

PROGRAMME FOR THE FAIR.
WEDNESDAY.

Gates open at 9 o'clock, A. M.
From 10 to 12 an exhibition in the arena of all the cattle, under direction of the Superintendent.

From 12 to 2 a display of all the horses, beginning with those led by the halter, and closing with saddle, single and matched harness horses, as directed by the Superintendent.

THURSDAY.

Gates open at 9 o'clock A. M.

The forenoon will be devoted to the examination in the arena, by the Committee, of all cattle, succeeded by a display of the halter-led horses and mules, as directed by Superintendent.

At this contest the Committee will tie the ribbons.

A glass-ball shooting contest will take place during the morning.

FRIDAY.

Gates open at 9 o'clock A. M.

From 10 till 11 a display in the arena of the premium saddle horses.

From 11 till 2 the same by the single and double harness horses.

At 2 P. M. the premiums will be awarded from the Executive Stand, at the conclusion of which the Fair will close.

At 3.30 P. M. a meeting of the Society will be held for the election of officers for ensuing year.

Each morning of the week, from 9 till 10 o'clock, will be devoted by the respective Committees to plowing matches and tests of all kinds of implements. Plowmen are expected to furnish their own teams.

Committees will meet at the Secretary's office at 9 o'clock of each day.

Animals may be exhibited under more than one class at the same Fair.

PRICE OF ADMISSION.

Adults 50 cts.; children under 12 years 25.

Coaches, carriages, wagons, &c. (includes paying for personal admission,) 50 cents; buggies and saddle-horses, 25 cents.

Delegates from Agricultural Societies, reporters, &c., will receive a ticket upon application at the Secretary's office, which will entitle them to the privileges of the grounds during the Fair.

"Can it be possible my Algernon no longer loves his little brown eyes! Can it be that her caresses have become irksome to him at last?" said a heart-broken young pullback to her "studdy company" the other evening, as the latter seemed inclined to remove her clinging form from his breast. "Your Algernon is all right," said the youth, with an uneasy squirm, "but if you don't let up a minute, Matilda, the spiral of my stud will come out through my backbone, sure."

I could never think well of a man's intellectual or moral character if he was habitually unfaithful to his appointments.

WIT AND HUMOUR.

A strong-minded woman will always be speaker of the house.

Women's tears are always comin' thro' their eye.

Even the bootblack says his business is brightening up.

A sociable man is one who, when he has ten minutes to spare, goes and bothers somebody who hasn't.

Be magnanimous. If the butter at your boarding-house is stronger than you are, don't tackle it.

A young poetess pathetically inquires, "Can love die?" We don't think it can, but it is occasionally love sick.

A man knocked a billy goat's head off, and remarked to a friend that he thought he had "bust the button" off.

To be interesting a speaker should be full of his subject, unless he happens to be speaking against liquor.

Says a sententious writer, "No man is born wise." Just so. If he were wise, he wouldn't care to be born, probably.

The amount of pin-money required by the married woman depends on whether she uses diamond pins or rolling-pins.

It is hard to say which is the most crushed. The wife's new bonnet, or the unfeeling husband who sat down upon it.

An Irish editor speaks of a child run over by a wagon three years old, being cross-eyed and having on pan telettes at the time which never spoke afterward.

When a woman finds she cannot afford a new dress, she economizes by spending as much as it would have cost in buying ribbon to cover the old one up with bows.

The editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin says for his part he wants to see the wife of the Cardiff Giant. The Buffalo Express hopes that his intentions are honorable.

A pretty little maiden had a pretty little fan; She engaged in a flirtation with an ugly little man.

He won her affections which she gave to him for life,

But the honeymoon was busted by the fel'er's other wife.

"Father" said a wistful lass, about sixteen years of age, "I know something about grammar, but I cannot decline matrimony, nor see the reason why myself and Gilbert cannot be conjugated."

Minnie C. Ballard, in a poem, asks; "Would you love me as well, true heart, had I a face less fair?" If you have $50,000 in bank, Minnie, a change of face will not dampen the ardor of his love—but don't encourage a boil to sprout on your Grecian nose to try him. They not only disfigure the beauty to an alarming degree, but they are also very painful.
