THERE is much to be said in the favor of a wider development of horticulture among our farmers. The progress and development of a given region can be closely estimated by watching the progress of its horticulture. The happiness and stability and best interests of a community are advanced by the liberal practice of this industry.

Fruits and flowers are great civilizers, and we can not have too many of them.

Whenever the growing of fruits enters largely into the agriculture of a district, we find intelligent people, prosperous homes and better conditions generally than where other branches of agriculture are followed to the exclusion of this.

Horticulture, when followed intelligently, gives better returns upon the capital employed than almost any other branch of agriculture. It is a business for careful, thoughtful, industrious men, and for such only. Guess work and half way methods will always bring one to a disastrous end. There is plenty room everywhere for the right men in this work.

A Starch Factory Needed.

Ellensburg needs a starch factory to use up the potatoes raised every year in the valley. It can be built and put in successful operation if all parties interested will go to work in dead earnest. Why let thousands of bushels of potatoes rot at home, when they can be manufactured into starch and sold at a handsome profit?

It would afford a reasonable market price for the potatoes, and at the same time, give employment to idle hands, build up our city, and enable our ranchers to realize cash for their crop. It is reported that potatoes grown in this valley yield a very large per centage of starch.

Talk the matter up and see what can be done in this direction.

We need the factory and it will do us good in many ways.

Don't wait for some capitalist to come in and start it, but go to work and help get it started at an early day. It can be built by a co-operative association. There are comparatively few men but what will take from one to five shares at $5 each. It can be built and put in operation this Spring, and why not? Yes, why not?

POPULIST ADDRESS.

Members of the Legislature Speak to the People of the State, Urging Reformers Not

To Listen to the Seductive Bimetralists.

We, your Representatives in the Washington Legislature, in view of recent events, feel constrained to submit for your consideration the following address:

The times are characterized by political uncertainty. Party ties are being rudely sundered; the leaven of a new era is fast permeating the body politic. Party loyalty sits lightly on the shoulders of the common people.

The palpable failure of the dominant parties to give the people relief, is causing an upheaval which can only have the effect of making a new alignment of the parties.

Efforts are being made to throw our ranks into confusion, as we believe, to the end that plutocracy may continue to enact the fabled part of the "Old Man of the Sea," upon an everburdened, outraged and plundered people.

The erstwhile great democratic party, sodden with triumph, has been false to all of its pledges, and the younger and better blood, galled by its false position, is seeking to gain control along new lines.

This element is luring the people with a golden hook and a silver bait, and is striving to build up its fortunes by an appeal to party prejudice and the promise in the future to adhere to the free coinage of silver. A very good and ancient axiom is, "that we judge men's promises for the future by their actions in the past." The same is true of parties.

The republican party, after a youthful period of good passed to a middle age of fine promises, "breathed to the ear only to be broken to the hope," and now in its senility is only able to point to its broken promises to the people as the best recommendation for future preferment.

As a further evidence of the unrest of the people, the Bimetallic League has issued an address which is designed to summon the silver hosts from all parties, and unite them into a new political organization.

Amid this clamor for recognition, it behooves our friends to remember that the People's Party, waving afloat the banner inscribed with the undying principles enunciated at Omaha is, and always has been, since its organization, the only true friend to the white metal, and that there is room enough beneath our banners for all those who are sincere in their desire for reinvesting silver with its money functions.

The republican party in this state, false to its pledges, made doubly plain by its late actions in the State Legislature, will urge any plan that may tend to divide our forces, now so plainly on the march to victory in 1896.

Guard well your campfires, comrades! and suffer not the sophistries of the enemy to lure you from your path of duty! Let us hold out the hand of fellowship to all those friends of humanity and our stricken country, who are seeking a new fold. Welcome them, bury any past animosities which have divided them from you. But beware of those too cowardly to face the enemy shoulder to shoulder with you in battle array. Let us stand by the Omaha platform until our representatives in convention assembled in 1896, shall promulgate a new one. Remember the homely phrase of Abraham Lincoln, whose great heart would be with us now, if alive! "Never swap horses in the middle of a stream."

The merchants of Denver, Colo., have refused to advertise in city papers using type setting machines. Result: The old hands are at work at the cases and the machines are idle.

The Horticultural Society gives a list of apples adapted to the soil and climate of this valley for home and commercial purposes. The list is as follows: Yellow Newton Pippin, Esopus Spitzenberg, Blue Pearmain and Red Cheek Pippin.

Why not read the DAWN when it can be had three months for 10 cts.

Southern democrats and Western republicans are starting silver leagues to hoodwink the people.
