THE COURTS.

THE VILLAFRANCA CASE—FURTHER EVIDENCE FOR THE CAPTAIN.—The evidence in this case was resumed yesterday morning in the U. S. Commissioner's office, before Commissioner Osborne.

Edward C. Williams being called for the defence, testified:—He was third mate the last two voyages of the Villafranca; had served out the bread and meat; to weigh seven pounds it was necessary the scales should mark eight; witness explained this to the passengers when they inquired about the weight; witness gave the passengers their allowance; has been several years a sailor; the same meat was served to the officers as to the passengers; saw the meat served out; never saw any putrid or stinking meat or bad tea.

Cross-examined—Saw the carpenter take meat out for the Capta'n's mess; it was the same kind as the passengers had; never heard any other passenger complain of the meat but Schwartz; the passengers were allowed to go all over the ship.

Benj. P. Pease, second mate of the ship, heard Schwartz call the Captain a d——d thief and a d——d liar; he threatened to have us all hung when he got to New York.

Henry Jones (colored) was cook during the voyage; had cooked good meat for the steerage passengers; saw no stinking meat or rotton potatoes; the captain's treatment of the passengers was fine.

William Brockway—Heard Mr. Robbins say that he was perfectly satisfied with the treatment on board the ship; that he was drawn into it by the other passengers.

Cross-examined—This was at Castle Garden, in William Kenter's presence, the Monday after the landing.

By the Commissioner—Have known Capt. Anderson for 20 years. Sailed with him last about 10 years ago. Regarded him as a good man.

William Kenter testified—Had some conversation in relation to this matter, and heard some hard words about the captain. Mr. Brockway was at Castle Garden when this conversation occurred.

Cross-examined—Had the conversation on a Monday. Witness asked Robbins if the facts in this case were as published in the daily papers. Know Captain Anderson; have had a conversation with the captain in relation to this matter. It had no reference to any disturbance on the ship. Have had no communication with the captain relative to coming here to testify.

Samuel Jacobs testified to the meat being good; he did not eat pork on account of his religious belief; the captain behaved well towards witness and his family during the voyage; was not allowed to eat beef unless killed according to the rites of the Jewish church.

William Burns—was a sailor on the ship during the last voyage; the meat served out to him and the crew was good; never heard any of the passengers complain.

William Douglass has been a sailor 17 years; saw so bad meat on the ship; heard passengers complain; they complained to the captain and purser, and others; heard them complain myself; complained himself to the captain; the captain said he wouldn't give him a G—d d—d biscuit; witness went forward and got some from one of the boys; the watch all complained.

Several other witnesses were examined for the defence, all of whom testified to the kind treatment they received on board the ship, and to the good quality of the provisions.

REBUTTING EVIDENCE FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

Hannah McGuire, recalled, testified she had never told Mr. Bowers that she was satisfied with her treatment.

Charles Nathans had talked with Johns about the ship; asked him what he thought about it; he said it was the worst ship he ever saw in his life; never saw such bad provisions on a packet ship, and he had travelled all round the world.

Jeremiah Quintock had never told Johns she was satisfied with the treatment; had commenced a suit against the captain in the Marine Court.

Matthew Robbins knows Johns; has spoken to him about the beef and pork; he said he had been abroad in man-of-ships, but never saw any worse; witness complained to him of the character of the beef and pork.

After the examination of several other witnesses, whose evidence was of a rebutting character, the evidence on both sides closed. The Court then adjourned till 2 o'clock to day, when the counsel will sum up the case.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS CONCEALED UNDER A BED—SUIT FOR ITS POSSESSION.—An interesting case came up on appeal in the Supreme Court (General Term), yesterday, in which Mary Cooper was plaintiff, and Melanethon Burr and others, defendants. Catharine Cooper, it appears from the case, in this appeal, took the plaintiff from an asylum and brought her up. Catharine dying when the child was nine years old, she went to live with William, and on his death, with Mary Cooper, down to her death in 1861, living, however, with the latter on wages as a servant, at $4 per month. During this time Miss Cooper was supported by an annuity of $1,000, a large part of which she was in the habit of turning into gold and silver coin, and concealing it under the bed. Miss Cooper died, it is said, insane, and the defendants removed as her next of kin, the coin amounting then to nearly $14,000 in gold and silver. They left the plaintiff all she claimed of the furniture, etc. Mary Flood, by the adopted name of Mary Cooper, brought an action to recover the money from the relatives, setting up a gift to her of the whole by Miss Cooper, shortly before her death. The action was tried two years ago, and resulted in a verdict for Mrs. Mathewson, she having again changed her name, this time by marriage. From this they have appealed, and the argument is now on.

