JOHN CRAIG'S MOTHER.

Under what Circumstances Mother and Son were a Second Time in Court.

John Craig of 747 Sixth street had his old mother taken to the Essex Market Police Court on Friday last and asked the magistrate to commit her to the workhouse; but Justice Smith released her and severely reprimanded Craig for his seemingly unfilial behavior. The Justice then ordered Craig's arrest on a charge of abusing and abandoning his mother. Policeman Beimholt arrested Craig yesterday, and with the mother they started in a Third avenue car for the Yorkville Police Court, where Justice Smith is sitting, but Mrs. Craig began to curse her son, and made so much trouble in the car that the policeman was obliged to separate the two. Mrs. Craig then consented herself with shouting and putting her open palm to her nose. In court Craig said that his mother had been living in Cannon street, where he had given her money to support her, and that while he was away at work she frequently called at his home and abused his wife beyond endurance; that he bore it as he could and then asked her drunk to stay away; that she replied by kneeling down on his stoop and praying "that the Lord would send him a corpse into the house;" that she repeated this act several times, and that she is not destitute, but has $198 on deposit in the East River Savings Bank.

Justice Smith asked Mrs. Craig whether this was true, and she admitted it.

The Justice further said that his mother had spent for rum the money he had given her, and that she had already served a term on Blackwell's Island for drunkenness.

Justice Smith said it was Craig's duty to support his mother, and that about $3.50 a week would be proper.

Craig expressed his willingness to pay this sum if his mother would only keep away from his home and not abuse his wife.

Justice Smith then turned to Mrs. Catherine Craig and said: "You will be given $1.50 a week, but if you go near your son's house again I will commit you to Blackwell's Island."

Capturing a Bear in the Catskills.

EAST WINDHAM, Sept. 2.—Capt. Butts, the veteran bear trapper of the Catskills, added another trophy to his long list by capturing a large bear on Sunday afternoon on High Peak. For months past pleasure parties climbing the mountain had been regaled with stories of bears in the region, and many tracks had been discovered near the springs. Mr. Butts set his traps and visited them twice a day for two months, but it was not until Sunday that he was rewarded. As soon as the guests at the Butts House, the Summit House, the Grand View Hotel, and other boarding places heard of the capture they formed a procession, went up to High Peak, and with the venerable trapper brought back the bear, still alive, his forepaw being badly broken. Capt. Butts, who is over 80 years old, has captured more than one hundred bears.

Idleness in Maryland Mines.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 2.—The miners at the Borden shaft, near Frostburg, numbering 200, went to work this morning at fifty cents per ton, and the drivers immediately struck for increased pay.
