INDIANS ON THE WAR PATH.

GEN. PHIL. SHERIDAN PUNISHING THE HOSTILE SIOUX.

Fifty Indians Killed and Wounded—Trouble with the Ponca-Brule Warriors—A Battle between the Sioux and Rees.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The following despatch was received at the army headquarters this morning:

LONE TREE, Neb., July 9.

To Col. Whistle, Headquarters of the Army:

In consequence of the hostile demonstrations by the Sioux in the Wind River Valley on the white settlers and the Shoshone Indians, one of the latest being the murder and horrible mutilation of two white women, Dr. Jum, agent for the Shoshones, made the request that the Sioux should be punished, if possible. On the morning of the 26 of July, while Gen. Ord and myself were at Camp Brown, in company with Lieut. Bates and Capt. Torry of the Thirteenth Infantry, commanding Campbtown, was directed to send Capt. Bates and Lieut. Robinson with Company B, second cavalry, accompanied by twenty Indian scouts under Lieut. Young, of the Fourth Infantry, and about one hundred and fifty Shoshones under their Chief Washakie, to attack a camp of the Sioux lately established on the north side of the Owe Mountain range where the Wind River breaks through, about ninety miles from Camp Brown. The attack was made at 3 A.M. on Saturday, July 4, the result being fifty Sioux killed and wounded and over one hundred horses captured. Our loss was two men, and Lieut. Young and three men wounded. Lieut. Young died next day. Capt. Torry reports that the result was not as satisfactory as desired, on account of bad behavior on the part of the Shoshones. Capt. Torry went out on the 30th with ambulances and additional men to meet Capt. Bates.

P. H. SHERIDAN, Lieutenant General.

TROUBLE WITH THE BRULE WARRIORS.

Capt. Joseph Bush, commanding the military station at the Lower Brule Agency, Dakota Territory, under date of June 25, writes to the War Department:

On the 19th of June a Ponca Brule Indian named O'Mahu threatened the life of the government trader and Indian agent, and endeavored to take certain articles from the trading store. At the request of the agent, I sent mounted men in pursuit, who captured the Indian's mule, but the Indian escaped into the thick underbrush, after having fired several times on his pursuers. Upon the return of the men a courier was sent to the Indian camp, seven miles below, with instructions to the chiefs to capture and bring in the offender. In about four hours some two hundred and fifty warriors, mounted, appeared at the post with the prisoner, but refused to surrender him unless the trader was given up to them. They assumed a menacing attitude. All were heavily armed, some with two pistols and repeating rifles. I at once placed my howitzers in position, and loaded with canister. The agent then demanded the prisoner. After a long parley the chiefs advanced with the prisoner, who was taken in charge by the corporal of the guard. The Indians were then ordered to return to their camp, and warned that if they fired a gun I would open fire. After a time all of the chiefs left, except the head men, who held a council at the quarters of the interpreter, some twenty rods from the post. At the request of the agent I stated my hope and place I had gone in position to intimidate the Indians, who were very saucy, threatening the agent with arms in their hands, &c. As they were departing I proceeded to the place of council, when a demand was made upon me for the prisoner. I had no time to answer before I was surrounded by mounted and armed warriors, who prevented my return to my quarters. After some talk I proceeded to shake hands with their horses and was not molested. The Indians were informed that if a shot was fired it would be a signal for my force to open fire. I am thoroughly convinced that nothing but the unexpectedly determined action of the agent and troops prevented a conflict. The Indians are well fed, and have no cause for complaint, and it is my opinion that nothing but a good show of force will prevent an outbreak among them.

THE SIOUX ON THE WARPATH.

Capt. Carlile Boyd, of the Seventeenth Infantry, Commanding, at the Cheyenne Agency, Dakota Territory, writes under date of June 20:

The majority of the Indians who left the agency on the expedition supposed to be for the purpose of assisting the Shoshoni Indians, have returned to the neighborhood of the agency. The reports brought back by those who have returned are to the effect that the expedition went to Fort Berthod, passing by Heart Butte both going and returning. It is stated that they shot a woman across the river at the Bee village, and drew the Berthod Indians across the river into the affair, and that they had a very spirited fight and severe fighting, the Sioux being greatly superior in numbers; that eight Rees at least were killed, the Sioux having only one killed and eight wounded. Two white men who were at a ranch and Indian farm about twelve or fifteen miles from the station, a lad of sixteen or seventeen years of age, who, with his father and girl, were at the ranch, are reported to have been killed by the Sioux on the 2d instant. Several fresh scalps have been brought in by the Sioux party never which they have been very jubilant. It is informed that the supply of provisions to the Indians at the agency is exhausted, except some flour and corn, and that the agent does not know when he is to expect a further supply, should the issue of rations be stopped. This will be a serious feature, if lengthened period, I think it will lead to serious depredations, if not to actual warfare on the part of the Indians, which I have been in hopes would be kept, by feeding them, in a pacific and semi-friendly state.