APPLICATION FOR CHILDREN.—In the Supreme Court yesterday the case of Hardenbrook vs. Hardenbrook came up before Judge Barnard. The plaintiff in this case sought to recover the custody of her children. It may be remembered that in this case, after seven years married, and according to Mr. Hardenbrook, unhappy life, the wife commenced a suit for a divorce, which after lingering a year and a half was terminated by the husband withdrawing his defence on an agreement or understanding that the children of the marriage should remain with him. Since that time Mrs. Hardenbrook has re-married, and her husband having become wealthy, while the marriage is childless desires to have her children. Mr. Hardenbrook, while residing in Connecticut, has also married, and has since returned to this State. The relator takes the ground that as Mr. Hardenbrook is living in open defiance of the laws of the state he is not fit for the charge of the children. He retorts with charges of a frivolous and pleasure loving life in his former wife. The case has been up once or twice before. Judge Barnard decided to examine the children privately as to their own preferences before rendering a decision.

HOW AN INSURANCE COMPANY IS STARTED.—The case of Wakeman against Dailey came up yesterday in the General Term of the Supreme Court. This was an appeal from a judgment against the defendant as one of the Directors of the Webster Fire Insurance Company, organised under the general law in 1854. Dailey became a director in 1855. In that year the Comptroller discovered on investigation a deficit of the capital, vitiating the whole organization. A receiver was appointed and the affairs of the company went into liquidation. The plaintiff bought from one Charles B. Huntington large amounts of the stock between June and November, 1855, on which the receiver has paid no dividends, and which is claimed to be worthless.

It is claimed by the defendant Dailey that he had nothing to do with the formation of the company, and that his becoming a director does not make him liable his name only appearing on the business cards of the company. The referee gave judgment against all the defendants for $7,714 90. From this judgment the defendant Dailey appeals.

THE LAZARUS MURDER.—James Clark was arraigned in the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, on a charge of being accessory to the murder of Harry Lazarus, on the morning of the 3d of January last. After considerable time had been consumed in empannelling a jury, Mr. Hall opened the case for the prosecution.

Richard Birmingham was the first witness called for the prosecution. He deposed he knew the prisoner; drove him and McDonald out in a sleigh on the 1st of January last; drove to Houston st., between Crosby and Broadway; saw Friery coming out of his door with McDonald and Clark; they then went into Lazarus's house, and they came out together; witness then drove them to the Bowery and up to 71st street and Third avenue; during the drive, McDonald pulled the reins from his hands; heard one of them say, "He's dead, the son of a ——;" could not tell which one of them said that.

Officer Dwyer deposed that he saw Clark, Friery and McDonald the Tuesday after New Year's in 13th street; it was about 1 o'clock in the day; he followed them with two other policemen he had met to a lager-beer saloon; while there Friery recognized him; Clark and McDonald and Friery drank at the bar; had been looking for Friery that day; witness and the other officers then arrested Friery, McDonald and Clarke; heard Clarke say before the Coroner's jury that he had a cigar and went to light it at the upper end of the bar in Lazarus', and while he was there the murder was committed.

Mr. Spencer then made an eloquent appeal in behalf of the prisoner, after which James McDonald was called for the defence. He deposed that Clark was intoxicated at the time that he tried to stop the difficulty at Friery's saloon; saw Lazarus when he was struck; did not see Clark help Friery into the sleigh.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hall—Was present in the saloon when Friery killed Lazarus; never gave information of the fact to the authorities or the police; McDonald, who pleaded guilty of aiding Friery to avoid arrest, was a cousin of his.

Mr. Curtis then addressed the jury for the defence, after which Judge Russel said he would deliver his charge to-day, to which time the court was adjourned.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.—Advertising Swindle.—Officer Williams, yesterday arrested William Bach alias Thomas Andrews, on a charge of defrauding George E. Miller, of 759½ Grand street, out of $250. The complainant alleges, that on the 11th inst., in consequence of an advertisement in a morning paper, he called at 25 Nassau street, where he met Bach. The latter desired a loan of $250, promising to give Miller employment at the rate of $50 a month, and as collateral security for his money, a certificate of stock representing one hundred shares of the "Malapedia Petroleum Company of the City of New York." Miller believing the representations of Bach alias Andrews, advanced the money. Bach immediately disappeared and was not seen again by Miller until after his arrest. Bach was committed for examination.

Assault and Robbery.—Officer McArthur, of the Jefferson Market Police Court, arrested James Cusick yesterday, on a charge of assaulting and robbing John Cunningham, of No. 1 Congress Place. The complainant alleges that he was assaulted and robbed by Cusick and Felix Larkin, in a saloon No. 205 West Houston street. Cunningham said that he entered the saloon on Sunday night, where he was badly beaten by the accused, and robbed of $766. After his arrest, Cusick denied all knowledge of the money. Justice Ledwith committed him for trial in default of $1,500 bail. Larkin has not been arrested.

Robbed in a Saloon.—Officer Tuttle, of the 8th Precinct, yesterday arrested James Martin, of 97 West Houston street, on a charge of having stolen a gold watch and chain from Aaron H. Burrell, of Harlem, in a saloon at 53 Grand street. Martin and others assaulted the complainant in the saloon and the prisoner seized his watch, with which he fled. Mr. Burrell pursued the thief and caused his arrest. The watch was found on his person. Justice Ledwith committed him for trial without bail.

