Woolen Goods Trade Expects Further Advances in Price

Demand for Cloth and Tariff Are Contributing Factors; New Prices May Be Made Next Week

Rumors that further price advances in worsted and woolen goods will be made next week were current in the market yesterday. The delayed demand for cloth, especially for next spring, has thrown a considerable amount of business into the markets in the last two or three weeks, with the result that manufacturers are in a more independent position than for some time past. Some mills have booked their complete forward spring production, it is understood.

The passage of the tariff also has strengthened the cloth price situation. The new rates on wool are expected to lead to firm and advancing prices for the raw material. Repeated announcements that no wage reductions are contemplated by the leading mills, together with the restoration of old wages in cotton mills, give no hope that price reductions can be made in the near future, at least, and have convinced buyers that cloth prices are likely to be advanced.

The extent of the advance to be made is a subject of much speculation. It is generally believed that the new prices will average from 5 to 10 per cent over prices now obtaining.

Jobbers have been advancing prices on fall goods lately because of the stronger demand that has manifested itself as a result of better business in the wholesale garment field. Men's clothing manufacturers have received new orders and reorders recently and many of them have been compelled to seek goods in the open market with which to complete these orders. The same thing applies to the women's wear field, with perhaps greater force, and a large number of the smaller manufacturers of cloaks, suits and dresses depend almost entirely upon the jobbers for their supplies.

Commercial Credit

Expanding business, in addition to bringing about a growing demand for commercial money, is throwing fresh burdens upon credit men. The latter have not deviated from the cautious policies adopted during the depression, but are inclined toward more liberality in credit granting than was apparent some months ago, when the outlook was not as bright as it is at present. Credit men still urge their principals not to allow customers to overbuy, however.

Commercial paper continues to discount at 4¼ and 4½ per cent.

The American Acceptance Council yesterday quoted the following discount rates on prime bankers' acceptances eligible for purchase by Federal Reserve banks:

	Bid.	Asked.
Thirty days	3⅜	3¼
Sixty days	3⅜	3¼
Ninety days	3⅜	3¼
120 days	3½	3¼
150 days	3⅝	3⅜

Call loans against acceptances, 4½ per cent.

Men's Clothes Advanced

ROCHESTER, Sept. 22.—Price advances, effective October 1, have been announced by Michaels, Stern & Co., one of the most prominent men's clothing manufacturers in the Rochester market. The increases, which run from $1 to $2.50 a garment wholesale, affect practically all suits and overcoats. The move was due, it was explained, to higher prices for woolen and worsted piece goods.

To Advertise American Goods

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A world-wide advertising campaign to convince foreign buyers of the superiority of American merchandise is contemplated by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce as the result of a conference held here recently with F. X. Wholly, vice-president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, it was learned to-day.

Increased Activity In Cotton Spinning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Increased activity in the cotton spinning industry during the month of August, as compared with July, was reported to-day by the Census Bureau. The number of active spindle hours was placed at 8,033,002,129, an increase of more than 988,000,000 over the preceding month.

There were 36,965,230 spindles in place on August 31, of which 32,499,324 were operated some time during the month, compared with 31,975,269 operated in July.

Transportation Now Governs Lumber Market

Activity in the lumber markets is no longer governed by the law of supply and demand, asserts this week's review of the market by "Lumber," but appears to be entirely in the hands of the railroads.

"The net result," says the review, "is what might be called a 'superspotted' market, which is to say, that in distributing centers where lumber supplies are available business is brisk with no cessation so far in building operations, while in those centers where stocks are about exhausted demand itself appears to consider it useless to make itself manifest. The controlling factor in prices so far as soft woods are concerned is the transit car, many of which are being disposed of in various parts of the country at low prices in order to avoid demurrage charges. These bargain offers affect prices in the respective sections and distributing centers in proportion to their number.

"Stock of all kinds of lumber are low in all except the producing centers, with an evident desire upon the part of consuming industrials, as well as retail yards to replenish. Should present transportation conditions be immediately relieved there is no doubt but that the lumber business would continue brisk well into the winter months, but that relief is not an immediate prospect."

To Standardize Colors Of Silk Underwear

A move to standardize colorings in women's silk underwear has been made by a committee representing the larger manufacturers in the industry. It is understood that the movement is sponsored by the United Waist League of America, which has approved a plan involving the selection at the beginning of each season of a definite number of shades to be offered on the market.

Knit Underwear 'Ad' Campaign Planned to Begin October 1

The $100,000 advertising campaign designed to "educate" consumers to wear knitted underwear will begin October 1, according to information received from Roy Cheney, secretary of the Knit Goods Manufacturers of America.

The campaign will stress the health, comfort and fitting features of knitted underwear, but in no manner will attack the cut and sewed athletic garments, it is said.

Credit Men to Co-operate

Closer co-operation between retail and wholesale credit men is expected to ensue as a result of conferences between a special committee representing the Retail Credit Men's National Association and the executives of the National Association of Credit Men, an organization comprising a membership of some 32,000 wholesale credit grantors.

The main point arrived at during the conference was the decision to have representatives of the national retail association serve on the credit co-operation and credit methods committee and the credit research and education committee of the National Association of Credit Men.

Hose Testing Growing

Consumer dissatisfaction with much of the silk hosiery on the market has led to a big increase in the scientific testing of silk hose being offered to retailers. Tests being submitted to the U. S. Testing Company, Inc., by the retailers ask for the size of the thread, the number of strands of which it is composed, microscopical examination of the foot, percentage of weighting present and the strength of the fabric before and after being submitted to the perspiration test.

Comparison usually is made of two or three samples of hose, although one of the large stores here recently had eight of the popular brands tested.

A reaction to this growing interest of the buyer in the exact quality of the merchandise submitted to him is being found in the "check tests" that manufacturers are having made of their own and competitors' hosiery.
