

Such a man will never be satisfied.

Money talks in thunder tones at the Boss Bakery where they sell BREAD as CHEAP as ever, notwithstanding the advance in flour.

Mr. R. P. Edgington's daughter, of Florence, Colo., arrived in the city on Tuesday.

Born: On Wednesday, May 29, to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tate, a boy and a girl. The girl was buried on Thursday.

COXEY IS ALL RIGHT.

We are glad to see that Coxeys is not in favor of the bimetallic party. We could not see for the life of us why he should want the Populist party to disband and join the silver party, as was reported in the associated press dispatches, and that is what caused us to say recently that we had no confidence in his honesty as a reformer. Now, that he has spoken squarely and to the point on that issue, we want to say any credence whatever to such reports as emanate from the associated press, and hasten to correct the false impression we may have made.

other source. When our beloved Lincoln saw the hour had come to either make the sacrifice or allow the free institutions of our nation to perish, he chose to make the sacrifice, although great it must be both in life and treasure, and there rallied to his call hundreds of thousands of the bravest of men that was ready and willing to lay every thing dear to them upon their country's altar, and with gun in hand go forth to battle, to suffer and die if need be, that this nation might survive. How will they done their duty, the thousands of acres of cemeteries all over this broad land filled with their remains and the thin ranks of the G. A. R. is our best reminder, and as we look upon the few remaining heroes that are with us as they in old age go tottering toward the grave and think that they are all there is left of that army of hundreds of thousands of brave young men that battled for our liberties, the comparison makes us sad, and we register another vow that as soon as the old soldiers are gathered to us, although faintly, they may be, we will smooth their pathway as best we may during their few remaining years, as a slight recognition of the sacrifice they made to secure to us the blessings of this great and free republic.

Mr. J. D. Porter has got his Farmers Agency well established and has shipped several car loads of farm products. The farmers begin to realize the great benefit such an institution is to them in disposing of their crops at good prices.

Memorial services was held at the Methodist church last Sunday. The interior of the church was neatly decorated and the service was