Dishonest Clerk.—John Strasmer was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing $331 from his late employer Frank A. Fletcher, of No. 327 First avenue. The prisoner acknowledged his guilt and refunded $209 of the money.

Arrest of Jaques Monnaise.—Jaques Monnaise, who is well known to the Police, was arrested on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, at 29 Grand street. Alderman Norton, of the 8th Ward, appearing as complainant.

Brooklyn.

FIRE.—Yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, a fire broke out in the stable of Mr. John Thomas, in the rear of No. 104 Washington street, from which the flames spread to the adjoining stables of the Coney Island Railroad Co., and to the stable of Mr. Lockwood Abraham. The carpenter shop of Decker & Buckley next caught, and the flames extended to the stable of Husted & Carll, all of which were totally destroyed. Damage about $3,500; insured. The House No. 3 Stewart street, occupied by Edward O'Neil and Anthony Johnson, was damaged to the extent of $200; no insurance.

STEAM FIRE ENGINES FOR NEW YORK.—The Fire Department of this city (W.D.) has been notified that three steam engines would be required to attend to fires in the lower part of New York from this date. Those selected are Nos. 7 and 14. The other steamer has not been designated.

THE BROOKLYN COMMON COUNCIL met yesterday afternoon and transacted a good deal of routine business. The Joint Board met subsequently, and discussed the budget of the next year's expenditures, but without coming to any definite conclusion.

THE FENIANS.—Father McKenna having returned from his European trip was at his accustomed duties on Sunday. The Rev. gentleman took occasion to condemn in very strong language the Fenian movement, and advised his congregation to wash their hands of it. He stated that it was creating great trouble in Ireland, and that some young men had been transported in consequence of it.

Jersey City.

GOING TO A PRIZE FIGHT.—About fifty New York sporting men and bruisers left Jersey City at 7 o'clock Sunday night on their way to attend a prize fight, to take place somewhere on the banks of the Delaware River yesterday.

BOAT UPSET.—NARROW ESCAPE.—A serious accident occurred to a boating party off Jersey City on Sunday evening. A gentleman in the lower part of the city, hearing cries proceeding from the direction of the Southern Cove, jumped into a boat, and guided by the sounds, soon reached a sailing boat, which had turned bottom uppermost. Clinging to the sides of the boat were five ladies and five gentlemen, all of whom were fortunately rescued, although in an exhausted condition. The said boat had been upset by a sudden gust of wind.

ON A RAMPAGE.—Three young men, named Michael Danlin, John Jones and Martin Henly, were arrested on Sunday and taken before Recorder Martindale yesterday, charged with having on Sunday evening conducted themselves in a very disorderly manner in one of the Jersey City and Hoboken cars. It was also alleged that when they were afterwards confined in the cells the young men conducted themselves in the most disorderly manner, announcing themselves as Fenians, and threatening that as soon as they should get out they would raise a mob of brother Fenians and demolish the City Prison. The Recorder required them to pay a fine of $5 each.

A DANGEROUS WOMAN.—Yesterday morning, a woman named Clara Chapman was arrested, charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct, and threatening to take the life of citizens with an axe. The Recorder sent her to the County Jail for thirty days.

Hoboken.

RAID ON SUNDAY BALL PLAYERS.—On Sunday afternoon, about five hundred persons were assembled at Fox Hill, back of the Elysian Fields, to witness the base ball games that take place there on every pleasant Sunday. On the two Sabbaths previous, the ball players were notified by the police that they must desist, to which they paid but little heed. Accordingly, on Sunday afternoon, Captain Davis, of the Hoboken police, accompanied by the entire police force, made a descent upon the Sabbath breakers and succeeded in capturing about twenty of the ball players. The balance of the crowd escaped in all directions, some of them leaving behind their hats, coats and vests. The prisoners were taken before Recorder Avery and fined $1 each and costs, and at the same time were informed that ball playing in the city limits on the Sabbath hereafter would not be allowed. There was a general scraping up of stamps to liquidate the fines, and some of the fancy looking individuals were under the necessity of putting up their watches as collateral in order to raise the money.

An Extraordinary Monomaniac.

A singular instance of monomania, says the Boston ADVERTISER, that has resulted in the death of a respectable citizen of Rhode Island, has just come to light. Through some strange aberration of mind the unfortunate man fell to eating stones and swallowing sticks of wood, instead of the wholesome food which was at his service. When these were too large to be taken conveniently, he forced them down his throat with a stick kept for the purpose. In attempting to do this on one occasion he pierced his neck, making a frightful orifice in the external surface, which resulted in his death. A post-mortem examination showed the astonishing fact that his stomach and intestines contained one stone 2½ inches long, weighing nearly 2 ounces, another of irregular shape, 1½ inches in diameter, another an inch in diameter, a corn cob 2½ inches in length, a piece of wood four inches long and half an inch square, and various other articles of the same character. This state of things had not seemed to affect the general health of the monomaniac, who, but for his eagerness to perform still more wonderful feats in this line, might have been yet among the living. It was certainly a remarkable case of physical endurance, as well as a curious freak of a disordered mind.