A WHITE DESPERADO.

Col. John E. Smith of the Fourteenth Infantry, commanding the Sioux expedition, under date of Camp Robinson, Neb., June 22, writes:

Toussant Kinsella was captured at the Red Cloud Agency by Lieut. Emmet Crawford of the Third Cavalry and Capt. E. B. Welsh of the Fourteenth Infantry on the 14th inst. Kinsella was convicted of murder at Cheyenne, W. T., from where he broke jail, and took refuge with the Indians of the Red Cloud Agency, among whom he has lived thoroughly disguised as an Indian, and apparently with impunity, defying arrest, and threatening any who should attempt to do so. Repeated attempts have been made for him upon the Indians, which they have as often refused to comply with. Kinsella has threatened the life of the agent, Mr. Dixon, and has shot at one Kinman, an employee at the agency, threatened the life of Capt. E. B. Wells, of the Second Cavalry, for capturing him in the first instance, and recently on Crawford's telling him he was his prisoner, shot at him when he was tried. Kinsella and others delayed the mail 24 hours on the 12th of June, on White River, about five or six miles from Robinson, when Kinsel is severely wounded in both legs, he having refused to surrender, and attempted to escape by running. He will be taken to Fort Robinson, Nebraska Territory, where he will be turned over to the civil authorities.

A CHEYENNE MASSACRE.

The Indian Commissioner has received a report from Agent Miles of the Cheyenne and Arrapahoe Agency, dated Darlington, Idaho Territory, June 20, enclosing a slip from the Wichita Beacon, dated the 24th inst., by which it appears that three men had been killed in the vicinity of Medicine Lodge by Cheyennes. Agent Miles says there is no reason to disbelieve this statement. It is simply carrying into execution what they have said they would do, unless the Government would protect them from the Texas settlers of the border. Said returns to Texas some of the animals already stolen from them, all of which could have been done and would have been done, could we have had the timely assistance of a sufficient force.

Large Bodies of Indians on the Warpath.

CHICAGO, July 9.—A special despatch from Topeka, Kansas, says a large party of Comanches, Kiowas, and Arapahoes are on the war path in southwestern Kansas, threatening lives and property. A party of buffalo hunters was surrounded at Cimmaron river, and they fought for five days with no prospect of escape. Six whites and sixteen Indians were killed. Settlers are flocking to the towns, and crops are going to waste. An Indian force of 3,000 braves, including the cutthroats Lone Wolf and Kicking Bird, are in the field committing depredations.

OMAHA, July 9.—Telegraphic advices from Fort Laramie state that reports received from Spotted Tail's agency say that seventy-five lodges of Oglalas, under Black Twin, are moving toward that place, and that the Uncapamas and Minneconjous are moving across the Yellowstone river. The Arrapahoes and Cheyennes are camped on the head waters of the Big Horn river, near the Big Horn Mountains.

A Clergyman and his Wife Killed by a Thunder Bolt while at Worship.

Falls Church, (Va.) Cor. of Washington Star.

Richard S. Shreve was the Methodist preacher of the Botetourt Circuit, and the Rev. John Shreve was the Methodist preacher on an adjoining circuit. On Tuesday last, these brothers, with the wife of the first named, had been visiting a friend and returned to the house of the first named near night. The evening meal had been prepared, and before partaking of it, family prayer was proposed. Mr. R. S. Shreve has several children, the eldest of whom is seven. The youngest of them being fretful, the mother directed the eldest to take all of them into an adjoining room and to quiet them during worship. The adult persons then seated themselves for family worship. Mr. John Shreve one side of the window, Mrs. Richard Shreve sat opposite to him. Mr. Richard Shreve seating himself in front of the window, and the servant girl was seated near a table in the centre of the room. The Bible had but just been passed to John Shreve to commence the service, when the death dealing electric stroke came. The heavens were overcast with a dark, angry cloud, and a few large, scattering drops of water had fallen as the only premonitions or precursors of that awful electric stroke. The eldest of the children came into the room immediately after the report, and surveyed the scene, and gives the only intelligible account. Her father and mother were prostrate on the floor. Mr. John Shreve was staggering about the room, uttering some incoherent words and soon fell to the floor. The servant girl was paralyzed with terror. The little girl thought to place her hand over her father's heart, and it was still beating. The nearest neighbor was half a mile distant. The servant girl was unacquainted with the road, and finally the eldest girl, leaving the other children in that house of death, piloted the servant girl through the storm to the nearest neighbor for aid. The Rev. John Shreve recovered, but the electric bolt did its perfect work with Richard S. Shreve and his wife, furnishing one of the most startling exemplifications on record of the truth of the line in the burial service in the Book of Common Prayer to wit: "In the midst of life we are in death."

A Phase of Border Life.

