THE "DEVIL FISH" RAILROAD.

Brooklyn Aldermen Granting Its Many-Armed Franchise Despite the Veto.

The Brooklyn Aldermen yesterday, by a vote of 17 to 6, granted a franchise to the Kings County Elevated Railroad Company to construct an elevated railway over the principal streets of Brooklyn, thus overriding the veto of Mayor Howell. The company is composed largely of Boston capitalists, and Mr. Hiram G. Bond is its President. The stockholders came to Brooklyn and took up the stock after the company was incorporated under the auspices of a Rapid Transit Commission, appointed by Mayor Howell. The Board of Aldermen, on May 26, granted the franchise to the company, naming a number of routes that they are to use. The conditions of the grant were that the company should give a bond of $200,000 that from the day of the first operation of their road the company should pay into the city treasury semi-annually two per cent. of the gross receipts for the benefit of the city, and that the company should submit to the arbitrament of the assessors for the city of Brooklyn the question of the amount of damage or injury, including depreciation in value, done to any property abutting on and along the routes; the company to covenant that it will abide and be bound by all decisions of the arbitrators, or a majority of them, and that any property holder or owner shall have a right to an assignment pro rata to the extent of any award in his or her favor of the bond given to the Mayor and Comptroller in trust for the benefit of the property holders or owners.

It was also conditioned that the roads were to be constructed in the best possible manner and be operated by the most approved motors.

The road was to be completed and in full operation from Fulton Ferry along Fulton street to Nostrand avenue, within one year from June 1, 1879; and from Nostrand avenue, along Fulton street, to the boundary line between the city of Brooklyn and the town of New Lots within eighteen months from June 1, 1879; and from Fulton Ferry along Water street, to Washington street, along Washington street, to its intersection with Fulton street and Myrtle avenue, along Myrtle avenue to Nostrand avenue, within one year from June 1, 1879; and the road along Fourth avenue from Flatbush avenue and Atlantic avenue within two years from June 1, 1879. The franchise was granted after prolonged opposition from the Fulton street and Myrtle avenue property owners by a vote of 16 to 6. Mayor Howell promptly vetoed the measure.

It has been known for some days that another vote had been obtained so as to override this veto, but it was not expected that the measure would be rushed through yesterday. Near the close of the session Alderman Stewart moved the adoption of the resolutions, notwithstanding the veto of the Mayor. Alderman French said that from the look of things he judged that all the speeches he might make would not change the result, as enough votes doubtless were ready to grant the company the great franchise. He added that the original report of the Committee had provided for bonds in $1,000,000 from the company, but that the sum had been cut down to $200,000, and when that was forfeited the man whose property was ruined had no redress.

The franchise was then granted by the following vote:

Affirmative—Alderman Dwyer, McCarty, Kane, Stewart, McIntyre, O'Connell, Gunzer, Reuss, Smith, Petry, Waters, Williams, Hacker, Fritz, Seaman, Dreyer, Powers—17.

Negative—Aitken, Black, Graham, Ray, Baird, French—6.

Alderman Simon Gunder, a green grocer at Douglass and Court streets, cast the decisive vote in the company's favor. He is a Democrat, and is serving his second term in the Board of Aldermen. The Tenth Ward, which he represents, is not affected directly by rapid transit, as the routes do not cross it. The announcement of the vote was received with loud applause in the lobby.

The news that the franchise had been granted caused much excitement along Fulton street, where merchants have predicted that rapid transit would ruin them. The company will begin work on Fulton street in ten days, and President Bond promises to be carrying passengers by March 1, 1880. The rates of fare are to be the same as on the elevated roads of this city, and their construction is to be almost the same.

MERE MENTION.

The Manhattan Gas Company announce a reduction in price.

Beginning to-day, regular trips will be henceforth made by the steamers to the Long Branch pier.

Henry Allen was yesterday appointed a School Inspector in the place of the late Andrew Mills.
