A VERY COSTLY CAR RIDE.

More Than $2,000 Spent on a Dispute About Six Cents.

Reported for The Sun by the Count Joannes.

In the Superior Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Spier, was again tried the now celebrated action, Thomas Hamilton agt. Third Avenue Railroad Company. This was an action in damages for forcibly ejecting the plaintiff as a passenger from one of the company's cars for refusing to pay a second fare, he having paid in full from Ninety-first to Thirty-first street, June 20, 1868. Counsellor Joannes instituted an action against the company for his client, and obtained a verdict of $500 and costs. This was confirmed at Special Term and at General Term, with additional costs. The defendants carried the case to the Court of Appeals at Albany. That Court decided that in this case exemplary damages were error, as charged by the Judge, and that a new trial should be had, with costs to abide event; but that plaintiff was entitled to damages in compensation for extra fare, loss of time, expenses, and adequate recompense for wounded feelings, degradation, &c.

The new trial took place yesterday, the Count Joannes again pleading for plaintiff, and James P. Lowrey, Esq., for defendant. The jury believed the plaintiff, the only witness, and not the several called for defendant, the employees of the company. The Count in his closing speech compared that fact to a brave single sailor in the war with China seizing and tying together a dozen of that nation by their long hair as prisoners. It is not the number of men that make a brave and true army, but the high quality of each true soldier. So in a battle or action in a court of justice, it is not the number of witnesses, but their quality and truth that gives the victory, as in this case, I doubt not, will be rendered for the plaintiff, who, like his great namesake of our Revolutionary War, resists tyranny and oppression upon principle, as I do in my own case now about to be tried in the Supreme Court, and not for the paltry amount involved, but the historic "one penny" or the "six cents" extra fare demanded herein, &c.

Mr. Justice Spier made the charge to the jury with perfect impartiality and legal leaning, quoting from the decision in the case by the Court of Appeals—just reported in 53 N. Y. Reports, p. 25. The jury, composed of first-class citizens, retired to consider and decide, and in less than half an hour returned with a verdict for plaintiff, in damages $1,500. Defendant's counsel demanded each juror to answer separately, and the same result was given and duly recorded. Upon application, the court instantly gave Counsellor Joannes an extra allowance of $25, or five per cent. on verdict. The verdict, costs, and interest in this case are now nearly $2,250. The defendant offered in court six cents at the first trial. No exceptions were taken by either counsel, it being understood that the present trial should be final. Yet defendant demanded a week to make a case, to which the court replied that it was a confession in that their case was weak. Counsellor Joannes thanked the jury in the name of his client and as for public justice, and he was heartily congratulated by members of the bar and others for his now double victory in this important action.

What Gov. Dix's Pen May Do.

Gov. Dix has fifty bills relative to Brooklyn under consideration, and his action on some of them is anxiously awaited. The amendments to the Charter are unknown, and Mayor Hunter has requested the Governor to delay action until they can be considered. The Governor's Secretary telegraphed to Mayor Hunter yesterday, asking him to attend to the office in person or by representative on Monday, when the ferry bill reducing the rates of fare be signed. Mr. Knapp, the lessee of the Twenty-third and Tenth street ferries to Greenpoint will stop his boats, in which case three ferries only will remain, the one ended Bridge street will be shut up. There is a proposition in Greenpoint for a stock company to reorganize the ferries in case Mr. Knapp closes them. The Mayor is to be represented in Albany to-day.

Fencing in a Man Trap.

Last November a building which Alfred Speer was erecting in Passaic fell and killed two men. Speer was indicted for manslaughter. He went on putting up the building again in the same flimsy manner, and the Common Council directed him to put in two additional walls and two rows of posts between the floors. This he did not do, and—after pay the authorities took possession of the structure, had the carpenters cease working, and built a fence around the trap twenty feet from the foundations, so that when the thing falls it will not kill anybody.