From the Chief, Kirwin, Kansas

The details of a brutal outrage comes to us from the Sappa, sixty miles west of Mendota. A wretch, whose name our informant had forgotten, went to the dwelling of a settler named Booth and attacked Mrs. Booth, beating her with a club until she was senseless. Mr. Booth, who was within a few miles of Kirwin, on his way east, was overtaken by a messenger with the word that his wife was dying from the effects of her injuries.

Later. Since writing the above information has reached us that Mr. Booth arrived at home he found the man Adams in custody of the citizens, and shot him with a carbine four times through the head and three times through the body, killing him instantly.

HOW THEY SETTLED IT.

A Little Quarrel Between Memphis Attorneys—Pistols for Two.

From the Memphis Avalanche, July 8.

A few weeks ago Dr. Snyder, an old physician of this city, and Mr. M. D. Welch, a well-known attorney, had a transaction in real estate. From some reason the doctor imagined himself wronged, and to friends spoke of Mr. Welch in highly disparaging terms. Last Monday Mr. Welch was told that Mr. B. B. Barnes, another lawyer of this city, was using Dr. Snyder's version of the affair, and was characterizing his conduct as dishonorable. Thereupon Mr. Welch called upon Mr. Barnes and told him that the report he was circulating was slanderous, and that he must quit using it or he would hold him personally responsible. Mr. Barnes gave the name of Dr. Snyder as his authority for the report. Mr. Welch said the doctor was too old a man for him to go after, but that Mr. Barnes must not repeat the report. Mr. Barnes said that if he was convinced the report was false he would quit using it; but not knowing that, he should continue to use it whenever he saw fit. Mr. Welch said, "Well, we had as well settle this difficulty right now," and from his pocket, proffered Barnes one. The one which Welch had in his right hand being cocked, Barnes said: "I'll not take that pistol, for you will shoot at me with that one before I could defend myself." Dr. Heber Jones, whose office is immediately across the hall, then ran in and persuaded Welch to leave the office. Another interview was had the same day between the two, with Mr. M. B. Trezevant, to whom Mr. Barnes had repeated the alleged slander, and Mr. Ben Coleman, present. After a few words Mr. Welch again produced his artillery, but Mr. Coleman stopped the threatened effusion of gore. It was finally agreed to leave the matter to Dr. Jones, who was present at both interviews, and who was to act as arbitrator. Messrs. Coleman and Welch accordingly crossed over the street and into the office of Dr. Jones. They had been there but a half minute when Mr. Barnes came in and took a seat facing Mr. Welch, who was also seated. They looked at each other for a moment, and Mr. Welch said:

PULLING TWO PISTOLS

"Mr. Barnes, I have come here to settle this matter."

Mr. Barnes replied, "I have come here to settle it, too."

PISTOLS AGAIN.

With this Mr. Welch started to draw his pistol, seeing which Mr. Coleman jumped and caught him, while Mr. Barnes exclaimed, "Don't pull your pistol, or I'll shoot you." Mr. Welch, being a stronger man than Mr. Coleman, succeeded in getting his pistol hand with the pistol cocked, up near his head, seeing which Mr. Coleman very prudently stooped. As he did so Mr. Barnes fired, the ball striking Mr. Welch over the left temple, about one inch from the eye, and, plowing under the scalp, came out behind the ear, contusing the skull as it passed along. Mr. Welch dropped to the floor, and it was first thought that he was killed. A carriage was procured, and Mr. Welch, accompanied by friends, was about an hour later taken to his residence. It is said to be thought that his wound will prove fatal unless inflammation should set in. Mr. Barnes, after the shooting, went to the office of Chief of Police Athy and surrendered himself. He was taken before Justice Miller, who admitted him to bail in the sum of $2,000.

McCowan's $16 Cow.

On the 18th ult. Michael McCowan of Tremont paid Mrs. Griffin of Fairmount $16 for a cow. Yesterday he took the animal back to Mrs. Griffin and demanded his money. Mrs. Griffin laughed at him, asking what kind of cow he expected to get for $16. Then he left the cow in front of Mrs. Griffin's door. Mrs. Griffin drove her down Morris street. The first object that amused the quadruped was Mrs. Wilson of Mount Hope, who was gaily trimming the flower beds in front. The cow took Mrs. Wilson on her horns and tossed her over a stone wall, breaking her right arm and seriously injuring her internally. The cow was killed.

Mr. Bergh's Zealot.

One of Mr. Henry Bergh's amiable subordinates visited the hippodrome the other day, and finding the rhinoceros without water to swim in, ordered the showmen to provide a tank of proper dimensions forthwith. It was explained to him that the rhinoceros is not an amphibious animal, but was induced to swim in streams. So it is. But Mr. Bergh's officer, who, as the reader will see, is not a naturalist would listen to no theory, and gave the unexpected warning that if they did not obtain a tank they might take the consequence.
