THE DEPARTMENT OF FRAUD.

An Inquiry Into the Attorney-General's Contingent Expenses—Also the Frauds in Western Arkansas and Southern New York.

Correspondence of The Sun.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Speaker Blaine and Gen. Butler have been compelled by THE SUN's exposure of the frauds in the Western District of Arkansas to withdraw all objection to the investigation of the Department of Justice by Mr. Sener's Committee. Mr. Butler himself moved to table his motion to reconsider the resolution ordering this investigation and the motion was agreed to. Nevertheless it was journalized under Speaker Blaine's direction as withdrawn, thus making it appear that there was no vote of the House on the question. Mr. Sener proposes to commence the investigations at once and prosecute them energetically.

Messrs. Sener and Durham have been appointed a sub-committee to investigate the expenditures in the Southern District of New York, and inquire generally into the affairs of that district. They will try to discover why it is that there is such a difference between the judgments recovered for the United States in this district and the amount actually realized therefrom. By the Attorney-General's report for 1873 it appears that the amount of judgments entered in favor of the United States was $2,298,29, while the amount actually realized was only $21,514 81. The committee intends to find out why it is that certain businessmen have never been forced to pay over the amount of bail forfeited in certain cases; also, why judgments obtained against certain parties have never been collected.

There are several judicial districts in which there are great discrepancies between judgments obtained and amounts collected. The Southern Districts of Illinois and Louisiana are as bad as the Southern District of New York.

Mr. Sener's committee will also begin an inquiry at once into contingent expenditures of the Department of Justice, and press the same regardless of consequences. Mr. Sener says he means to set an example to the other committees on expenditures in the various departments. He believes that a representative has higher duties to perform than merely to look after the interests of his party.
