do Sul 8s, 1946, yielding 7.70 per cent; Department of the Seine 7s, 1942, yielding 7.3 per cent, and French government 8s, 1945, yielding about 7.27 per cent.

Favors Increased Safety

Question—I have something over 200 shares of Lyons Petroleum and had thought that perhaps my money would be in safe hands if taken out of the oil business and put into bank or city bonds. I am told, however, by Mr. MacFadden, of MacFadden & Co., Inc., from whom I bought the stock, that the Lyons wells were producing at the rate of 7,000 barrels a day and that I should hold the stock, as the present market value does not represent its real value, also, that it is a good investment in itself. Can you give me information and advice regarding the stock?—R. W. H.

Answer—If you really want safety of principal and not a speculative risk there are few substitutes for Lyons Petroleum that would not give you the desired improvement. Your stock is highly speculative and your holdings are worth less than $200 at recent market prices. We do not think that city bonds are quite the thing for such a sum and suggest that you buy two shares of some such stock as American Woolen or American Ice preferred, put it away and add to it out of future savings. Your Lyons Petroleum may actually advance in price, in which event your broker will be able to say: "I told you so," but he probably does not know that you want an investment and not a speculation.

Wonders Whether He Should Wait

Question—In submitting for your kind consideration and comment the following list of bonds and stocks, I would much appreciate it if you would kindly advise me what you think of the diversification of the bonds, which are all in $1,000 denominations, and whether it would be advisable to exchange the Japanese bonds now rather than wait until 1925. While I intend to sell the common stocks and invest in bonds or preferred stocks, I am wondering whether I would be justified in waiting a little longer before selling, as these companies seem to have passed through their worst times, and perhaps the values of the stocks may increase. If you think I should not wait any longer, I would be obliged to you if you would suggest some good investments in bonds and preferred stocks. The list: Bonds, one Union Pacific refunding 4s, 2008; one New York Central consolidated 4s, 1998; one Southern Pacific first refunding 4s, 1955; three Westinghouse Electric 7s, 1931; three French Republic 7½s, 1941; eleven United Kingdom 5½s, 1937; five Japanese government 4½s sterling, 1925; five Belgian government 7½s, 1945; three Francoamericana Industrial Corporation 7½s, 1945; eleven Cuba Cane Sugar 8s, 1931. Stocks—Five Standard Oil of New Jersey preferred, twenty Tobacco Products preferred, 100 Guantanamo Sugar Company preferred, twenty Great Northern Iron Ore Properties, twenty Railway Steel Spring common, twenty Atlantic Gulf & West Indies common, fifty Anaconda Copper Company common, fifty Inspiration Copper Company common, fifty Manati Sugar common, fifty Punta Alegre Sugar Company common, fifty Consolidated Gas Company common.—G. T. P.

Answer—The three railroad bonds you hold are of the highest grade, but it is our opinion that railroad issues constitute too small a portion of your total investment, and that you have too much tied up in foreign bonds. We suggest that you sell the Japanese government bonds now instead of waiting for them to mature, investing the proceeds of this sale in some good railroad bond, such as the Canadian Northern 6½s, due 1946, selling recently to yield about 5½ per cent, or the new Missouri, Kansas & Texas prior lien 5s, due 1962, yielding about 6 per cent. We believe also that you have too many of the Cuba Cane Sugar debentures 8s. In this bond you have a speculation, both as to the company's financial condition and as to the prospect of appreciation. We feel that we are not called on to go further than to point out the general improvement in the sugar industry and the reasonable expectation that the Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation will share in this improvement. The same reasoning applies to the three different sugar stocks that you hold. If you intend to strengthen your investment as a whole by the inclusion of more high grade bonds, we think that you can hold the Consolidated Gas and the Railway Steel Spring stocks permanently. We cannot suggest the proper time for disposing of the other stocks, for in doing so we should be passing out a "tip" on the future course of the market, and that is something we cannot attempt to do.

Four full columns of investment questions and answers will be published in The Tribune every Sunday and Monday. On other days one full column will appear.
